Proposed noise law more strict

The latest trend repair is a proposed noise law that gives residents the right to sue over the noise. The Iowa City Council is expected to vote on the law on Tuesday night at 7 p.m. The ordinance will be heard for the first time and final reading. The council will need to vote on the ordinance before it can be adopted.

The Iowa City Police Department currently enforces city noise ordinances, but the council wants to give residents the right to sue for noise violations. The ordinance would allow residents to sue for noise violations, and the Iowa City Council is expected to vote on the ordinance on Tuesday night at 7 p.m.

Spring fling

The threat of a parental visit is enough to turn any student into a covered stage. However, those who attended the 30th floor of Iowa's Residences Hall were at a disadvantage, having to spend their spring cleaning season in a locked room...she recently heard that her rug needed a good hard shaking.

Democrats elect committee members

Despite their reputation for divisive behavior, Iowa Democrats managed to elect 469 committee members at the state convention, which is considered a victory for those running for delegate seats.

In the 2nd District at Monticello, the defeat of two labor committee members elected were Doug Coon Rapids; and Mary Maloney, Des Moines. In the 4th District in Des Moines, it showed widespread support, as committee members elected were Mary Jo Lorge, Mason City. In the 5th District at Atlantic, it showed 52 percent supported the committee members elected were Roxanne Mitchell, Dubuque; Jean Bowman, Maquoketa. In the 1st District at Burlington, the probable governor's chair, Ed Campbell, spoke at four conventions and sent his governor's office in 1978, who told the delegates to consider the group's role in the 1984 campaign.

The one exception was Fitzgerald, the former governor, who has a lock on the nomination. His supporters and the Iowa Democrats managed to keep a lot of party members at home to vote for groups to get their acts together.

The meeting was well-attended, with groups to get their acts together, state party officials termed the makeup of the group a mixed bag. There were two old favorites for groups to get their acts together, state party officials said. It's a real problem...you really can't characterize it.

Party officials said the main reasons for the party's decision to stay out of the nomination fight was that they had a lot of new people who were willing to work for the groups.

For the 3rd District delegates, Jud Clark said...

Troubled Hawks drop three to Badgers

By Michael H橐ser

There is something definitely wrong with the Iowa basketball team. When the 12th-ranked Hawkeyes geared up to face Iowa City for the second scheduled meet of the season, history against the Hawkeyes, the game was lost. The players, except for the Wisconsin players, seemed preoccupied. The Hawks couldn't do much more than shoot. Even then it would be a disappointment.

Basketball, like most sports, is unpredictable. The old adage, "can see it all," is true. But for the same reason, no one, or any sport, shows a sign of dislike. This weekend, Iowa was the loser. The Hawkeyes jumped first and managed to dig themselves a little deeper into the hole. The final score between the Badgers and the Hawks was 90-79. Iowa City suffered a loss that is difficult to explain.

A HAWK story out of the blue:

Iowa City showed its true colors. The Hawks are not the same as the Hawks of last year. This year, the Hawks have a different team. They played as if they were on a mission. The game was on and the Hawks couldn't do anything to stop it. The fans were just as happy as the Hawks were. They could not stop to do their own thing. There was no point in stopping at this point. The Hawks were just running away. The Hawks looked like they were helpers in the Hawks' decision-making. They showed their true colors. The Hawks proved they could not be stopped.

Criterium fills day with thrills and spills

It was a good day for the fans of Iowa City. The Criterium was a success. The race was won by Tilford and Paul Biskup. The race was a small affair, but it was a good day for the fans. The Hawks could not do anything to stop the fans. The Fans were just as happy as the Hawks were.

Long to start fall as top quarterback

By Dave Christensen

The weather was cooler than usual for the spring game. The Hawkeyes were wearing their usual warm-up suits. They had a good day for their first meeting of the season. They were ready to begin their meetings.

They never heard the thunderclap. The Hawks were caught off guard. The Hawkeyes were building their offense in the opener, doubling home two runs in the second inning and giving Iowa a 2-0 lead. The Hawks responded with three runs of their own, adding the third run on a Badger strikeout. Iowa City's home run seemed to silence the Hawkeye fans...
Iowa City, Iowa

1 consistent pitching is blatant. Keppy gave up five earned runs in one inning. With a consistent pitching effort, the Hawkeyes could have cleaned up its game, the lack of which hurts ·

OPPO~ NT MINNESOTA, Pitching ·

At the beginning of the season, the Hawkeyes’ pitching was inconsistent. At the time, the defense couldn’t handle the defense and batted up the game, the lack of pitching ability hurt the cause. The Hawkeyes started the season strong against the Gophers, starting pitcher Tippy Lassena shot out Minnesota from the mound. The Hawkeyes scored three runs in the third inning and added another on an RBI single by Christy Durst on a hit ball and scored their seventh run on a wild pitch when the Hawkeyes’ defense attempted to throw runner on third.

Former pitcher Harry Morrison could have been a top pitcher on the mound had the offense provided him with some runs. Morrison before quality started an inning and scored two runs, which included first hit through the game. The offense generated four runs in the sixth inning to add to the score. Morrison did star on the mound and moved to first and then to the second and a well played by Greg Hanson and second. Lomar Berton hit the home run and went to the mound and scored on a three-run first,. Barrios next scored to get another Iowa runner in scoring position but Kris Rogers flew out at first, and Lynne Templeton popped up to short on the mound.

“I don’t know if they’re mentally divided,” Iowa Coach Gary Patern said. “It’s difficult for the team to maintain its composure. All the losses this week have been from big hits or big plays ·

Cyclones destroy Big Four field

By Steve Finne

NLOKS — The overwhelmingly deep bench scored two runs in Iowa State's 3-0 win over the Big Four during a game played Friday night at the Soldier Field in Des Moines. The Cyclone team was led by senior catcher, Mike Rowland, who scored both of the runs. This victory is Iowa State's fifth straight over the Big Four, and third consecutive win on their home turf.

In the first inning, Rowland scored the first run for Iowa State. In the third inning, he scored again, giving the Cyclones a 2-0 lead. The Big Four was unable to score at home, and Iowa State went on to win 3-0.

The Cyclones have been dominant this season, with a record of 8-2. They look to continue their winning streak as they prepare for their next game against the Big Four on Saturday night.

"Deathtrap" plot has enough twists to satisfy most avid thriller fans

By Rozanne T. Mular
The Courier

The weekend may not necessarily make it into the world-wide cinema, but "Deathtrap," which has been running in New York for what seems like eternity, has built up a pretty substantial following in Iowa City. The play, which runs until May 11 at the gymnasium of the University of Iowa, is an intriguing thriller that quickly develops into a suspenseful story of murder and mystery.

Several members of the cast have played the roles before, but the cast at the University of Iowa is completely new and excited about the upcoming production. The production is directed by Richard Loeb, who is a well-known figure in the world of theater.

The story follows the characters as they prepare for a murder that is planned to occur at a dinner party. As the evening progresses, the guests become more and more suspicious of each other, and the tension builds to a climax. The play is a classic example of a thriller, with its focus on the uncertainty of what will happen next.

The setting is a large, elegant house filled with guests, and the atmosphere is one of celebration and anticipation. The guests are all dressed in elegant clothing, and the food is exquisite. The play is a perfect example of a murder mystery, and it is sure to keep audiences on the edge of their seats.

The cast is made up of a talented group of actors, all of whom have learned their craft in the world of theater. The production is a must-see for anyone who enjoys a good thriller, and it is sure to be a hit in Iowa City.
By John Berendt "Separate Ways"

Journey Off-Broadway was known in its heyday as a group of composer/performers that could assemble at any moment. The group was rich in talent, with a glut of operas. The Journeys would perform at the end of its run to a sold-out audience, and in that spirit, this production is a Wonderful World "Separate Ways" is certainly no gem.

It's a story of a girl who doesn't join in her family's under study, an originality so riddled with disbelief. The audience can't help but wonder if star Karen Black had ever thought of independence - something still generated. But the voice was made a meal of, and the theater did its best to provide everyone with something to enjoy: low comedy, blown arias and just about everything except political correctness.

Admittedly, it's possible to empathize with the theatricality of Buscaglia throughout, but the composer loved a good tune (the kind that make the work such a refreshing operatic stage). As shown in this Ul Dally Iowan, the musical was clear and the production of a good deal of redundancy. In sum, a "Mayberry out of its body every chance he can, with Andy Rooney as his high G in Dapertutto's aria..."

Separate Ways is an interesting concept that just got a FL. in "Bettina" that "had..." and when she really gets angry, she goes after a movie you've walked into."

Karen Black's version of the masque of the magistrates is so bad, you can see why it was never promoted. With Andy Rooney as Black's sounding board, a grand opera all rolled in, the voice was made a meal of, and the theater did its best to provide everyone with something to enjoy: low comedy, blown arias and just about everything except political correctness. The OPERETTA village, whose numbers change for each act but whose function as a backdrop remains constant, was very well acted by Greg Lauren and Nancy Lancy. The Inn at Mayberry is in its early rehearsal and agreed upon face from the beginning. This was the last day of rehearsal - the voice was made a meal of, and the theater did its best to provide everyone with something to enjoy: low comedy, blown arias and just about everything except political correctness.
