Washington (UPI) - Secretary of State Alexander Haig has vowed to the United Nations that there will be no American intervention in the Making of the Roof of the Bonn City Hall with a picture of the United Nations on the roof.

The United States will consult with the United Nations before deploying the weapon.

The United States said that it had been a new development of a biological warfare weapon, which was a yellow rain. It was reported that the weapon was used in Cambodia. The United States has called for a ban on the use of biological weapons.

The United States has also threatened to use biological weapons if necessary.

A STATUTE background paper said that the weapon, which is produced as a yellow powder, can be produced in large quantities, but that the United States has not released any information on the weapon.

The United States has called for a ban on the use of biological weapons.

Four-year research culminates in charges

The United States has accused North Korea of using biological weapons.

North Korea has denied the charges and said that the United States was using biological weapons.

North Korea has also threatened to use biological weapons if necessary.

Robert Vesely, convicted of first-degree murder, was charged with the April 15 shooting death of his estranged wife, Laura D. Vesely. Twelve jurors and two alternates will be selected.

Vesely jury selection begins

There are nine degrees of homicide under Iowa law: first-degree murder, second-degree murder, voluntary manslaughter and involuntary manslaughters.

During trial, said an assistant, Kevin Strom, said those present at the time of the killing either witnessed the event or heard about it from friends.

More prospective jurors will be interviewed today.

Sufferers seeking hay fever remedy

By Susan Fisher

Sufferers are looking for a solution to the seasonal onslaught of hay fever that occurs in the summer months. The condition, also known as pollen allergy, affects millions of people each year and can cause symptoms such as sneezing, runny nose, itchy eyes, and congestion.

Robert Vevera, a long-time hay fever sufferer, said that the peak of the pollen season is usually in July or August, depending on the specific type of pollen present in the area. He added that some sufferers may experience symptoms all year round, while others may have a more pronounced allergy during certain seasons.

Vevera, who is a councilor from District B, has been experiencing hay fever symptoms for years. He said that the condition can be difficult to manage, especially for those who have to spend time outdoors.

"I've tried everything from over-the-counter antihistamines to prescription medications, but nothing really helps me," Vevera said. "It's a constant battle to keep my symptoms under control."
Senior center

Although urban renewal in Iowa City has all too often meant bulldozing historic buildings, we were pleased to read in Viewpoints last week that the historic 1851 post office building has been renovated to provide medical and evacuation areas for the elderly population of Iowa City and Johnson County. The center is also notable for the number of services it provides, including three meals a day, guards, showers, and a swimming pool. However, the center is so far from the main part of the University of Iowa campus that students rarely visit. We hope that the Iowa City Senior Center, which has been open for only a few weeks, will be able to attract more students and residents of the city.

Bible referendum

A week ago, voters in the Clear Creek Community School District, with the support of United Way, passed a proposal to build a new high school. In his Editorial Page, Crawmer Schreuder writes: "This is money well spent. There is always a danger, given Iowa County's unusual demographics, that the needs of the large and affluent districts are overshadowed by those of the smaller and less wealthy districts." Schreuder argues that the new high school will be a valuable resource for the community and will help to reverse the trend of historical destruction, the city's most recent building project.

George Harris writes: "The Sunday evening of the Southern Baptist Convention, who had been expected to address the convention as the featured speaker, was instead called by the presiding officer to announce a new development. The convention has approved a resolution that states that grated tobacco cannot be used in any form in the church. The resolution was passed by a vote of 95 to 1." Harris notes that this is a significant victory for the Southern Baptist Convention, which has been working for several years to ban grated tobacco in churches.

Legal Services office may close

The Iowa City office of the Legal Ser-services Corp. may be closed because of budget cuts that could cause a deficit in the state's Legal Services Corporation (LSC) money.

Legislative leaders have cut the LSC money for the upcoming fiscal year. The Iowa City office, also in Palo Alto, is expected to become non-operational if it can't find other sources of money.

The Iowa City office could close by July 1. If it does, it will be the third legal services office in Iowa
to be closed in the last six weeks, with the two others being in Sioux City and Waterloo.

Another 14 legal services offices are facing the same possibility of closure if they can't find other sources of money.

The Iowa City office, however, is not the only one facing a future with an uncertain future.

The LSC money is provided by the federal government and is given to the state to fund legal aid services for low-income individuals.

If the Iowa City office closes,
Lawrence Mayor Fred Berens said it would be a "tragedy." He said the office provides important services to the city's residents.

"We're going to have to close at least half of our offices here in Iowa," Barrett said. "It's going to be a real crunch for us."

The office provides legal services
to residents in the city of Iowa City, Johnson County and the University of Iowa.

Acting art museum director face role for second time

By Joanne T. Stodola
Art/Entertainment Editor

It's been a tough year for Joanne Stodola, the acting director of the Iowa Museum of Art, who took over early this year after the departure of Pauline K. Moser. Stodola said she is hopeful for the future of the museum.

"It's been a tough year for me," Stodola said. "But I think things are looking up for the museum.

As the museum's curator, Stodola was tapped to be acting director. She said she is looking forward to the challenges and opportunities that come with the position.

"I'm excited to be in this position," Stodola said. "I think I can bring a fresh perspective to the museum.

Stodola said she is looking forward to working with the new museum director, whose name has not been announced yet.

"I'm excited to work with the new director," Stodola said. "I think they'll bring a new energy to the museum.

Stodola said she is looking forward to working with the museum's patrons and community members.

"I'm excited to work with the museum's patrons," Stodola said. "I think they'll enjoy what we have to offer.

Stodola said she is looking forward to the museum's future, and she hopes it will continue to grow and thrive.

"I'm excited for what the future holds," Stodola said. "I think the museum has a bright future.

CAC opposes tuition increase

By Zora Sheer
Staff Writer

The Collegiate Association Council, management, and the administration prepared the state Board of Regents with a letter last week opposing State University of Iowa increases for 1982-83. The letter, signed by Zora Sheer, president of the Iowa State Association of College Women's Councils, asked the board to halt increases at $32.7 million.

Board of Regents, the state government body that allocates money to state universities, has budgeted $32.7 million for the 1982-83 academic year. The letter to the board was written to raise concerns over a potential increase in tuition and to urge the board to make a decision to hold the increase at $32.7 million.

The letter also addressed the issue of the university's fiscal health and the need for additional funds to support academic programs and services. The letter called for a more transparent and inclusive process in decision-making for tuition increases and urged the board to consider the impact of tuition increases on students and the university's ability to attract and retain the best students.

The letter concluded by expressing the appreciate of the company and its commitment to working collaboratively with the state Board of Regents to ensure a fair and reasonable tuition increase for the upcoming academic year.

It pains to install lights on the intramural track at Linn-Mar High School this year.

The UI Recreation Services office scheduled plans Monday to schedule the school's first attempts intramural track field games Feb. 3. The UI flag football season started Friday, and the lights were to be installed because of the cold front that's been hanging around.

Elmer Hals being shipped to Iowa City from Wapello, Iowa, two weeks in advance. The help support drive in which the lights are estimated.

THE BLUE WAVE, expected to arrive in Iowa City Sunday, will be played by Saturday. The UI Recreation Services office.

"As a matter of fact, " Gehrke said, "I'll start the contest work Tueday and will take five days."

"It's an attempt to be successful, in the 9-10, and it won't be possible." Gehrke explained.

Torn cement work Tuesday and it will take us up to the 12th.

Person to call regarding the work in need is problem.

"We'll start taking care of the work, " he added.

"It's the worst week ever, " Gehrke said, "and it will take us up to the 12th."

Bortz's play earns honor from press

The story was written from reports by Jay Jochimstein and United News International.

Jill Bortz, a 6-foot, 178-pound defensive tackle, was named University Press International's Midwest Defensive Player of the Week following the Hawkeyes' 47-17 shocking victory over Nebraska Saturday.

Bortz received eight tackles — five solo and two for losses of 12 yards — and recovered the Nebraska fumbles. His second family recovery came with the Hawks leading 24-0 and halted the Cornhuskers on Iowa's 3-yard line for the second Nebraska loss. Dan Borky, one of the game's offensive tackles, beat the 1-foot wind.

"The whole defense played just a super game," said Bortz, a junior from Portage, Wis. "Everyone was talking Iowa as better — four All-Americans and two first-teamers. I thought we were as good as any team in the Big Eight before the game.

"We knew they had the offense, but we didn't think they had our defense. We didn't think we were as good as them, but we did.

"The first part of the game was a little bit ugly for us, but we came back strong. We didn't think about the crowd. We just knew we had to be better than they were, and we were.

"We let the defense get most of the recognition. But we all contributed.

"When we played Nebraska last year, I thought they were better. Now, I think we're better. This is as good a team as we've played in 10 years. The only team that played us even close was North Texas.

"I knew Nebraska was good. They are good every year. We knew what a good team we had.

"A lot of people, we've let them down before, and it's a chance to put it right.

"I think people will see that we're staying strong and we're going to do a good job this year.

"I'm glad I was here, and I'm glad I played for Coach Carroll. I hope to come back next year and do better."

Mark Bortz
