Regents: Boyd is hard to replace
By Craig Darnick
Supervising Editor
CEDAR FALLS — Members of the board of regents were hard put to say how much President William Boyd’s resignation after 11 years at the university will cost.

"My first thought is they lose the services of an outstanding president," Boyd said Thursday. Boyd listed key decisions he made during his tenure, such as the hiring of 164 new faculty members, and the construction of the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics, as well as his decision to accept the state’s $622 million

"We don’t expect to bring a president in,

"I’m grateful to the regents for the opportunity to work with the board of regents, and I’m grateful to the faculty and all of the students for the opportunity to work with them," Boyd said.

"I think we’re going to have a very good process to find a replacement," Boyd said. "The process will be very open and transparent, and we’ll be very mindful of the needs of the university and the needs of the state."

Schwab criticizes debate statement

By James Dickey

"We don't feel that it is right for a campaign to make a statement that is not supported by evidence," said Sen. Charles通過304, senior senator of Iowa.

Sen. Charles通过304, senior senator of Iowa, criticized a recent statement by the progressive slate of the state Senate. The slate had stated that "all elections for student senate will be by a roll call." Sen.通过304 said that the statement was not supported by evidence and that it was not a fair statement.

"I don't want to lose on a flip coin because there are no other ideas," said通过304. "We have to find a way to break a tie." Sen.通过304 said that the coin flip is not democratic and that some senators may be afraid to vote against the slate because of the outcome of the coin flip.

The progressive slate is trying to make the debate central issue, but they are not sure how to do it. Sen.通过304 said that the coin flip is not the answer to the central issue.

"We just don't think assessments should go to the student organizations," said通过304. "The executive director of the University of Iowa is needed to attract student funds." Sen.通过304 said that the executive director is needed to attract student funds to pay for the money gained through the proposed negative resolution.

Senate endorsement

The Daily Iowan editorial board endorses Tim Dickinson for UI Student Senate President.

Dickinson and Schur head "Programme," one of three slates on the ballot this election. They are the only candidates for the executive positions, the "New View" and the "People" slates, which have endorsed each other, did not name executive candidates.

The senate is composed of 18 representatives, with varying interest in student affairs, education and knowledge of student government issues. Leadership from the executive is essential if the senate is to accomplish anything. Students observe to know where a slate proposes as its leaders.

The position clearly is in their approach to student government. The Progressive slate is composed of five law students and one non-law student, both of whom are interested in student government. The New View slate consists of three law students and one non-law student, both of whom are interested in student government.

The statement now must be on services to students. As the UI budget is cut, senate will have to fight for continued funding of programs on the UI campus. The cost of fast food, gasoline, and electricity have increased. Camelot may have to reduce rates or change price. Madison will have to reduce student awards and students are scheduled to increase tuition, 10 percent, may be cut back. At the same time, the senate must deal with a large debt of the own.

The senate may have leaders who can work with UI administrators and state officials to defend these interests. Dickinson and Schur are the most qualified. As a chairmen of the state Relations Committee, Dickinson started the Legislative approach Program, which encourages UI students and their parents to write legislators for higher faculty salaries. He has registered as a lobbyist with the legislature and travels to Des Moines once a week to present UI interests. Both candidates would work hard on the senate.

One important campus issue is the negative check-off plan proposed by the UI chapter of the Public Interest Research Group. We do not support the negative check-off plan. We do not support the negative check-off plan.

For the second year in a row, The Daily Iowan editorial board endorses Tim Dickinson for UI Student Senate President.

Iowa PIRG petition

To the editor:

I was eating lunch at the Capital, a downtown restaurant, when a couple of young people came in to sign a petition to support the Iowa PIRG's Hurricane relief program. I have heard of this group before, and I was pleased to find out that it had actually signed up a petition supporting Iowa PIRG's Hugo relief program.

I strongly disagree with the negative check-off plan, but I am not sure what the future holds.

Cullivan granted sentencing stay

By Bill Hanlon

The former manager of Laptop Adventures was granted a new sentencing stay Monday by a Jackson County District Judge. Judge James M. Linn, 38, of 36 Laptop Adventures, asked for the delay to allow a physician, who will make a recommendation through the court system, to complete his examination of the defendant.

The sentencing has been rescheduled for April 2.

In a 1992 indictment, Laptop Adventures was charged with victimization of a minor through use of a computer. The waves for the minor were unregistered.

UI offered new hangar lease

By Thomas Brice

The Iowa City Airport Commission decided Thursday to allow the UI Air Care business to move into a hangar that includes a refueling provision.

The move was made after the Air Care officials said Thursday they needed more space to do their work and the current lease on the old hangar was coming to an end.

The lease was offered without a refueling provision because the commission wanted to keep a "window" open for the airlines who use the airport.

"We've got permission to go elsewhere," Chairman Clarence Haverkamp said. "I think we feel comfortable if we do." Haverkamp was a former owner of the Iowa City Airport.

"We're going to send a bill to the UI," Senate President Patricia Hayek said. "I don't know when they'll get it." The bill was passed in February.

"We're not going to stop," Haverkamp said. "We're not going to stop doing what we're doing.

"The commission's February meeting," Jones said, "is the last time the commission will look at the issue of the hangar lease. We need to do it then." Jones was not available for comment.

Bond movie tells it like it was

By Craig Greenwald

People who know James Bond truly feel his presence. The secret agent -- one of the world's most enduring and recognizable icons -- has been a fixture in our lives for over 50 years. Since his first appearance in the pages of Ian Fleming's novel, "Casino Royale," James Bond has captivated audiences with his suave demeanor, his knack for dispensing with any obstacle, and his seemingly endless supply of gadgets and one-liners. Now, the Academy Award-winning director of "Juno," Edward Norton, brings Bond back to the big screen in "Bond 20," a celebration of the spy who never dies.

The story is set in the heart of London, where Bond (Daniel Craig) is tasked with protecting a valuable diamond from a group of rival countries. As the story unfolds, Bond finds himself embroiled in a web of intrigue, betrayal, and danger. With his usual charm and wit, Bond navigates the treacherous world of international espionage, always one step ahead of his foes.

"Bond 20" is more than just a celebration of the spy himself, though. It's also a tribute to the many actors who have brought Bond to life over the years, from Sean Connery to Daniel Craig. Each actor brings their own unique spin to the role, creating a rich tapestry of interpretations that fans can enjoy.

From the start, Norton's "Bond 20" is a high-energy, fast-paced thriller that never lets up. The action sequences are breathtaking, from the opening sequence in theAtlas Hotel lobby to the climactic battle on the roof of the GoldenEye Resort. The film is a masterclass in the art of action filmmaking, with every scene meticulously planned and executed.

But "Bond 20" is more than just a thrill ride. It's also a meditation on the nature of espionage, and the dangers that come with it. Bond is a man who must always be two steps ahead, always one move ahead of his enemies. But he's also a man who's felt the pain of loss, and who's struggled to keep his emotions in check.

In the end, "Bond 20" is a film that will leave audiences on the edge of their seats, and a celebration of one of the most beloved characters in cinema history. It's a film that will make you appreciate the complexity of the spy genre, and the enduring appeal of James Bond. So grab your popcorn, sit down, and get ready for the ride of your life.
Symphony performance 'inexcusable'

By Judith Green

The US Symphony is in the middle of many professional compromises. One compromise is on display this week in the form of "The Beethoven Concerto," which is certain to be as meaningless as the performance. The orchestra had a deal, and they still willing-compromised. It should have contained saying it's not to meet the demands of the art. The results are even worse. The writer of the peformance was given the chance to do something creative, instead of being obligated to say about the music what the audience expected.

RAY OFFERSE, professor at the University of Oregon, said that the Beethoven Concerto is a "make work" for the orchestra. It's a double bill and the program includes "Gershwin's Rhapsody," by Edward Steuermann, and "Three Violin Concertos," by Shostakovich. Some critics of the performance have noted its poor execution, and its audience has not been well-received. The performance will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, June 13, at the Reynolds Center. It is free admission for students and faculty. Some members of the audience were disappointed with the performance, and some were not.

Family violence is focus of avant-garde drama

By Pamela Rose

An avant-garde drama is being presented this week at the Iowa City Center. The play is titled "The Beethoven Concerto," and it is being performed by the Iowa City Symphony. The performance will be held on Wednesday, June 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Reynolds Center. It is free admission for students and faculty.

"The Beethoven Concerto" is a work that was written by the composer Ludwig van Beethoven. It is a symphony, and it is considered to be one of Beethoven's most famous works. Women prepare for NCAA meet

By Dave Laffier

Bruce Foster once said: "If there's anything for men in competitive athletics, it's that nothing is ever for sure." The Iowa women's track team can prepare completely for the NCAA meet this weekend, but nothing can be guaranteed in competitive athletics.

"We're aware of what needs to be done, but it's not just about thinking positive, it's about concentrating on what we can do now," track manager said Thursday. "We've had a good track season, and we want to end it with a good NCAA performance.

The students will need to show proper identification and have their tickets on hand. The ticket distribution to the Midwest Regionals will be set aside for student season ticket-holders. Nonstudents will be charged $25 for tickets. Student season ticket-holders will be charged $10 for tickets.

The Iowa women's track team can prepare completely for the NCAA meet this weekend, but nothing can be guaranteed in competitive athletics. "If we can be optimistic and get our people going, we'll have a great chance," track manager said Thursday. "I hope we can place in the top five in the NCAA meet."

The meet will be held at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. The meet will begin on Saturday, March 21, with the women's distance events.

The students were allowed to buy one ticket. About 750 tickets were purchased, according to track manager. Tickets for the Iowa basketball game in Wichita, Kan., Sunday were purchased, according to track manager.

"We're prepared for the NCAA meet. We've had a good track season, and we want to end it with a good NCAA performance.

The students will need to show proper identification and have their tickets on hand. The ticket distribution to the Midwest Regionals will be set aside for student season ticket-holders. Nonstudents will be charged $25 for tickets. Student season ticket-holders will be charged $10 for tickets.

The Iowa women's track team can prepare completely for the NCAA meet this weekend, but nothing can be guaranteed in competitive athletics. "If we can be optimistic and get our people going, we'll have a great chance," track manager said Thursday. "I hope we can place in the top five in the NCAA meet."

The meet will be held at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. The meet will begin on Saturday, March 21, with the women's distance events.

The students were allowed to buy one ticket. About 750 tickets were purchased, according to track manager. Iowa tennis, a team concept

Sports: The Daily Iowan, Friday, March 13, 1981 — Iowa City, Iowa

Iowa’s men’s tennis team will host rival Iowa State Saturday at 1 p.m. and Nebraska at 2 p.m. today and intrastate matches are set for the start of Big Ten season.

The team elements were very much in evidence last weekend at Iowa’s two meets in Columbia, Mo. John Winnie said following our win at Normal (against Illinois) the highlight your hurt the team both Iowa State and Nebraska by “average teams.”

Defeated Beth Norton of Fairfield, Thursday to enter the quarterfinals of the Jensen.

The spirit should be turned way up again for the start of Big Ten commitments have played a key role in the recent success of the Iowa team. Only you and your opponent can donate to the outcome of the match.

But when there is evidence in the corner telling you that you “can’t get away there’s an extra push, something that may have just made you swing back instead of just dropping the ball in. But thanks to seeing an ever closer, softer, greener tennis ball, we have had to keep our eyes on the ball and our minds on our forehand.

Miller named UPI Coach of the Year

Friday, March 13, 1981 — Iowa City, Iowa

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Miller of Oregon State, an overwhelming favorite for more than 30 years, has been named United Press International Coach of the Year for his team's performance in the Phi Beta Kappa Bowl, the Associated Press said today.

Miller, who guided the Beavers to a near-perfect season, was given a unanimous choice in the vote by sports writers who cover college football and basketball.

Pac-8 Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced the honor Monday night, the day after Miller was named to the Pacific-8 Conference All-Star team. It was his third with Oregon State.
