other universities, such as Illinois University, comply, are a combination of funding sources. Hubbard said, "If the financial support from the legislatures becomes severely restricted, we'll have to consider making several changes, and this particular system may very well be one of them."
Iowa's primary election is over and the message is clear. On June 9, liberal candidates swept to victory in uncontested races, but were defeated in contests against more moderate Republican candidates. The margin in these races was slim, but the trend was unmistakable.

The conservative trend evident throughout the country.

Conservative candidates are emerging throughout the nation. In contests for federal office, state, and local positions, conservative candidates are running unopposed or facing weak opposition. In some cases, conservative candidates have defeated moderate or liberal incumbents.

For instance, in the Senate race in Iowa, incumbent Republican Dan Coats is facing a weak challenge from Democrat Bruce Braley.

Conservative candidates are also running unopposed in state and local races. In many instances, they are winning with ease, overwhelming moderate or liberal candidates.

The conservative trend is evident in the primary elections, as well. In races for the House of Representatives, conservative candidates are running unopposed in many districts. In other cases, they are winning with ease over moderate or liberal candidates.

The conservative trend is also evident in the primary elections for state offices. In races for governor and lieutenant governor, conservative candidates are running unopposed or facing weak opposition.

Overall, the conservative trend is evident throughout the country. In uncontested races, conservative candidates are winning with ease, overwhelming moderate or liberal candidates. In contested races, conservative candidates are running strong and facing weak opposition.

The conservative trend is expected to continue in the upcoming general elections. As conservative candidates win uncontested primaries, they will face moderate or liberal candidates in the general elections. These candidates will be expected to run strong and face weak opposition.

In conclusion, the conservative trend is evident throughout the country. In uncontested races, conservative candidates are winning with ease, overwhelming moderate or liberal candidates. In contested races, conservative candidates are running strong and facing weak opposition. The conservative trend is expected to continue in the upcoming general elections.

Ul seeks successor to Livingston

WILLIAM NICHOLS

A search committee is seeking a successor for Residence Services director William Livingston who resigned last week to accept a position at another university.

"We hope to have a director named within the current semester," Jones said. "We will post the position within the week to allow everyone to submit their applications.

The search committee will consist of 12 members, including students, faculty, and staff. The committee will conduct interviews and make a recommendation to the provost.

The new director will be responsible for managing the residence halls, student housing policies, and community engagement.

In addition to the director search, the committee will also be reviewing the current residence hall budget and exploring ways to increase revenue.

We are looking for someone who is passionate about student life and has experience with managing large-scale operations," Jones said. "We also want someone who is committed to equity, diversity, and inclusion.

The deadline for applications is October 31, and interviews will be held in November. The new director will begin their role in January 2023.

Students and faculty are encouraged to submit their applications and provide feedback to the search committee.

The online application form can be found on the University Housing website. The committee will review all applications and select a shortlist of candidates for interviews.

The committee will announce the final decision in December 2022.
Student loans and grants cut as Congress pares spending

By Lyra Garrett

A congressional compromise to pare student aid has resulted in a reduction of $650 million in the Education Department's budget, but it's not all bad news for students, said Rep. John D. Dingell, Democrat of Michigan.

"It is a time to be grateful," Dingell said.

As part of the compromise, Congress has reduced funding for the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant program, which provides aid to low-income students. The program, which was originally set up to help students who were unable to afford college, is now being reduced by $50 million.

The cut comes as the federal government is facing a budget deficit, and Congress is looking for ways to reduce spending. The reduction in student aid is part of a broader effort to cut funding for non-defense-related programs.

"We understand that the budget is tight," Dingell said. "But we also want to make sure that we are not hurting our future."
Reagan charges cities victimized by gov't

HEATSTL (UPI) - Ronald Reagan told the U.S. Congress Monday that federal programs would cut down on "mindless aid to the politically poor." The president claimed that the states and local governments in Texas, with Reagan - who had supported Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen during the delegation.

While Bentsen, Chairman of the House, was open to the proposal, Leach said, "formal leadership should speak for the banks. Ray said, I don't promise that the banks will get it, but the legislation is something we should consider." The road was easily the district seat.

In THE 1st District, where Bush had the support of moderate Republicans, this race produced the most interesting result. Interestingly, the control of the national convention in Detroit July 14-17, which is 2/3 of the Republican party, would be decided in the first round. If the repeal should have a majority in the 1st round, then both the districts and the national convention would send four Bush delegates.

As one Bush delegate from South Carolina, President Johnson, in control, was heard, they can't all be Bush. Some of the states may have to consider what they think of that. If we had a majority in the 1st round, then we would have four Bush delegates. "We also have to consider the delegation that will be sent to the national convention."

In the 1st and 3rd Districts, Reagan charges cities victimized by gov't

Util"ity rates may increase by 15 percent by LISA STRATTON

The average Iowa City residential customer will be paying $5.89 more for electricity after the Iowa City Council approved a 15 percent rate increase for 1980. The proposed rate increase would increase Iowa City's total annual utility revenue by about $4 million and would be effective July 1, according to Iowa-Illinois President Tom Hoogerwerf. The proposed rates would increase Iowa City's utility rate for the average residential customer by 15 percent. Spring slate draws to close for Hawkeye athletic squads

By HEIDY MATER

While most students enjoyed a Monday break last weekend, several Hawkeye athletic teams were busy finishing up regular-season play. The week ended with Hawkeye athletes winning 3 of 11 matches.

The Hawkeye women's tennis team set a record in their two-match show downtrodden at the hands of Minnesota last week. The following day, they swept a double-header from Mississippi Valley State. 2-1 in the opener, women's tennis finished third in the Big Ten (11-9 match record) with 36 points.

The women's tennis team vied for the NCAA Midwest region title and then went on to win the first prize of the Collegiate Tennis World Series in Danbury, New York, last week. The team beat the Big Ten foes but fell to first-seeded John Hayman, shutting out Emory, University, and later South Carolina, to win their eighth title.

Cougars handed the Hawkeyes their third straight loss last week, bringing their dual-match record to 1-3. In the Big Ten, the Huskers have the number two spot, behind Northwestern.

The Hawkeyes are third in the league with 11 points. They have 1-1-1 conference records and are 3-7 overall in Big Ten play. The Big Ten tournament will be held this weekend.

Cards fire Boyer; Herzog in

By UNI Daily Martinek

The Big Ten Conference fired Hanley P. Boyer, as the series is the fourth game of the season for the team.

Boyer's 129-181 record in his first season at the helm was his worst ever. The Hawkeyes had their best season in 1980, reaching the NCAA Midwest regionals for the second straight year.

The second-best record in the conference was for the Northwestern Huskies, who finished with a 117-188 record. The Big Ten teams were ranked from 117 to 132 in the NCAA tournament.

The Cards lost seven of their last eight games. The Cards are 0-2 in the Big Ten, and Boyer was replaced by Mervin Herzog. The Cards lost their season opener by 1-0 and then went on to lose their three games, bringing their record to 0-3.

In the Cards' second game, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cardinals 8-5. The Cards' third game was against the New York Yankees, who defeated them 7-6. In their final game, the Cardinals faced the St. Louis Cardinals, who won 5-4.

Borg wins French Open

PARIS (AP) — Sweden's Bjorn Borg beat John Newcombe for the 1980 men's singles title when he captured American Open titles in 1978 and 1979. The final was held at the Municipal Stadium on the first day of the French Open, which is the fourth game of the season for the team.

Borg, the top seed, lost the $20,000 French Open.

Cross mystery goes on; Iowa still in pursuit

By DICK PETERSON

In 1979, Mullen noted that he had only been recruited by Iowa last week regarding his college basketball plans. "We'd do the same thing every year," he said. "It's just too hard to keep the pressure off him. I know we want him, but I don't think we've done anything yet to keep him interested."

Mullen said that he had been extremely upset about his injury last season. "I've always dreamed of playing here in Chicago and it's just out of my reach," he said. "I still feel it's still in the best interest of everyone." But I'll have to wait, he said, "I just want to get it over with." If he is drafted, it's just something I can't pass up.

As a result, Mullen has decided to return to Iowa and train for the major league baseball draft. "When I first heard the news," he said, "I was devastated. But I'll have to do the best I can with what I have."

Mullen also said that he had been waiting for a head coach to take over at Iowa. "It was a difficult decision," he said. "But I knew that if I didn't make the commitment, I might never get the chance."

Mullen's decision to return to Iowa has received mixed reactions from the Big Ten Conference. "I've always respected Mullen as a player," said one Big Ten coach. "But I don't think he's made the right decision."

On the other hand, another Big Ten coach said, "Mullen is a great player, but he's not going to make a difference in the conference."
