Number of blacks in college dipoes

By Elizabeth Downhower

Although reasons are elusive and unconfirmed, officials suggest that black enrollment has declined at the University of Iowa. A full-time black high school graduating increased by 4,000 students in 1977, but the number of black students, according to reports from the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, has been declining at the University of Iowa by 1,000 seniors each year.

"We really don’t know if Iowa is open," said Philip Hammond, University president of American Hawkeyes.

BLACK STUDENT enrollment at the University of Iowa increased sharply from 1978 to 1977, but declined during the following years, according to measures from the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights. The reports show that black student enrollment increased from 1977 to 1978 and reports from the U.S. Department of Education, which indicates a decline in black student enrollment at the University of Iowa.

"But we really don’t know if it is a matter of necessity," said Hammond. "We want to be certain nothing is taken for granted, including the national interest in open enrollment.

The University of Iowa is required to meet the demands of all students, according to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights. The University president said the school is trying to meet the demands of all students, including those of black students in the University of Iowa.

"We really don’t know if Iowa is open," said Philip Hammond, University president of American Hawkeyes.

Choice of jurors starts in Grube trial

By John Betz

The trial on the possession of the evidence — said different jury selection plans — may be a trial for 18 years, said Philip Hammond, University president of American Hawkeyes.

"I don’t think we have a plan," said Philip Hammond, University president of American Hawkeyes.

Plea bargain can save time, tax money

By John Betz

Although Donald Campbell was found guilty of operating a vehicle without owner’s consent, he was not arrested by the University of Iowa police department.

"If I try to get time and trouble," said Donald Campbell, "I don’t think we have a plan."

Plea bargain includes charge barging and removing bargaining, said Donald Campbell.

In a CHARGE bargain, the negotiator might negotiate against the defendant and change some of the charges in return for a guilty plea.

..."we can't make a deal, after all, he said, to get it on a time.

"The bargaining is designed, as a consequence of the time of the case, and as a consequence of the time, the negotiator might have the bargaining power in return for a guilty plea, said Donald Campbell.

Hawkeyes finish season with class despite season’s disappointing end

By John Betz

A weekend of NCAA tournament basketball — in Mason City to state and in Mason City to state — has ended with the University of Iowa Hawkeyes, the only team to make it to the NCAA Tournament, where the Iowa Hawkeyes beat the University of Iowa.

"I’m at the Jacko Roadway counter through and through,

City assessor job draws thirteen applicants

Of the nearly 100 people eligible for the job of Iowa City assessor, 11 have gotten it. The process was described by County Clerk Robert Fugate, who will make the final decision.

Fugate said that the process involved a two-step procedure. First, each eligible person had to come to City Hall for an interview to discuss their qualifications. Then, the 11 most qualified candidates were invited to a second round of interviews.

"The process was designed to ensure that the best candidate was selected," Fugate said. "We wanted to make sure that we were choosing the most qualified person for the job."
Volunteers to help disabled
by Elizabeth Mcbrady

To help disabled citizens maintain their sense of dignity, the University is sponsoring a Quaker Advocacy Program. The program is aimed at matching disabled people with volunteers who will assist them when they are needed. The volunteers will be trained in basic advocacy techniques and will be given a written code of ethics to follow.

The program is sponsored by the University of Iowa and the Divisions of Student Life and Student Affairs. The program is open to students, faculty, and staff who are interested in helping disabled citizens.

The University is looking for volunteers who are willing to assist disabled citizens in their daily lives. The volunteers will be trained in basic advocacy techniques and will be given a written code of ethics to follow.

taking reagan's words to heart

when 'welfare' comes...and first the recent charges of welfare fraud are not substantiated. in fact, the authorities have found that the welfare system is operated efficiently

by government agencies.

let them, with their feet, go on to prove that there are serious welfare problems. in the meantime, it is imperative to continue the public education campaign to encourage voluntary payments to public welfare programs.

Poison control to be promoted

The number of deaths from accidentally poisoning among children under five years of age has increased more than 30 percent since 1971, when the Consumer Product Safety Commission began keeping figures on Poison Prevention Packaging Act, which is spontaneously reprinted on all medications.

In addition to safety caps, greater awareness among parents of the dangers of medications, pesticides, acids and poisons has been fostered by undergraduate advising center staff, said Philip Kaufmann, a professional who has served as the new director of the Undergraduate Advising Center.

The Iowa City Police Department is investigating an urban advisory of their Bureau Transit QuicTrip convenience store last Sunday morning. According to reports, the suspect is described as a white male, approximately 30 to 40 years old, with a short beard and mustache. He was last seen wearing a blue jacket and blue jeans. If anyone has any information about this incident, they should contact their local police department.

Some tips in doing your own ‘Dallas’

By Jeffrey Miller

There are no rules when it comes to deciding what kind of fashion to wear. Just do what you like, and keep it interesting and different. I’ve always been a fan of mixing and matching different styles to create something unique.

When it comes to beauty, I find that knowing your own strengths and weaknesses can go a long way in helping you find the perfect hairstyle. For me, that means having long, full hair that I can style in whatever way I please. I’ve always been a fan of the classic look, with a center part and waves that flow beautifully.

When it comes to creating your own ‘Dallas’, there are a few things to keep in mind:

- Research: Take a look at what others have done in the past. What worked for them? What didn’t? This will help you find inspiration for your own creation.
- Experiment: Don’t be afraid to try new things. Sometimes the best results come from taking risks.
- Stay true to yourself: Remember that you are unique, and there’s no one else quite like you. Embrace that fact and let it guide your choices.

As always, have fun and enjoy the process of creating your own ‘Dallas’!

12 local artists, art groups granted more than $15,000

More than $15,000 has been awarded to 12 Iowa local artists and art groups for the latest round of grants made by the Iowa Arts Council. A total of $15,385 was given to eight individual artists and four art groups for a variety of projects.

The grants were awarded through the General Grants program, which provides funding to individual Iowa artists and Iowa-based art groups for projects that promote the arts for all Iowans.

The grants were given to artists and groups across the state, including from the Iowa City area.

Congratulations to all of the recipients for their hard work and dedication to the arts in Iowa!

"I've been in their everyday lives, sort of thing. Because one team won. I love those sort of things."

Dave E. Evashevski Award for academic excellence. No. Ten more important honors were presented to the University of Iowa basketball team at a pre-season banquet held at the Coralville Country Club.

That is the way it is in the nature of sports that some have to win and some lose. Sport lends a little meaning to life, a little reason to dislike the end of a certain season. Each sport has its own late season. People used to get a little hung over after the space race and the demand for space was met. In Iowa, it is the nature of the sport that some win and some lose. It is also a vehicle for personal growth.

Everyone now and that an athlete or an athlete in general do some spectacular things that some of them do so much better than you do. Of course personal magic tricks, that's a different thing. But is there is a way to prove that is what is behind all the things that athletes do. It is possible to prove that is what is behind the things that athletes do. And it is possible for athletes to train to become better at the things that they do.

The sports section was handed out at the NCAA basketball awards banquet in Coralville. It was the first time that the awards were handed out in Coralville. The most outstanding athletes were presented with awards at a banquet held at the Coralville Country Club.

DeBoer dedicated to gym team

By Steve Barnett

Iowa gymnast Holli DeBoer is working out from Mon. thru Fri. from 7:30 am-10 pm at Fairchild's. This is DeBoer's fifth year of competition. She is looking forward to the Iowa Invitational this weekend at Mollenkopf Pavilion. "Holli looks the best I've ever seen her," said Coach Tom Blecker. "We've always been sharp on every event."

As a result of the knee surgery in the fall, the junior will be taking more time off than she normally would have. "I was never really out of shape," DeBoer said. "But once I got back into the competition, I made a lot of progress."

"We're always been sharp," DeBoer said. "I'm not sure if I'm ready yet, but I'm going to keep working hard." DeBoer is training for the upcoming Big Ten Championship, which will be held in Iowa City on April 12-13. "I'm really looking forward to this meet," she said. "It's going to be a tough one."
