No solution in sight for British strikes

LONDON (UPI) - Prime Minister James Callaghan and top trade union leaders met this week to seek a solution to the nation's grim economic situation, which began in a storm of protest over the government's plan to raise prices of gasoline, electricity and coal.

Callaghan was said to have received a series of heated changes from his union leaders, who reiterated that they would only accept a wage restraint if they were to receive a corresponding increase in the cost of living.

The union leaders also demanded that the government should make some concessions on the way it proposed to implement the price increases, and that there should be a commission to investigate the cost of living.

Callaghan said he would not be able to meet these demands, and that he would only consider making further concessions if the unions accepted a wage restraint.

Draft women

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld and State Department officials will meet with President Reagan this week to try to find a solution to the draft registration plan.

The defense secretary was reported to have proposed a “soft” registration plan that would allow men to avoid the draft if they could prove they were not in good health.

The new plan would also allow men to defer registration if they could prove they were not in good health.

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- The American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO) began a new campaign this week to press for increased wage insurance for its members.

The AFL-CIO has long been calling for increased wage insurance, and this week it announced a series of meetings to be held in major cities across the country to discuss the issue.

Mercy for motorists

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Parking tickets get you down.

Two laws of order for a place to put your car away.

Consider the case of an unfortunate student who, let us hope, has perfect attendance at the University of Vermont campus last week.

The situation was a mild to moderate problem.

"American Police Officer, I know my car is parked illegally."

"Could you please give me a ticket — my brother is dead."

"I don't have that kind of an order."

"Well, I've been an American police officer for 20 years and nothing has turned out to be a problem yet."

"My brother's funeral is today and I won't be able to attend."

The officer decided it had been a good day.

The price of fame

KTV WAA (Ft. USA) — A group of men asked, "Who are you?" attached to a sign: "Drummond Motorists." In return, the group was given a make-it-yourself Friday night, police said.

Father William was not the only person who was injured in the incident.

Williams said he and Father were walking along the street at 10:30 p.m. when a group of four or five men approached.

"We told them, you can take our car, but we don't appreciate having our car stolen.

"I thought they knew we had a small car."

Father was punched in the jaw, police said, and not injured seriously. He did say that they lay on the ground and the attackers fled.

First Bro. blackjacketed

LAS VELLAS, N.Y. (UPI) — Boy covers in Las Vegas, Nev., were given a capstone stone for their White Brotherhood College of Champagnolle.

The group was traveling through South America when they were called to a meeting.

The police destroyed a student

"I want to take the opportunity to thank you for your help in this situation.

"I know that we have a lot of problems with our public safety, and it's too bad that we can't do more.

"I hope that we can continue to work with you to solve these issues.

School sniper kills 2

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A student who said he wanted to "put up a good show" on the school yard, with the help of the police, killed two people and wounded four others before being captured.

The police responded to the scene after a shooting at about 10 a.m. and arrested a man who they said got away with a stolen knife.

He had at least one knife with him when he was arrested.

How deep is the support for the Ayatollah?

Although the idea has been driven with the heavy hand of the government, many of the officials in Iran are deeply dissatisfied with the current situation. There is a growing movement for the overthrow of the Shah and the establishment of a new government. In the meantime, the government is trying to maintain control through the use of force and propaganda. The situation is tense, and there is a real possibility of further violence.

How do you think the Ayatollah will react to these developments? Will he support the government in power or will he try to undermine it? What do you think the future holds for Iran?

Ceremony for Teng Disrupted

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The ceremony planned to present the capital of the people and working people with working papers on the occasion of the 74th anniversary of President Carter's birthday was disrupted Monday.

The ceremony was planned to honor Teng's contributions to the cause of world peace and his commitment to the principles of non-violence, non-aggression, and non-intervention.

The ceremony was disrupted by a group of protesters who were trying to prevent Teng from speaking.

The protesters shouted at Teng and tried to pull him away from the podium. Teng was eventually able to deliver his speech, but the ceremony was marred by the protesters' actions.

The protesters were later arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

The ceremony was scheduled to take place at the United Nations headquarters in New York City.

The United Nations is a international organization established to maintain international peace and security. It was founded in 1945 after World War II, and its headquarters are located in New York City.

Pope pleads solidarity

CULACAPAN, Mexico (UPI) - Pope John Paul II, who came down hard on Marxism in his homily on the thirteenth day of papal visit to Latin America, has urged the United States bishops to follow his example and work for the poor.

"It is not charity, it is the duty of all not to observe," he said.

"You should be chosen to be his ambassadors," he added.

"I am not a Christian," he said, "but I am not a Christian either.

Swimming team: Program changes needed

They're bigger this year. Great. I know that because the coaches have been mentioning it. It's the same old story - more kids, more pressure. So, I think that the coaches have spent hours coming up with ideas, and I think that that's an unfair expectation.

Both coaches were quite critical of their program, and this was a great deal of time and effort spent in a meeting, whether it was in the past or the present, that this was not a situation that could be helped.

 Luckily, the coaches had had an interesting season, and I think that we're not going to be sitting for a long time.

Women cashier jobs seek win in Drake rematch tonight

By CATHERINE BURKEMONDE
Wild West

On an average evening, Keli Last Chance Hawks basketball team draws more than 3,500 fans to the Field Room, a record for the women's basketball team. Last Chance Hawks lost 69-68 to Drake, held by Kelly White, who had 14 points and 11 rebounds. Drake defeated Last Chance Hawks 70-68 last year.

White scored 17 points and 11 rebounds. Drake's defense limited Last Chance Hawks to 39% shooting, while Drake shot 46%.

"We were a little flat tonight," White said. "We didn't shoot as well as we have in the past.

"We need to rebound better. We have to get the ball in the hole and make it count," White said.

The Last Chance Hawks are now 2-8 in the Missouri Valley Conference and 5-12 overall. Drake is 10-4 in the MVC and 16-6 overall.

The Last Chance Hawks play next on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Field Room against Illinois State. Drake plays at Indiana State on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

National polls' design aids Drake women

In the world of women's college basketball, it pays to be in the right place at the right time. That's why the Drake Bulldogs women's basketball team is currently ranked No. 22 in the Associated Press Top 25 poll.

The AP poll, which is released weekly during the season, is based on the number of votes each team receives from a panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. A team's position in the poll is determined by a point system, with the highest ranked team receiving 25 points and the lowest receiving one point.

Drake's high ranking is due in part to their recent success on the court. The Bulldogs have won five of their last six games, including a 75-61 win over Creighton on Feb. 14.

"We've been playing well lately," Drake head coach Dee Brown said. "We've been making shots and playing good defense.

"We're just trying to keep it going. We know we have to continue to work hard and prepare for every game."

The Bulldogs have a tough schedule ahead, with games against Creighton, Nebraska, and Iowa on the horizon. But if they can keep their current momentum going, they may find themselves even higher in the national rankings.

"We're just trying to take it one game at a time," Brown said. "We're just trying to do our best and see where it takes us."

Drake's success this season is due in part to their strong senior leadership, led by Jordan Roberts and her sister, Brook Roberts.

"Our seniors have been really great," Brown said. "They've been great leaders for us.

"They've been great role models for the younger players."

Drake is currently 16-7 overall and 3-1 in the Missouri Valley Conference. They are currently in second place in the MVC, trailing only Creighton, who is 20-5 overall and 7-0 in the MVC.

The Bulldogs have a tough road ahead, but if they can stay focused and continue to play well, they may find themselves in the hunt for an MVC championship.
