Doctors: Reagan to leave hospital over the weekend

By Dan Curtis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, promising to "talk up and nose the hogs as usual" as much, decided to leave the White House this weekend.

"I think a pretty good job will be done over the weekend," said the 82-year-old president for George Washington University Medical Center where he had been recuperating in March from a minor stroke to the chest.

"I promise to put up and never off the bench as an administrator," he wrote to Florida Republican Senator Robert Dole in a note saying he was "delighted" by the progress of the senior neighbor recovery program.

DOCTORS said the president has been fever-free for the past few hours and the following EKG and older reports are all positive.

A prominent medical statement said doctors had taken Reagan off all antibiotics and discontinued physical force examinations he had done during his convalescence.

"This is the president's first day out," said Dr. John King, a heart specialist.

If the wake-up call was Friday, it was restored for the weekend.

Reagan returned to TV by for the implementation of a new year, but announced an extension of the success of the White House.

"I'm surprised," he said, "but suggested it is still necessary for doctors to return to work.

It's a partial answer that has several meanings on a right to return to normal, but during convalescence.

"I haven't said anything," he noted, but it is still necessary for doctors to return to work.

Leftists charge Salvadorans with cause massacre

By John E. Haggstrom

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador—A left-wing rebel group has charged that government troops beat to death Salvadoran university students striking for peace, killing everyone inside in a building that sábadoists, the Salvadoran police. They say the group was sent in from the Salvadoran army, which has been fighting against guerrillas led by the Farabundo Martí National Liberation Front.

The government also issued a new warning order, calling for all striking students to disperse immediately, saying that military force would be used if necessary.

The group, named the National Liberation Front, said it had evidence that the Salvadoran army had been involved in the killing of students, and called on international organizations to investigate.

The university administration, however, denied any involvement in the incident, saying it had been carried out by a local gang.

The case has sparked widespread protests in El Salvador, with many calling for justice and an end to the violence.

Can We Save Farmland Today For Food Tomorrow?

By United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A new report on the future of farmland in the United States has been released, warning that the country is facing a serious threat to its food security.

The report, compiled by a team of experts from various fields, including agriculture, economics, and politics, found that the United States is facing a significant decline in the amount of farmland available for production.

The report calls for immediate action to prevent the loss of farmland, including increased investment in agricultural technology, better planning for land use, and more effective policies to support farmers.

The authors of the report also noted that the decline in farmland is not just a matter of economics, but also a matter of national security, as the country's food supply is heavily dependent on imports.

Polish press hints purge, trials of officials involved in corruption

By John B. O'Brien

WARSAW, Poland — The Polish press hinted Thursday that a number of senior officials, including some in the Ministry of Interior, were being investigated for corruption.

The hint was made after a series of reports in the press about possible corruption in the Ministry of Interior, which is responsible for security and law enforcement.

The reports alleged that some officials had been involved in corrupt activities, including the illegal sale of weapons and the misuse of government funds.

A senior official in the Ministry of Interior told the press that "there were indications of corruption in the Ministry of Interior, but we are still investigating the matter." He declined to identify any specific officials.

The hint came a day after the government announced that it would launch a major investigation into allegations of corruption in the Ministry of Interior.

The government said that it had received a number of reports of corruption in the Ministry of Interior, and that it was determined to take action to prevent any further wrongdoing.

The hint was also made as the government prepares to introduce a new anti-corruption law, which is expected to be passed in the next few days.

The new law will seek to strengthen the powers of the anti-corruption agencies, and to make it easier to investigate and prosecute cases of corruption.

The government said that it was determined to take serious action against corruption, and that it would not tolerate any further wrongdoing.

The hint was also made as the country prepares to host the European Union summit in a few weeks.

The summit will be an important opportunity for the government to demonstrate its commitment to fighting corruption, and to show that it is taking action to prevent any further wrongdoing.

Death's brute beauty shines in 'Requiem'

By Judith Gross

Like the moving poetry of Willem Barington, the film of Philip Larkin's monumental War Requiem ends at death — in its most brutal, most raw, most transfigured and transmuted form.

The masterpiece of the century, this film and its director, Zoltan Korda, have collaborated on a film with Willem Barington — Death's brute beauty — which was adapted from his novel of the same name. The novel itself was written in 1969, but the film is not until now that its message is as much as the novel is today: to rise above the despair and to find hope in the midst.

Dance, martial arts in concert

By Judith Green

The Dance Center's third annual spring concert, scheduled for two performances this weekend, features two demonstrations and a great appearance by pansinger Della Reese, a native Minnesotan.

One of the center's beginning classes opens the program with "Celebrate," choreographed by Patricia Dechant and directed by Della Reese. The group of four to six students will present a fun and colorful variety of dance forms and styles, including Latin, tap, and modern with live saxophone and trumpet music by Dave Selbick, who also directs the center's jazz program.

Another class will open the program with "Arts/Entertainment," choreographed by Maureen Delaney, a Dance Center instructor and coordinator of the center's research and development projects. This class will present a fun and colorful variety of dance forms and styles, including tap, modern, and jazz, with live saxophone and trumpet music by Dave Selbick, who also directs the center's jazz program.

The concert concludes with a demonstration by Della Reese, who will sing a song from her upcoming tour, "My Favorite Things." The concert will be held at 8 p.m. on Friday, March 25, and 2 p.m. on Saturday, March 26, at the Dance Center, 118 E. College St., above The Soap Opera.

Della Reese, an award-winning singer and actress, will also conduct a workshop in jazz dance Saturday. Her appearance is sponsored by the Dance Center's Student Research Committee.

Bollywood (ECP)—A phenomenon for Robert Henschel, Thursday that singer can't control even after taking this role in the center's annual spring concert. His song, "The King,'" is a hit. It was adapted by Richard Strauss, the center's famous conductor, and is performed by the center's orchestra, conducted by Della Reese. The orchestra will present a fun and colorful variety of dance forms and styles, including tap, modern, and jazz, with live saxophone and trumpet music by Dave Selbick, who also directs the center's jazz program.

Richard's weight problems have been famous all year," said Della Reese, "but there's no way to control them. He's been eating too much and not exercising enough."

"The vocal works are programmed in a way that is appealing to the new and the young," said Della Reese. "The center's annual spring concert is a great way to see the center's new and upcoming talent."

Golfers to challenge Illini

By Jay Christensen

The Iowa men’s golf team, coming off a win in the Hawkeye Invite at the beginning of the season, is ranked No. 12 in the Big Ten and No. 32 in the nation. The team is led by freshman stars Anthony Kim and Keith Kiefer. Kim and Kiefer have helped the team to a 2-0 start in conference play.

Last season, the Hawkeyes finished third in the Big Ten, behind Michigan and Wisconsin. This season, the team is looking to improve on last year’s third-place finish.

“I feel like we’ve got a good chance to win the championship this year,” said head coach Ed Cooley. “We’ve got some really good players coming back, and I’m excited to see what we can do.”

The team’s goal is to make it to the NCAA Championships, which is the ultimate goal for any collegiate golf team.

The Iowa women’s team is also ranked in the top 25 in the nation. The team is led by senior star Rennae Price. Price has been a key player for the Hawkeyes in recent years and is expected to lead the team to another strong performance this season.

Hassard signs three preps; women set for Drake Invite

By Bob Lugar

With the signing of three outstanding high school performers last week, the University of Iowa women's track team, under head coach Don Hassard, is building a solid base for future success.

The three signees, all from the Midwest, will add strength and depth to the team in the years to come. Their presence will be felt immediately as they contribute to the team's success this season.

Mary Kirkendall, a four-year varsity athlete from Cedar Rapids Kennedy, is a solid performer in the 3,000-meter steeplechase. She was a member of the state championship team and holds the school record in the event.

Jennifer SDIGNALL, a senior at Western Dubuque, is a versatile athlete with strength and speed. She is a three-time state champion in the 3,200-meter run and holds the school record in the 800-meter run.

Jennifer Lyon, a senior at Cedar Falls, is another strong addition to the team. She is a three-time state champion in the 1,600-meter run and holds the school record in the event.

This year's track season promises to be exciting as the team looks to build on last season's success and establish itself as a top contender in the Big Ten Conference.
