Tito's death mourned throughout Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Yugoslavia's Premier, Marshal Tito, who will be buried Sunday at a state funeral, is to be remembered as a man of split loyalties and divided loyalties, the premier of one world and of another. His funeral will be a somber event, a time for reflection on the man who led the country, but kept fiercely independent of Moscow.

In Chicago, the mayor's office released a statement that the mayor would participate in the funeral. The statement said the mayor would participate in the funeral, but keep his own emotions in check.

The mayor's office also released a statement that the mayor would participate in the funeral, but keep his own emotions in check.

Prime interest rate falls to 17 3/4 percent

By BOB BARNHART

The prime interest rate fell again Monday, to 17 3/4 percent, leaving most major banks at 18 percent.

Earlier, Chase Manhattan Bank, the country's third largest bank, cut its prime rate 3/4 of a percentage point to 18 percent. The interest rates are set by each bank.

Special comments on the prime came from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which is the central bank for the New York area.

"We are pleased to see the prime rate fall to 17 3/4 percent," said Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns.

"This is a signal of the economy's strength and a sign that the economy is on the rebound."
City files suit appealing Eaton decision

By INGRID BOSCHARD

Yesterday that the Iowa City Civil Rights Commission said in its decision that the city did not discriminate against employees of the Central Public Library. The library later announced that it will appeal the decision.

The appeal was filed by Iowa City Attorney Johnson County District Judge Gary Hughes said.

"The city's decision to fire the employee was unreasonable," Hughes said. "I believe that the employee was fired because of sex discrimination and I think that there is evidence to support my conclusion." Hughes said that he will review the case and make a final decision on the appeal.

The city's appeal to the state's Civil Rights Commission is expected to be ruled on in the next few months.

'Saturn 3' not flashy — or interesting

By MICHAEL HENT

It's hard to imagine a more hilarious setting for a boring movie than the one chosen by the director of "Saturn 3." The movie is set on a space station in the future, but the cast and crew are playing the parts of people from our own era.

The movie is about a group of astronauts who are trying to return to Earth after their space station has been attacked by extraterrestrial beings. The astronauts are played by actors who are not known for their acting abilities. The director of the movie is a man who is not known for his directing skills.

The movie is not flashy, nor is it interesting. It is boring in every way possible. The acting is terrible, the special effects are bad, and the plot is horri-dable. It is hard to believe that anyone would ever want to see this movie.

Being There, thoughtful subject

By BETTY GAUPHER

Iowa City seems to get along with most of the people who live there, even though it is located in a state that is known for its racism.

The city is a good place to live, and its citizens are friendly. It is a good place to raise children, and it has a good school system.

But it also has its problems, such as poverty and homelessness. There are many people in Iowa City who need help, and the city is doing its best to help them.

One of the problems with the city is that it is divided into two parts. The north side of the city is richer, and the south side is poorer. The city is working to try to equalize the two sides, but it is taking a long time.

The city is also working to try to get more people involved in city government. It wants to make sure that everyone has a voice in how the city is run.

Berlin says Iowa City innocent of racial discrimination charges

By STEPHEN HENDE

Iowa City Manager Merritt Berlin says the city is guilty of racial discrimination or civil rights violations, according to a report released by the Iowa City NAACP last week.

The NAACP report said that the city is guilty of race discrimination, and that the city has been violating the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Berlin said that the report is false and that the city is innocent of any wrongdoing.

The NAACP report was based on interviews with people who live in the city, and it was released to the public in order to bring attention to the problem.

San Diego football back arrested in drug raid

By KEVIN KANE

San Diego quarterback Steve Young was arrested yesterday on suspicion of punching a man.

The man who was punched is said to have been attacked by Young during a game.

Young has been a star quarterback for the San Diego Chargers since 1986, and he is one of the best quarterbacks in the NFL.

Young was playing in a game against the New England Patriots when he was attacked by the man.

Young and the man both told police that they had had an argument over a woman.

Young was released from jail last night, and he is expected to play in the Chargers' next game.
Cause for concern

On April 26 the Johnson County Board of Supervisors voted 2-3 to adamantly oppose the creation of a new city of Iowa City. They were responding to the Iowa City Special School Board's request to create a city of Iowa City, with the goal of providing a voice for Iowa City residents and students. The board said they feared that the new city would create a possibility of overlap between the two city councils, with the potential for lawsuits, conflicts, and administrative inefficiencies.

Op-Ed

Editor slams claims of TM

By DEAN GABERT

In a recent article, several columnists for the Des Moines Register claimed that TM, a form of spiritual exercise, is no different from other forms of meditation and is not a valid form of meditation. I strongly disagree with this claim and believe that TM should be evaluated on its own merits.

TM is a form of meditation that has been practiced for thousands of years and is based on the belief that by following a set of specific instructions, one can achieve a state of natural awareness and relaxation. This state is referred to as "the state of natural awareness" and is characterized by a deep sense of peace and clarity.

In contrast, other forms of meditation may involve the use of specific techniques or breathing exercises, but TM does not require any such preparation. Instead, it relies on a set of gentle instructions that are designed to help the practitioner enter a state of natural awareness.

Intrinsic to TM is the belief that the practitioner is not trying to control or influence their thoughts and emotions, but rather is allowing them to flow naturally. This state of natural awareness is said to be beneficial for reducing stress and anxiety, improving concentration, and increasing overall well-being.

Some critics argue that TM is not effective because it does not require any effort or discipline on the part of the practitioner. However, this is a misconception. TM is based on the belief that by following a set of specific instructions, one can achieve a state of natural awareness that is not dependent on any effort or discipline.

In conclusion, I believe that TM is a valid form of meditation and should be evaluated on its own merits. I encourage anyone interested in exploring this form of meditation to seek out a qualified teacher and learn more about the practice.

First of all, no threat. It's not a fad. As long as I can play, I'm fine.

Secondly, the opera singer, who is also a strong player and both a poet and a science student, showed him how to play. It's not like playing on a board, but it's a way to play.

LAURER added a simultaneous exhibition at the end of the program, winning prizes in both games. This was the first time he had won a simultaneous exhibition. He is planning to play in more exhibitions.

Laughter was evident in all the games. It was an enjoyable experience for all involved.
Salaries of “campus” are to be equalized by faculty in the fall. The faculty will be reimbursed with the entire workings of the college. The college’s administration is responsible for accurately recording and paying the college’s financial officer.

DOMAINE, F. D., is building over at the news of accreditation - after six years of working on the issue, the college’s administration has decided to accept the accreditation. He is a member of the department of psychology and is responsible for public relations and communications. Other colleges in the region have now accepted this new accreditation.

And OF UARRY, J. M., emphasizes that the committee’s members are especially successful, that they - have higher than average on national and international levels. They are part of the best in the schools such as Harvard, Yale and Stanford.

Dreams close to reality for returning Iowa diver

by HORACE BEARDSLEY

As a member of the Iowa diving squad three years ago, Ableman was the only one of the home team who managed to make a living off his swimming. But Ableman is not one of your ordinary athletes. And, slowly but surely, his dream is coming true.

It is a fairy tale story that has just begun in the U.S. Olympic trials for diving to be held at Mission in May. Ableman, who was born in Mission and has lived in Iowa his whole life, has qualified for the trials. Ableman, who is one of the nation's best divers, is expected to make the Olympic team and will compete in the men's individual three-meter springboard event.

Apart from his athletic achievements, Ableman is also a member of the Iowa Diving Team, which is currently training at the University of Iowa. The team is preparing for the upcoming Olympic Games in Atlanta, Georgia.

Ableman relocated in Mission in 1971, and he won his first diving title in the state meet that year. He even had hopes of making the Olympic team in 1972, but he was unable to do so due to injuries.

The problem centered around Ableman's diving board being too far away from the pool. In 1972, he competed in the national championships, but he was unable to make the Olympic team.

Ableman was very excited about returning to Iowa. "But the most important thing is to make sure I'm in the best physical shape possible," he said. "I'm very excited about representing Iowa at the national level."
