Light work

By Jonathon J. Moore

A staff of eight full-time employees, Ken Bean and his staff works on the new A.T. McDonnell Manufacturing Company building at the Davenport Industrial Center. The plant is scheduled for completion by June 30.

City considering revenue bonds to finance repair of old sewer

By Kevin Herro

Berneen $35 million in sewer revenue bonds and taking city sewer rates about 10 percent to pay for the bonding. The decision to issue revenue bonds, which would be sold in the next month, is the latest step in a 10-year plan to modernize the city's existing sewer system. The bonds will be used to fund the repair of existing sewers as well as the construction of new sewers in the city.
Soviets to charge priest

MOSCOW— The Soviet Union said Wednesday it will charge a Moscow church activist priest in a trial expected to be a model of a coordinated from the U.S.R.

This is the first time officials have said a churchman would be charged with a "pro-West" and criminal characterization of a priest for his "anti-Soviet activity." "The" priest has not been named but B.

Problems cited with Israel

WASHINGTON — Congress is pressure in U.S. relations with Israel, a Senate Foreign Relations Committee\nPrime Minister Menachem Begin will not make a visit before the end of the year, as expected, but the Israeli authorities said they do not believe in "unilateral" agreements between the two countries.

Two men described as statements that the

Iowa City, Iowa

Six

Thursday ,

Alfonsoa

of his actions and was

of a national water strike, expected to underground stream, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City

Iowa City High School's Human Rights Committee will
accommodate a national water strike, and a hospital used a

worker, who walked out

congressional critic who asked him to

governments.

Problems

Lebanon.

"centralized planning and control of society

education. In his

credits.

National Education Association and the

services

sheriff's deputies, state and local police and

fire figh ters from Warren Township and

contact, blanketed the area with the acid 's

odor of rotten eggs.

Wealth

Iowa City

City
Mississippi Valley Natural History Museum

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM

100 West Second Street

Cedar Rapids, IA 52401

Phone: (319) 398-6843

Monday - Saturday: 9:00 AM - 5:00 PM
Sunday: Noon - 5:00 PM

Admission is free for everyone!

Local roundup

"Playboy photographer" proves to be phony

Three women are suing "Playboy" magazine for libel.

In the suit they claim they were photographed in nude scenes without their knowledge and without the magazine’s approval. The women are seeking $500,000 in damages.

"We want our names cleared of any association with 'Playboy,'" said one of the women.

"We were tricked into believing that we were being photographed in a professional capacity. It was only later that we learned the truth."}

Snow stroll

A student takes an early morning stroll across campus the day after the blizzard. The campus was quiet and empty as students and faculty took advantage of the clear weather.

Suspect in local burglaries held on bond in county jail

Ray announces his plans for active executive role

Ray's plans include a focus on active management and a more hands-on approach. He intends to be more involved in the company's day-to-day operations, ensuring that decisions are made quickly and efficiently.

Ray said, "I'm going to be a part-time executive, but I'm going to be an active one. I'm going to be involved in every aspect of the company. I'm going to be a part of the decision-making process."
State news

Capitol clean-up

A reader recently wrote us to say the Iowa State Capitol in Des Moines, after cleaning the steps, the 1½ inches of snow that had built up, felt better.

Senators: Raising drinking age to lower drunken driving unlikely

A. M. S. Tumey

Getting drunken drivers off the roads probably won’t mean raising the state’s legal drinking age to 21, although a bill is being considered by a state Senate committee.

"There was a bill introduced (but) I don’t know if it will pass," said the state’s Senate Majority Leader, Terry Branstad, R-Des Moines. "Most people are not considering it.

It probably wasn’t even discussed at the Capitol, said Sen. Julia Goodenough, R-Bettendorf.

"There’s no question that the legal drinking age is 21," said Sen. Michael Neely, D-Iowa City. "It won’t see the light of day."

"We have a national movement, though, to get a consistent drinking age," said Sen. Jim Schrempp, D-Clinton.

The moratorium on raising the drinking age to 21 was approved in 1975-1978. But a Michigan study shows that there has been no reduction in total alcohol-related car accident deaths. There have been a lot more alcohol-related car accident deaths.

The number of alcohol-related car accidents may be related to a state’s population density. A study by the accident prevention department of the governor’s highway safety office found that the accident rate was lower in states with smaller populations. The accident rate was higher in states with larger populations. The accident rate was lower in states with smaller populations.

Legislative update

The state legislature passed most of its work Tuesday, but it is not yet over. The legislature is considering a bill that would require all drivers to use seat belts. The bill would also require the state to keep a record of all accidents involving seat belts. The bill would also require the state to keep a record of all accidents involving seat belts.

The Senate is expected to debate the bill Wednesday. The bill would require all drivers to use seat belts. The bill would also require the state to keep a record of all accidents involving seat belts. The bill would also require the state to keep a record of all accidents involving seat belts.

The House is expected to debate the bill Wednesday. The bill would require all drivers to use seat belts. The bill would also require the state to keep a record of all accidents involving seat belts. The bill would also require the state to keep a record of all accidents involving seat belts.
President is critical of corporate taxes

BOSTON (UPI) - President Reagan针对corporate taxes has been a topic of discussion in recent weeks. Reagan的最后一轮round of tax cuts has been criticized by some as not being enough to address the corporate tax burden.

Reagan's administration has argued that the tax cuts will stimulate economic growth and create jobs, but critics say that the benefits are not being felt by the majority of Americans.

The remark came almost as an afterthought during a speech to the Massachusetts High-Tech Council forum in the cafeteria of the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

Reagan also announced that $60 billion in tax breaks would help universities upgrade tech facilities during the four-year budget period.

Earlier, Reagan visited another high tech plant and computer technology center at the University of California, Berkeley.

Reagan has faced criticism from some who argue that the tax cuts are too high and not enough to address the nation's economic problems.

The remarks came almost as an afterthought during a speech to the Massachusetts High-Tech Council forum in the cafeteria of the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

Reagan also announced that $60 billion in tax breaks would help universities upgrade tech facilities during the four-year budget period.

Earlier, Reagan visited another high tech plant and computer technology center at the University of California, Berkeley.

Reagan has faced criticism from some who argue that the tax cuts are too high and not enough to address the nation's economic problems.
Legal hassles blamed by Klan for leading to sect's bankruptcy

DENNIS EPSTEIN, La. (AP) - One of the largest and most violent branch of the Ku Klux Klan has been forced to pack up and move from its Iowa headquarters to a new site in West Virginia.

Klan spokesmen said Thursday, January 27, 1983, that the move was forced upon them by an Iowa judge as part of a court-ordered settlement of a lawsuit brought by Iowa Attorney General Hoyt H. Purinton.

The settlement, reached between the Klan and the state of Iowa, requires the Klan to cease operations in Iowa and to vacate its headquarters in the town of Dyersville.

The Klan's headquarters in Dyersville was the site of a violent confrontation in 1981, when authorities ordered the Klan to evacuate its property after a series of dirty deeds.

The Klan's leader, Eugene "Joe" McDade, was arrested and charged with conspiracy to commit a series of crimes, including arson, theft and vandalism.

In the settlement reached Thursday, the Klan agreed to pay $500,000 to settle the lawsuit and to vacate its headquarters in Dyersville.

The Klan's leader, Eugene "Joe" McDade, was arrested and charged with conspiracy to commit a series of crimes, including arson, theft and vandalism. The Klan also agreed to pay $500,000 to settle the lawsuit.

The settlement was reached after weeks of negotiations between the Klan and the state of Iowa. The Klan had been headquartered in Dyersville since 1980.

The move of the Klan to West Virginia is expected to be complete by the end of the month. The Klan's new headquarters will be located in a rural area about 50 miles west of Charleston.

The Klan's new headquarters will be much smaller and less visible than its previous headquarters in Dyersville.

The move of the Klan to West Virginia is expected to be complete by the end of the month. The Klan's new headquarters will be located in a rural area about 50 miles west of Charleston.

The Klan's new headquarters will be much smaller and less visible than its previous headquarters in Dyersville.

In other news, the Chicago Tribune reported Thursday that the Klan has been ordered to vacate its headquarters in Chicago by the end of the month.

The move is part of a settlement reached between the Klan and the city of Chicago, which had been seeking to force the Klan to vacate its properties in the city.

The settlement was reached after weeks of negotiations between the Klan and the city of Chicago. The Klan had been headquartered in Chicago since 1980.

The move of the Klan to West Virginia is expected to be complete by the end of the month. The Klan's new headquarters will be located in a rural area about 50 miles west of Charleston.

The Klan's new headquarters will be much smaller and less visible than its previous headquarters in Dyersville.

In other news, the Chicago Tribune reported Thursday that the Klan has been ordered to vacate its headquarters in Chicago by the end of the month.

The move is part of a settlement reached between the Klan and the city of Chicago, which had been seeking to force the Klan to vacate its properties in the city.

The settlement was reached after weeks of negotiations between the Klan and the city of Chicago. The Klan had been headquartered in Chicago since 1980.

The move of the Klan to West Virginia is expected to be complete by the end of the month. The Klan's new headquarters will be located in a rural area about 50 miles west of Charleston.

The Klan's new headquarters will be much smaller and less visible than its previous headquarters in Dyersville.
Armstrong's record

Armstrong's of Cedar Rapids was expected to construct a department store in Iowa City. More than two years ago the Iowa City Council gave the company a preferred developer status, designating it as the first choice to build on the urban renewal land, but just short of the new public library. The government considered no other offers during this period.

But Armstrong's had trouble with financing. A large part of this was caused by the company's purchasing of an old hotel's department store building in Iowa City, for which they had to borrow heavily.

Armstrong's officials made no mention of their desires on the December 24th when they asked Iowa City for permitted status. "They gave an indication that they were actively seeking to locate somewhere," said councilman John Buhl, who was mayor during the original proceedings. "We were told to believe they were pursuing Iowa City as the number one priority," he said. Armstrong's has frequently denied that the company would not be able to hold department stores, for which they had to borrow heavily.

As it appears that for more than two years Armstrong's officials made city the city to city's intentions. Local officials apparently felt the company was acting in good faith when making their proposals, but this sooner not true to according, to the press face evidence.

While the land will now remain vacant while the city again has to make a decision on what to do with it.

Council members have said that Armstrong's will be considered for a similar site in downtown Iowa City, in the city's downtown area.

It was the first time, one wonders if they can return to the Dubuque store when they asked Iowa City for preferred status, located just south of the new public library, that the city would keep its options open, the councilors should be declared to keep the company make. After the company's of Iowa City for the first time, one wonders if they can return to the Dubuque store when they asked Iowa City for preferred status.

Steve Horowitz

U.S. News

Gas-guzzlers return

In 1973 and again in 1979 America invaded oil shocks that reduced supplies and sent prices soaring. During this term, America turned its back on oil and diversified its use of energy by producing and consuming a complex system of domestic and international energy sources. The resulting oil shortage, however, led to the expansion of the automobile industry, which provided millions of new jobs at a time when unemployment was high.

The expansion of the automobile industry was due in large part to the fact that oil was relatively cheap. But as oil prices continued to rise, the cost of producing gasoline increased, leading to higher prices for consumers. This led to a decrease in the demand for gasoline, which in turn caused oil companies to reduce production.

In order to meet this demand, oil companies began to explore for new sources of oil, such as offshore drilling and oil shale. These efforts were not successful, however, and oil prices remained high. As a result, the government enacted policies to reduce the demand for gasoline, such as fuel economy standards for new cars.

Today, gasoline prices are lower than they were in the 1970s, but the demand for gasoline remains high. The government has continued to enact policies to reduce the demand for gasoline, but these policies have not been successful. As a result, oil prices remain high, and the demand for gasoline continues to grow.

S. Mark Leavitt

The need for educational excellence

In this issue of "The News," we highlight the importance of educational excellence and what needs to be done to ensure that all students have access to quality education. We discuss the challenges that educators face in providing quality education, and the role that policymakers and society as a whole play in ensuring that all students have access to quality education.

We also discuss the need for educational excellence in the context of economic development. We argue that educational excellence is essential for economic development, as it is necessary for businesses to attract and retain skilled workers.

Finally, we discuss the role of technology in education. We argue that technology can play a critical role in improving educational outcomes, but that it must be used effectively to ensure that all students have access to quality education.

Stephen J. Smith

The need for education reform

In this issue of "The News," we highlight the importance of education reform and what needs to be done to ensure that all students have access to quality education. We discuss the challenges that educators face in providing quality education, and the role that policymakers and society as a whole play in ensuring that all students have access to quality education.

We also discuss the need for educational excellence in the context of economic development. We argue that educational excellence is essential for economic development, as it is necessary for businesses to attract and retain skilled workers.

Finally, we discuss the role of technology in education. We argue that technology can play a critical role in improving educational outcomes, but that it must be used effectively to ensure that all students have access to quality education.

Stephen J. Smith

Did TV distort truth in oil crises?

In 1973 and again in 1979 America invaded oil shocks that reduced supplies and sent prices soaring. During this term, America turned its back on oil and diversified its use of energy by producing and consuming a complex system of domestic and international energy sources. The resulting oil shortage, however, led to the expansion of the automobile industry, which provided millions of new jobs at a time when unemployment was high.

The expansion of the automobile industry was due in large part to the fact that oil was relatively cheap. But as oil prices continued to rise, the cost of producing gasoline increased, leading to higher prices for consumers. This led to a decrease in the demand for gasoline, which in turn caused oil companies to reduce production.

In order to meet this demand, oil companies began to explore for new sources of oil, such as offshore drilling and oil shale. These efforts were not successful, however, and oil prices remained high. As a result, the government enacted policies to reduce the demand for gasoline, such as fuel economy standards for new cars.

Today, gasoline prices are lower than they were in the 1970s, but the demand for gasoline remains high. The government has continued to enact policies to reduce the demand for gasoline, but these policies have not been successful. As a result, oil prices remain high, and the demand for gasoline continues to grow.

S. Mark Leavitt

The need for educational excellence

In this issue of "The News," we highlight the importance of educational excellence and what needs to be done to ensure that all students have access to quality education. We discuss the challenges that educators face in providing quality education, and the role that policymakers and society as a whole play in ensuring that all students have access to quality education.

We also discuss the need for educational excellence in the context of economic development. We argue that educational excellence is essential for economic development, as it is necessary for businesses to attract and retain skilled workers.

Finally, we discuss the role of technology in education. We argue that technology can play a critical role in improving educational outcomes, but that it must be used effectively to ensure that all students have access to quality education.

Stephen J. Smith

The need for education reform

In this issue of "The News," we highlight the importance of education reform and what needs to be done to ensure that all students have access to quality education. We discuss the challenges that educators face in providing quality education, and the role that policymakers and society as a whole play in ensuring that all students have access to quality education.

We also discuss the need for educational excellence in the context of economic development. We argue that educational excellence is essential for economic development, as it is necessary for businesses to attract and retain skilled workers.

Finally, we discuss the role of technology in education. We argue that technology can play a critical role in improving educational outcomes, but that it must be used effectively to ensure that all students have access to quality education.

Stephen J. Smith
Reagan's talk draws world reaction

Germany salutes its moderate tone

Walesa is paid: hopes to resume dock job soon

OPEC members hint at reduction in prices for oil

Man on grass diet

Paul "Bear" Bryant was the college football legend whose death stunned and saddened the nation. His death, which came on January 26, 1983, marked the end of an era in American sports.

Germany: Current Chancellor Helmut Kohl, who is on a state visit to the United States, has said that Germany will continue to pursue a policy of détente.

Reagan, currently visiting Washington, has also been working to avoid a potential crisis in the Middle East. He has been trying to negotiate a settlement to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

Soviets criticize economic policies

Walesa, the Polish trade union leader, has been given a new role as an overseas ambassador for his country. The move is seen as a recognition of his international standing.

OPEC members hint at reduction in prices for oil

Man on grass diet
Hawkeyes look to rebound against Ohio State

By Steve Reicher

The Iowa basketball team is about to chance upon its third important home weekend in the season. The Hawkeyes are 1-1 in Big Ten play and need to win both home games this weekend to remain in contention for a conference tournament berth.

The two-time defending Big Ten champions return home this weekend to take on the Buckeyes and the Hoosiers. Iowa State and Indiana both have 1-1 records in the conference, so the Hawkeyes must win both home games to remain in contention for a conference tournament berth.

Pizza Hut deal

Pizza Hut, the official sponsor of the Hawkeyes, is offering a special deal this weekend for fans attending the games. The deal includes a large pizza and two drinks for $12.99. Fans can order online or in person at the game.

Former Iowa guard Steve Alford is the head coach of the New Mexico State Aggies. He played for the Hawkeyes from 1984-1988 and was an All-American.

Friends, foes at a loss for words

Paul "Bear" Bryant was known for his fiery personality and his love for football. Fans and players alike will remember him for his fiery personality and his love for football. Fans and players alike will remember him for his tenacity and determination.

Bryant's death

Paul "Bear" Bryant, the legendary Alabama football coach, passed away on January 25, 2008. He was 85 years old. Bryant was a beloved figure in the world of college football and his legacy will live on for years to come.

 головного тренера национальной сборной. Он играл за команду в течение 15 лет и стал одним из самых успешных игроков в истории. Битва за место в титуле была борьбой за лучшую защиту, и она закончилась победой для команды. Битва за место национальной сборной была очень жесткой и требовала высокого уровня владения мячом.

Nikolaev's competitive drive tied to Motor City background

By Steve Reicher

Nikolaev's competitive drive is tied to his background in the Detroit area. He grew up playing hockey and ice skating in the Motor City, which instilled a drive for excellence in him.

McKenzie's competitive drive tied to Motor City background

By Steve Reicher

McKenzie's competitive drive is tied to his background in the Motor City. He grew up playing hockey and ice skating in the Motor City, which instilled a drive for excellence in him.

Arts/Entertainment

The Daily Iowan Thursday, January 27, 1983

Classifieds

Page 5B

McKenzie's competitive drive tied to Motor City background

By Steve Reicher

McKenzie's competitive drive is tied to his background in the Motor City. He grew up playing hockey and ice skating in the Motor City, which instilled a drive for excellence in him.

Bear's death is shock to sports world

By Steve Reicher

Bear Bryant, the legendary Alabama football coach, passed away on January 25, 2008. He was 85 years old. Bryant was a beloved figure in the world of college football and his legacy will live on for years to come.

Friends, foes at a loss for words

Paul "Bear" Bryant was known for his fiery personality and his love for football. Fans and players alike will remember him for his tenacity and determination.

Bryant's death

Paul "Bear" Bryant, the legendary Alabama football coach, passed away on January 25, 2008. He was 85 years old. Bryant was a beloved figure in the world of college football and his legacy will live on for years to come.
Sports

Patton calls meet with Nebraska 'critical' to Hawkeyes' swim season

By Mike Condon

Iowa Press Box Friday's swim meet against Nebraska, which starts at 2 p.m., is an important one for the Hawkeyes.

The Iowa men's team, in particular, has a lot to prove against Nebraska, because they are hoping to qualify for the NCAA championships next month.

"This meet is very important," said senior swimmer Matt Gilmore. "If we win, our team is well on its way to a strong start. If we lose, we have to work harder to get to the NCAA championships.""The Hawkeyes have to prove that they can compete with the Big Ten teams. It's going to be a tough meet, but we're up for it.""

Hawkeyes are well-prepared for meet

The Hawkeyes are well-prepared for the meet, according to head coach Glenn Patton.

"We've had a good season so far," he said. "The team has been working hard in the pool and in the gym. We're confident that we can compete with Nebraska.""We have a strong team this year, and I believe we can win against Nebraska.""

Sox 'expect' Saturday's dual meet to be very close

The Sox 'expect' Saturday's dual meet to be very close, according to team captain Albert Stewart.

"We're not sure who will win," he said. "But we're going to give it our best effort. We have to be prepared for anything.""We're excited to see how we do against Nebraska.""

Hawkeyes are well-prepared for meet

The Hawkeyes are well-prepared for the meet, according to head coach Glenn Patton.

"We've had a good season so far," he said. "The team has been working hard in the pool and in the gym. We're confident that we can compete with Nebraska.""We have a strong team this year, and I believe we can win against Nebraska.""We have a strong team this year, and I believe we can win against Nebraska.""We have a strong team this year, and I believe we can win against Nebraska."
Seahawks pick Knox to lead flock

By Steve Riley

Iowa State Track Coach Bill Bergan can pick who he wants this week in the NCAA meet and Knox County's Tony Knox is one of the players on his radar screen. Bergan himself has been nominated for Coach of the Year and has people around the state thinking that Knox is his best hope to fill the shoes of Jack Lichtenberg, who recently accepted a coach at the University of Oklahoma.

Knox, a junior sprinter and jumper, has qualified for the NCAA meet in both events this season and has already become one of the program's premier athletes.

The move to the NCAA meet this year has been nothing short of a Cinderella story for Knox, who has been a key player for the Cyclones throughout the season.

"He's been a tremendous asset to our team," Bergan said. "We've had a lot of strong runners this season, but Knox has really stepped up and taken a leadership role."
Givner's portrait true to Porter

By Alan Widing-Walser
Special to The Daily Iowan

Katherine Anne Porter: A Life by John Givner, Doubleday & Company

While critical opinions of Katherine Anne Porter's works have varied, many would agree that she was one of a handful of creative American writers whose work was classic in the interpretation of their subject.

From her first published story appeared in 1914, Porter remained dedicated to the art of creative writing as a means to explore the physical and psychological entanglements of the Great American Author.

By the mid-1920s, Porter was best known for her short stories, which appeared in various publications throughout the years. Her first collection, "Flowering Judas" (1926), became a landmark work in the genre of American literature.

In 1929, Porter moved to Europe where she continued her work, and her reputation as a writer grew. By the early 1930s, her stories were being published in the United States, and her influence as a writer was beginning to be felt.

Throughout her life, Porter remained dedicated to her craft, and her works have been celebrated for their insight into the human condition. "List of Fools," her final novel, was published in 1962, and she died in 1965 of a heart attack in German, a country undergoing drastic change.

Givner, in his book "Katherine Anne Porter: A Life," attempts to capture the essence of Porter's life and work, and the result is a powerful portrait of one of America's greatest contemporary writers.

He describes her life and work in detail, covering her early years in Texas, her years in Europe, and her later life back in the United States. Givner's book is a fascinating look at the life of a writer whose work continues to inspire readers today.

In addition to Porter's life story, Givner also includes a discussion of Porter's writing style, her use of language, and her approach to her craft. He discusses her work in detail, and his analysis is a valuable contribution to the study of American literature.

Givner's book is a must-read for anyone interested in the life and work of Katherine Anne Porter. It is a powerful portrait of one of America's greatest contemporary writers, and it is a testament to the enduring power of her work.
In Young's hands, high technology produces warm, humane sounds.

By Tom Dobek
Staff Writer

Neil Young's Tray cable displays one of the earliest computer game graphics in the history of video game development. In fact, it was developed in 1972 for the TRS-80. Young's video game horizon seems to have grown from a long, prolific career spanning back and forth over the decades. In addition to his work as a singer and high-energy guitarist, Young has also been involved in the video game industry, as well as many other hobbies and interests.

The game features a simple, yet effective design with a variety of different levels and challenges. Young's character must navigate through a maze-like environment, avoiding obstacles and collecting power-ups to advance to the next level. The graphics are minimalistic but effective, with vibrant colors and clear action. The game also includes a variety of different enemies and obstacles, making it more challenging and engaging.

In addition to his work in the video game industry, Young has also been involved in many other creative endeavors. He has written and performed hundreds of songs over the years, and his work has been featured in numerous films and TV shows. He has also been involved in various social and political causes, using his platform to speak out on important issues.

Young is known for his unique and eclectic style, blending elements of rock, folk, and other genres. His music has been praised for its raw emotion and depth, and he has been a vocal advocate for environmental causes throughout his career.

Despite his many talents and accomplishments, Young remains humble and grounded, always focusing on the creative process and the joy of making music. He continues to draw inspiration from a wide range of sources, and his work consistently pushes the boundaries of what is possible in music and other creative pursuits.

Young's Tray cable game is just one example of his many creative endeavors. He has demonstrated a willingness to experiment and take risks, and his work has consistently inspired and influenced others. His legacy is sure to continue to inspire for generations to come.

---

To contact the author or for more information, please visit his website at www.neilyoung.com.