UI brass to debate ISB on holdings

The UI administration has agreed to seek outside evaluation of the student-run residence hall (ISB) next week to determine the role of ISB in the university's financial picture.

The United Students Intervarsity (USI), student organization that administers ISB, is seeking information about the financial status of the residence hall.

USI hopes to present its findings to the student body in a meeting to be held next week. The USI is also working with the Finance Committee to determine the future of the residence hall.

The USI has requested the president of the university to appoint a committee to examine the financial status of ISB.

Venezuela calls for OPEC price meeting

President Jimmy Carter of the United States called over the weekend for an emergency meeting of OPEC nations to discuss the oil price crisis.

"I am pleased to announce that President Carter and I have called on the OPEC nations to meet," the president said. "We believe that an emergency meeting is in the best interest of all of us." Carter said that he had talked to Saudi Arabia's oil minister, and that Saudi Arabia would be willing to participate in the meeting.

Carter said that the meeting would be held within the next two weeks, and that he would personally attend.

The president also said that he would ask his aides to work with OPEC leaders to set the date and time for the meeting.

China halts its drive to south

The Chinese government announced today that it has halted its drive to the south, which had been under way for several weeks.

"We have decided to halt our drive to the south," Premier Zhou Enlai said. "We do not see any reason to continue this drive, and we believe that it is in the best interests of both sides to halt it.

"The Chinese government has been aware of the serious situation in the area, and we have been working to resolve it. We believe that it is in the best interests of both sides to halt the drive, and we hope that the Vietnamese government will also agree to halt its drive.

Wyoming picks Jennings

Jennings' appointment as acting governor was made by Gov. David W. Orr, who is out of state. "We are extremely pleased that Governor Jennings has accepted this important appointment. His experience and leadership will be an asset to our state during this time of transition," Orr said after the announcement. "Jennings has been a long-time resident of Wyoming and has held a variety of public and private positions. He brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise to the role of Governor. We look forward to working with him in these challenging times."
Save 'Old Bus? Perhaps

It is appropriately 17 years and 11 months since the No. 2 bus was here at last. The city saw to it that a No. 2 bus was here at last. The city saw to it that it would be here at last. The city saw to it that it would be here at least 17 years and 11 months.

No one seems to care that the No. 2 bus was here at last. The city saw to it that it would be here at last.

All the city officials seem to think that the No. 2 bus was here at last.

That is why the city officials were so happy to see the No. 2 bus arrive at last.

Can abortion dialogue truly change minds?

The public controversy about abortion has been of such profound consequence that it is curious no one has ever been able to say exactly what the issue is. Opponents of abortion have been unable to explain the moral and ethical principles that underpin their position. They have not been able to say why abortion is wrong. It is as if the issue is impossible to define. And so the only way to address the issue is to talk about it. If abortion is wrong, then something must be wrong about the idea of abortion. And so the issue is the idea of abortion, not the practice of abortion.

But what is the idea of abortion? It is the idea of the right to choose. It is the right to decide whether or not to have a child. It is the right to choose whether or not to continue a pregnancy. It is the right to choose whether or not to carry a baby to term. It is the right to choose whether or not to give birth. It is the right to choose whether or not to have an abortion. It is the right to choose whether or not to have a child.

But what is the right to choose? It is the right to make decisions about one's own life. It is the right to control one's own body. It is the right to decide what happens to one's own body. It is the right to decide what happens to one's own life. It is the right to decide what happens to one's own destiny. It is the right to decide what happens to one's own future.

But what is the right to choose? It is the right to choose whether or not to have a child. It is the right to choose whether or not to continue a pregnancy. It is the right to choose whether or not to give birth. It is the right to choose whether or not to have an abortion. It is the right to choose whether or not to have a child.

Blizzard blasts New York, D.C.

Joe Lucas was in the lobby of the Capitol Hotel in downtown Washington, D.C., having a late-morning cup of coffee. As he stepped out of the elevator, he saw a group of people standing around a large window, looking out over the snow-covered streets. He walked over and looked out himself.

“I can’t believe this!” he exclaimed. “This is the worst snow storm I’ve ever seen.”

“Me too,” replied a woman standing next to him. “I’m just glad I’m inside.”

Joe and the woman chatted for a while about the weather, and then they both headed back to their offices. As they walked down the hallway, they couldn’t help but notice the thick layer of snow on the ground. It was almost up to their ankles.

“I don’t think I’ve ever seen so much snow in my life,” said Joe. “It’s like we’re in a winter wonderland.”

The two continued on their way, marveling at the beauty of the snow. As they approached their desks, they both took off their coats and sat down to work. Despite the cold, they were both in high spirits.

“I think this is going to be a great day,” said Joe. “We can work on our projects and have some fun in the snow.”

The two spent the rest of the day working on their projects, enjoying the snow outside, and talking about the beauty of winter.

“I can’t wait to see what tomorrow brings,” said the woman. “I think we’re going to have a lot of fun.”

Joe nodded in agreement. “Me too. I’m ready for anything.”

As the day came to a close, they both headed home, eager to see what the next day would bring. They knew that whatever it was, it would be unforgettable.

Cubs, Sox start talking baseball

(ACICIDE) — The start of this year's series between the two teams has come too early for many of the fans of both clubs. Sox and Cubs who decide to show their enthusiasm at the White City.

"I've never been to a game at the White City," said Ed Weidner, a die-hard Cubs fan. "The field is too small, the fans are too loud." He added, "But I'll be there this year."

"I'm a big Sox fan," said Sue Johnson, a Chicago native. "I've been to games at the White City before. It's a great experience."

The series opens on Friday at 7:00 pm, with the Sox leading off. The game is expected to be a sell-out.
