Travel officers withdraw positions

By Rachelle Braun

The director of University Travel requested Tuesday that the university's travel policy be changed to meet the needs of student travelers. Student Travel has not been able to accommodate all the requests that have been made.

"Our current policy is not adequate, so we are proposing a change," said the director of Student Travel. "We would like to see a more flexible policy that allows students to travel more efficiently." The new policy would allow students to make their own travel arrangements, as long as they followed a few guidelines.

The proposal was met with mixed reactions. Some students were in favor of the change, while others were concerned about the potential for increased costs. The university's finance committee will consider the proposal before making a decision.

Harrison Williams reluctant to resign

The University of Iowa football team is in the middle of the season, and many are wondering if Head Coach Rick Williams will be able to continue leading the team. Williams has faced criticism for his team's performance in recent games, and some speculate that he may be on the hot seat.

Williams has been the head coach of the Hawkeyes for the past five years, and during that time, the team has experienced both highs and lows. In 2018, the team made it to the College Football Playoff, but they were eliminated in the semifinals. The following season, the team struggled, finishing with a 1-11 record. Despite this, Williams has remained steadfast, saying that the team is capable of turning things around.

"Our team is capable of winning," Williams said at his weekly press conference. "We just need to focus on the small things and execute better." The Hawkeyes will be looking to improve their performance in the upcoming games, as they face off against Wisconsin this weekend.

Opinion in pro-life dispute due today

A preliminary vote has been taken in the Senate, and it is now up to the Senate to decide whether to bring the vote to the floor. A pro-life bill has been introduced, and the Senate's vote will determine whether it is considered.

The bill was introduced by Senator John Smith, a long-time supporter of the pro-life movement. The bill would ban all abortions after the first trimester of pregnancy, and it has received widespread support from those in the pro-life community.

"This bill is a step in the right direction," said Senator Smith. "We must protect the lives of unborn children, and this bill would do just that." However, some senators have expressed concerns about the bill's impact on women's rights.

The Senate vote is expected to be close, and the outcome will have significant implications for the pro-life movement. The Senate is scheduled to vote on the bill today, and the result will be announced later.

A new tool has been developed that uses colored crayons to show pain. The tool is being tested at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics, and preliminary results are promising.

"Children have a difficult time communicating pain," said Dr. John Smith, a pediatrician at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics. "This new tool could be a game-changer in helping us understand their pain levels and respond accordingly." The tool is being tested with children in the hospital setting and has shown promise in helping healthcare providers better understand children's pain.

UI College of Law receives high rank

By MaryJagen

A report released by U.S. News & World Report places the UI law school in the top 20 law schools in the country.

The report, which is based on data from the American Bar Association, ranks law schools based on various factors, including the percentage of graduates who go on to pass the bar exam, the median starting salary of graduates, and the number of full-time faculty members.

The UI law school received high marks in all categories, placing it among the top 20 law schools in the country.

UI president Bruce Harre said the ranking is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the law school faculty and students.

"This is a reflection of the excellent work being done in the law school," Harre said. "We are proud of our students and faculty, and we are committed to providing the best possible education for our students."

Reagan bans Libyan oil imports

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan yesterday placed a ban on Libyan oil imports and cut off all but minimal trade with the African nation in retaliation for strongman Moammar Khadafy's support for left-wing governments and groups in Central America, including the Sandinistas.

The sanctions, announced in a statement read by White House press secretary Larry Speakes, referred to a prenotification signed by Reagan Wednesday reading in part:

- Libyan oil exports to the United States are negligible.
- Khadafy, since the amount of Libyan oil the United States imports is negligible.
- The sanctions, long under study by the Administration, cut off all but minimal trade with the African nation in retaliation for strongman Moammar Khadafy's support for left-wing governments and groups in Central America, including the Sandinistas.

The announcement came shortly after Police Chief Gates said he thought the comic had died a drug overdose and that cocaine was found in the actor's hotel room.

A recent report by the General Accounting Office said the value of Libyan oil to the United States is negligible.

The limits are designed to put measurable reaction on oil supplies or prices, although they will not be providing the dollars or technology which can be used for military purposes.

"We will no longer be providing the dollars or technology which can be used for military purposes.

Indiana not likely to repeat as titists

By Jay Christian

Avenue - As many as 38 Indiana
players may step out of 1982's
No. 1 team this season and look for a new way of repeating their success of the previous 12 months.

The Hawkeyes, ranked No. 1 last season, will have an easier job of repeating this season than any other team not ranked No. 1.

"We had a lot of reasons why we were No. 1," said Indiana's Bill Donovan, who leaves after being a two-time all-American. "We have explained why we were No. 1.

"But this season is different. The Hawkeyes have eight key players returning, but they do not have the same number of players who are playing the same level of basketball.

"The Hawkeyes had more than 20
players on their 1982 team, but now they have only 10," Donovan said.

"And they have a lot of good players, but they do not have the same depth.

"So they will have to work harder this season, and they will have to prove to the nation they are No. 1.

"I think they are going to be disappointed at the end of the season.

"They are not going to win the Big Ten championship, and they are not going to win the NCAA championship.

"They are not going to be as difficult to stop as they were last
season.

"But they are going to be tough.
They are going to be a strong team.
They are going to be a good team.

"But they are not going to be as good as they were last season.

Local programmers examining informative, entertaining shows

By Jeffrey Miller

"We're looking for shows that are educational and informative and bring new levels of entertainment.

With three weeks left in the month, KWWL-7 General Manager Douglas Fulton said not only is he open to any program that would enhance the station's programming, but that he's willing to look at shows that might help him achieve his goal of increasing audience interest. "We've been getting about a letter a day about "Soap Box," but so far we've not found the right entertainment program."

The station's current syndicated fare includes "The Young and the Restless" and "The Bold and the Beautiful." The latter is a informational entertainment program that's been endorsed by the National Education Association and the National Parent Teacher Association.

Fulton added that "The Young and the Restless" is a unique program in that it provides a daily five-minute update on a variety of topics, from health and nutrition to travel and recreation. "The Young and the Restless" is a perfect example of a program that can attract a wide audience and provide valuable information, especially in an age where people are looking for ways to improve their lives. "We're looking for programs that can provide information and entertainment in a way that's easy to digest," Fulton said.

In addition to "The Young and the Restless," KWWL-7 also airs "The Dina Show," a talk show that features celebrity guests and focuses on issues such as health, fitness, and relationships. "The Dina Show" is a great way to reach a wide audience and provide valuable information on a variety of topics.

"We're looking for shows that will appeal to our viewers," Fulton said. "We're interested in shows that can attract a wide audience and provide valuable information, especially in an age where people are looking for ways to improve their lives. We're looking for programs that can provide information and entertainment in a way that's easy to digest."

"There is nothing compelling about discovering the techniques for what makes athletes compete. Why is it that we women tend to hide the fact that it is part of our life to go fast, jump high and run hard? Why do men have to prove that they have the guts in order to do things that women do with ease?"

Northeast Louisiana has fast break style

By Steve Riley

By looking at Northeast Louisiana's schedule, you would probably guess that it is a high-powered offensive team that runs on fast breaks. But, in reality, NCAA expansion is creating a pretty good pace and slowing the game. The Indian coach Mike Young said that the NCAA expansion is creating more offensive opportunities.

Last season, Young expanded the tournament to 32 teams, and this year, the expansion will be to 40 teams.

1982 Hawks: a good start, unlucky finish

By Thomas W. Jorda

Iowa's basketball team, like many a mouth of hungry hyena, was ready to pounce on a hapless team and make a feast of them in the last week of the season.

Long expected to be all season right through Thanksgiving, the Hawkeyes found themselves in a heap of trouble after losing to Purdue and Indiana. But when they defeated Michigan State to take the Big Ten title, they could feel the jowls of victory in their jaws - until the tournament was over.

Star-studded Hawk line-up eyes mat title

By Jim Johnson

Five of the top challenges Iowa head Wrestling Coach Doc Gable has placed before himself or his wrestlers in the past have not been met.

Iowa's victory to the NCAA's national title last year was the only one of the last five seasons. Most of the losses were overcome by Gable and the Hawkeyes, but there was one last challenge that the Hawks could not overcome - the weight bracket.

The Hawks, who had to call the year the "biggest loss," must now face the Big Ten meet, where they must face their toughest foe - the NCAA tournament.

Iowa's wrestlers

Iowa's wrestlers are expected to make a strong showing in the NCAA tournament, which will be held in Iowa City. The Hawks have already won the Big Ten championship and are looking for more.

Bobbi Olson: wife and mother are only a few of her roles

By Melissa Harris

Bobbi Olson knows that being the wife of a coach carries with it a good deal of responsibility, from the moment her husband's name graces the program to the day he signs his replacement. Or at least this was the way she knew it before she married her husband.

On the other hand, she is not one to shy away from responsibility. Her husband's nickname is "Bobbi" and she doesn't see the need for any other name.

"Bobbi Olson, a basketball player," she says, "is not one to avoid responsibility. I think I can handle the job very well.

Bobbi Olson is the Iowa Assistant Coach Jim Brewer's wife. She is the mother of three children and a full-time basketball player in her own right.

"I've been playing basketball since I was a little girl," she says. "I've been doing it for as long as I can remember."

"I was born in 1958 and my father is a basketball coach." She pauses for a moment, then adds, "I played for him when I was younger."

"I've been married to Jim for 20 years," she says. "We met when we were both coaching at the University of Illinois."

"I've been coaching for 25 years," she adds. "I've been an assistant coach at the University of Iowa for 10 years."

"I've been doing it for a long time," she says. "I've been doing it for as long as I can remember."
