Papa's little helper

DETROIT (UPI) - A 9-year-old helper has been credited with finding the daughter of a black family who had been separated from her mother for two years.

"It's a hard story, different than the usual personal story," said Yvonne Layfield, director of the Washington, D.C.-based nonprofit. "Last year, Ms. Layfield said, an unidentified driver of the other car was also identified.

The legs were taken to the Washington Metropolitan Police Department for identification. Layfield said the child was asymptomatic and her parents were notified.

The legend lives on

DESBROECK (UPI) - The Iowa beer and liquor control department has approved a lottery for state and county governments to hold at the University of Iowa in Des Moines. The drawing will be held at the Beer and Loathing Conference, which is held on the university campus every year.

The lottery will be held on May 15 and will award $3,000 to the winner. The winner will be selected randomly from entries received by May 1.

More than 15,000 people have applied to date for the lottery, which is open to all residents of Iowa. The lottery is expected to raise approximately $2 million for the university.

The Iowa Lottery is a fully computerized lottery that is held on the first Monday of each month. The Iowa Lottery is the largest lottery in the United States.

Leach proposes tax slash

By JENIFER CRUZ

In a move to collaborate with Congress, the House Ways and Means Committee, led by Representative Neil Brown, has introduced a bill to cut tax rates.

The legislation is expected to reduce the current tax rates by 20 percent. The bill has been endorsed by a majority of House members, but it is expected to face opposition from Senate Republicans.

Leach said that the legislation is a way to "make the tax system fair and equitable for all Americans." He added that the bill will "provide much-needed relief to those who are struggling to make ends meet.

Michigan petitioners rally tax-cut support

By KATHRYN SMITH

A group of Michigan petitioners has launched a campaign to support the tax cut proposal of Representative Leach.

The petitioners have gathered signatures from thousands of Michigan residents in support of the proposal. The petitioners believe that the tax cut will benefit both businesses and residents.

Michigan residents support the proposal, saying that it will "help stimulate the economy and create jobs." They believe that the tax cut will also "provide much-needed relief to those who are struggling to make ends meet.

Democrats battle Ray over new bureau

By J. RANCH

The Democrats have launched a campaign to challenge Representative Ray's proposal for a new bureau.

The Democrats believe that the proposal is a "waste of taxpayer money" and that it will not provide the benefits that Ray claims.

Ray has defended the proposal, saying that it will "provide much-needed relief to those who are struggling to make ends meet." He added that the proposal will "provide a much-needed stimulus to the economy.

Council gives green light to ramp plans

By JERRY CHURCHLL

The Iowa City Council gave the green light Monday to a new parking ramp in downtown Iowa City. The ramp will be located on the site of the former Holiday Inn.

The ramp will be six stories high and will be designed to accommodate 300 cars. The cost of the project is estimated to be $20 million.

The proposal received the necessary votes from the five council members, with two members voting in favor and three members voting against.

The ramp will be designed to accommodate both cars and buses. It will also include a pedestrian walkway.

The ramp will be located on the site of the former Holiday Inn. The site is currently owned by a local developer.

CAC censures ‘Vital Signs’

by JESLY ROBERTS

In an effort to improve the content of “Vital Signs,” a monthly column in the Daily Iowan, the CAC has reviewed and criticized the magazine. The CAC believes that the magazine is not meeting the standards of responsible journalism and that it is a threat to the University of Iowa community. The CAC has recommended that the magazine be suspended for one year and that its staff be held accountable for their actions. The CAC has also recommended that the magazine’s editors be required to attend a seminar on responsible journalism.

The CAC has received numerous complaints from members of the University community about the magazine’s content, including its coverage of political and social issues. The CAC has also received complaints about the magazine’s lack of diversity and its failure to cover important events and issues.

The CAC is concerned that the magazine’s content does not reflect the diversity of the University community and that it is not providing a platform for meaningful discussion and debate. The CAC has also received complaints about the magazine’s lack of transparency, including its failure to disclose its funding sources and its policies on editorial independence.

The CAC has recommended that the magazine’s editors be required to undergo training on responsible journalism and that they be held accountable for their actions. The CAC has also recommended that the magazine’s funding sources be disclosed and that it be required to operate in a transparent manner.

The CAC has also recommended that the magazine be required to provide a platform for diverse voices and that it be held accountable for its failure to cover important events and issues. The CAC has also recommended that the magazine’s content be reviewed by an independent panel of experts to ensure that it meets the standards of responsible journalism.

Crippled AL squad seeks an end to All-Star skid

MLB 1979 - The American League, already crippled by the loss of several stars, was further decimated earlier this week when a jolting balcony collapse occurred during the Tuesday night game in Boston. Several players, including Ken Singleton, were hit by flying debris and had to be taken to the hospital. One player, Richard Allen, suffered a broken ankle and will be out for the rest of the season. The game was abandoned in the fifth inning.

In other baseball news, the New York Yankees have brought back outfielder Greg Nettles, a San Diego native, to help fill the void left by the injured Allen. He has been recalled from the Triple-A Scranton Wilkes-Barre Yankees.

Jeter's victory decision only added to the pressure on the AL manager, who will have to decide between starting his ace pitcher or giving the ball to his struggling relievers. With the game on the line, Jeter opted for the relief, and the move paid off as the AL rallied to win the game.

In other AL news, the Detroit Tigers have placed catcher Bill Freehan on the disabled list with a strained elbow. The move is expected to keep him out for at least two weeks.

In the NL, the Philadelphia Phillies have placed third baseman Mike Schmidt on the 10-day disabled list with a strained hamstring. The move is expected to keep him out for at least two weeks.
