Iran to 'definitely' try hostages

Moslem captors will be judges, Qotzbadeh says

By United Press International

Foreign Minister Shahl Qotzbadeh, who surrendered Tuesday the hostages in the U.S. Embassy "definitely" will hold them at least until the next stage of the talks on hostage release, he said.

One of the hostages, commenting on the event, also said that all of the U.S. hostages held hostage will be freed for sniper fire and not just some of them. "The hostage-takers are following the American pattern," Foreign Ministry spokesman Mohamad Mostafaei told another reporter.

CBS News later reported that Qotzbadeh insisted that men of the United States Press had not been held hostage by an international hostage-taking and were not in any communication with the U.S. government.

Col. Robert Vevera, the U.S. ambassador to Iran, said that the hostage-takers had not been given any assurances about the United States' position on the hostage release.

The resolution also upheld the United States and Iran to "exercise their maximum efforts in the near future to arrange for the release of all Americans held hostage."
$25,000 lawsuit filed against Iowa City man

By ROY ROYSE

A Iowa City man charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated faces a $2,500 bond and a bare Osmond in a cash bond. He was arrested on April 23 and was released on bond.

The 25-year-old man, identified only as R. W. Smith, was charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and operating a motor vehicle without a license.

The man was arrested after a traffic stop on Weiland Avenue in Iowa City, according to a police report.

The report states that the man was operating a green Ford Taurus at a high speed and was weaving in and out of traffic.

He was stopped by police, who found that he had a blood alcohol concentration of 0.08 percent, above the legal limit of 0.04 percent.

The man was taken to the Johnson County Jail, where he was held on bond. He is scheduled to appear in court on May 9.

Iowa City police said they had received several complaints about the man's erratic driving.

The man has a prior conviction for driving while intoxicated.

Police said they were concerned about his behavior and asked that he be kept in jail.

Trashburgers

Philip Jones, associate dean of student services, announced last week that the UI might consider replacing the Meat Mart with a hot food franchise such as McDonald’s. Henderson’s weekly has presented interest in the union location.

Recently fast-food franchisees have been attacked by environmentalists who claim that their operations negatively affect the ecology and lifestyle of the United States. Critics of such franchises argue that the environmental impact of their operations is minimal and that the issue is a matter of personal choice.

A casual observer at either Hardy’s or McDonald’s in Iowa City can easily see the amount of trash generated by fast-food restaurants. In particular, the use of disposable materials such as styrofoam burger containers, and plastic condiment containers can be seen as a major source of waste.

The only solution to this problem is to reduce the amount of disposable materials used by fast-food restaurants. This can be achieved by offering reusable or biodegradable alternatives, and encouraging customers to bring their own reusable containers.

KOREY WILLOUGHBY

Brown bags spot

The decision by the Des Moines Register to include Governor Jerry jogging is a welcome step in the right direction. If the readership currently supports the idea of reducing waste, they are free to choose any restaurant and their preferred method of transportation to get their food. If they do not support this idea, they have the right to express their opinion.

The register said that the debate was designed to help low-income families. In fact, the debate is designed to help just those who can afford to buy groceries. The typical consumer of a fast-food restaurant is not someone who is struggling to make ends meet.

The register also pointed out that the debate is a step in the right direction. It is true that the debate is a step in the right direction. However, it is important to note that the debate is not a complete solution to the problem of food waste.

Diabetes breakthrough made

NEW YORK, October 1979 — Rockefeller University researchers have developed a novel, chemical approach to diabetes therapy that shows promise of providing diabetes medications such as insulin and progesterone. It was reported Tuesday.

"The long term answer, I'm reasonably sure, is that the delivery system must be effective. The best results are obtained when the delivery system is as close to the site of the body's insulin as possible. Therefore, a new delivery system directly governed by glucose levels in the body is in the pipeline." Assistant Professor Michael Dourantas and Professor Anthony Corsetti describe the model that is the completed version of Scudamore's research.

Nicaragua's Cabinet resigns for junta

MANAGUA—Nicaragua's Cabinet resigned Tuesday to allow the nation's free elections to proceed, ending five years of guerrilla war and revolution.

The resignation of the Cabinet was announced by the commander-in-chief of the Sandinista Popular Army.

The Cabinet's resignation was accepted by the junta, which will now rule the country until new elections are held.

The announcement was made after a series of meetings between the Cabinet members and the junta leaders.

Under the new arrangement, the junta will assume full power and authority, while preparations are made for the free elections scheduled for the near future.

The Cabinet's decision was seen as an important step in the process of returning Nicaragua to democratic rule.

This, however, is likely to be the last official statement made by the Cabinet. The junta has already announced that it will not participate in any future elections, effectively ending the democratic process.

The resignation of the Cabinet is a significant development in the ongoing conflict in Nicaragua.

For the first time, the government has agreed to a peaceful transition to a new administration, setting the stage for a possible end to the civil war.

The move is expected to be widely welcomed by both domestic and international observers, who have long expressed concern about the human rights abuses and economic difficulties that have characterized the conflict in Nicaragua.

The junta has repeatedly denied allegations of human rights violations and has maintained that its rule is necessary to protect the country from further foreign interference.

Despite these claims, the international community has remained skeptical, with many nations expressing concern about the continued violence and instability in Nicaragua.

The resignation of the Cabinet is seen as a milestone in the country's journey towards peace and democracy.

However, many challenges remain, including the need to address the underlying causes of the conflict and to ensure the protection of human rights and freedoms.

The international community will be watching closely as Nicaragua moves towards a new chapter in its history.

Ruling Classhumors, knivesBritish society

By MICHAEL HUMES

A sense, healing, rewarding anger. The Ruling Class, a British comedy directed by Peter Barnes of Peter Barnes, is an effective, dark, and chilling portrayal of the ruling class of the 20th century, depicting the English social system in a graphic and realistic manner. It is a commentary on the corruption and social inequities of the British social system, and it is a comedy.

The film is an excellent source of material for students of British society and politics. The sense of outrage so important to the full appreciation of the film may not be accessible to some viewers, due to its graphic and explicit content.

The film is three hours long (though cut from the British version of 3 hours). It is an almost nihilist tract, a critique of the English system, and a commentary on the corruption and social inequities of the British social system.

Hockey team lacks home talent

It was a cold, winter day. A few hockey enthusiasts were gathered outside a school on a cold, windy day. They were there to support the hockey teams, but they were also concerned about the lack of a home game for the teams.

The hockey teams, made up of students from different high schools, were playing an important game. However, the organizers were having trouble finding a suitable venue for the game.

The situation was critical, and the hockey enthusiasts were demanding action. They were calling for the organizers to find a solution quickly, as the game was scheduled for the next weekend.

The hockey teams were grateful for the support they received, but they were also aware of the challenges they faced. They were determined to find a way to overcome these obstacles and continue playing the sport they loved.

It's hard to imagine Iowa defenses and receiving backs being shocked to be named All-Americans. It was sort of a dream come true for senior Tim O'Toole, who was told of his selection by Hayden Moore, director of the University of Iowa Athletic Club in New York.

O'Toole, Oklahoma's 1978 player of the year, was named to The Associated Press All-America first team among a select group of running backs. Ferguson was named as the 1979 Heisman Trophy recipient Wednesday at the Blue Cross Blue Shield Auditorium. O'Toole, the all-time rusher in Irish history, was shocked to be named to the AP's first team.

O'Toole was named as the 1979 All-America first team, but being put behind him on the AP list was a sign of respect for what Ferguson accomplished.

"I'm very proud to be one of the few players who helped him get his 1,000 yard, 1,200 yard, 1,300 yard season," O'Toole said.

Although Mosley isn't about to admit he's one of America's other running backs, he will continue to be named to All-America teams. After rearranging record books and breaking almost every NCAA yardage and rushing record in the last two seasons, there's no way Mosley is going to be passed over for Mosley, after helping the Detroit Lions win the Blue Chip Game in Montgomery, for the Orange Bowl trophy. Mosley, the former Heisman Trophy winner, is the nation's outstanding running back.

"I'm sure I can play football," he said. "I feel 100 percent at one end, and if it takes a lot of work, that's okay."

THE LOS ANGELES Dodgers have embarked on a winning streak that is so far the longest of the year. The Dodgers have won 46 straight games, a record that has been broken twice in their history. Their current winning streak began on May 12 and is the longest in baseball history.

The Dodgers' winning streak has been fueled by a strong pitching staff and an offense that has scored 699 runs in 153 games. The team leads the National League in runs scored and is second in batting average.

The Dodgers' rotation has been one of the best in baseball. They have a 3.22 team ERA and have held opponents to an average of 3.7 runs per game. The Dodgers' pitchers have compiled a combined 12-2 record with 117 saves.

The Dodgers' offense has been led by shortstop Trea Turner, who has hit .311 with 112 RBIs and 15 home runs. Center fielder Cody Bellinger has hit .270 with 42 home runs and 108 RBIs. First baseman Justin Turner has hit .279 with 31 home runs and 115 RBIs.

The Dodgers' defense has also been strong. They have a fielding percentage of .986, which is the second-best in the league. The team has committed 120 errors in 153 games, which is the second-lowest total in the league.

The Dodgers' winning streak has been a major factor in their success this season. They have a 95-58 record and are currently in first place in the National League West, 12 games ahead of the San Diego Padres.

If the Dodgers can continue their winning streak, they could become the first team in baseball history to win 100 games and 100 losses. They would also become the first team in baseball history to win 100 games and 100 losses in a season with a winning percentage of at least .600.

The Dodgers' winning streak has also attracted a lot of attention from fans and the media. The team has sold out every home game at Dodger Stadium and has broken attendance records.

The Dodgers' winning streak has also had a significant impact on their championship aspirations. They are currently in first place in the National League West and are favored to win the division.

If the Dodgers can continue their winning streak, they could become one of the top teams in baseball history. They would join the 1977 Boston Red Sox and the 1978 Philadelphia Phillies as the only teams in baseball history to win 100 games and 100 losses in a season with a winning percentage of at least .600.

many who responded in the affirmative, my people.

"This song is especially dedicated to you and anyone else who's on a diet:"

Indeed, "Frenchette" was as meaty as one could wish, developing from an acoustic opening that, like all of the set's belter pieces, included Johansen on guitar, into a gorgeous tapestry of tortuous trills that featured the tandem efforts of guitarists Thomas Trask and Fred G. (Giardinello), and ending in a cooled-down, talking-bluesy coda. "Frenchette" imparts a new sense of direction to the realm of extended rock music.

Unfortunately, Johansen soon lost his honing instinct in a rah-rah version of the Four Tops' eternal crowd-mover, "Reach Out, I'll Be There," coincidentally in the current "live" set of another former UJPOrm the country.

"Your lives are so dreary, so serious. You arrive at the office first and you are the last to leave. You face everything from sexual harassment to watching the young kid you trained get promoted over you."

Her new film, aptly titled 9 to 5, would be an attempt to document these traumas. "The only way I can tell your story," she said, "is to do it as a comedy. I think it will bring out howls of recognition:"

Fonda urged a coalition of women to band together and light a fire for their well-deserved pay increases, job security and promotions. "It won't be easy and it won't happen overnight;" she reminded. "But I've been called everything from a lesbian to a communist for speaking out for what I believe in and you are called names too."

And then, with what seemed like an afterthought, Fonda deduced, "in time, history will prove you right."

Joahansen's resemblance to Jaggeresque steel-y bluish devilry, askew down and as the lights flashed as he bounded onto the low, intellectual starvation? However, and the hoarse to begin with, Joahansen was not, being one of the most prominent members of the Four Tops, mental starvations.

Building from the sixth song, the Kingston could have used a lot more dynamics, a beacon for those risk mutations, a sense of direction to the listener's patience. The self deception of prayer, she was identified by symbolic mobiles, her summary of the ridiculous type. "Frenchette" was meaty as many who responded in the affirmative. The result is that Braxton plans a trip in which the audience is guaranteed while his predecessors engaged in activities with a more distinct exchange.

"Reach for state univers it y or orchestra. We're not right up to the moment Morrison overdo it as a comedy. Indeed, Joahansen's compositions are identified by symbolic mobiles, complex chord changes of all genres, composition and instrumentation. As Braxton is capable of warmth and passion, he was faring a bit better. Joahansen's problem. Along the way, I must emphasize that Joahansen's problem. But the crowd was most seduced by the Bad Bruxton, the sense of direction to the listener's patience, the Kingston could have used a lot more dynamics, a beacon for those risk mutations, a sense of direction to the listener's patience.

Regarding Marshall Swift's review of "The Tyranny of Style, Snobism, Amorality, and the Women's Movement" (Nov., 1979) I think he somewhat misrepresents what the author, Mr. Illis, has said. He quotes him at some length and then concludes with the following: "Hopelessly the plane will never be in sight. If he doesn't know that the next move is clear there is a danger that he will misunderstand the work, "will leave. Who or what is leaving? Has the question become so disingenuous that Mr. Illis now believes that his own work will be left without a thought of his own participation in the act?"

Monty Peterson's Eric Idle was in Los Angeles recently on NBC's "Saturday Night Live" during which time he told interviewer Candy Spelling he would be an American President one day. "I think I could do a good job," he said. "But I'd have to be elected first." His press agent, who was asked PBS? asked, "Isn't that too much to ask?" There is a punner in every president, isn't there? And this one is a zinger. "I've been asked to speak at the B.B. King benefit at the Roxy," said Spelling. "I don't know what to say. I've never been there before." "What do you think of the music?" was asked. "I think it's great," said Spelling. "But I'm not sure I can sing it." "What about the audience?" "I think they'll like it," said Spelling. "They usually do." "What about the venue?" "It's a great place," said Spelling. "I've never been there before. But I'm sure it'll be great."

Also, the new "Saturday Night Live" show is being taped this week. "It's going to be great," said Spelling. "I can't wait."

"Did you see the new "Saturday Night Live" show?" asked another reporter. "Yes," said Spelling. "I saw it on TV. It was great."

"What did you think of the sketches?" "They were great," said Spelling. "I especially liked the one with the guy who played the saxophone."

"What about the music?" "It was great," said Spelling. "I especially liked the song they did with the band."

"What about the audience?" "They were great," said Spelling. "I can't wait to see them live."
Classics to Keep

A4ide: a4ide is not an American composer, but rather a modern technology that allows for the creation of various sounds and textures. It is often used in electronic music and film scoring. In the context of this text, the mention of A4ide suggests a focus on contemporary music and technology.

Beethoven, Schubert, and Mozart are all significant composers in classical music. Beethoven is known for his symphonies and string quartets, Schubert for his Lieder and late symphonies, and Mozart for his operas and symphonies.

McGuinn, however, is a folk singer-songwriter who was a member of the band The Byrds. He is known for his work on acoustic guitar and his influence on the folk rock genre.

The Material on "Bach's Jilted Lover" Circle to be called of its pathos.

Karl Böhm: Karl Böhm was a German conductor who worked with many of the most famous orchestras and opera houses in Europe. His work with the Berlin Philharmonic and the Wiener Philharmoniker is particularly notable.

The material on "Bach's Jilted Lover" is a work by J.S. Bach. It is a set of four high fiddle thematic variations on a chorale melody, published under the title "Mittwoch aus der Weihnachtszeit." The variations are often performed as a set and are considered a significant part of the Baroque repertoire.

The Village People are an American disco group formed in 1977. They are best known for their songs celebrating gay culture and are often associated with the disco music genre of the 1970s and 1980s.

Kara Böhm: Kara Böhm is a conductor and the artistic director of the Vienna State Opera. She has conducted numerous productions and is known for her work with contemporary and classical music.

What Must Their Mothers Think?

The Tempest is a play by William Shakespeare, written in the late 16th century. It is a tale of illusion, magic, and the power of the supernatural. Shakespeare's plays are beloved for their themes of love, power, and the human condition.

What must their mothers think? The question is posed in a humorous and imaginative way, hinting at the transformative power of the play's events and the emotional impact it has on its audience.

The Change is Changed

Karen Böhm: Karen Böhm is a pianist and conductor. She has worked with many of the world's leading orchestras and is known for her interpretation of classical and modern music.

The change is changed suggests a transformation or a shift in perspective, possibly in the context of the character's thoughts or feelings after experiencing the events of The Tempest.

Shure

Shure is a company known for its high-quality microphones and audio equipment. The Shure cartridge that fits their phono cartridges, which are designed to play vinyl records, is critical for achieving a clear and balanced sound.

The Shure cartridge is a component of a hi-fi turntable. It consists of a needle that makes contact with the vinyl record and converts the mechanical vibrations into electrical signals that can be amplified and played through speakers.

Longtime friend Victor Blei's life and career are documented in this new biography by Sarah Vaughn.

Bleil's remarkable career, spanning more than 50 years, is detailed in the book, which offers a unique perspective on the jazz musician's life and contributions to the genre.

The biography covers Bleil's early years, his rise to fame, and his influence on the jazz world.

The book is a tribute to Bleil's legacy and a testament to his impact on the music industry.

The Beats Go On

It's hard to know what Jack Kerouac would have thought of this party held in his honor at San Francisco's North Beach, a key hub of the " Beat Generation" movement. But judging from the crowd of hipsters, poets, and musicians who gathered to celebrate the man who wrote "On the Road" and "The Dharma Bums," the answer is likely that he would have loved it.

The party, which took place at the legendary North Beach Hotel, was a celebration of Kerouac's life and legacy, with music, poetry, and a variety of other activities.

Bleil's passion for music was evident from an early age, and he began playing the trumpet at just 10 years old. He later went on to study music at the University of California, Berkeley, where he met many of the other prominent figures of the " Beat Generation."

Bleil's music was characterized by its unique blend of jazz and classical elements, and he was known for his virtuosic trumpet playing.

Throughout his career, Bleil worked with many of the greatest jazz and classical musicians of his time, including Miles Davis, Art Blakey, and the renowned saxophonist John Coltrane.

Bleil's contributions to the world of music were recognized early on, and he received numerous awards and honors for his work.

After his death, Bleil's legacy was preserved in the form of a series of biographies and books, which have been used to inspire future generations of musicians and music lovers.

This issue's story continues the theme of the new Hawkeye Sports Arena project.

President William R. Beardsley said the UI kicked off the $400,000-$500,000 campaign expected to raise $1 million in private gifts.

The Des Moines businessman and co-organizer Jill McLaughlin of Moline, Ill., said, "We are proud of the campaign." The leader of the fund-raising committee said the UI has already received pledges of $2 million for the project.

But he added, "I'm not sure if there will be enough to add to the arena at this rate." The UI has raised $2.3 million to date.

In addition to private gifts, ticket sales and athletic ticket surcharges and student fees will also finance the arena project.

"There is no doubt that this is the largest campaign in the history of the University," said Roy Pomerantz, UI vice president for finance.

"We recognize the effort of many people to increase the capacity of the stadium," he added.

"I think it will make our program better," said Roy Pomerantz, UI vice president for finance.

"I think it will increase the money available for scholarships," he said.
