County neighborhood center faltering from federal cuts

By Scott Smader

Another federal block grant award acknowledged the sting of federal budget cuts in its advisory board meeting Monday.

Johnson County Board member Carol King, who serves on the advisory council of the Johnson County Community Action Program, an advisory board member, offered a motion during the meeting that the board be extended. It was passed.

The neighborhood board also will cease to exist, after the budget cuts, officials said Monday.

The advisory council is comprised of representatives from the Johnson County Department of Human Resources, the Johnson County Board of Supervisors, the Iowa City City Council and the United Way of Johnson County.

Dr. Andrew Ruder, a community psychologist, and a member of the advisory board, commended the board for its work and opened the meeting by saying the board "will be of you to deal with the consequences of the cuts that we are facing.

The cuts are the result of the federal government's decision to cut funding for the program.

Ruder said the board was initially given $100,000, which has since been cut to $50,000.

"We have to make some tough decisions," he said.

Ruder said the board will not have enough money to continue operations.

"We have to ask for additional help to make up the difference," he said.

Revealing cities

With unemployment figures nearing 11 percent, one thing Provid er County does to do its patriotic duty is to help those who live here.

One of Reagan's proposals to provide relief for those on the very lowest end of the economic scale, the inner city poor, is to cre ate the Urban Opportunity and Reinvestment Program. This pro gram, similar to the Urban Renewal Program, will be administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The pro gram will provide grants to cities for job training, education, and social services to low-income families. The grants will be available to cities that have declared themselves "urban oppor tunity areas." This means that cities must have a poverty rate of 15 percent or higher, or a high unemployment rate, or a high rate of teenage pregnancies. The program will be administered to increase the number of jobs available to the urban poor.

But in Reagan has said many times, "There is no such thing as a free lunch." The Urban Opportunity and Reinvestment Program will require cities to match their federal dollars with local funds.

Moreover, there is no plan to ensure that this program does not result in job displacement. In fact, the program is designed to create jobs. Reagan has himself instructed the federal agency to create new jobs, not displace old ones.

But as Reagan has said many times, "There is no such thing as a free lunch." The Urban Opportunity and Reinvestment Program will require cities to match their federal dollars with local funds.

ATLANTIC (AP) — Two young women, testifying in a separate dress, told how Wayne Williams, a key suspect in the death of six black children, attacked them in 1981.

"I was scared of him, but I didn't want to tell the police, because what I knew, I knew as a secret," said one of the women, who was taken to a residence in Atlanta for the attack.

The other woman, who had been attacked in the same way, said she later told police what happened.

"Williams, who is charged with the killing of six black children, was standing in a hallway in the residence when he attacked me," she said.

In both cases, Williams had been treated for injuries at a hospital.

The trial is expected to last up to two weeks.

Ibadan, Nigeria (UPI) - The arrest of two nearby gunmen did not deter the demonstration of popular support by a huge crowd who gathered in Ibadan Monday in the northern city of Ibadan to welcome the pope.

The pope waved to a crowd who came for mass Monday in the Nigerian city of Ibadan, and the church of St. Peter's Basilica in Rome, where the pope spoke to local officials.

The pope's week-long visit to Nigeria was well attended by thousands of worshippers who came to hear the pontiff deliver a homily and give a benediction.

The pope was in Nigeria as part of a four-nation tour of Africa that also includes Kenya, Tanzania, and Botswana.

The pope's visit was marred by the arrest of two men and a woman at the airport in Kano, who were arrested on charges of disturb ing public order.

The pope's visit to Nigeria was met with a strong demonstration of public support.

The pope defended Catholicism against the charge of cultural imperialism, saying that the church comes to the culture of another race.

The pope encouraged the spread of Catholicism in Nigeria, saying that it will reflex many of its powers when it reclaims many of its powers entering into a culture.

CAC: Maintain student aid fight

By Karen Heuning

Last week's phone and letter lobby by students for continued student aid support was successful, according to President Russell Rings, Collegiate Associations Council president.

"We are delighted that a number of students called and wrote to their representatives," said Rings. "We hope that this campaign continues to be successful in the upcoming weeks."

A CAPABILITY of nearly 700 students, the Colossus for Penn's first title, has taken on a downward spiral since John Anderson won last year's title. Now Leonard, who weighs in at 168 pounds, has won 51 out of 53 fights, with two losses and two draws. His next fight is set for Tuesday, and he plans to do his best to win.

Leonard, 27, lived in Los Angeles at the time of his last fight, but his training is currently being conducted by his coach, also there. He plans to return to Pennsylvania after the fight.

Leonard is scheduled to fight against the head and Finch on July 2, in the head of the fight. He plans to build up his skills and become a threat to the title.

"Myself."

"Get the job done, and the job will be done," said Leonard. "I want to win this fight, and I plan on doing so."

Leonard plans to continue his training and work on his weaknesses in the upcoming weeks.

Leonard will make his next title defense against Senator Douglas during Monday's event sponsored by the University of Delaware, in association with the World Boxing Association. The fight is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Leonard is the defending champion of the world in the super-middleweight division, and he plans to hold onto his title for the long haul.

"I've been training hard for this fight," said Leonard. "I'm ready to get back to the ring and make a statement."

Leonard plans to focus on his conditioning and technique in the upcoming weeks, and he plans to use his speed and power to his advantage.

Leonard is confident in his ability to win the fight, and he plans to do so by any means necessary.

Leonard plans to continue his training and work on his weaknesses in the upcoming weeks.

Armatrading gives high-powered act

By Jon Massar

Joan Armatrading and her formidable five-piece band gave a punchy sound system, fluid, magnificent voice.

After lavishing attention on audience members throughout the evening, ranging from pure and orthodox, as she moved from her unique Sanford (guitar), Julian Diggle (bass), Monica), Jeremy Meek (bass), Diggle checked in with a smooth harmonica break on the sweeping "I Want To Hold You." Armatrading donned a brand new T-shirt which was highlighted by some crackling "How Cruel."

With the ice-and-fire harmonics continued, she showed occasional moments of triumph, as Armatrading absolutely blazed on electric guitar. From the various stages of Armatrading, it is plain, "Wishing For" on the Barley Mow album, was highlighted by what is arguably Armatrading's strongest vocal of the evening on "You Have Your Tea!" from the same album, Armatrading was in form. Carter's contract rich

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) -- Gary Carter also scored for the Mets in the ninth inning as New York won, 4-3, in a rain-delayed game Monday.

The catcher, who has been under fire for his low average, said after the game he is not going to be traded. Carter is said to have asked the team to hold off on any move.

"The best contract we've ever had on a free agent," said Carter.

There are all kinds of deals in baseball. There are all kinds of contracts. Carter is a great player. There's nobody like him. Carter is the greatest player.

Gentz dives to regional victory

By Mike Gaudino

Karen Gentz had a special meaning in mind Monday night when she dominated the 69.5 regional meet at the Field House pool. The record she set in swimming was in honor of her husband Mike.

"This is very special for me and I wanted to dedicate this win to Mike," Gentz said. "I've been swimming hard for this meet and I am excited to win.

Gentz, who is the defending national champion on the uneven bars and shares the season's highest score with Ann Bowers of Iowa State, is not finished.

"I'm not done with this season yet," Gentz said. "I am excited to keep swimming and the team is doing well.

She went on to say that the team was looking to have a strong performance at the national meet.

"The team is doing well and we are looking to have a strong showing at the national meet," Gentz added.

Gentz is one of the top performers in the nation and is expected to make a strong showing at the national meet.

"I am excited to see how we perform at the national meet," Gentz said.

Iowa gymnasts clinm to No. 12 in national poll

By Dave Battern

The Iowa men's gymnastics team moved from 16th to 12th in this week's poll, which was released by the National Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches Association. The move was based on Iowa's 17th-place finish at the Big Ten meet, which was held in East Lansing, Michigan.

"I am happy with the move," Iowa coach Ted Reinhart said.

"Our team is improving each week and we are looking to have a strong performance at the regional meet.

Iowa head coach Ted Reinhart said Monday night that the team was concerned about the meet being held in East Lansing.

"We are concerned about the meet being held in East Lansing," Reinhart said.

"But we are looking to have a strong performance and the team is improving each week.
