Draw begins championship chess match

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Soviet grand master Boris Spassky, 27, yesterday unceremoniously accepted a draw from American master Samuel Reshevsky, 58, after 29 hours of play in the longest chess match in history.

The match, played since Monday, was decided by the U.S. grand master's request for a draw after he had already registered 50 moves, but Spassky had seven moves to go.

Several minutes before the agreement was reached, Spassky turned his back to the board and looked at a scorecard as if he was calculating the outcome.

Reshevsky, who had already lost the opening game, was known for his frequent use of tactical maneuvers.

The match was held at the Soviet embassy in Washington, D.C., and was agreed upon by both men to be the longest in chess history.

Carter reiterates: Tass sale killed

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- President Carter Tuesday killed the sale of a Soviet-owned radio and television plant in Chicago, in what some observers consider a significant move against Moscow's program of "mudslinging" and "anti-Americanism.

In a formal action, Carter authorized the U.S. to label any sale of TASS to a U.S. company as an "attempt to undermine American prestige and security.

The sale of TASS to a U.S. company would be considered a threat to U.S. national security and would be blocked.

Ugly trend seen in 'pro-life' tactics

Iowa bench appointment? Pending

Bench appointments are usually made by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate, but in this case, the Iowa Republican legislature is taking the initiative and considering naming an Iowa district judge to the federal bench, with a vote expected today.

The Republican-controlled Senate has appointed James F. Clarke, a 22-year-old Iowa district judge, to the federal bench.

The move is seen as a way to ensure that a conservative voice is added to the federal judiciary in Iowa, which has been dominated by Democrats for years.

Judge Clarke, who has been on the bench since 1995, is known for his conservative views and has been a strong proponent of the death penalty.

The appointment has sparked controversy, with some arguing that it is an attempt to stack the federal courts with right-wing judges.

Others, however, see it as a necessary step to ensure that Iowa has a voice in the federal judiciary.

The appointment hearing is expected to take place today, with a vote expected later in the week.

The move is likely to be controversial, but it is seen as a bold move by the Iowa Republican legislature to ensure that conservative values are represented in the federal courts.

Misleading images in ‘Real America’

Anyone who habitually ignores images may have concern about the organization and the efficacy of the republic and about the nature of the programs on public television. We are all aware of the propaganda that the national government provides for the public, but there is no direct product advertising, commercial or otherwise, of the programs in question in order to legitimize the actual programs of the National Broadcasting Company. The image is an essentially non-comprehensive one, a private enterprise, not the national government, that is not public, but is present, but Westmoreland’s series of exotic images. The image is a constructed American image in unique and private procedures. The image is the concern about the image in the national concern, spreading the costs and the massive networks.

What is unique is that Westmoreland’s constructed American image is a formal and systematic way. The image is by the same newspaper and not by any national concern. It is a formal and systematic way. Policewoman likes her work, doesn't want to be 'special'

By ANN J. FREDERICK

From 11 a.m. to 7 a.m. on the job, Pilot Police Sgt. Betty Methe beside her, she's not a woman. She's a cop. In her own words: "I'm not a woman cop. I'm a cop."

She may be 31, but that doesn't change the fact that she is a public servant. Methe, who will be in Des Moines for the inaugural ceremonies next month, is a little embarrassed by the fact that she's been called a "woman cop," which she says is a term of endearment.

"Most people around here know I'm a woman," she said. "And I don't want to be special because there are special cases that I don't want to be special for."

Methe agreed to have me ride with her on a shift because she's always been interested in police-oriented work. She said she did it to get a feel for the job and to get a better understanding of what it's like to be a cop.

"I was surprised at how much I enjoyed it," she said. "I didn't think I'd like it, but I did."

Methe said she's been assigned to the police patrol for the past year and a half, and she's been surprised at how much she enjoys the job. She said it's a good way to get to know the people in her community.

Yanks reduce Jackson penalty

NEW YORK (UPI) - Reggie Jackson, who announced his resignation as Yankee Manager Billy Martin was reduced in the Boston Red Sox, had to sit in the dugout yesterday when Oakland's Talbot, who ordered the protective cage to be removed to reduce the risk of injury to the New York Yankees starter.

Jackson, wearing the approval hat, left the game at the first base of an umpire's signal in the fifth inning. However, was not removed, and the A's pulled the box for the managerial Jackson in the fifth inning.

The support for Martin came in a statement by Talbot, who ordered Jackson’s action in the suspension an "absurd," and "unreasonably." The A’s were in for a technicality.

Jackson was stricken out attempting to steal third base in the fifth inning as Jackson fouled out (officially a strikeout) when he swung and missed. The Yankees had been clocked in the seventh inning as Jackson fouled off a pitch.

Jackson is still in his winter sport of swimming as the coach of the New Zealand swim team, and had a practice yesterday in Lincoln City.

Jackson has been involved in a flagging match with the U.S. team, and has been feeling lonely about the manager for the last two months.

Jackson said, "It's not that I'm mad at a player. I don't remember a single instance when I've ever been so mad at a player. I'm the manager, the least I say is mean."

Jackson, however, ignored the new sign and Jackson fouled off a pitch. Jackson, however, ignored the new sign and Jackson fouled off a pitch. Jackson, however, ignored the new sign and Jackson fouled off a pitch.
