American exit of Iran starts: strike spreads

Like a barn ablaze...

A wave of protest and chaotic looting swept through cities in Iran and a strike to replace the revolution completed a week of turmoil last week. In Tehran, an underground movement, the National Front, took control of the capital and set up a new government. In the meantime, President Carter met with Secretary of State Kissel and publicized a new plan to save the revolution. But the shah, who had survived the September civil war, was still under siege.

Carter and Kissel urged the Iranians to an end to the violence and to save the revolution. The Iranians, who had been fighting for weeks, were tireless in their efforts to save the revolution. The Iranians, who had been fighting for weeks, were tireless in their efforts to save the revolution.

I.C. spouse abuse service 'poor'

In the United States, a study issued Nov. 7 by the Johnson Institute and the Iowa City School of Medicine, revealed that 20 to 50 Iowa City women were victims of spouse abuse each year. The study, conducted by Dr. Howard Kissel, found that 80 per cent of the women were married and that 60 per cent of the women were the victims of abuse.

Terrorism has zero (0) -- The U.S. (United States) has zero terrorist activity in Iran, according to a recent report by the United Nations. The report noted that the United Nations is working to prevent further terrorist attacks in Iran. The report also noted that the United Nations is working to prevent further terrorist attacks in Iran.

An investigation is just getting under way in the case of shortages in unleaded gasoline in the city, according to authorities here who have already begun to feel the pinch.

Doris Brown, owner of the Illini Gas Station, said she received a couple of fill-ups today but was not able to get any gasoline in the past day or two. She said she had heard similar reports from other stations in the area, and that she expected the situation to worsen in the coming days.

According to Brown, the problem is compounded by the fact that the station is located near the Illinois-Kansas border, where there is a large industrial area.

"We've been seeing a lot of people coming in looking for gasoline," Brown said. "We're not getting any in, and we're not able to get any out."

The station has been without gasoline for the past two days, and Brown said she was planning to close up the store for the weekend.

"We're going to have to do it," she said. "We just can't keep our doors open and not have gas."

To the Editor:

Last year student leaders, with the help of the Presbyterian Church, began a national "We want and need a fundamentally 'clean' vote" campaign. At that time, I was service and information officer at OP, in charge of routes and schedules. The issue affected the student groups in general, and OP in particular. Furthermore, I was interested in whether to know about or to propose a referendum on the issue would be effective.

I was against the East Side loaf for a number of reasons. The point was, it would be useful whether implementation of the route would serve the purpose it ostensibly was designed to serve, that is, of lowering the amount of rape in the area. Opponents put up posters of the buses and what not. However, in the end, the proposal passed. Further, good reports vary their victims location. Another high-risk area, the east side area, already protected against rape by heavy cars. I was dubious the route would actually reduce rape.

Second, I felt the East side route represented doing something OP was not interested in doing, taking students from private deadlocks to campus and back. Campus was considered safe. Thus, with the construction of a new East Side loaf would be a bad precedent.

Third, and related to the above point, I generally opposed the creation of a center in the city from which service provided only to a small group—opposed to the idea of a service to the whole.

Finally, we have the last fact Student Student association elections which route may win is most important—very much the public. The buses, then, can be a full-service office the east side area, and most of the students opposed the East Side loaf. Holland presented our arguments included. No help was the policy regarding driving, which was a way that shows just how self-serviced the whole public thought.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — In an act of public heroics granting an abuser’s children an advocate, Democratic leaders Thursday adopted a rule that guarantees every convicted abuser national convention delegates between now and 1992.

Chairman John White, trying to help the thousands of women who are being abused daily, who are tormented and deluded, and who need someone to stand up for them, proposed a rule that would allow lawyers seeking to testify against wrongdoers from away of the 1980 national convention in New Orleans. Carter Communications Inc. — reported — said about 30 percent of the audience had attended the conclave.

Democrats, we support this rule. By unanimous voice vote, the Democratic national convention approved the conclave rule — meeting into the convention even though the convention agreement was not approved Friday night — approved a rule Tuesday that guarantees every convicted abuser national convention delegates between now and 1992.

Foreign language students make Westlawn a very special place.

New German Dorm

The first floor in special-language housing at the UI, according to Mitchell Langemak, assistant professor of German, has already been a hit. Langemak said about 30 students have joined the dorm because they want to maintain their German language in one area of interest. In the room, the students sleep, study, eat and practice language.

Langemak feels the strength of the students who want to join because they have already expressed interest in joining the program. Even among language majors, he said, many would sign up for the program if they had enough space. The dorm residents did a radio program last week about their enthusiasm for learning German.

"People seem more interested in learning German," Langemak said. "It's a hard language, but there's a special interest in it." Langemak said the dorm has already been accepted by the administration.

Hawks renew old rivalry

By ROY ROSSMAN

Asp. Spokes Editor

It will be the rubber match of what has become an annual rivalry as the Hawks take on the Iowa City West. Pattem follows this year's edition of the Iowa men's swimming team, with the meet scheduled for Wednesday evening at 6:00 p.m. home opener against Marquette College, and the meet being held at the Iowa City YMCA, with the meet being held at the Iowa City YMCA. The meet is the first of the season, and the Hawks will be looking to keep up their winning streak, making the meet a must-win for the team.

"I don't think any one's going to say that. We've been here a little longer, we've had more success," Pattem said, referring to the Badger dynasty, which includes the Badger tradition and well aware of last week's rebound from last week's season's dual meet opener in LaCrosse. "We're not going to be surprised, we're just going to keep it going." Pattem added.

The meet will be a battle of two of the top teams in the state, and it will be a test of the Hawks' ability to maintain their winning ways.

Rydzan named coach of U.S. national team

Bob Rydzan, a diving coach, confirms without a diving event at Iowa has been selected to coach the U.S. men's 1-meter diving team, and was a key member of the 1999 national championship team. Rydzan will also represent the national team, but that same amount of time has the Hawks had for their events, especially the 200 medley and distance events.

"It's a great honor to be selected to coach the U.S. national team," Rydzan said. "I'm looking forward to the opportunity to work with some of the best divers in the world and represent the United States on the international stage." Rydzan added.

Men travel to Colorado...

The Iowa men's swimming team will travel to Colorado for a dual meet against the University of Colorado Boulder. The meet will be held at the Colorado Athletic Center, and the Hawkeyes will be looking to maintain their winning ways against a tough Colorado team.

"We've had some strong programs running this year," Pattem said. "We're looking forward to some real competition." Pattem added.

...as women gymnasts go to Wisconsin

The drive is on for the Iowa women's gymnastics team, as they head to Wisconsin for their first meet before the holiday break. The gymnastics are a tough competition against the Hawkeyes, and Pattem was looking forward to a good test of the team's abilities.

"We're one of the top teams in the country, and we're looking forward to a good competition," Pattem said. "We're looking forward to a good competition, and we're going to be ready for it." Pattem added.

Iowa wrestlers open home season

Hawkeyes travel to Drake

Iowa's wrestling team begins Saturday night when the Hawkeye basketball team begins Friday night. The basketball team - and wrestling team -- has not been very successful in the past, but the Hawkeyes have done Nothing on the wrestling circuit.

Coach Larry Williams Jr., who talked to the Hawkeye team on Friday, said: "Our team is very good. We have a good opportunity to do some damage."

Williams is cautious about his team's potential, but he is optimistic about his team's future. "We have a lot of good young men who are working hard to become better wrestlers," he said.

Williams said the team will be better this year than last year. "We have more depth this year," he said. "We have more wrestlers who can compete at higher levels this year."
