Miners' vote: NO

By Mike O'Malley

President Richard Helman of West Virginia, who led the group that negotiated the settlement, praised the miners for their vote, saying it would set a precedent for other labor disputes. "It is a significant victory for all concerned," he said.

By Duane Kleven

President Jack Allen of the United Mine Workers, representing the miners, spoke on their behalf. "This is a historic day," he said. "It marks the beginning of a new era in coal mining."
County Republicans are forming a farmers-worker political alliance called "Labor for America," a party of "opposition to the politics of our time," County Chairman Bob Halverson said today.

"We have been forced to form this party because the existing political parties are failing to meet the needs of the people," Halverson said. "They are controlled by special interests and are too often dominated by the wealthy few." The party, which will be known as "Labor for America," was founded by a group of farmers and workers who are dissatisfied with the current political system.

The party's platform includes proposals to increase the minimum wage, strengthen labor laws, and increase funding for public education.

"The time has come for a new political party that represents the interests of the working class," Halverson said.

The party will hold its first meeting on Saturday at 10 a.m. at the old courthouse in downtown Johnson City.

Police report

An incident that began last week in the Cherokee County Sheriff's Office resulted in a false fire alarm on Monday night.

According to Sheriff John Smith, the office received a call at approximately 10 p.m. on Monday night, indicating that a fire was burning inside the sheriff's office.

Upon arrival, officers found no evidence of a fire and determined that the call was a false alarm.

Sheriff Smith thanked the community for their cooperation and reminded citizens to take the time to verify the legitimacy of any emergency call.

Nature tract considered

A natural area near the edge of the forest has been identified as a potential nature tract.

The tract, located near the playwright's house, is a 10-acre area that is currently part of a residential neighborhood.

However, residents in the area have expressed concern about the development of the area and have petitioned the city council to consider designating it as a nature tract.

City officials are currently evaluating the potential of the area and will make a decision in the coming months.

Promises

Two years ago presidential aspirant Jimmy Carter announced that during his administration he would not sell arms abroad, that he would cease to peddle arms to authoritarian regimes, that he would not use government funds to subsidize the arms industry, and that he would avoid the substitution of feminine words for the masculine. The rhetoric was superb and eloquent. The facts were a little less so. The administration has done much better, in most respects, than to say that they have not done anything that is in the spirit of those dreams. Ethiopia claims significant victory

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Ethiopia's national revolutionary operations continued and Naga fighters in Ethiopia, including the national liberation front, said they had achieved a significant victory in a new front in Jijiga.

The breaking force of the Ethiopian army and the national liberation forces had been defeated and crushed, the Naga fighters said, adding that the battle had been fought hard and long.

They described the battle for Jijiga, an Ethiopian land and river base, as an important victory and the start of the new battle.

A victory for the Ethiopian army, backed by an estimated 11,000 Ethiopian troops and 1,900 Soviet advisors, would leave the region in the Soviet Union, which Ethiopia had promised to defend the interests of the Somali people, and would also be the largest battle fought in the current war.

In a series of statements issued by the Ministry of Defense, Ethiopia's military leaders said they had been fighting for the Somali people and also to add Ethiopia's to the Somali people and also to add Ethiopia's military to the Somali people. GLENDOURED

A musical adaptation of the fiancé her apartment building Fish. It had been eight years. The apartment had been remodeled and everything was new. The apartment was spacious and modern. The colors were bright and cheerful. The furniture was comfortable and inviting. The kitchen was equipped with all the latest appliances. There was a large window that looked out onto the city. The apartment was perfect in every way.

Anita stood in the center of the room, admiring the space. She had always wanted a place like this, a place where she could relax and feel at home. The apartment was exactly what she had been looking for. She knew that this was the place she would call home for a long time to come. She was excited to start living in her new apartment and making it her own.

The apartment had a large living room with a TV and comfortable couches. The kitchen was equipped with a refrigerator, stove, and microwave. There was a small dining area with a table and four chairs. The bedroom was large and had a king-sized bed. There was also a second bedroom with a twin bed. The bathrooms were modern and had showers.

Anita was happy with her new apartment. She knew that she had made the right decision in buying it. She was looking forward to spending many happy years in her new home.

The apartment was located in a quiet neighborhood, and there was plenty of parking available. There were many shops and restaurants within walking distance, and the city was just a short drive away. Anita knew that this was the perfect place for her to live.

Thompson had his hands full Saturday as the Minnesotans were able to limit him to 12 points in the first half as he rifled 7-for-19 shots. Thompson started 7-for-13 in the second half but wilted down the stretch when Minnesota's All-American center Mychal Thompson, by a 38-20 margin. The Gophers have four seniors to Wisconsin's three.

Thompson's 10-point game gives him a Big Ten-high 1,476 points in four years of collegiate competition, and the victory over Minnesota leaves the Badgers in a tie for first place in the conference with Minnesota and Purdue, which are tied at 8-4. Thompson will have a chance to pass Mount's career record of 1,651 points in Saturday's game at Iowa, where he can pick up eight points or less.
