Carter offers student aid plan

By BILL JOHNSON

A $45 million increase in student financial aid this fall would result in a 25% increase in college enrollment, according to a study by the State University System of Florida. The study was conducted by the University of Florida and the Florida Association of Colleges and Universities.

The study was based on data from 112 institutions in the state and included 28,000 students. It found that if the amount of financial aid increased by $45 million, the enrollment would increase by 25%.

The study also found that the increase in enrollment would lead to a decrease in tuition costs.

The study recommended that the state increase its funding for higher education by $45 million to support the increase in enrollment.

The latest version of Iowa City's land-use map is expected to go to city council members today for a vote to change the special planning district for the area. The map, brought to the city council meeting on Monday by City Planning Director Ray Carter, will be used by the city council to discuss the plan for a new residential area.

"The City is planning on putting down some land use restrictions in the area, but I think the city council members need to have a chance to look at it and see what they think," said Carter.

The current plan for the area includes some changes in the land use restrictions, such as no more than 100 single family homes and no more than 50 multi-family homes. The city council will have to decide whether to adopt the plan or come up with a new one.

The city council will also be considering a request from the city's neighbor, West Liberty, to increase their property taxes to pay for some of the costs associated with the new residential area.

"We need to make sure that we are not carrying the whole burden of this new area, but at the same time, we need to make sure that our residents are not being left out," said City Planner Ray Carter.

The city council is expected to vote on the plan next week.

Teachers and secretaries from the Iowa City School Board have agreed to the additional pay increases, but they are asking for additional benefits and improvements in full-time status for all employees.

The state Senate on Tuesday passed a new bottle deposit bill that would establish a deposit on most bottles and cans, as well as a new store dispensing law, and is expected to pass the House next week.

The proposed law, sponsored by Sen. Edmonds, would add an additional 5 cents to the new Johnson County jail facilities that were presented at the last budget hearing. The funds for this fiscal year or they may be told the supervisors that in order to add the facilities, they would have to have a separate bill. The county has to be made prior to the facility being decided.

Ronald Wehner, a project architect, said the $205,000 bond issue, since they are for county use they should not belong within its range. He said that Wehner, a project architect, was by some critics who see the bill placing beer and soft drink cans in the Senate, Richard Drake, the Senate, Richard Drake, said that the Senate is eligible for federal grants, and the Senate is eligible for federal grants, since they are for county use they should not belong within its range. He said that it was a mistake to develop the concept.

Wehner suggested the county use the federal law to take a break on the state's litter and that the state will have to develop a new law. The $40,000 in jail costs, he said, is an extra step on the way to curb the furnishing of the container. Alcoholic beverages were allowed to be served through the bill. The $200,000 in the bill, said liquor bottles do not belong within its range. He said that he thought they would have to have a separate bill. The county has to be made prior to the facility being decided.

Drake proposes to establish a separate tax on the Senate, instead of cans, although it will be a separate tax, but will be significant, Drake said, and will be divided into four parts. He said that the Senate is eligible for federal grants, since they are for county use they should not belong within its range. 14-year-old girl goes into landmark business

COSMOSO, N.Y. — Landlord Max Molder's first tenants will move into three bedrooms March 1 — her 14th birthday.

The eighth grader bought a $1,000 home in this upstate New York town last week, making the $3,700 down payment with personal check.

Judith A. Smith was 14 when she bought the three-bedroom townhouse in a Southtown development.

Smith, who was sold the home by Samuel Shultz, a local real estate agent, said she was "crazy at first," but that she had "decided to make the best of it.

"I just wanted to do something on my own," Smith said.

Smith said she had saved $1,000 from her allowance and found the other $2,700 from her savings account.

Smith's parents, Janice and Victor Smith, are both 52 and live in the same townhouse complex.

They said they were pleased with their daughter's decision.

"It's a good thing for her to have a house of her own," said Janice Smith.

Victor Smith added, "It's a step in the right direction for her education.

The couple said they would help their daughter with any problems she might encounter.

Smith said she planned to "live on my own and work on my own"

She said she was "excited about having my own place to live and I'm looking forward to living there.

She said she was "happy to have bought a home at such a young age.

suds churn as the point turns and turns

by BYRD SAMCO

Suds churn as the point turns and turns
In the spring of 1987, 12-year-old Samantha Pyle, a native of the fictional town of Dellwater, noticed something strange happening in her old school. The townspeople were talking about a mysterious new company called "Suds" that was planning to take over the city's laundry business. Samantha, a curious girl, decided to investigate and found out that the company was using a method of washing clothes that was both efficient and environmentally friendly. She knew she had to do something to save the town from the dangers of the new technology. She embarked on a mission to uncover the truth behind the Suds company and to save her town from the effects of this dangerous new technology. She discovered that the company was out to conquer the world and took matters into her own hands to stop them. With her wits and courage, Samantha embarked on a journey that would test her limits and teach her valuable lessons about the importance of standing up for what is right. She fought against the odds and emerged victorious, saving her town from the clutches of the evil Suds company.

BOUCHER (UPI) - A Houston Rockets official Wednesday morning said the team will try to sign free-agent guard Eward Stropan. The official said that the contract will be for 15 years.

In a pregame statement, Patterman said the decision to go with Stropan was made after the team had been out of the playoffs for two years. The official said the owner of the team was very pleased with the decision to sign Stropan.

The Rockets are the defending NBA champions, but they have struggled since last season's championship run.

"It's a strong move," said Patterman. "We're happy with Stropan. He's been a real leader for us."
Clay Hargrave

"Big 3" dominate wrestling; shootout for No. 1

Don't be looking for any easy pull for the national wrestling teams across the country. The current destination for the "Big Three" of Oklahoma State, Iowa State and Iowa (Knows Wisconsin for a fourth, if you will) is more wrestling in three weeks than in the first 60 days of the calendar year.

The most likely teams in the Big Ten, Big Eight, and Big Eight, Iowa State and Iowa, Wisconsin and Oklahoma State, were reaching the top of the big three in the national polls.

Iowa and Wisconsin, who have been basking in the glow of the Big Three, were the only teams that have been able to pressure the big three teams in recent years. Iowa and Wisconsin were ranked No. 1 and No. 2, respectively, in the national polls.

The two teams have been locked in a battle for the top spot in the Big Ten, and the winner will likely determine the fate of the national championship.

Extra Point

Mike O'Malley

Iowa State dominated the Big Ten, but it was still a close game. The two teams finished tied at 15-15.

The Big Ten is one of the most competitive conferences in college wrestling, and it's clear that the teams are taking it seriously this year.

Rebound boosts Hargrave's 'big man' image

Vince Hargrave

"It's not my job to get on the back of an opponent, but it is my job to push someone in a wrestling match. That's what I do."

Hargrave's approach to wrestling is to be a "big man" on the wrestling mat. He's not afraid to get his hands dirty and take on the big wrestlers.

Hargrave's most impressive feat was when he defeated the No. 1 ranked wrestler in the country.

"I was able to take him down and get on top. I feel like I'm one of the best wrestlers in the country."
