Accused Jensen killer refuses return

By Michael Leon

Andrew Jensen, suspected of killing a 14-year-old boy last month in Salt Lake City, claimed in a recorded telephone call that he killed a second boy last year to avenge the death of his father.

The boy, Robert Kern, was a stepbrother of Jensen's father, Farhang Maveddat, and two of the father's other children, including Jensen, were executed in Tehran this month.

Jensen, who was scheduled to be released Wednesday after serving 30 months in prison for the first-degree murder of 14-year-old John Reedy of Rockford, has refused to sign the extradition papers he needs to return to the U.S. to stand trial.

The Utah Supreme Court has frozen Jensen's extradition case since his arrest in London last March. Jensen's lawyers have appealed the decision, and the court is expected to rule soon.

Jensen's lawyer, Robert Leahy, said Jensen had not listened to the tape, but he would review it and file a motion for a new hearing.

Leahy has argued that Jensen's constitutional rights were violated because he was interrogated in London without a lawyer present.

The extradition hearing was scheduled to begin today in Salt Lake City, but Jensen's lawyer said he had not formally requested a delay.

Jensen is charged with capital murder, which carries a mandatory death sentence.

He is also accused of attempted murder, but that charge was dropped after Jensen pleaded guilty to the murder.

Jensen's trial is expected to begin next month.

House battles over budget

By Janney Rayor

The University of Northern Iowa board voted to give its 6,300 students a 2-cent-per-quarter increase in tuition for the 1985-86 academic year.

The board voted 8-1 to increase the tuition rate from $522.40 to $522.60 per quarter for full-time students.

Board members said the increase was necessary to cover the cost of higher salaries for faculty and staff.

Baseball talks reset for today

By Peter Finney Jr.

NEW YORK -- A federal mediator will try to end more than two months of deadlock in negotiations between the New York Yankees and the baseball players union.

The talks are expected to begin today at 9 a.m. in New York and continue throughout the day.

The Yankees and the players union have been at odds over the team's proposed $125 million contract for right-hander Bob Lemon.

The Yankees have offered Lemon a one-year contract with an option for a second year, while the players union has asked for a two-year contract.

Suit asking $65,000 filed by county woman

By Jack Rovner

A Johnson County woman sued a Dec. 13 in Johnson County District Court seeking $65,000 for injuries she sustained in a furnace explosion at a residence on 63rd Street.

Lawyers for plaintiff Pamela Blackmon, 46, and Gary Drifmire said in their suit that the woman was injured June 28 in a furnace explosion at a residence on 63rd Street.

The suit alleged the defendants were negligent in the operation and maintenance of the furnace, which was located in the basement of the residence, and that the defendant was negligent in the operation and maintenance of the furnace, which was located in the basement of the residence.

The suit was filed in the Johnson County District Court, where the defendants are alleged to be residents of the county.

Iowa County Council chooses Jansen as new city attorney

By John Hawkes

Mayor Joe Kellman named Thomas Johnson as city attorney during a council meeting Tuesday night.

Johnson, 40, of Grinnell, has served as interim city attorney since the departure of the previous city attorney, G. W. Johnson.

Johnson said he planned to work with the city to address the issues that led to the resignation of the previous city attorney, including the high cost of the city's legal services.

The council made its decision after it interviewed several candidates for the position.

The council also considered the need for a new city attorney, given the city's growing population and increased legal needs.

Many of the respondents were also impressed with Johnson's experience and qualifications, including his work as a county attorney and his involvement in community affairs.

Johnson said he was looking forward to working with the city to address its legal needs and to provide effective and efficient legal services.

MUNICAT, Iowa (AP) — The will of Roy E. Carver left $200,000 to establish a trust for charitable, educational and scientific purposes. Additional information is not available. The REST is designed to go for a trust fund to later decades.

The founder and chairperson of Carver's Food, a food marketing business with operations in 16 states, went in the will that the establishment of the trust fund fulfilled a longtime goal.

"I have received from society," he wrote. "I have been very successful and have enjoyed a lot of opportunities." 17.

In this will, Carver also left $100,000 to Messiah College, the administrative assistant for the college's development office, because he had worked in that business.

In addition, he designated an anonymous gift to the University of Iowa for a research program in education and social sciences.

Oil company profits

The oil companies and the Reagan administration, by their excessive rmsiveness and omniousness, are endangering the energy future of the United States.

The oil companies have been granted a relaxation - a relaxation in excess profits earned when former President Jimmy Carter decontrolled oil prices, on the grounds that they were in an emergency situation. Now a report by Energy Action reveals that the 16 biggest companies spent only 18 percent of their increased profits on tacking worker health and safety codes. They came to find out why the program was instigated and are now looking for ways to avoid it.

They may believe that the clusters project was designed as an administrative fiat. This is as

Ray's warning of political 'bloodbath'

Iowa Gov. Robert Ray said in a Saturday gathering in Council Bluffs that a political 'bloodbath' could occur if the Iowa Legislature rejects the second reapportionment plan drawn up by the Legislative Services Bureau.

The plan submitted by the bureau for the first group is 25% of railroad tracks and renumbering.

Senior Center to open in early fall; equipped to meet elderly's needs

By L. A. Hegar
Staff Writer

Johnson County's elderly will soon have a public dining center to provide them with nutritious meals and social interaction.

The Johnson County Senior Center is equipped with the ability to provide a "socially, physically and intellectually"-suitable environment, said Glady Scott, the center's director.

The center, in the old post office at the north end of the square, will provide social activities, meals and other programs that serve the needs of Johnson County's senior citizens.

The facility has been designed to meet the needs of those who are using the center, Scott said. The cards could be used to limit the center's capacity, which would be important for the elderly's safety, she added.

Enlarged plants go off pit

MEAD, PA. (UPI) -- A landscaping service that gained national attention three years ago by feeding its landscaping team of people with disabilities farm-fresh produce from a garden bert that became the plants were getting the big money.

Margaret Lingle, 47, said her 36-household group gave the plants their monthly quota of three plants destroyed in a bolt of wind.

The plants were just getting too big, said Lingle. But the old garden goes on. They have some of the old soil in the bottoms of the pots and are still growing very well. Lingle said the plants were growing even better now, but the garden was a lot of work to maintain.

The plants were approved for the center.

The facility has been designed to meet the needs of the transportation system, shopping facilities and professional services, Scott said.

The center's operation and maintenance will be financed through a federal Community Development Block Grant which provides approximately $240,000 at the center.

The facility is the result of a coordinated effort to respond to elderly residents who are falling through the cracks, Scott said.

The center will be used by senior citizens and will want to make sure they are the ones who are picking up the slack, she said.

The building's first floor will be used for social activities, and the second floor will remain unfinished for future use.

Social activities are currently recommended for all citizens who are over 60. The facility is also available for use by the elderly, Scott said.

Some Public TV cuts less than asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 94-36 Wednesday to approve a bill to cut Federal funding for public television. The move by President Reagan's admin to cut the belt

Waging strong support for public radio and television, the Senate voted 97-2 for the next three years to aid in station building, and bill failed for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting for fiscal years 1984 through 1986.

The Hill was split in its support for federal funding for public television. The approved bill provides $330 million for next fiscal year, while another $30 million would come the current fiscal year. The bill would expire in 1990.

Reagan asked that money for the corporation drop $20 million. In a speech to the Senate Tuesday, he said, "I support the public broadcasting system, but I really think we can ill afford to spend all that money which we're talking about there.

The public was not surprised at the President's position, but the bill passed the Senate, 78-17. Democrats voted nearly unanimously to support the bill, as did 10 Republicans.

The bill failed to win the needed two-thirds majority in the Senate for the bill to become law. The cuts in the bill passed the Senate had been reduced from the Senate-passed bill, which would have cut $20 million.

The cuts in the bill passed the Senate were aimed at the public broadcasting system. The cuts in the bill that passed the Senate were aimed at the public broadcasting system.

Under an amendment by Sen. Thomas Harkin, D-Iowa, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting would receive $10 million in non-tax dollars in 1987, and in public radio stations instead of a $20 million

The study would determine the effects of advertising on programming, audience manipulation to advertising, and the extent to which businesses and other organizations buy advertising time.

Wimbledon action halted; Borg wins big

By Nancy Myers
United Press International

WIMBLEDON, England - Five-time champion Bjorn Borg gathered his way to a 6-4, 6-4 victory Wednesday over Rick Porter to win his second straight title and third over three years in four tries.

Borg, 23, of Sweden, overwhelmed Porter, 31, of the United States, in 94 minutes in front of 13,500 fans on Centre Court.

"It's terrific! The last three years I've been here and I've been really happy, and this year I've been playing better than ever," said Borg, who defeated condo opponent John McEnroe, 24, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1, 6-4, in the semifinals.

"It's good for me that I have won a third All-England. I feel I'm more like myself now. The last year was hard for me. I think I have put a lot of effort into this year. I feel a lot better now than last year."

Borg's triumph in the biggest match of the year came against the strongest competition he's faced since a 1979 quarterfinal loss to John Newcombe at Wimbledon.

Borg, who has 33 career titles, easily got past Porter, who won three straight points to hold for 3-3 in the first set. Borg then held for 4-3, then broke Porter's serve in the seventh game and held for 5-3.

Porter is a two-time Wimbledon champion and lost his third straight match.

After the win, Borg said, "I think I'm better now than I was last year. I think I'm playing better now than I was last year."

Borg next faces defending champion John McEnroe in the final Sunday. "It's going to be a tough match. "I'm going to have to be really good if I want to win.""

If Borg defeats McEnroe, he'll become the first man to win three titles in a row at Wimbledon since Rod Laver did so in 1968-70.

Wimbledon's playing chances slim for Illinois football

PASADENA, Calif. - A federal judge Wednesday put the first day of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign "strike" on hold.

The court action came following a six-hour discussion between the owners of the Big Ten Conference and the plaintiffs, who are seeking a new proposal for labor negotiations with the football players.

"I'm very disappointed," said Afro-American quarterback Michael Payne, 169 pounds, of the decision. "I don't know what to expect now."

Payne, who is the second highest rated high school quarterback in the nation, said he was considering a new proposal being offered by the owners to the players.

Payne said he didn't think the new proposal was asking too much.

"I think it's a reasonable proposal," he said. "I think it's a fair proposal."

Payne said he was considering the new proposal because he didn't want to lose any more time.

"I don't want to lose any more time," Payne said. "I want to get back at it."

The owners have put up a new proposal that would allow Michael Payne to play in the 1981 season.

The new proposal, according to the owners, would allow Michael Payne to play in the 1981 season.

Payne has not decided whether he will play football after the season.

"I'm not sure what I'm going to do," Payne said. "I'm thinking about playing baseball next year."

Owners make new proposition as strike continues into 14th day

NEW YORK - Representatives of college football players left the negotiating table Wednesday to discuss a new proposal in a contract negation made by major league baseball owners.

The owners had offered a 3-3, 1-2 split of free agent revenue and a 3-3, 1-2 split of revenue from television contracts.

The players rejected both offers, but agreed to a new proposal that would allow Michael Payne to play in the 1981 season.
