An expensive alternative: e.p.t.

by Genny Yall
Staff Writer

Women are urged they expect to pregnant as soon as they visit a gynecologist's office to be certain of the results. Those tests, however, are expensive, with costs ranging from $3 to $15. A new rapid pregnancy test, called e.p.t., is a cheaper alternative. The test costs $2.50 per test and can be purchased at pharmacies and supermarkets.

The test is based on a hormone called human chorionic gonadotropin (HCG). This hormone is produced by the body after conception and is present in the urine. The test is designed to detect the presence of HCG within the first few days after conception, which is earlier than most standard pregnancy tests.

The test is easy to use. The user collects a urine sample and applies it to a test strip. The test strip contains a substance that reacts with HCG. If the test is positive, a line appears on the test strip. If the test is negative, no line appears.

The test is highly accurate, with a reported 99% accuracy rate. The test is also inexpensive and can be used as often as needed, making it a convenient option for women who are trying to conceive.

The test is available at pharmacies and supermarkets, making it accessible to a wide range of people. The test is also easy to use, making it a convenient option for busy women who may not have time to visit a gynecologist.

The test is also more affordable than traditional pregnancy tests, making it a great option for women who are on a budget. The test is also convenient, as it can be used at home and does not require a doctor's appointment.

Overall, the e.p.t. test is a convenient and affordable option for women who are trying to conceive. The test is easy to use, highly accurate, and affordable, making it a great option for anyone who needs to know if they are pregnant.
Work-study wage ceiling to be raised

by EVELY ROBERTS

For the first time since 1968, a workshop program at the UI will be raising the ceiling on earnings of hourly wage, and this ceiling will be $4.50 an hour. The ceiling has been increased from $4 in an hour, which was the ceiling of 1968. Currently, the ceiling is $4.50 an hour.

Kundel said a change in the program was necessary, that is, the change was a reorganization of the program. In 1968, the ceiling was $4 an hour. There were some limitations to the program, and the ceiling was designed to cover the cost of the program.

"There is a change in the ceiling because of rising wages," said Kundel. "The ceiling has been increased from $4 to $4.50 an hour. Paradigmaccurately

When the police authorities came to confiscate marijuana plants, they were surprised that the law enforcement officials were so suave. The Iowa Club has selected one of its members for the chairmanship of the club. The club is one of the many law enforcement officials who have been surprised. But no matter what the reaction of the police authorities, the tradition of Soviet justice will always be upheld. This is because the Soviet authorities believe in basic human freedoms and are committed to upholding them.

The effect of the controversy on the Iowa Club has been minimal, for example by the fact that the club has not disbanded. As a result of the controversy, the club has been experiencing improved and insightful relationships with local law enforcement officials. For example, President Carter met with the club to discuss the situation.

On the other hand, there are some people who believe that the club has been very effective in its efforts. For example, a few members of the club have been defending the club on the public's behalf.

The club is very committed to upholding the tradition of Soviet justice and defending the rights of its members.

Marriages are made in euphemisms

The fact that marriages are made in euphemisms is not new. In the past, people have used euphemisms to refer to marriages in order to avoid using the word "marriage". This is because the word "marriage" is often associated with a certain level of approbation or disapproval.
