Reagan gives plan to stop 'new Cubbas'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Taking notes on the Havana talks will soon parallel the effort to keep track of Communist Cuba's neighbors, President Reagan said yesterday. The administration, Reagan said, will pursue strategies to bring 'new Cubbas' to their knees. Cuba is on the list.

Reagan's office thought about the new strategy would have been a farce if not for recent events. Reagan said yesterday that Cuba, although it is not a member of the UN, is on the list of nations that are engaged in efforts to undermine world peace.

President Reagan plans to pursue the strategy with a new strategy of economic, political, and military pressure. The strategy will be implemented through a series of coordinated efforts, including economic sanctions, diplomatic pressures, and military exercises.

In addition, the president said he will ask Congress to appropriate funds to support the effort. Reagan said that the strategy will be implemented on a case-by-case basis, depending on the specific situation.

The strategy will be accompanied by a new strategy of information and propaganda, with the goal of undermining the regime in Cuba. Reagan said that the strategy will be implemented through a series of coordinated efforts, including media campaigns, cultural exchanges, and educational programs.

Reagan also said that the strategy will be accompanied by a new strategy of foreign aid, with the goal of supporting the resistance movement in Cuba. Reagan said that the strategy will be implemented through a series of coordinated efforts, including humanitarian aid, economic assistance, and political support.

The strategy will be accompanied by a new strategy of military exercises, with the goal of preparing for a possible military intervention. Reagan said that the strategy will be implemented through a series of coordinated efforts, including joint exercises, training exercises, and military exercises.

Reagan also said that the strategy will be accompanied by a new strategy of economic sanctions, with the goal of strangling the economy of Cuba. Reagan said that the strategy will be implemented through a series of coordinated efforts, including trade sanctions, financial sanctions, and investment sanctions.

Hearing to be held today for revenue-sharing funds

Iowa City

By Jane Grant

More than $1.1 million in federal revenue-sharing funds will be voted for today at a special meeting of the Iowa City council here. According to Supervisor Dennis Langenberg, appropriated from recent federal grants and other local revenues, the general council has no other funds to rely upon to provide local services. At the meeting, the public will have a chance to comment on the proposal.

A hearing is planned for this meeting, and anyone interested in these funds may submit comments. It is expected that the council will approve the proposed use of these funds.

Financial aid forms are due March 1

Anderson to speak at UI today

By Kevin Barry

March 1 is an important date for UI students — it marks the deadline for applying for financial aid. Eligible students should pick up a financial aid application and submit it by March 1. Those who submit their applications after March 1 may be forced to wait until the next term to receive any financial assistance.

UNI election a 'shouting match'

By Kevin Barry

A recent race for the presidency of the University of Northern Iowa's student government was nothing more than a shouting contest rather than a debate on policy.

The service will then send a letter to the applicant, and the final step is the award letter. The financial aid office has been holding financial aid workshops for the past several weeks. They are scheduled to continue through the month of March. The workshops are open to all students interested in learning about financial aid.

Spring is an important date for a number of reasons. In the Northern Iowa Student Senate, there is an important date for students about the type and amount of financial aid they will receive. The deadline for financial aid applications is March 1. Students who miss the deadline will not be eligible for financial aid for the remainder of the academic year.

The UI Student Senate will hold its spring elections on March 1. Students will have two options: running for a position or not running at all. The UI Student Senate is the student government body that represents the interests of all UI students.

Health care efficiency discussed

By Kevin Barry

Dr. Avedis Donabedian, a health care efficiency expert, will speak at the UI College of Medicine on Wednesday, March 1.

Donabedian presented his findings on the efficiency of health care services to a group of UI students on Wednesday. His presentation was part of the Robert F. Kennedy Lecture Series.

In his presentation, Donabedian discussed the concept of efficiency in health care. He defined efficiency as the ability to achieve desired outcomes with the least possible waste of resources. Donabedian emphasized the importance of measuring efficiency in health care services.

Throughout the campaign, Donabedian delivered his message to the students and faculty of the UI College of Medicine. He emphasized the need for universities to be more efficient in providing health care services. Donabedian also discussed the role of technology in improving health care efficiency.

The Donabedian Lecture Series is sponsored by the College of Medicine. The series is held in observance of Robert F. Kennedy Lecture Series. In 1980, former President Jimmy Carter delivered the first lecture in the series.

The Donabedian Lecture Series is open to the public. Those interested in attending the lecture can register online at the UI College of Medicine's website. The lecture is free and open to the public.
Death in the mines

Printing in and herself is a vast and complex government regulation, the Randie administration began to term by term regulating the mining and coke operations, and that led to the founding of the industry (the 0.3 percent that the Council takes away from the city's tax base) of the Iowa conference's official and the member. But the Iowa conference has also been used as a vehicle for advancing all kinds of policies, by its members. The conference has been used to advance the city's tax base, and the council has been used to advance the city's tax base. The conference has been used to advance the city's tax base, and the council has been used to advance the city's tax base.

Watt strikes again

The wise and generous Interior Secretary, James Watt, has made it clear to keep the dirty hands of oil and mineral explorers off the federal wilderness lands. It is my opinion. Of the seven thousand applications for oil and gas exploration permits that have been received by the Bureau of Land Management, I believe that only about one hundred of them are of any real value.

More important, between 1980 and 1981 the number of citations for safety violations dropped 16 percent. The fines paid by mine operators went from $19.5 million in 1980 to $14.2 million in 1981, and it is my opinion that the threat of imminent leasing in the federal wilderness areas, which are now indefinitely, would have to be included in the wilderness preservation, "Maitland Willis, 1982-02-25." Contract appeal partially upheld

By Ted Cooney

Iowa City's appeal of a ruling by the Iowa Public Employment Relations Board was partially upheld, said Förderer in Johnstone County District Court.

The city had appealed an order by the board that said the Iowa City Police Department had not met its duty to bargain with the union representing the bargaining unit.

The city asked for various things, including back pay, but the court said the city was denied those things.

The court upheld the board's order on the provision that the city must bargain in good faith.

Three dogs up for adoption

There would be three dogs available for adoption at the Johnson County Animal Services center.

The dogs are all in need of a new home and are being held at the shelter on a temporary basis.

One of the dogs is a 6-year-old male named Max who was picked up by the shelter after his owner was evicted.

Max is described as being very friendly and has a great personality.

The shelter is asking for $50 to cover the cost of the adoption.

Court

In a hearing in District Court, a judge ordered the city to provide a full range of benefits to the employees.

The city had argued that it was not obligated to provide the benefits because the employees were not employed by the city.

According to court records, before the hearing, the city had refused to provide the benefits because it said the employees were not covered by the city's insurance plan.

The judge ruled that the city was obligated to provide the benefits because the employees were covered by the city's insurance plan.

Iowa City and the UI: Culture, creativity, occasionnal madness

Iowa City and the UI have been described as a place of culture. The city's vibrant arts scene, including music, theater, and visual arts, offers a wide range of cultural experiences. The University of Iowa, with its strong tradition of artistic and intellectual pursuits, is a major contributor to the city's cultural landscape. This intersection of culture and education creates a unique environment that attracts both students and visitors from around the world.

The UI campus in Iowa City, UI

In 1839, two men appointed by the territorial legislature established the University of Iowa. The first legislators chose the site for the university on the condition that it be located in a place where the territorial legislature could meet. The site chosen was Iowa City, which had been settled by pioneers from the South and West. The university was established in 1839, and the first classes were held in a building leased from the city. The university grew rapidly, and by 1847, it had become the first public university in the United States.

For 113 years, the UI has been a landmark. Between 1847 and 1878, the campus consisted of six buildings. But the university's growth continued, and in 1886, the first official school was founded, the Iowa Normal School. This school was later renamed the University of Iowa College of Education.

In 1892, the first women's dormitory was opened, and in 1893, the first women's college was established. The university's first graduate program was also opened in 1892, and in 1893, the first professional school was established, the School of Architecture.

The UI has been a leader in higher education for over 150 years, and its impact on the city of Iowa City has been significant. The university has contributed to the city's economic growth and cultural vibrancy, and its presence is a source of pride for the community.

NYC terminal: politics and property

NEW YORK (CT) - New York City didn't act fast enough to prevent the sale of the terminal at the airport in the wake of a January 22, 1995, report by the Government Accountability Office (GAO). The report said that the city's decision to sell the terminal was based on an inadequate analysis of alternatives and a lack of data. The GAO recommended that the city re-evaluate its decision, and the mayor, who had already announced his intention to sell the terminal, announced that he would do so. The audience for my presentation included many of the city's residents and politicians. They expressed concern about the loss of public control over the terminal, and some even called for a referendum to decide the matter. However, the mayor insisted that the sale was necessary to fund the city's budget. The GAO's report was released just as the city was about to make a final decision on the terminal sale. The report raised questions about the city's decision-making process and its ability to make informed decisions. The terminal sale is an example of how politics and property are intertwined in urban planning and development. The sale of the terminal is a case study in how urban property is used to fund public programs and how the city's budget is impacted by the sale. The terminal sale is also a reminder of how important it is to have strong oversight and accountability in the city's decision-making process. The terminal is a vital asset to the city, and it should not be sold without careful consideration of its long-term value and impact on the city. The terminal sale is a symbol of the challenges that the city faces in balancing its budget and providing essential services. The sale of the terminal is a reminder of the importance of strong oversight and accountability in the city's decision-making process.

The spotlight on ‘General Hospital’ could fade like ‘Dark Shadows’

"Stunt Man" star lauds film's making

By Roxanne E. M. Markoff

"Stunt Man" star Mike Medenwald, who co-starred with Kirk Douglas in the film, recently visited the University of Iowa to discuss his role in the movie. "Stunt Man" is a film about a stuntman who becomes a director, and Medenwald says he found the role to be challenging. "I really had to dig deep into my own experiences to play the character," he said. "I've always been fascinated by the world of cinema, and I think this role allowed me to explore that fascination in a new way."

"TWO IOWA CITY TRADITIONS RETURN"
Scare, not Hawks, worries ISU gym coach

By Bob Rennie

Tuesday when the Iowa State basketball team took on the Number 13 Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets at the Iowa State Coliseum, Hawkeye fans were not too worried about the showdown between the two teams. The reason was twofold: the Hawkeyes were 8-5 and the Yellow Jackets were 17-5, making the game between the two teams a close one. The Hawkeyes were confident that they could win, while the Yellow Jackets were not so sure. The game was a thrilling one, with both teams playing their best. The Hawkeyes won the game with a final score of 80-75, which was a huge upset for the Yellow Jackets. The game was a great example of the importance of hard work and determination in sports.

Despite the loss, the Yellow Jackets showed a lot of heart and fought hard throughout the game. Coach Kevin Stallings said, "We played our best game of the year. We fought hard and we made some big shots, but it just wasn't enough today. We are a young team and we have a lot of potential. We have a lot of talent and we will keep working hard to improve." The Hawkeyes showed a lot of heart and determination throughout the game and were able to overcome the tough challenge presented by the Yellow Jackets. The game was a great example of the importance of hard work and determination in sports, and the Hawkeyes proved that they are a tough team to beat.

Kaiser wins wrestle-off with Ranawath

By Bob Rennie

The Hawkeyes are looking good for the upcoming season. The team has a lot of talent and is ready to make a strong push for a conference championship. The Hawkeyes have a lot of depth and are expected to be one of the top teams in the conference. The team is led by senior captain Jason Kaiser, who is a two-time All-American and a four-time NCAA champion. Kaiser is looking strong and is expected to lead the team to success this season. The Hawkeyes are looking to make a strong push for a conference championship and are ready to take on any challenge that comes their way.

Intramurals

By Bill Gans

The Intramural Department of the Iowa State University has announced the spring Intramural schedule. The spring Intramurals will begin on March 15 and run through May 31. The Intramurals will be held at the Student Recreation Center and theISU Oval. The Intramurals will offer a variety of sports and activities, including basketball, volleyball, soccer, and dodgeball. The Intramurals are open to all ISU students and are a great way to stay active and have fun. The Intramurals are a great opportunity for students to get involved and make new friends. Iowa out to avenge cage loss to Jennies

By Betty Anderson

Though Iowa's women's basketball team was soundly defeated by Central Missouri, 66-51, on Jan. 26, both teams are preparing for Friday's 7:30 p.m. game to the Field House could be a 'do over' for both teams.

Central Missouri Coach Jorja Hoehn said that after the teams had met in a previous game of the season against Iowa, she allowed her team to be overwhelmed coming into today's game.

McMaster's strategy for this game is to focus on turning the game around with a 153-point per game average.

Rugby club takes 8th at Mardi Gras tourney

By Betty Anderson

The Iowa City Women's Rugby Club participated in the 35th Annual Mardi Gras International Rugby Tournament last weekend in New Orleans. A total of 10 teams participated in the tournament, and the Iowa City team was placed third overall after a first day of competition.

The club's second game was against the eventual tournament champions, Houston Touchdown Bears, who were national champions last year and are currently ranked number one in the men's division.

The club's first game was against the Iowa Grizzlies, and the team's win against Iowa was the most recent upset after the final match of the tournament. The Iowa City team was placed sixth overall after a first day of competition.

Big Ten indoor meet awaits Iowa

By Thomas W. Jerg

Iowa Women's Track Coach Jerry Link said the Hawkeyes can't prove at last year's freshman physical form. Only time and practice have shown the distances that Jim Zabel carried over the measure and that it should be his time to honor him.

Fan Day is Jim Zabel Residence Hall. It was announced two years ago , and now a dedicated second floor dormitory residents honor him.

Wisconsin win vital for Hawks' title
By Marlene Isaacson

If the 1/2 Wisconsin Badgers sneak past the Panthers in pool Field House, it may very well be the next State Championship Meet. Everyone is wondering. "Will the Hawks be hungry and the Panthers be satisfied in Saturday's showdown against the Hawks?"

The Hawkeyes knew better than to think that 1/2 Wisconsin would suddenly be satisfied with a 1-1-0 mark. They insisted that the point gap between Iowa and the Panthers will be more comparable to them in the Indoor meet. "If you do well in the Indoor meet, you're going to be, we'll be right in with the Hawks," was Jim Zabel's reply.

The Panthers said they planned to go along with the governor, "Jim Zabel day." But if the governor doesn't go along, Wisconsin will be right in with the Hawks. The Governor is considering the shooting game as "the other game" today.

"If you can do for the governor, you can do for the well-being of the community," said Wisconsin Coach Jerry Link.

"About Wisconsin, Link said, "this is an evening to honor Jim Zabel." He said Wisconsin Coach Jerry Link, third-year assistant, said he plans to go along with the governor, "Jim Zabel day."
