Inside out

Usually, the views growing on the School of Journalism and Mass Communications are seen from the outside, but with temperatures in the 90s Wednesday, it was better to be inside looking out. Tuesday's forecast calls for highs in the low 90s and lows ranging from 70 to 80 with scattered showers.

Klansmen acquitted of murder

In the annual 1900s-era social gathering of the University of Washington, the focus was not on the usual social interactions but on the acquittal of four Ku Klux Klansmen in a murder trial.

The four Klansmen were found not guilty in the murder of a member of the party. The trial lasted for 35 hours over seven days, with the jury deliberating before reaching a verdict.

Grain embargo effect in doubt

By Medvedev

It is possible that we are again on track toward a trade war, and the first step in the process is likely to be seen before us in the next few months. The key is to understand the potential consequences of such an event.

The international-known

Medvedev, a prominent political figure, has spoken about the potential consequences of a trade war, warning that it could have serious implications for the global economy.

Grain embargo

The annual embargo on grain, imposed by the United Nations, remains in effect. The embargo has been in place for several years and has not been lifted, despite international efforts to resolve the crisis.

The embargo was initially imposed in 1990, at the height of the Soviet Union's economic problems. The embargo has since been extended several times, and remains in place to this day.

The council approved a conditional agreement which would allow Osco Drug to use the orange color on signs at the entrance of the new Osco Drug store near the entrance of the Iowa City Council.

The council has now completed work on the city's Design Review Committee, after the council received a lengthy report chronicling the protest and showing extensive footage of the protest.

The council's formal vote will come in the next meeting.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A total of about 1,300 people were arrested for blocking entrances to the Pentagon during a protest Monday against military spending.

The demonstration was held in Washington, D.C., near the Pentagon.

The protesters were arrested for blocking entrances to the building during a demonstration against "the immense cost of the military." The protesters were demanding an end to military spending and a shift away from military priorities.

The protest was organized by the National Committee to Dedicate the Women’s Pentagon Action, a group that has been active in protests against military spending.

High school seniors must recognize that they are entering largely uncharted waters - as far as student organizations are concerned. The reorganization struggles and the lawsuit over the Havens video tape that resulted might have been avoided with better planning. The Collegiate Associations Council and the Student Senate, the Student Government Commission, and the Office of Campus Affairs must ensure that a plan, developed with input from the groups, is needed to prevent forecasting additional funds for office rental fees.

The settlement of this dispute should be the last incident in the enormous demands for office space. Student government groups and commissions have previously met the demands for office space on a short-term basis. There might be creating additional office space in other campus buildings or on student government commissions to prevent further space problems. It's tough to hold meetings in a dormitory room.

Bissell quits CAC, joins IPIR

Calling his new position at Colleges Against the Cuts as a “working experience,” he said his next step might be to take a job as a preceptor at the University of Iowa Public Interest Research Group.

In his third term as an associate, Bissell said: “I had a heck of a time getting this job for me, so I won’t be leaving for experience and I thank you.”

He added that the accomplished activist was a “true” Piper and that he’s not a member of the University of Iowa’s Center for Radio Station KHSM and Windfall Marketing.

Embargo

I continue a coexistence with the Medvedev brothers.

The beginning of the embargo has been frustrated, Medvedev said, by a major thrust government effort to increase food and to become less self-sufficient.

The Medvedev一些 colleagues of the late government wanted in the country.

He has been important internally.

I refer to the United States.

Because of a just U.S.-Soviet deal, many businesses, he explained with the short year, can be very economically aligned.

Medvedev is up 6 million metric tons to the current year, but the growth rate continued to grow, from 1 million metric tons in the first year of the embargo.

We're on the 75-year mark.

An extremely poor 1979 harvest, Medvedev concluded, and the collective farm system means overwhelming, the embargo will not seriously affect Soviet policy.

Medvedev said that he had never heard of the embargo, and that the Medvedev brothers are moderates within Soviet dissident circles.

The embargo has been international.

Western pressure tactics and sanctions, Medvedev explained.

I'm not a professor or a student just like you are, Medvedev said.

If at all possible, instead of my children and I expect every customer to pay for what they buy.

The embargo declared:

Rarely does a retailer exchange is a way, the barter exchange is a way.

It was fixed at 8 million metric tons per nation, the amount was non-dependence on the embargo.

Though 1969 is a non harvest year, Medvedev concluded, and the collective farm system means overwhelming, the embargo will not seriously affect Soviet policy.

Elephant Man too good to be true

By Michael Altman

Farce

In 1880 the "trolley" of Barnum and Bailey's circus cuffed themselves "pioneers," after the week's "terrible tragedy" - death of a circus elephant. While it was just a prodigal, but not in line with the current fad of circus and circus performers. This in the circus was an amusing and incredible occurrence.

The film describes the adult years of John Merrick (played by Michael Altman) titled "The Elephant Man" because of his unique features.

FILMS

Of the directed body - protagonist, boy head formation, and boy voice, Altman is true to his own personality. He is able to get the audience's attention without drawing a crowd. As a result, his performance is notable.

Talents of the body... and the only one he can think of, is the ability to illustrate. The reason is being a product of a unique possession. The visual aspect of the film is amazing. The way he portrays different situations is extremely captivating. It draws the audience in.

I wish the film had gone further. How did the man fare in the circus? Did he accept the way he was treated? How was his life? What was it like to work as a circus performer?

The film is a farce, however. The circus is shown to the highest English society. From Barnum, to Drexel, to many performers. The circus is a community of its own. Merrick, whose sensitive nature defies all conventions, is forced to adapt to this culture. The film shows the interaction of these characters. This is a testament to the talents of the performers. People who need help, verbally or physically disabled. The film is a reminder of the dangers of being a product of society. It is a call to action. It is a message. It is a farce.

"The attention of the Iowa fans will be on two key seniors tonight when the Hawks challenge the Wisconsin Badgers in the final exhibition contest of the fall. The Hawkeyes have five players scheduled to play the lumbering Badgers. The middle to be played by the Hawks will be handled admirably. The game is a season-opener, so all new faces.

This will be Iowa's first "real" game of the season. The Hawks have already played two intrasquad scrimmages at half-track to prepare for the first official contest. The game is set for 7:30 at the Field House.

"The intrasquad meets were good and are now the climax of the regular season. The Hawks have managed to achieve a balance of time and intensity in each of the two scrimmages. The Hawks have been able to practice in a controlled environment, and the results have been encouraging. The Hawks are now ready for the first official game of the season.

"The club soccer season will come to a close this week as the Hawkeye Soccer Club competes in the final game of the season. The club has been working hard throughout the season to achieve their goal of winning the league championship. The team has been practicing regularly and has been working on their skills and strategy. The club has been successful in their matches and has been able to win some exciting games.

The team has been led by their captain, a talented and experienced player. The team has been able to work together as a unit and has been able to pull off some impressive victories. The team has been able to keep their opponents scoreless in many matches, and they have been able to score many goals of their own. The team has been able to play well in the final game of the season and has been able to claim the league championship.
