Reagan wins stopgap fight in Congress

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Reagan won a stopgap fight in Congress today by persuading House Democrats to suspend their threat of a walkout, enabling the president to continue his Thanksgiving holiday. He later signed scheduled legislation to raise the nation's debt ceiling.

In a rare moment of bipartisanship, the president and congressional leaders agreed to suspend their differences on how to handle the nation's $400-billion-plus debt ceiling. The agreement was seen as a hopeful sign that the two parties could work together to address the nation's fiscal problems.

The president's victory came after a bitter dispute over the size of the debt ceiling. Republicans had sought to raise the ceiling by $100 billion, while Democrats wanted a larger increase. The agreement was seen as a sign that the two parties could work together to address the nation's fiscal problems.

The president also signed a bill to raise the minimum wage, which was opposed by many Republicans. The bill was seen as a step towards addressing the economic concerns of working-class Americans.

Reagan told reporters that he was pleased with the outcome of today's negotiations and looked forward to continuing to work with Congress to address the nation's fiscal problems.

The president's victory was seen as a sign that he was able to work with both parties to address the nation's fiscal problems. The agreement was seen as a hopeful sign that the two parties could work together to address the nation's fiscal problems.

UI pro-life, senate pre-trial set

By Jackson Briggs

The UI student Judicial Court set Dec. 3 as the pre-trial date for the case between a UI student and group representative.

The Judicial Court Chief Justice Jim Green said the purpose of the pre-trial will be to "clarify the issues. It will give both sides a direction for gathering evidence that will be most useful in the trial. The most time consuming part of the trial should be prevented in the pre-trial.

Green said the whole point and purpose of both sides are working on the findings of fact for the pre-trial. The trial will be held during the spring semester.

The BRFPS must be served in the case only within thirty days of the notice to the UI, Green said.

The Student Right to Life Committee filed a complaint Oct. 22 against the student leader on the UI campus to have the student's right to life violated. The student must respond to the complaint by Nov. 12, 1982. The complaint was served on November 24, 1982.

The case will go to trial December 2, 1982. The purpose of the UI's pro-life, "human rights arguments and issues written down in outline form.

Venezuela

Venezuelan President Luis Herrera Campas paid a visit to Washington, D.C., last week to meet with Secretary of State Alexander Haig and that of Defense Caspar Weinberger, but the talks did not include discussion of the issue of U.S.-Venezuelan trade, as the Venezuelan press reported. The talks were aimed at strengthening the bilateral relationship between the two countries, but the Venezuelan government has not released any official statement regarding the meeting.

The topic of this article is the role of the public sector in the provision of education in Venezuela. While the government has made significant investments in education, there are still challenges to be addressed, such as teacher salaries and the provision of resources. It is important for the government to continue to invest in education to ensure that all children have access to quality education.

The CONCEPT of the producer and stars of "60 Minutes" sounds like that of any of the other films that have opened recently. Virtually every report presented has been one way or another just plain bad — and it's like Debra Moden's review of the neighborhood bar in the West End that looked exactly like the one in her hometown. Indeed, the series' trademark "60 Minutes" has now been used as an advertising slogan for the show. The series is about to be brought back as a weekly special on CBS next fall. The series has been criticized for being too long and too expensive, and for the use of an endless variety of techniques that are not always effective. In fact, it's been said that the series has become a victim of its own success, and that it's now more important to keep viewers interested than to deliver the goods. The Parent of D.B. Cooper

In a world of low-budget, low-profile films, D.B. Cooper is a breath of fresh air. With a budget of just $500,000 and a cast of 10 actors, the film has managed to make a solid dent in the box office. The story follows Cooper, a former bank robber turned fugitive, as he plans and executes a series of daring bank heists across the United States. The film is directed by Roger Williams, who has directed several low-budget films in the past. The film is based on the true story of D.B. Cooper, who disappeared in an airplane in 1971 and has never been seen since.

African art exhibit beautiful, practical

By Susan H. Nicholson
Cedar Rapids

In its bold, sculptural forms, art and artifacts often express the inherent beauty of the materials from which they are made. African art, particularly from the cultures that produce the art, lends itself to exhibitions that can be both educational and aesthetically pleasing. The Museum of Art's earlier century can be found in private Iowa collections and for rors; an accompanying catalogue gives been made within the last 50 years.

The members of the group, the most current exhibit of African art in the Museum of Art's history, is the focus of the exhibit, and it features works from a number of African cultures. The exhibit is open to the public, and it offers a unique opportunity to explore the art and history of African cultures.

Hawks set open to season with Hawks defense

JEFFREY MILLER - Chicago Daily Defender

The Hawks defense will not be the only thing working for Atlanta when it opens its season tomorrow against Chicago. A strong offense will be put on the field as well.

Atlanta is coming off a 2-1-1 record last year, and is expected to be strong in both offense and defense in 1982. The defense has been solid all year long, and the offense has enjoyed more success this year.

The Hawks will be looking to improve upon the 7.5 goals scored per game last year, and are expecting to put up more than the 8.3 goals allowed per game.

The offense has been led by the likes of Allen Craig and James Brown, who have combined for 38 goals and 71 assists in 1982. The defense has been led by the likes of Charles Thomas and Brian Williams, who have combined for 24 goals and 39 assists in 1982.
Boston College (BC) – Head coach Jerry Taormina has been selected as the 1986 Big Ten Coach of the Year. His team has won the past two conference titles and is currently in first place in the standings.

The Boston College team has been a model of consistency, finishing in the top three of the conference in each of the past three seasons. Taormina's team also set a school record for the most wins in a single season with 35.

The selection of Taormina as Coach of the Year is the third time a BC coach has received the honor. Previous winners were Dick Liston (1971) and Bob Beaumont (1978).
Football fortunes fail to change; Theder released

RAPID CITY, S.D. — Roger Theder, who had to turn around the University of Colorado's struggling football program, was fired Monday after two years on the job.

"It's with regret that we are informing Roger Theder of his displeasure as head football coach of the Colorado Buffaloes," Athletic Director Dave Cutcliffe said in a statement. "Colorado has not shown the consistent level of performance that is expected in the Big Ten Conference."

Theder was appointed head coach in December 1983, following the previous year's 1-9 record and to replace Bill Austin, who had compiled a 4-6 record in his previous year. Theder inherited a team that included nine juniors, two sophomores and six seniors.

Theder won one of four games during the 1983 season. The Buffaloes' best performance came in a 30-10 win over Nebraska, which ended their losing streak and sparked a series of games that included three conference matches.

Though Iowa men open their 1981-82 season tonight against the Yugoslavian National in the Field House at 7 p.m.

Head Coach Leo Olsen has set up a starting lineup of Kevin Boyle and Kent Anderson as the front-rensu, Doug Stochs and Buddy Hanser as the guards.

Boyle lead the Hawkeyes in scoring in last year's competition and Anderson is a strong and physical player. Olsen listed both in various places against other opponents.

Stochs and Hanser are also strong at point-guard and can help clear any problems that may arise. Their ability to change directions and cut through the defense is very effective.

Anderson and Hanser are two strong opponents that can help the team win the game.

The Yugoslavian Team is currently in the middle of its game and will be ready for a tough battle. The Hawkeyes will be looking to put up a good fight against the Euros.

Hawks 11th;
UPI award to Blatcher

NEW YORK (UPI) - While the top five college teams finished their positions for the second time this season, the Big East Conference's No. 6 Syracuse, No. 9 Pittsburgh and No. 12 St. John's dominated the polls.

The 5-2 (12-4) Huskies improved to 10-3 in the Big East and 27-7 on the road to Iowa's victory over Michigan State Saturday.

Blatcher's five points at the line against the Hoyas gave off a sense of excitement for the fans and gave the team the chance to win.

For the Hawks, who won their first game of the season against the Hoyas, this was an important victory. The Hawks were able to gain a momentum which carried through the rest of the game.

The victory is the Hawks' first of the season and gives them the momentum they need to carry through the rest of the season.

The Hawks are playing well and are looking forward to the rest of the season.
