An Iowa City police contract settlement with a tentative 14 percent pay raise for the coming fiscal year was announced Monday.

The agreement, which has been signed by the Municipal Employees' Federation and city, was the result of a two-day contract meeting for the coming fiscal year. The contract is still subject to the approval of the Iowa City council.

Barlow, the city’s official police representative, said that the agreement was reached after negotiations started two months ago. The council will have the final say on the agreement.

The United States temporarily closed both its diplomatic and consular offices in the oil-rich Middle Eastern nation of Libya Monday in response to the murder of an American Embassy employee who was killed in a Vienna, Austria, hotel room.

The move came after a Libyan official, in a letter Monday, threatened to further escalate the situation, saying that the Libyan government would respond to the killing in a manner that would be “severe and proportionate” to the American Embassy’s actions.

3,000 protest Church of Scientology in Florida

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UPI) -- An estimated 3,000 people demonstrated here Saturday morning against the presence of the Church of Scientology in their hometown.

The enthusiastic, Scientologist-demonstrated rally with a brass band, cheerleaders and1,500 fluorescent green T-shirts was organized around a plaza called the "City of Truth" and "City of Sunrise." Members of the mostly church suburbs have been stonewalling plans for an 11-story project since last year.

The buildings, costing more than $3 million, are to house an international publication and research center, a teaching hospital, a drug rehabilitation center and a museum. A federal judge ordered a stay on development of the projects pending an investigation which determined that the church was not a "pure science."

Residents of Clearwater also are looking into complaints about the presence of the Church of Scientology in their city.

According to the Bureau said the agency's staff was probing complaints against the presence of the Church of Scientology in their Clearwater.

Another advertising cost was a $128 million on advertising last year and was the 25th largest advertiser in the world. The second incident of advertising was a $96 million.

Removal of Airport Commission members would have to be ordered by district court, according to a lawyer within the Federal Aviation Administration.

Commissioner John Altman and Glenn Robert said they would not be able to report on the procedure for removing Air Commission members, indicating that the only complaint that the commission had taken recent actions that would have been upheld in court. They also have been contending that the commission is not the place to hold any action, and that the commission is not the place to determine if any of the commission had occurred.

Chicago transit employees deadlocked over contracts

The Chicago Transit Authority and the transit workers union, the Brotherhood of Land Transportation Employees, have failed to reach a contract agreement, and the situation is moving closer to a strike.

The CTU last responded with anything resembling a strike threat on Jan. 10, a day before the expiration of the current contract with the transportation workers union. The CTU has not renewed its offer of talks, and the transit workers union has not responded.

The transit workers union, which represents the city's 6,000 bus drivers, cab drivers, maids, and maintenance workers, has yet to respond.

Iran: A poor excuse for more defense spending

There is no longer any doubt that the situation in Iran will be used as an excuse to steadily increase the defense budget. Administration officials have said repeatedly that the Islamic Republic has agreed to buy some $1 billion worth of military equipment. Carter changed his mind, defense spending will be close to $10 billion in 1979. The administration has indicated that he will seek an increase of $6 billion in defense spending if he serves a second term.

The fear over Iran makes it unlikely that any of the major party candidates will challenge Carter's decision. Sen. Edward Kennedy is considered one of the most liberal congressmen, but his position on defense spending has been consistent. Carter has indicated that he will seek a further increase in military spending if he serves a second term.

The reason over Iran is whether or not the United States, with its present involvement in politics, that it is appropriate to regulate campaign groups, including religious groups. The other avenue whereby these groups can be regulated is a more

L.A. Philharmonic performance exemplifies best side of Giulini

By JOTHIS GREEN

The full and elegant City Hall Garden, with its burnished gold dome, provided a fitting setting for a concert under the baton of the maestro laureate of the Los Angeles Philharmonic. His appearance, so often marked by an aura of mystique, was almost wholly lacking in that aura on Friday night, when the program was conducted to a full and appreciative house in a setting that had often had to be revised in previous years because of the challenges posed by the acoustics of the building.

Musical balance was not an issue in this performance, which Giulini conducted with an economy and directness that are hallmarks of his approach to music. The orchestra's program annotator, who has been described as "the Walt Whitman of music," was present to add support to his interpretation. The concert, a review of major works by Brahms and Beethoven, was a fitting tribute to two of the greatest composers of the 19th century.

Giulini chose to perform just the first movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, a work that he considers a masterpiece. His performance was superb and intense, with a precise balance of spirit and intellect, an introspective, completely personal movement, the only one Mahler left unexplored. By exemplifying "I-don't-know-Me, I-don't-know-Mine," he demonstrated the beauty and transparency of the music, with its subtle and delicate gestures. The movement was conducted with a precision that was both refined and strong, with a dramatic crescendo that left the audience breathless.

This year's prettiest blouses, mixed promotion of "the concert," a splendid performance of chamber music that has been praised by the press, was given at a reception at President Ford's residence.

Giulini's decision to play the work twice in a row, he said, is because of the "intimate" relationship between the two musicians who played it. The second performance was conducted with a similar precision, but with a more relaxed and spontaneous quality.

Mondale has been praised by several award-winning musicologists for his advocacy of the arts. In a speech at City Hall, he expressed his commitment to the arts and political businesses such as national interest in the arts: "It's exciting to see the arts grow and develop," he said. "I think it's important to support the arts and to encourage the arts." Mondale has also been praised for his efforts to increase funding for the arts, and for his role in the Carter administration's arts policy.

Wienert was as essentially tranquil, however, as his calling the Op. 11 Thorne Pictures Orchestra was by far the most attractive feature of this concert. The radio analysis is something of an entertainment, since it looks like just the first movement, adapted minor, in which the expression is rather subdued and direct, and seems to be played just as it is in pianissimo. Its expression is all it has to say. It must be played by something that it has resulted of the following: the "famous" and "famous" version, the "nice" and "nice" version, the "as it is" and "as it is" version, all of which are "as it is". The above theory is all that I can say. It must be played by something that it is responsible for making the impression that there are "impressions". All of the above have a hundred modifications. If they should be magically made . It's on, for example, subtle and slightly different relationships from the slow introduction of the theme and last movements in the main theme. This wonderful work was the subject of a severely attenuated in tempos and movements: the cycle of the theme is very slow or meditative and, therefore, there was no attempt to make Brahms more meaningful in the symphony. Giulini carried the rich emotional texture and resolved it in a thoughtful, clear direction. It was a masterpiece, and here we had something that was both beautiful and delicate. The program was a masterpiece of a set of poems by Charles Darwin, the first American composer to compose a symphony himself. The Wall Waltz is monumental.

Our $689 system will tell you why the Advent/1 speakers have become best-sellers.

When the Advent/1 speakers were introduced a year ago, we were certain they would become best sellers, and our sales records confirm those predictions. The Advent/1 is Advent's definition of how close you can come, for four dollars in a smaller cabinet, to the performance of the New Advent loudspeaker. The latest version of this country's most popular and most imitated speaker, featured below, the advent/1. To match the Advent/1 speakers we've selected the new Yamaha CR440 receiver. The CR440 has plenty of power (30 watts rms per channel) and extremely clean sound (less than 0.1 db total harmonic distortion). Also, the CR440 has most of the features you find on more expensive Yamaha receivers such as variable loudness, independent record output, and dynamic range up to 94 db.

Knight unhappy with Indy victory

By United Press International

In a one-run No. 1 victory for the Giants over the White Sox in Chicago Sunday, Coach Knight became a victim of his own success.

"I was so surprised," said Knight, "that I didn't realize my team had scored until the score was flashed on the scoreboard." Knight, who had been a coach for 20 years, lowered his all-time record to 20-14-1 with the win.

The Giants' win came despite a strong performance by White Sox pitcher Jim Acker, who allowed only one run in seven innings. But the Giants' offense, led by Bob Grote, managed to score that lone run in the third inning, breaking a scoreless tie.

The Cleveland Browns, led by Brian Schmit, defeated the Houston Oilers 27-10, snapping the Oilers' 10-game winning streak.

Schmit, who had been benched for most of the season, played well in relief of starter Dinah Johnson. He completed 6 of 9 passes for 100 yards and a touchdown.

"I was surprised when Dinah told me I was going in," Schmit said. "But I knew I had to make the most of the opportunity."
Iowa wrestlers find weekend success

In Cedar Rapids...

Iowa heavyweight Dean Anderson, 21, of Ottumwa, Iowa, beat Second-ranked Nebraska's Shane Hughes, 21, of Lincoln, Neb., 3-2, in 4:15 in the 220-pound class Saturday night.

The victory was the 31st in 33 career matches for Anderson, who became the 10th individual Iowa wrestler to compete in the NCAA Division I championships.

Devastating Hawkeye defense stops Northern Illinois, 86-43

by DOUG BEECH

One week before Iowa faced Chicago State in the Iowa hardwood sisters' fall classic, the Hawkeyes (11-0) entered the field Friday, Dec. 5, to face the Illinois Fighting Illini (5-2). The game was the Hawkeyes' first meeting with Northern Illinois University since the 1978 NCAA Tournament.

Iowa used a combination of strong defense and solid offense to defeat Northern Illinois, 86-43, at Carver-Hawkeye Arena. The Hawkeyes quickly established an 11-point lead in the first half and held it throughout.

The Hawkeyes improved to 11-0 with the victory, the first time in school history they have achieved a perfect record through the first 11 games.

Iowa head coach Fran McCaffery was pleased with his team's performance.

"We really played well tonight," McCaffery said. "We played well tonight with our defense and offense. We were really able to control the scoreboard and the game."
Hawks hold early lead in romp over Wisconsin

By SHARON ROBIN
Associated Press

The Iowa women entered the game in the No. 13th-ranked Hawkeyes and had four players in double figures as they cruised past the No. 9th-ranked Badgers 89-55. Iowa's leading scorer, center Cindy Brunson, had 27 points and 17 rebounds. Iowa also had 20 assists to 11 turnovers.

Iowa was able to get off to a hot start, leading 25-17 after the first quarter. The Hawkeyes went on a 20-3 run in the first half to build a 45-23 lead.

Iowa's sharp-shooting center, Kristi Smith, had 25 points and 7 rebounds. Iowa's other leading scorer, guard Ashley Joens, had 18 points and 6 rebounds.

The Badgers were led by guard Melissa Hurley with 15 points. Wisconsin also had 20 rebounds and 18 assists.

Iowa's head coach, Lisa Bluder, said, "It's been a difficult road for us, but the team has really stepped up in the past two games. We've been able to get back into rhythm and play our game.

Iowa's defense has really helped us control the game. We've been able to force turnovers and limit our mistakes. This is a big win for us and we're looking forward to the next game."
