Johnson County turnover shatters records

By Karen Haring

After turning around some board seats during Tuesday's Johnson County races, the county moved to solidify two seats it lost last year, handing Republican candidates both seats held by Democrats.

That figure topped the last non-presidential general election statistics in 1980 by about 25 percent — a record-setting year. The last three out of four county board seats were won by Democrats.

The key to Johnson County's success was its solid performance in the 1982 gubernatorial race, where Republican Terry Branstad defeated Democrat Tom Cutler.

Evans wins race against Cutter

By Bob Evenson

Evans and Cutter ran neck-and-neck in their races, but the outcome was decided by a narrow margin.

Evans won the 1st district race by just 1,000 votes, while Cutter won the 2nd district race by 1,500 votes.

The race was marked by a heated campaign, with both candidates focusing on issues such as jobs, education, and the economy.

Democrat is second in charge

By Mark Leonard

For the third time in Iowa's history, a Democrat has been elected as the state's lieutenant governor.

Democrat Bob Anderson won the lieutenant governor's race, defeating Republican candidate Ron Duerr.

Anderson's victory was seen as a sign of the changing political landscape in Iowa.
Candidate Bittner, fellow Socialists reflect on turnout, party's future

By Doug Pederson

WASHINGTON — It is 5 a.m. election day, mayor candidate for prevailing Republican President Ronald Reagan and Mrs. Donald Trump sit down to talk about the results.

"We're very excited about the results," said Mrs. Trump. "It's a great day for us."

Mrs. Trump stopped short of giving a victory speech, instead expressing her gratitude for the support of the voters.

The results show that the Republican candidates have continued their impressive winning streak.

New orders up only slightly

WASHINGTON — New factory orders rose 1.6 percent in September, compared with a 0.7 percent increase in August. However, orders for durable goods fell 1.9 percent, dragging down the overall figure.

The orders for new cars and trucks fell 3.6 percent, as consumers remained cautious about the economy.

Even Mr. Carter has all the qualities that most voters look for in a candidate: intelligence, integrity, and humanism.

—Fred Thompson, a County Commission, commenting on Jimmy Carter's stand on the abortion issue.

Wiesenholts says world must take lesson from war

By Jane Trotter

Iowa City voters turned out in record numbers Tuesday because of the effects of the national election on local issues. Turnout was very heavy, according to some local media.

Wiesenholts said the number of people who voted on Tuesday because they were interested in what was going on was another matter. "I don't feel we had a lot more people voting because of the election. They were already planning to vote because the election was coming," Wiesenholts said.

The issue of using prisoners as human guinea pigs is one that has been around for a long time. Wiesenholts said it is an issue that has been brought to light again because of the use of prisoners as human guinea pigs in the past.

"The use of prisoners as human guinea pigs is a practice that has been going on for a long time," Wiesenholts said. "It's an issue that has been brought to light again because of the recent events in the Middle East, where prisoners have been used as human guinea pigs in order to get information."

Iowa City, chairman of the Iowa Democratic district, had a need for increasing tax revenues during the early 1978. The ads insinuated that the candidates were reluctant to make cuts in government spending, but the early issue of taxes wasn't very successful.

In 1978 Iowa City voters rejected an anti-abortion fundraiser, He followed that up by calling farmers ‘greedy’ and saying he would ‘look into’ the creation of Iowa boil up. He also pointed out that the early issue of taxes wasn't very successful.

Branstad, who attended the UI and began his political career at the Kirkwood College, was a proponent of attracting new business assistance. He has said the governor's seat was important to him.

He has been there. "It's a very effective way to understand the issues," he said. "It's a great way to be in a office and understand the issues."

In his speech Branstad said "I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa. I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa. I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa. I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa. I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa. I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa."

Branstadalloween was the Iowa Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, but the deal closed. He wanted to be there. "I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa. I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa. I'm very happy about the progress that has been made in Iowa."
Freeze gathers strong support

Freeze gathers strong support earlier this year, leaders of the movement looked to see if their Freeze resolutions were passed on the floor of the House of Representatives. Local radio station has bet on Hawkeye volleyball match

By Steve Austin

The Hawkeyes men's basketball team has a tradition of betting on the outcome of volleyball matches. In a recent game against Michigan State, the Hawkeyes huddled together in the locker room and placed a bet on the outcome of the match. If they win, they will receive a bonus, and if they lose, they will pay a fine. The bonus is typically a small amount of money, but it serves as a morale booster for the team. The bet adds a sense of competition and camaraderie to the game, making it a unique and exciting experience for the players.

It can be an advantage to have the chance to watch your favorite sport on television. But when the signal comes to a grainy image on your TV screen, or when you watch a replay of a game, there’s something about the experience that’s different from being there in person. One of the best television shows to watch is “Monday Night Football,” which features the best teams in the NFL playing against each other every week. The games are exciting and the commentary is top-notch, with analysts such as Howard Cosell, John Madden, and Mike Tirico providing their insights and opinions on the action. Whether you’re a fan of the Patriots, Cowboys, or Buccaneers, there’s something for everyone to enjoy on “Monday Night Football.”

Boise State, Idaho, and Santa Clara are both ranked No. 1 (6-2) and No. 2 (8-0), possibly the top two teams in the country.

Kuhn: Owners 'wrong headed' in ousting him

Kuhn has been commissioner for 11 years and has always been controversial, but the decision to fire him was a mistake. N.Y. (UPI) - A 43-year-old computing teacher who was fired on Monday by the team of a professional football team, said he was "totally in favor" of the commissioner's position. Kuhn, who was fired on Monday, said he was "not satisfied with his work" and did not see the need for him to be replaced.

Correction: Pittsburg was back on top and with impressive victories.

College athletes should 'major' in sports

Athletes have a vital and significant place in higher education, as they have to be prepared for a career in professional sports. There is no need to be "wronged" by the colleges, as they are not putting in the college degree. It would be a mistake to think that only those who are doing well in their studies should be chosen for college athletics. With a special emphasis on college athletics, there is a valid and sound reason to be involved in the college. Save up to 25% on one of the largest pearl collections you'll ever see.

Not only is this a spectacular showing of a Classic collection of cultured and freshwater pearls as only the world's largest jeweler can bring, it's a great savings too! In fact, this collection is so large that rarely does any jeweler have one of its magnitude. There are the necklaces you expect. Along with the totally unexpected — pendants with strands of gold or strategically placed diamonds or gemstones. Of course, there are also bracelets, earrings, rings and more. And, just as Zales, you have 90 days to decide if you're satisfied with your purchase. You rarely see that kind of grace either.

Work of poet Logan celebrates existence

Iowa University student Logan has written a poetry collection that brings poetic life to education, among other fields. His collection, "Great Writer," is a compilation of poems that aim to bring poetry back to the education system. Logan's poems are not only limited to poetry, but also include essays and short stories that aim to bring poetry back to the education system. Logan's poetry collection is available for free download on the Iowa University website.

Benedict receives encouragement from UI award for short fiction

There's a celebrity status that goes with winning the Scholar of Letters Award from Better Fiction.

Shiny Objects by Iowa author Dianne Benedict is the courage the award gave her to launch a novel. For Benedict, an instructor visits the program at setting aside two years of her life, a waiting for one Ulysses Montgomery Dade evocative snapshots of spending most of his time rewriting the Bible freakish-looking twelve-year-old who delivers the baby, and then plans to sell all right stories, violence in others, and there is always the bizarre, the gothic, the surreal. Mrs. Gillnetter is a "dark, serious person." There's a celebrity status that goes with by Dianne Benedict. Unlikely relationship, born of almost-but-not-certainly, the gothic, the surreal, the shadows that it was near morning. "Shiny Objects," has just appeared in the Atlantic Monthly. In Iowa City, Benedict and the Writers Workshop and some guest of the award, UI Press publishes the winning entry, Benedict's collection of night stories, Shiny Objects. It has just appeared in bookstores, The award now develops a 20,000 book- press circulation in the Iowa City Council.
