Iran terms to free hostages unacceptable

By United Press international

Iranian President Abolhassan Bani­Sadri said Monday the 30 American hostages held in Iran for more than a year will be freed Friday, but the State Department said the United States did not expect the hostages to leave Iran for a while.

"It will be useful for the United States to indicate the terms of the release of the hostages," he said, adding that Iran has "no interest" in a "reciprocal" reaction from any country.

In New York, a U.S. spokesman for the State Department's Bureau of Public Affairs said Monday that he had no details on the hostage release.

"We are still working on the terms," the spokesman said. "You can see that it is not going to be an easy matter to arrange.

In Tokyo, more than two million people turned out for a military parade and celebration marking the first anniversary of the Allied Forces' landings in Chuuk in the Marshall Islands.

The Japanese government's policy is to "express our deep sympathy for the people of the Marshall Islands," the spokesman said. "We are ready to do what we can to help them in any way we can.

The hostage crisis, which began in November 1979, was described by Bani-Sadri as "decidedly interesting." He added that Iran would consider a similar agreement in other cases.

"We are willing to make a similar agreement in the case of the hostages," Bani-Sadri said. "But we will not make any agreement in the case of the tourists."

On the other hand, Bani-Sadri said the release of the 30 American hostages will be "a very important step," and that Iran will do its best to help the hostages return to their country as soon as possible.

Torture devices described in Gacy murder trial

CHICAGO (UPI) - A youth testified Monday that he saw Ronald Lee Gacy murder two teenage boys in a Chicago motel room last summer, the only eyewitness to the alleged slayings.

Gacy, 28, a janitor at a school in suburban Elk Grove Village, is charged with murder in the slayings of 13 youths during the past five years. He has denied the charges.

The youth, 15, testified that he and a friend had gone to a motel in July. In the room, the two boys said Gacy got them into the room and killed the boys.

Gacy is due in court Tuesday for trial on the charge.

Plant in violation of code, despite winter check

By STEVE McMILLAN

A greenhouse for the Iowa City school district, opened at the end of January after a snow and ice storm, has been found in viola­ tion of the city's building code and city officials have ordered that the greenhouse be closed.

The Iowa City school board was notified in late January that the greenhouse was not up to code and that the city's building code was violated.

The city's building code requires that all structures be up to code and that the school district comply with all city ordinances.

The school district has agreed to bring the greenhouse up to code and to pay any fines that may be assessed.

Chicago teachers return to work after walkout

CHICAGO (UPI) - Nearly 25,000 school students returned to classes Monday after a two-week walkout by their teachers, who were trying to get a new contract with the city.

The teachers' union had called the strike to protest the city's proposed reductions in the number of teaching positions.

The teachers' strike, which began Jan. 26, involved about 3,000 teachers and lasted until Monday.

Mr. Mayor said the teachers' demands were met and that the city was ready to enter into negotiations.

The teachers agreed to a one-year contract and the teachers strike was ended.

Mugabe may pull out of Rhodesian cease-fire

TALIBY, Rhodesia (UPI) - Black March leader Robert Mugabe Monday urged the United Nations to consider withdrawing its U.S. forces from Rhodesia, where Mugabe has decided to pull out of a cease-fire agreement that was signed in early December.

Mugabe, who earlier had agreed to participate in the cease-fire, said Monday that the agreement is not enough to end the conflict.

Mugabe's forces have been fighting against the Rhodesian government for the past six months.

More than 100,000 people have been killed in the fighting.

The United Nations has agreed to withdraw its forces from Rhodesia by mid-February.

Culver begins quest for 2nd Senate term

CULVER MONDAY (UPI) - Sen. Tom Culver Monday began his quest for a second U.S. Senate term by pledging to work as a "steam locomotive" for the people of Iowa if elected to a second term.

"I want to stay at the wheel of this great American railroad," Culver said in an aggressive campaign that he said was designed to get the "steam up" of the Senate and "get the train rolling" to legislative action.

"I want to see the states doing less and the federal government doing more."

In introducing his candidacy, Culver, who is a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he will work to "get the train rolling" on issues of national importance.

"I want to see the Senate doing less and the federal government doing more," he said. "I want to see the states doing less and the federal government doing more."

The case against the 50-cent fare

It would be impossible for me to spend any days of the time for a new assessment of priorities at the Iowa City Transit division. However, the Iowa City Transit division has been provided by the private sector until the late 1980s, increasing costs, raising fares and decreasing subsidies. Iowa City residents have long been aware that the Iowa City Transit division has gradually increased fares, leading to a significant increase in the cost of living. On July 1, 1979, the Iowa City Transit division began charging for its services.

In the first full year of operation, the Iowa City Transit division, which served a population of 1.5 million passengers and 300,000 riders, quickly developed a shortage of buses. The increase in ridership reached approximately 1.5 million passengers. There is no doubt that the Iowa City Transit division has been able to attract riders from the finest in the Midwest.

Today, facing increasing costs and the prospect of larger subsidies, the Iowa City Council is contemplating a measure that will result in decreasing ridership of the Iowa City transit system.raising fares 30 percent. Claiming that an increase in the fare to 50 cents will bring about additional rebates of $48,000, in 20 percent increases in the cost of living, ridership, a majority of the council seems to be leaning toward this unacceptable rise in fares. A 50-cent fare would be a burden to many riders, and to discourage ridership would be an unfortunate step in the history of mass transit in Iowa City.

Student Senate: election time again

Students who want to run for one of the 21 UI Student Senate seats on Jane Fonda created an uproar among many students. It seems to me that I have been talking too much about this. A lack of foresight.

The senate controls the allocation of approximately $2,400,000, which, when coupled with revenue-sharing funds and state operating assistance, would allow the campus to operate without negative impact on the general fund balance of the city. This fund balance is currently above $90,000,000, and it continues to exceed $90,000,000. Also, by taking last year's $9,952,000 general obligation bond issue and applying a portion of the council's budget, it is not surprising that the council exhibited an extreme lack of foresight.

It is likely that such a proposal would have received widespread support from every member of the council, and they should be doing all they can to impress upon the council the need to keep our mass transit system operating in a way that can carry as many people as possible for as long as possible on a shoestring budget.

In conclusion, it is my opinion that this vote represents an extreme lack of forethought.

When Jane Fonda created an uproar among many students, it seemed to me that I have been talking too much about this. A lack of foresight.
Bayanihan Co.: an ethnic dance group with flair

By JUDITH GREEN

The Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company, which danced at an earlier afterOURSE in the music department, is one of the more interesting ethnic dance groups performing at the university this semester. A colorful, gorgeously costumed, Javier Biaqui, India's, exquisitely authentic that the Philippine Islands have unique cultural heritages of the islands of the Philippine campaign, is a feature mission that added an element in the music department to a concentrated And ensemble of the many elements, and the 16th-century Spanish inhabitants.

The Philippine, as far as we know, dealt in their medieval dares as well as these influences and ethos rather than ethnic or sects.

The other dance groups have distinct means as well as dance traditions. The United States, with its own history and culture, has a variety of ethnic dances, as well as the traditional dances.

The entire section of posing in music is devoted to the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company, which will be seen throughout the semester. This section ends in a high note as well as a high note in a high note.

Harrison beats illness; prepares for Big Ten, national swimming tests

By HOMER BEASLY

They say being struck down by meningitis is like being run down by a freight train. The body just doesn't know what to do, and the symptoms can be complicated and quite frightening.

Such was the case recently with Jack Haines, Mississippi State's standout swimmer. The post-season saga began Saturday when he was stretched by the Soviets.

"It was quite a shock," Haines said, "but I knew we were going to have to do something. I just wanted to get out of bed and put it all behind me." Since then, he has been returning to form with each passing day.

"He'll be ready for the Big Ten meet," Coach Glenn said. "We're really excited about the meet because it's the first time we've had the opportunity to swim against the best." Haines is one of the top swimmers in the nation and is expected to have a strong showing.

Wrestlers destroy Illini, 43-8

By DOUG BEAN
Sports Writer

For four years she has sweated and struggled, worn skin-tight leotards and expressed no emotion when she lost a match. But the early 1980s have brought change to her world. Now the Iowa State University's All-American wrestler is one of the nation's top three female wrestlers in the 126-pound class and could very well be the team's most talented wrestler by the time she graduates in 1984.

Haugejorde's resume speaks for itself. She has been a member of the NCAA Division 1A national champion team three times, has won 43 matches to date and has lost only eight. She is a two-time All-American and is the 126-pound team captain for the Cyclones.

Haugejorde has won many matches through her career and is poised to win many more. She will compete in her final match as a Cyclone in the NCAA tournament on March 30-31 in Columbus, Ohio.

Haugejorde has become one of the nation's top female wrestlers in the 126-pound class. She has won 43 matches this season and is poised to win many more.

With a 4-0 record in the conference, she is likely to win the conference title as a senior. She has won two of the three NCAA championships in her career and is expected to win a third this year.

Haugejorde's success has come from hard work and dedication. She has trained since childhood and has become a national phenomenon.

Her success has not gone unnoticed. She was named the Female Athlete of the Year by the National Press Association and was voted the Female Athlete of the Year by the American Wrestling Association.

On the other hand, Haugejorde is not without controversy. She has been accused of using illegal substances to enhance her performance.

However, Haugejorde denies any wrong-doing and maintains her commitment to clean competition. She will be one of the top wrestlers in the nation when she graduates and will continue to make a name for herself in the world of wrestling.

Haugejorde's career has been marked by triumphs and challenges. She has overcome many obstacles to become one of the top female wrestlers in the nation.

Her success has inspired many young women to pursue wrestling as a career. Haugejorde has become a role model for many girls who dream of becoming champions.
