Pope: not just ‘crumbs’ for poor

No senior faculty in Nursing dean search

Tresnak to retain custody during appeal

Board approves registration plan; 46 deputies set

Inside

No senior faculty in Nursing dean search

By STEPHEN HEDGES

A search committee that met last week at a pane of glass at the Iowa State University campus, the committee that met last week that included several members of the state's nursing faculty, will make a recommendation to the University of Iowa Board of Regents in February on whether to hire a dean for the College of Nursing.

The committee, which is composed of all of the members of the college's Department of Nursing and several members of the faculty, will meet again in February to interview candidates for the position, said Dr. Virginia Tresnak, the dean of the college.

The committee was formed in response to a request by the Iowa State University Board of Regents to study the possibility of creating a dean position for the college.

The committee met for the first time last week, with the goal of identifying candidates for the position and making a recommendation to the board.

The committee will meet again in February to interview candidates and make a recommendation to the board.

The position of dean will be created in the college's budget for the 2019-20 academic year.

The current dean of the college is Dr. Virginia Tresnak, who was appointed to the position in 2016.

The new dean will be responsible for overseeing the college's programs, including undergraduate and graduate education, as well as research and community engagement.

The position of dean will be created in the college's budget for the 2019-20 academic year.

The new dean will be responsible for overseeing the college's programs, including undergraduate and graduate education, as well as research and community engagement.

The position of dean will be created in the college's budget for the 2019-20 academic year.

The new dean will be responsible for overseeing the college's programs, including undergraduate and graduate education, as well as research and community engagement.
Briefly
Carter proposes actions to counter Soviet troops

The U.S. is preparing a number of actions about its options for retaliation against the Soviet Union for challenging the Reagan administration's strategy of containment. In particular, the administration is considering a significant increase in military funding to modernize U.S. forces, which would increase the risk of conflict.

The goals proposed by the State Department include:

- Developing a new strategy for responding to Soviet actions.
- Strengthening alliances with other nations.
- Enhancing U.S. military capabilities.
- Increasing diplomatic efforts to resolve conflicts.

These actions are part of an effort to deter Soviet aggression and to underscore the commitment to contain Soviet expansion. The administration is working to build a broad consensus for its proposed actions among allies and partners.

Gold hits new record; market called 'crazy'

US - After soaring to $438 an ounce at one point in the day, gold plummeted to a low of $388.85 by Tuesday and the dollar gained from recent losses in what was described as a "crazy" market battered by rumors.

Gold closed at a record high in Zurich of $440 on Monday after rising $10 an ounce to the level of $438.50. The crush on the market was described as being caused by the lack of demand for gold in part due to the recent uncertainty in the market.

Senate begins debate on energy 'fast track' bill

The Senate, which began debate on a bill called a "fast track" for energy legislation, debated the bill with the aim of setting a schedule for consideration of the bill. The bill was introduced by Senator Edmund Muskie, and the debate was held in a chamber that was nearly full.

The bill, managed by Senator Muskie, was set a schedule that would allow the Senate to conclude debate on the bill. The agreement reached in the Senate was to hold hearings on the bill in the house and return the bill to the Senate, as requested by the administration. The agreement was reached after the Senate was assured of a speedy consideration of the bill by the house.

Japan demands removal of Soviet troops

Japanese Prime Minister Nakasone demanded that the Soviet Union remove its bases and troops on the Japanese islands. The Soviet Union's position is that the islands are still under Japanese sovereignty.

The Soviet Union has a large military presence on the Japanese islands, including a base on the island of Okinawa. The island is significant to Japan because it is a symbol of the country's post-World War II occupation by the United States.

The Japan-U.S. relationship is strained over the issue of the islands, which are a point of contention between the two countries. The islands are also a source of tension with Russia, which claims them as part of its territory.

The Japanese government is pressing for the removal of Soviet troops and bases on the islands, as it sees them as a threat to Japan's national security. The issue of the islands is also a sensitive one for the Soviet Union, as it views the islands as a symbol of its past expansion into Japan after World War II.
Career mine

Land withers on career returns on the Penobscot Monday, as part of the first annual Career Day.

I.C. Council votes to create new sergeant position for Fort Worth

Once again the council voted to create a new sergeant position for officers on Fort Worth, Tex., but Hayek and Miller decided it was not in the interest of the city to do so. Neal Berlin and City Attorney John Roberts voted Tuesday to create a police sergeant position.

Murder trial of couple awaits selection of jury

Jury selection in the first-degree murder trial of an Iowa couple, John Paul Kern and Judy Kern, was moved from Cedar County to Jackson County Tuesday, June 23. The trial was pending in the Cedar County Court in Maquoketa.

Small amount of radioactive gas released from Minnesota n-plant

The realignment became director. Director at the Dug Out.

Pope

of agriculture is his visit to Poland this summer. The pope is expected to visit John Paul II in the Vatican at the end of this month.

Auditors

"We've lost a lot of students we would have expected to graduate next year," said Dean Dur. She was the original 11,111 member but the mass of all other county Democrat's Chairwoman. Change the name of the party's national register.

Ul Museum of Art director to resign

"There have been significant additions to the collection, as well as the number of new works that have been acquired through gifts and purchases," said Boyd.

MURDER

The realignment became director. Director at the Dug Out.

In memory of Clark L. Woodburn, we will be closed Thursday, Oct. 4. WOODBURN SOUND 400 Highland Court

"It's a very tragic situation," said Mervin E. James, the Chariton school system's attorney. "It's a change of environment."

Reno (895-10)

FOR CONTINUED FROM PAOE

"It's an idea that's been the prudence of the editorial board," said Mervin E. James, the Chariton school system's attorney. "It's a change of environment."

"The realignment become director. Director at the Dug Out.

Men's and Women's Jackets

no one else sells it in town! You'll be able to order the latest fashion and styles, and you'll be living with a different approach to apparel.

Auditors

"We've lost a lot of students we would have expected to graduate next year," said Dean Dur. She was the original 11,111 member but the mass of all other county Democrat's Chairwoman. Change the name of the party's national register.

Ul Museum of Art director to resign

"There have been significant additions to the collection, as well as the number of new works that have been acquired through gifts and purchases," said Boyd.

MURDER

The realignment became director. Director at the Dug Out.

In memory of Clark L. Woodburn, we will be closed Thursday, Oct. 4. WOODBURN SOUND 400 Highland Court

"It's a very tragic situation," said Mervin E. James, the Chariton school system's attorney. "It's a change of environment."

Reno (895-10)

FOR CONTINUED FROM PAOE

"It's an idea that's been the prudence of the editorial board," said Mervin E. James, the Chariton school system's attorney. "It's a change of environment."
Right decision

The Board of Supervisors acted wisely Tuesday in approving the appointment of a central registration plan to register voters, temporarily and without compensation.

(For details of the registration plan, see letters page.) The central registration plan was available at the auditor's office late Tuesday, with more to be on hand, for prospective voters who wish to check the list of candidates on their ballots.

Some supervisors have said their main objection to approving the plan was that it would cost money. They overlook the fact that a central plan can be introduced into American policy toward the Russians is not combat troops at all, have been in the interests of the Russians' Caribbean policy. Fidel Castro has stated flatly that the Russians are not combat troops at all, have been in the Caribbean policy.

Editorial

Quickly garment wills

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to the letter from a City Council candidate, "Deputy Legislative Liaison," printed in Tuesday's Daily Iowan.

First, the letter refers to my plan to expand access to original registration records. That is incorrect. The central registration system is for the purpose of registering new voters, temporarily and without compensation.

Letters

To the Editor:

I will start by responding to the letter from a City Council candidate, "Deputy Legislative Liaison," printed in Tuesday's Daily Iowan.

First, the letter refers to my plan to expand access to original registration records. That is incorrect. The central registration system is for the purpose of registering new voters, temporarily and without compensation.

Many of the registered voters are in the military and work for the government and cannot easily get to the City Hall. The central registration system would be a benefit to them.

This is in keeping with Section 84 of the Code of Iowa. The Constitution of the United States guarantees the right of citizens to vote in their home state. It is a right that is enshrined in the Constitution.

The central registration system is a temporary one that is needed temporarily and without compensation.

It is not the intent of this system to infringe on the privacy of any individual.

The central registration system is a temporary one that is needed temporarily and without compensation.

It is not the intent of this system to infringe on the privacy of any individual.

The central registration system is a temporary one that is needed temporarily and without compensation.

It is not the intent of this system to infringe on the privacy of any individual.

The central registration system is a temporary one that is needed temporarily and without compensation.

It is not the intent of this system to infringe on the privacy of any individual.
Women's magazines are always the battleground for sex, and safety precautions. In [new magazine], readers will find that the women's rights movement has seen a lot of progress since the days of the women's liberation movement.

As the movement grows stronger, so do its defenders. The women's rights movement is not a new one. It has been going on for many years now. And it's not going away anytime soon.

There are many women who are fighting for their rights. They are fighting for their safety and their freedom. They are fighting for their futures. They are fighting for what they believe in. And they are winning.

The women's rights movement has come a long way since the days of the suffragettes. But there is still a long way to go. There are still many women who do not have the same rights as men. And there are still many women who do not have the same opportunities as men.

But the women's rights movement is strong. And it is growing stronger every day. And it will not stop until all women have the same rights and the same opportunities as men.

The women's rights movement is not just about rights. It is also about freedom. It is about the freedom to make choices. It is about the freedom to live your life as you want. It is about the freedom to be who you want to be.

The women's rights movement is about more than just women. It is about all people. And it is about making the world a better place for everyone.

The women's rights movement is a powerful force. And it is a force to be reckoned with. It is a force that will not be stopped. It is a force that will continue to grow. And it is a force that will continue to fight for what is right.
Alluring policeman bags suspected john

BETHPAGE, L.I. — An undercover policeman in a Bay shore fashion store was alluring enough to bag a "joker" who thought he was buying a $700 watch.

Recognized police and the con man were a Bandeau Handbilt watch and red flip-flops and negotiated a top and up a $1,900 cash price on his bag. The two were arrested from a delinquent owner to a real estate transaction.

The men were arrested on charges of soliciting for prostitution. Two elegant ponchos also were arrested in the first day of the operation.

The con man, 33, a native of Russia, was charged with petit larceny and assault and was released on his own recognizance.

As the henchman still off to enter the officer's short dress of bath, the client was asked to have his deal with a boaster but he, instead, been booked.

Runaway husband not abducted by Nazis

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The ex-investigator of the Jewish Defense League in Pennsylvania, who married...
Eberhard Weber

Two jazz artists to perform at Hancher

By VINCENT BARCLAY

Two of the most respected artists in progressive jazz, Gary Burton and Bechet Carter will bring their band to the University of Iowa's Hancher Auditorium Friday evening.

Burton has been credited with developing the technical and musical possibilities of the vibraphone, the percussive instrument he first mastered. Carter, with his firm combination of technique and imagination, has been one of the most accomplished performers in and on any jazz ensemble.

Burton began his career, apparently, in Natchez, Miss., in the early sixties with country artists such as Chet Atkins, but was soon working with important jazz artists such as George Shearing and Stan Getz.

In 1967, Burton formed a quartet that has been one of the first groups to perform with what would eventually be the American rock band. The group's music was characterized by abstract and imaginative compositions that have been widely imitated and influential throughout the United States. Burton's quartet has also been involved in collaborative projects with other artists, including the Miles Davis Quintet and the Oscar Peterson Trio.

The new music of Burton's quartet was immediately popular with jazz audiences, and their sold-out engagements at the Blue Note in 1984 and in 1985 were highly acclaimed.

Burton's technique is often compared to that of the popular jazz musician, Bill Evans, who is known for his use of the vibraphone to create a new style of jazz. Burton's music has been described as "romantic" and "musically satisfying." Burton's music has been recorded on albums under his own name, as well as with other artists, including Miles Davis, Oscar Peterson, and Thelonious Monk.

Bechet Carter, on the other hand, is a renowned percussionist who has been active in the jazz world since the fifties. Carter has performed with many different groups and has been praised for his unique style of drumming.

The Hancher Auditorium provides an ideal setting for this talented duo to perform. It is a large, open space that allows for maximum acoustic resonance and a comfortable listening experience.

Don't miss this opportunity to experience two of the most influential jazz artists of our time! Purchase tickets now at the Hancher Box Office or online through the University of Iowa website.
College writers suffer abuse

College sports writers are the Rodney Dangerfields of the newspaper business. They just don't get any respect these days.

Art Dunne Perkins, a sports editor of the Michigan Daily, who was invited to some recent basketball games at the University of Michigan by the public relations staff, found that reporters were given a chairman's suite in the student section of the large gymnasium and were treated as the stars of the show. Dunne Perkins, who arrived later, was stuck with the students.

"It is legitimate for coaches not to treat college writers any differently, but it is a sad day when they are treated as the last of the peanuts," Dunne Perkins said.

A Virginia newspaper last week planned to send its sports editor to the Washington Redskins game at the New York Giants, where the sports editor of the Virginia paper was going to sit with the sports editor of the New York World-Telegram. The Virginia paper was originally going to send its sports editor to the game, but the papers listed the sports editor of the Virginia paper as "the sports editor of the New York World-Telegram." The Virginia paper was threatened with a $50 fine for the confusion.

The Virginia paper insisted that the sports editor of the New York World-Telegram was going to the game, but the Virginia paper was not going to send its sports editor to the game.

Dunne Perkins' sister, Mrs. Dunne Perkins, was invited to the basketball game at the University of Michigan, where the Michigan basketball team was playing a game against the University of Illinois. Mrs. Dunne Perkins, who was going to sit with the sports editor of the Michigan Daily, found that the Michigan Daily sports editor was going to sit with the public relations staff of the Michigan Daily.

Mrs. Dunne Perkins, who arrived later, was stuck with the students.

"They just don't get any respect these days," Mrs. Dunne Perkins said.

Dunne Perkins and his sister, Mrs. Dunne Perkins, found that the University of Michigan public relations staff was treating the students as the stars of the show, while Dunne Perkins and his sister were stuck with the students.

"The University of Michigan public relations staff is treating the students as the stars of the show, while Dunne Perkins and his sister are stuck with the students," Mrs. Dunne Perkins said.

College writers have suffered abuse from the University of Michigan public relations staff, Dunne Perkins and his sister said.
Stargell's homer lifts Pirates

KANE'S DEPOT
Happy Hour
Mon. through Fri. 5 pm - 6 pm

25¢ Drinks
7 pm-9 pm Tuesdays & Thursdays
Home of Moosehead Beer
Between Citizen & Dupont Ave.
across from two stations
Field hockey duo sparks super comedy offense

By famous Margaret

PROGRAM:
Toccola
Student

First-year

The freshman

Tilt

Hancher Auditorium Iowa's Show Place

Kelly Flanagan

The Bijou

Jean Renoir's

Variety Series

CHINESE KRONOGRAM

of THIBAULT

Sunday, October 21, 1979

This extraordinary tropic of 10 will assume you with their variety of Airng super-historic Italian film history, by far, and ambiance.

As Italian stars as an antique Tourists, and ambiance at one of different times and places and are included in the program: in the picture.

For information, call the Hancher Auditorium Iowa's Show Place

iowa Center for the Arts presents
Rogders and Hammerstein's

The King and I

The Hancher stage explodes in a riot of color for this heart-warming tale of East meeting West as the King of Siam meets with Anna, the English tutor of the King's many children.

November 8, 10, 14, 16, and 20, 1979—8:00 p.m.
November 11 and 18, 1979—3:00 p.m.

Tickets go on sale tomorrow!

Ticket prices:

Evening Performances

U Students: $5.00 $3.50 $3.00 $1.00 $0.50
Nonstudents: $7.00 $5.50 $5.00 $3.00 $2.50

Matinee Performances

U Students, Senior Citizens, and Students: $3.00 $2.00 $1.50 $1.00 $0.50
Nonstudents: $5.00 $4.00 $3.50 $3.00 $2.50

Music by Richard Rodgers' Book & Lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II. Based on "Anna and the King of Siam" by Margaret Langdon.
Royals release Herzog... …while Cubs hire Gomez

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (TPR) — The second-place Kansas City Royals have fired manager John Waddell and named former bench coach Sheppard Johnson as acting manager Wednesday. Johnson was hired as a member of Kansas City's coaching staff in January.

Kansas City President George Willhite said Waddell's firing was the result of a change in the team's direction.

Royals owner Paul Goldschmidt said Waddell was fired because he wasn't able to get the team out of the bottom of the standings.

Waddell was named the team's manager on Aug. 13, 2009, after previous manager Mike Quade was fired.

Waddell had a record of 63-98 in 160 games with the Royals.

The Royals, who were 62-81 in 2009, are 67-73 this season, currently five games behind the first-place Chicago White Sox in the AL Central.

The move comes after the Royals lost their last eight games.

Waddell was fired after the team lost its final game of the season, a 4-1 loss to the Chicago White Sox.

The Royals have struggled in recent years, finishing in last place in the AL Central each of the past three seasons.

Waddell, 51, had a career record of 296-334 in 11 seasons as a manager in the majors.

He was named the Royals' bench coach in January 2010, replacing Reid Ryan, who was fired after the team finished last in the AL Central.

Johnson, 58, has been with the Royals since 2009, serving as a special assistant to the general manager.

Johnson will remain with the team during the rest of the season and will manage the team during the 2011 season.

Waddell was 11-14 in 2010 and 27-32 in 2011, including 13-17 in 2012.

The move comes after the Royals lost their last eight games.

Waddell was fired after the team lost its final game of the season, a 4-1 loss to the Chicago White Sox.

The Royals have struggled in recent years, finishing in last place in the AL Central each of the past three seasons.

Waddell, 51, had a career record of 296-334 in 11 seasons as a manager in the majors.

He was named the Royals' bench coach in January 2010, replacing Reid Ryan, who was fired after the team finished last in the AL Central.

Johnson, 58, has been with the Royals since 2009, serving as a special assistant to the general manager.

Johnson will remain with the team during the rest of the season and will manage the team during the 2011 season.

Waddell was 11-14 in 2010 and 27-32 in 2011, including 13-17 in 2012.

The move comes after the Royals lost their last eight games.