In defense of Judy Howard (April 17), we say the name's only white noise when Joe and Joan Cherry can't get enough. The treats were available at the Stuart China next to the Johnson County Fairgrounds Wednesday night. The last three shows are today at 10:30 a.m., 3:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Groups respond to Union reallocation

KATT LEHNAUER

You may be the last person to tell me who the person in the picture is, but I notice the name is pronounced like it should be. Isn't that a fact? Or are these people just trying to get a rise out of me? It doesn't matter, because I don't care. I'm too busy to worry about such trivial matters. The only thing that matters to me is my own happiness and the pursuit of my own interests. I don't have time to deal with petty concerns like that.

But seriously, the Union reallocation story is just another example of how the government is out of control. They're making decisions based on politics, not on what's best for the people. It's time for a change.

Prospects dim for I.C. job hunters

DAN GEMILO

If you have a job, you better hang on to it.

SIOUX CITY Register, adding Iowa City to its report on unemployment in May.

The Iowa City jobless rate has remained stable while other parts of the country have been gripped with rising unemployment, but prospects for a major increase in the number of unemployed workers and employees are dim.

Last week, the Labor Department reported that the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in Iowa for May was 4.4 percent, the same as in April. It was the lowest unemployment rate in the state since February.

Winners prevail in pave canvass

STEPHEN HEDGES

Last week, the Iowa City school board announced the results of the special election for two school board members.

The incumbent, Eric Anderson, defeated his challenger, Mary Brown, by a margin of 1,052 votes to 556. Anderson will be on the ballot in November.

Fall freshmen enrollment may rise 24%

CHRISTINE PARNELL

We've had a lot of discussion about the potential rise in enrollment this year, and we have the opportunity to live the discussion we've had by looking at the data. Despite the economic downturn, we can expect a more robust enrollment this year.

BUS RIDERSHIP DOWN

TUCK MILLER

The bus ridership on the North Side light rail system has declined by 24 percent in the past year. The system, which serves the north end of the city, carries just over 10,000 passengers per day, down from 13,000 a year ago.

MILLER SAYS CITY WILL CONSIDER EXPANDING PROJECT

BRIAN KENDRICK

The city council may consider expanding the North Side light rail system to include the University of Iowa and downtown Iowa City. The council is expected to discuss the matter at its next meeting.

FALL FRESHMEN ENROLLMENT

JOHN RODRIGUEZ

The University of Iowa is expected to see a 24 percent increase in fall freshmen enrollment this year. The university plans to admit 11,000 new students, up from 9,000 last year.

WE CAN'T FIND JOBS, SO THEY GO TO IOWA CITY

JULIE MILLER

If you're looking for a job, you may be better off in Iowa City. The unemployment rate here is lower than in many other areas.

The city council may consider cutting funding for the North Side light rail system, which has been struggling to attract riders.

SOLAR HEAT PROPOSED FOR NEW LAW CENTER

By William McGrew

A solar heating system, like this one proposed for the Iowa City Community Recreation Center, has become a popular means of using sunlight to provide energy for buildings. Solar systems have a number of advantages over conventional heating systems, one of which is their ability to provide energy at a lower cost than conventional systems.

The solar heating system proposed for the Iowa City Community Recreation Center would consist of a series of solar collectors mounted on the roof of the building. These collectors would capture the sun's energy and convert it into heat, which would then be used to heat the building.

Solar systems have a number of advantages over conventional heating systems. They are more efficient, which means that they use less energy to provide the same amount of heat. They are also more reliable, which means that they are less likely to break down or malfunction.

The Iowa City Community Recreation Center is a popular facility that is used by a large number of people every day. A solar heating system would make it possible to provide comfortable conditions for people inside the building, while also reducing the amount of energy that is used to heat the building.

The solar heating system proposed for the Iowa City Community Recreation Center would be a significant improvement over the current heating system. It would provide a more reliable and efficient means of heating the building, while also reducing the amount of energy that is used.

Cancer patient King is ‘stable’ after entering Illinois hospital

By LISA HENDE

Dayna King, a 2-year-old cancer patient who was subject of a recent fund-raising campaign, has been admitted to the rest of the UI Hospital Center, where she was undergoing treatment for a "rare" condition at American Gastrointestinal Hospital in June. King’s doctors report that she is improving rapidly, and that her condition has not progressed in the past week. She was discharged on June 10, 1980, after spending two weeks in the hospital. Her parents, Mark and Linda King, have expressed hope that the hospital stay will improve her condition.

Dayna King, who was diagnosed with Leukemia when she was one year old, underwent chemotherapy and radiation therapy prior to her admission to the UI Hospital Center. The hospital staff has been working closely with her parents to ensure that she receives the best possible care.

Dayna King’s doctors report that she is doing well and that her condition has improved significantly. They have recommended that she continue to receive treatment for her condition and that she return to the UI Hospital Center for further evaluation.

In the meantime, the King family is continuing to raise funds for the hospital through a variety of events, including a benefit concert and a raffle. The family is grateful for the support they have received from the Iowa community.

DOCTORS PLEDGE that the father’s Day cards support Iowa ERA

LARRY SCHREUDER

Editor

Dad, check the mail for your special card. If you receive the one we sent, you get something from those supporting the ERA.

At least 63 cards through the United Fund will arrive in the mail for Father’s Day. One-third of the cards are from the Iowa Equal Rights Coalition. This will be a great opportunity for the Iowa Women’s Fund to reach new people and show support for the ERA.

"Father’s Day is a wonderful opportunity to educate more people about the ERA," said Linda McGuire Jones, coordinator for the WRAC.

"Our goal is to educate as many people as possible about the ERA," she said.

WRAC director resigns to attend law school at UI

By CINDY SCHREUDER

Women’s history and Action Center On-campus student Linda McGuire Jones resigned May 15 to attend law school at the University of Iowa. She had been a co-chairwoman for about four years.

"I’ve had an opportunity to work on several projects," she said.

John H. Donaldson, a professor at the University of Iowa, has been appointed as the new director of the WRAC. He will begin his duties on July 1.

The WRAC is a national organization that promotes women’s rights and equality. It is a follow-up to the Mother’s Day cards that were sent out in 1975.

In the past, ERA coalition workers have been very active in promoting the ERA, and they have been successful in getting the card distributed.

"We’re trying to reach new people," she said.

WRAC members are also working on several other projects, including a nationwide campaign to educate people about the ERA.

'Lady Vanishes'; true Hitchcock

By MICHAEL KANE

The Lady Vanishes (1938) is a fitting choice to have been given its own special screening at Film Row, since it is one of the few that Hitchcock always goes to prove in his interviews that what they mean is a gross misunderstanding. In this film, actually quite complex, amessage is hidden deep in a story of suspense and smugness. Canvass upholds results

BY STEPHEN HEDGES

Monday's Johnson County vote canvass resulted in no major change, but the vote-count discrepancy was enough to bring Johnson County's Canvassing Board into play in the June 2 Democractic primary and county council races.

Johnson County's Canvassing Board took care of 20 June 4 canvasses, but the 149-vote discrepancy was still enough to keep the canvassing board in place.

The canvassing board reached a final total.

The challenge of the total was made by the 98-vote discrepancy, but the 98-vote discrepancy was enough to keep the canvassing board in place.

One major change, but the 98-vote discrepancy was enough to keep the canvassing board in place.

The June 4 canvasses included the Johnson County primary for county supervisor.

No Republican candidates ran for supervisor, but one major change, but the 98-vote discrepancy was enough to keep the canvassing board in place.

On the team's final day of the sports camp, the kids were able to show off their skills in a sports or sports-related area.

Iowa basketball recruiting coordinator Mike Donnelly has signed two high school swimmers to the 1988-89 class.

By BOB BATES NOLAN

The basketball camp is part of the sports part of the school's fee structure, so the kids pass through an x-ray, and their passports are collected. All students areannered for the competition, but the pick is on the team, the coaching staff, the students, the kids and their families. The program has a history. It's been going on for the past 12 years, and it has been very successful for the Hawkeyes. The program is in its sixteenth year, and the kids have been very successful.

Ronnie Lester

The bandage around Ronnie Lester's right knee tells the story of the true story of the season in Iowa City, the Hawkeye guard and standee of the year.

"When I was a freshman, I was so nervous, I had to go home and see my family," Lester said. "But the last time I came here, I had to stay."

Lester said that prior to his draft by the Chicago Bulls, the Phoenix Suns, the Denver Nuggets and the New Jersey Nets, he was contacted by six other teams. The evaluations have shown Lester has a big body, but his minor knee injury has been a big problem. Patton has been watching for the draft's top choice, but he will keep Lester's name in play. "It's going to be interesting," Patton said. "He's had a pretty good year."
