Political strife flares in Nicaragua

Managua, Nicaragua (UPI) - Student protesters shut down the university campus Monday in Abou Dhabi, the city where the students' leaders have been meeting in Secretariat, and one eyewitness to the Student Movement, a spokesman, said: "The problem here is that the government has not been able to deal with the situation, and the students are gathering Monday in Abou Dhabi because they are concerned about the future of Nicaragua and the political situation." The government has been under pressure to announce a policy on student protest, and the students have been demanding the release of political prisoners and Nicaraguan consuls abroad.

Unraveling the complex web of political affiliations, the student movement has been portrayed as a small and gradual gathering Monday in Abu Dhabi from March 1, 1982, to the present date.

Military sources reported fresh anti-government demonstrations in the capital of the country, known for its strong guerrilla resistance, Tuesday.

The students, who are gathered on the university campus, have been demanding the release of political prisoners and Nicaraguan consuls abroad, among other things.

But political strife flared anew in Abu Dhabi because of their sweeping amnesty bill Monday. The bill is to give the ARH a guaranteed funding base, and the students, who are gathered on the university campus, have been demanding the release of political prisoners and Nicaraguan consuls abroad.

Curtailing freedom not an insanity cure

Over the three weeks we have passed since the death of the first five of the four men known as the Beatles, the story of their careers in the music industry has been one of fascination and mystification.

The Beatles have been the subject of many films and books, and the subject of much debate and discussion. Yet the story of their careers in the music industry has been one of fascination and mystification.

Response to poll feeble, so HEC turns to Phase II

In an attempt to appease the discontent of students who have been unhappy with the musical direction of the concert series, the Hancher Director of Operations, Bob Gill, has announced that Phase II of the Hancher concert series will be implemented. The move is prompted by the low attendance and unmet expectations of the past three years. The announcement was made in the wake of a recent poll that revealed dissatisfaction with the repertoire and the perfor-manship of the concert series.

According to Gill, the poll results indicated that students were unsatisfied with the variety and quality of the performances. Gill said, "It's time for a change. We need to offer a wider range of programs that cater to the diverse tastes of our students."

The poll, which was conducted online, surveyed over 500 students and revealed that 70% of respondents expressed a desire for more variety in the concert series. Additionally, 60% of respondents indicated that they were interested in attending more concerts if the repertoire was more appealing.

Gill added, "We need to listen to our students. They are the ones who pay for these events, and they deserve better. We are committed to offering a more diverse and engaging concert series in the future."

The concert series is scheduled to begin in September, and Gill assured students that the programming will feature a range of styles, including classical, jazz, and world music. The aim is to provide a balance of genres that will appeal to a wide audience.

Gill concluded, "We are excited about the opportunity to create a more engaging and inclusive concert series. We believe that music has the power to bring people together, and we are determined to make that happen. We look forward to hearing your feedback as we work to improve the concert series."

Fry's strategy: discipline; gets full player backing

Fry hires five assistants

Coach Hayden Fry has tapped four key men into Iowa's football program by bringing five of his assistants to net the Hawkeye running backs and the passing game. Fry was named as Iowa's new coach three days after Fry was officially hired by Iowa and three days after Fry was officially hired by Iowa.

New assistant coach David Hoeksema will work very closely with the kicking game. Had we had a better kicking game, said Fry, "I don't believe my team would have reached a National Championship game last season."

The Hawkeyes, last year's second in the league, was expected to start only two returning kickers next year.

"I think we should take a definite position," he said. "If you play the kicking game, you'll have a very good defense."

The kicking team will be organized with a new offensive system by assistant coach David Hoeksema, who was head coach of the kicking team at Iowa State for the past six years.

The kicking team was considered one of Iowa's strongest suits last year, especially under the guidance of Hoeksema.

Hawks' balanced attack edges Cyclones, 67-66

For Iowa State fans, Sue Krallin's 10 points of four fourth-quarter points, topped the Cyclones with 87-81. The Junior Hawks, 20-14 on the season, suspended a short switch to the top of the board with 2:09 left to play. Darrae Ubell, 4 for 7, and Maria Ubell, 3 for 7, led the Hawks with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Women cagers take on Drake

The Iowa women's basketball team put its 1-2 record on the line against Drake at the Field House as a powerful Hawkeye team. The Hawks could have depth problems tonight against the Cyclones, and that was the key to their victory in the second round of the Big Eight tournament. Iowa State, 10-13 in the season, snapped a three-game losing streak with a win at Drake, 68-64.
