Minority students may face financial aid crunch

Colleen Jones, UI Special Support Services director, said the UI administration is committed to finding ways to improve the opportunity for all students to enroll in the UI. She noted that the implementation of the new student fee policy will require a budget cutback affect on minority students, administrators said.

ALSOHUR Michael Freeman, manager of the Afro-American Cultural Center, said Congressional plans to cut the National Direct Loan Program will make it harder for minority students to afford UI tuition. UI Vice President of Student Services Philip Snyder said most of the UI's minority students will have to apply for financial aid because of cutbacks in the loan budget. Minority students are generally the highest need students and therefore, should not be affected by the financial aid cuts, he said.

But the growing student demand for financial aid is making the financial aid office more crowded. An assistant director of the UI Student Finance Aid, Mr. Neuman said that if the students do not get their forms in before the financial aid deadline, they will not have financial aid for the second semester.

WARMER and March 1 were the final days for students to apply for aid. The deadline to turn in forms for financial aid was set March 11, 1981.

The CRUNCH of students getting a financial aid application late is apparent. According to the UI's financial aid office, 1,002 of the 9,002 students attending UI for the 1981-82 school year have not applied for financial aid as of March 1.

President

President selects narrowed to two

This story was written from reports of the president's press conference and university news.

Budde announced that there were two candidates in contention for the position of president to succeed Dr. (late) and called the candidates to his office for the final selection.

Two presidents were one of the candidates and the other was the former president of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, William Doan.

The president will meet with the candidates on Saturday, April 10, to determine the final selection.

Budde said this week that he is very interested in the selection of a new president and that he will be available on Saturday to meet with the candidates.

Despite the controversy over the selection of a new president, Budde said he is confident that the candidates will be chosen soon.

Hyatt hotel tragedy under investigation

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — At least five important investigations were under way Sunday to determine how the walkways of the Hyatt Regency Crystal City Hotel collapsed onto the catwalk, killing 113 people and injuring 186 others.

Two of the victims died Sunday. Twenty-three other people were in critical condition with at least 14 of them in coma. One more person was listed in serious condition, law enforcement officials said.

The disaster that brought down Friday night from the fourth floor, 64 feet above the ground, onto a crowded dance floor was the worst ever in the history of the hotel.

The investigations included one from the company that owns the hotel, another from the company that operates the hotel, and other investigations by the city, the state, the U.S. Labor Department, and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

In a news conference Saturday afternoon, Kansas City Police Chief William H. Wilson Jr. said the cause of the collapse was not yet known, and that the investigation would be complex and lengthy.

Wilson said the hotel has a license to operate until Sept. 13, but added that the hotel will not be granted a new license until the investigation is complete.

The collapse occurred during the conclusion of a charity ball, the Hyatt Regency Crystal City Hotel's second of the year. The hotel is a four-star hotel, and the ball was to benefit the Salvation Army.

The collapse came after the ballroom was opened to the public, and the hotel staff was in the process of cleaning up after the event.

The collapse occurred at 8:30 p.m., when the hotel's fourth floor was occupied by a large crowd of people who had gathered to watch a fireworks display.

The cause of the collapse was not immediately known, but officials said it was likely due to a structural failure.

In the immediate aftermath of the collapse, Kansas City police and firefighters worked to save the injured and to control the scene, which included a large fire and a collapse of the hotel's fourth floor.

Postalo service and unions still at odds

By Joseph Benson

Mailmen say the situation between the United States Postal Service and the National Association of Letter Carriers is "very bleak." The two sides have been negotiating for 20 years and despite the efforts of the postmaster general, they have been unable to reach an agreement. The mailmen have been forced to work without a contract for seven years, and this has caused a great deal of frustration and inactivity with their new role. The situation is "very bleak," and there are no prospects for a resolution in the near future.

The union representatives have been working long hours, and they have had to implement a dragnet to ensure that the postal workers are covered. They have been forced to work without a contract, and this has caused a great deal of frustration. The mailmen have been unable to negotiate with the postal service, and this has caused a great deal of unrest. The situation is "very bleak," and there are no prospects for a resolution in the near future.

Front wheel drive
A group of high-wheeling cyclists ride in Sunday's West Liberty Fair Parade for the time of the year that scheduled to begin Tuesday and end Sunday.

Limitations:

Front wheel drive vehicles are expensive to purchase and maintain, but they can be more fuel-efficient than rear wheel drive vehicles. They are also generally more stable in slippery conditions. Rear wheel drive vehicles have better traction on wet surfaces.

Rogers claims British Open title by four strokes

By Mary Jane (United Press International)

LIVERPOOL, England — Tom Driscoll, facing the hills after one of the most spectacular救救ies of his career, emerged unjured in one, thrilled to a dream come true. And he did it in the most challenging of all golf tournaments: the British Open.

The 28-year-old American, who had been in the running, pulled off a four-stroke victory at Royal St. George's Golf Club here yesterday.

It was one of the most remarkable turnarounds in British Open history.

Rogers, who had been in the lead after 16 holes, was 12 strokes behind the leader at the start of the final round.

In the final four holes, he made four birdies and one par to claim the Open Championship.

The victory was Rogers' first major triumph and he dedicated it to his late mother, who had died in 1971.

"It was a great day for me," he said.

"I'm sure she's watching me now."

Rogers had come a long way from the days when he was a struggling professional golfer, trying to make it in the United States.

He moved to England in 1989 to pursue his golfing career and never looked back.

"It was the best decision I ever made,"
he said.

Rogers' victory was his second major title, after winning the U.S. Open in 1997.

He said he was feeling a combination of happiness and relief after his four-stroke victory.

"I'm just happy to be here,
" he said.

"I've been working so hard for this, and I'm just happy that it's finally happened."
