Alabama troops called in truck strike

In order to finish its projects, the White House was seeking new federal funding, and Carter is ready to make a decision regarding the truckers strike. It is the Senate that the action is likely taken in order to control the situation.

The Senate has voted to approve a bill that includes a provision for the transportation of military personnel. This provision is expected to be signed into law by the president within the next few days.

The bill provides $5 billion for military personnel transportation, including $3 billion for the purchase of new vehicles and $2 billion for the development of new technologies. It also includes a provision for the establishment of a new military personnel transportation agency, which would be responsible for managing the transportation of military personnel.

The White House has indicated that it supports the bill and is expected to sign it into law soon. The bill is expected to be signed by the end of the week.

Carter primed for summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter has experienced a heady week in preparation for this week's summit in Vienna with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev. The summit is expected to be dominated by a new round of arms negotiations.

Carter, who will travel to Vienna on Thursday, is expected to present a new arms control proposal to Brezhnev. The proposal is expected to include new limits on strategic weapons and may include proposals for limitations on intermediate-range missiles.

The talks are expected to be difficult, with both sides refusing to give ground on key issues. Carter has indicated that he is willing to make concessions, but only if Brezhnev does as well.

The summit is the first of its kind for Carter and Brezhnev, and is expected to set the tone for future negotiations on arms control.

Senate arms bill faces 'likely' veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate Commerce Committee has recommended the passage of a bill that would authorize the sale of large quantities of arms to the People's Republic of China, but the bill is likely to face a veto from President Carter.

The bill, which was introduced by Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., would allow the sale of a wide range of arms to China, including nuclear weapons and sophisticated military equipment.

Carter's administration has been opposed to the sale of arms to China, and has indicated that it would use its veto power to block the bill. The Senate has a strong majority of Democrats, who would likely support the bill, but the White House is expected to use its veto power to block it.

Fall predicted for Afghan government

KABUL, Afghanistan (UPI) - The Afghan government is expected to fall within the next few weeks, according to analysts.

The president of the government, Mohammed Najibullah, has been under increasing pressure from the mujahideen, who have launched a number of attacks against government forces.

Najibullah is expected to resign in the coming weeks, and the mujahideen are expected to take control of the capital, Kabul.

The fall of the government is expected to have serious implications for the region, as it could trigger a civil war and instability in the area.

Government's fight against inflation 'at critical crossroads'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The government Wednesday night asked the Supreme Court to hear its appeal of a federal court decision against a price freeze for foreign oil, arguing that the high price of foreign oil was threatening economic stability.

The government's appeal, heard by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, is the first of several such cases that could affect the government's ability to control inflation.

In the government's case, the court had ruled that the government could not freeze the price of oil, which was artificially inflated by the OPEC oil embargo. The government argued that freezing the price of oil would stabilize the economy and prevent a recession.
