The United States government has an obligation to the American people to ensure that our universities have the resources to function properly. This legislation is a step in the right direction. However, there is still much work to be done to fully support our universities. The Senate must act quickly to pass this legislation and ensure that our universities have the funding they need to continue providing a world-class education for our students. I urge all members of Congress to support this important legislation and to work together to find solutions to the many challenges our universities face.
Disaster plan

President Carter’s Commission in the Accident at Three Mile Island was unanimous Sunday in pushing the idea of an emergency for new nuclear reactors, stating that the industry is not yet ready to operate them safely. The commission recommended that a “disaster plan” should be established for each new reactor to ensure that the utmost safety is achieved. This plan would be designed to prevent disasters and to minimize any accidents that might occur.

To the Editor:

You’re right. The commission’s recommendations are not a substitute for a new regulatory structure, nor will they solve all of the problems that we face today. But, I do believe that they represent an important step forward in the development of a more rational and effective regulatory system. They are the result of an extensive review of the current regulatory process and an analysis of the weaknesses and shortcomings that have been identified.

I would like to see the adoption of the commission’s recommendations as quickly as possible. This would be a significant step towards establishing a more effective regulatory framework that can ensure the safety and reliability of our energy system.

Sincerely,

President Jimmy Carter and his brother Phillip, as well as Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, are leading the charge to help alleviate the Cambodian famine. Carter’s brother, a wealthy businessman, has pledged 9,470,000 dollars to help the Cambodians. This is a significant amount of money and demonstrates the commitment of these leaders to the cause of famine relief.

Perhaps, as Carter said, “the U.S. has not done all it could to relieve the Cambodian situation. But I think the situation is a large part of the problem for U.S. Indochina policy.” The situation is not as simple as just providing aid, however. Carter is suggesting that a new, more effective policy is needed.

I think that Carter’s suggestions are a step in the right direction. It is important that we take a comprehensive approach to solving the problem of the Cambodian famine. This includes not only providing aid, but also considering the root causes of the famine and working to address them.

Panel approves low windfall tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Senate approved an oil windfall tax for the first time Tuesday and forwarded the measure to the House in a bid to speed approval of a package of Democratic party measures that would return some of the oil windfall general fund to the states.

The Senate action came in a 56-35 vote, with six Democratic senators from the oil states voting against the measure.

The windfall profits tax would be applied to the next billion dollars of profits, with the proceeds going to state governments.

The committee would raise $142 billion in revenue.

The bill passed after an extended debate that included a floor vote on the point of order and a series of amendments.

Coralville 8:06

Coralville — President Carter Thursday approved a measure to aid the poor and to phase out federal price controls on American crude oil.

Carter has been working on almost exclusively the economy and energy policy, which he said today will start by Nov.

In his remarks, Carter warned oil companies Thursday that he would consider price control legislation if they did not cut prices.

The bill would be applied to the next billion dollars of oil profits, with the proceeds going to state governments.

The committee bill would provide $3 billion in energy capital grants to welfare recipients.

The Senate action followed an extended debate that included a floor vote on the point of order and a series of amendments.

CARTER fundraiser Dees defects to Kennedy camp

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Edward Dees of South Carolina has joined a major early move on behalf of Kennedy's presidential campaign.

Dees, who has for a long time been a staunch supporter of Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, said late today that he would support Kennedy if McGovern could not be persuaded to run for the nomination.

Kennedy supporters, according to Dees, are seeking a "significant" number of additional endorsements before making a public appeal for a McGovern nomination.

McGovern has said he would not run if Kennedy does not.

Dees said he was bound by his campaign promises not to campaign for anyone other than George McGovern.

But he said he has been "persuaded" by Kennedy's "zealous" campaign and by the Kennedy's "fine" platform.

Dees said he was convinced that Kennedy was the "right choice" for the Democratic nominee for the presidency.

Dees said he was "surprised" at the Kennedy action and that he had been "very impressed" with Kennedy's "fine" platform.

DEES SAID he had been in touch with George McGovern and the South Carolina Democratic Committee, which was represented by Kennedy in the state.

"I am a Democrat, a moderate Democrat," he said, "and I am not going to go against the wishes of the party.

"I am going to do what I think is best for the country, and that is for Kennedy to be the Democratic nominee.

"I have been very impressed with Kennedy's fine platform and his "bold" proposals for a "new" America.

"I am convinced that Kennedy will be a "great" President and that he will "restore" the "old" America.

Kantorei perform a ‘magdral fable’

By JUDITH GREEN

Harvard

The UI Kantorei, conducted by Don Brown, presented a ‘magdral fable’ on Sunday afternoon in the Hancher Auditorium.

The Kantorei, an a cappella chamber ensemble, presented an eclectic program of mostly Italian, French, and English music from the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries. The program included works by composers such as Palestrina, Gombert, and Lassus, as well as a modern piece by Michael Head. The ensemble was composed of six students and one faculty member, and they were joined by the UI Symphony Orchestra for a portion of the performance.

The program was divided into three parts:

I. Early Latin
II. British choral and orchestral music
III. French and Italian choral music

The ensemble’s performances were highly skilled, with a strong emphasis on vocal technique and diction. The sound was warm and resonant, with a clear focus on the text and the musical style of each piece.

At the end of the concert, the audience was given the opportunity to purchase CDs of the performance. The CDs were recorded by the ensemble and included a variety of pieces from the program. They were available for purchase at the Hancher Auditorium for $15.

The Kantorei’s next performance will be in May, when they will present a program of contemporary choral music. For more information, please visit the Kantorei’s website at kantorei.uiowa.edu.

Yankees’ Martin denies fight charge

ELBOWINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Twins star Tony Martin denied charges he was involved in a brawl last weekend that left New York Yankee manager Billy Martin injured.

However, he said, the police officially made no case and Tuesday night did not see New York, Martin vowed Tuesday to push Martin himself for the incident involving the police captain.

It’s the second time Billy Martin had denied an incident involving the police officer.

Minnesota Twin’s general manager, Dan Martin, described the matter as one that would be reviewed and handled internally.

“Tony believed he was not involved and he is going to press the matter with the police department,” Dan Martin said.

The incident involved the police officer and a man who was hit, amid a crowd.

COORS asks the question:

What IF...

Can a man be great if his name be ordinary?

--Thaddeus Kosciuszko

What if the great men and women of history hadn't had those important sounding names so suited to their eventual achievements? Would they have failed to accomplish all that fate had in store for them?

For instance: Zebulon Montgomery Pike. "Pike's Peak!" But what if his name had been something else? What would the Colorado high country have done with Maury's Mountain?

Or Hockstein's Heights! The 1859 gold rushers would not have charged halfway across a continent shouting "Hockstein's Heights or bust!"

And with a name like Adolph Coors, what else are you going to do but figure out how to brew a great beer in a better place than anybody ever brewed beer before.

Did any of those city brewers ever climb a mile up in the Rockies just to get pure mountain spring water, or grow their own high country barley? Of course not. That's why Coors is special—the only beer that lets you taste the high country. The beer that makes all the others just city beer.

Coors. It's a great name.
