Reagan's budget is 'strong medicine'

Critics say he 'stays the course'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan Monday sent Congress an $88.3 billion budget for fiscal year 1984, a $10 billion increase over the fiscal '83 budget, but it was met with a cool response.

Reagan's overall budget proposal marks the first time in more than a decade that the federal government has proposed a budget increase of less than 5 percent. However, the budget's $10 billion increase over the $78.3 billion 1983 budget does not include money for a new defense program, the Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI).

The budget, which was sent to Congress via telefax, includes $50.7 billion for defense, $18.5 billion for the Department of Education, $10 billion for the Department of Housing and Urban Development and $10.7 billion for the Department of Health and Human Services.

Reagan's budget budget includes $10 billion for education, $10 billion for health and human services, $10 billion for housing, and $10 billion for defense.

The budget also includes $10 billion for the Department of Agriculture, $10 billion for the Department of Transportation, $10 billion for the Department of Commerce, and $10 billion for the Department of Justice.

Some analysts have criticized the budget for its emphasis on defense and its lack of funding for education and health care. However, others have praised the budget for its overall stability and its focus on reducing the federal deficit.

The budget is scheduled to be debated by Congress, and it is expected to be passed into law later this year.

Hospital bonding is sidetracked

By Jane Brown

The bonding approval bill necessary to keep construction of the UI Student Union funded by state General Revenue funds is in jeopardy. The bill, which was expected to be approved by the House on Friday, was delayed until next week due to a lack of quorum.

The bill is necessary to keep the construction project moving forward. If the bill is not approved, the project could be delayed for several months.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Edmonds, R-Moline, and was supported by the General Revenue committee.

The bill would allow the university to issue bonds to finance the construction of the Student Union.

The project is estimated to cost $150 million, and the bonds would be used to finance the construction of the 150,000-square-foot facility.

CVC votes against NCAA rule

By Kristin Younger

A second resolution looking to change the recent National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) requirement for math and science tests on a uniform test for student athletes not substantially affects the quality of an athlete’s education was defeated Monday.

A similar resolution was passed during the 1989 Senate, where the proposal was defeated due to a lack of support from math and science teachers.

Directors of the University of Iowa Foundation, who said math and science teachers would not benefit from this change, were in favor of the resolution.

What the resolution said: The resolution states that the CAT must pass a "marketing and public relations" test. This test means that each CAT must have a "marketing and public relations" program that promotes the CAT to the public.

Trucks on strike protest road taxes

The TEAMSTERS are going on strike Thursday against the federal government to protest road taxes, the union said Tuesday.

"There is no way we will reduce it," he said, adding that the strike "will be long-term" and that the Teamsters would not return to work before Congress passes a highway bill that provides for a federal highway tax.

"We are trying to get back the tax hikes," said a Teamster official. "We are trying to get back the highway taxes."

You are 24 years old and have spent the last 10 years of your life in school. Finally you are finished taking classes. Your master's degree is in education. There is just one problem. The thesis office has just moved to a different building. You are now required to take a Graduat e Writing Proficiency Examination in order to graduate.

The exam is fairly simple. It consists of a 250-word essay on a topic provided by the test writer. The topic is usually centered around a current event or an issue of national importance. The essay must be written in standard English, and it must also demonstrate your ability to think critically and analyze information.

Television haunting college basketball

(IOWA CITY—Perilously snared in the buzz-saw of college basketball coverage, public relations people of major universities and even Big Ten officials have started griping about the amount of time they                        spend on television.

Before a university, a coach can choose whether to allow his name to be shown on television, and once a coach chooses, it is a one-year decision. Some want it more because the money is there. Some believe the opposite is true, that television access should be kept to a minimum.

But some Big Ten coaches aren't too happy about the way television is being used and feel their programs are being hurt directly.

"I could be making a big mistake here, but I don't think this stuff is worth it," Wisconsin head coach Fred Foster said this past week. "This is too much television, and I don't like it."

Bo Ryan's Wisconsin team, which lost to Indiana last week, was scheduled to face Iowa in a contest held in Iowa City this past week. "It's all right, but I don't really have a problem with it," Ryan said. "If we lose, that's it."

Despite his comments, Ryan did not allow his team to appear on television last week.

"I don't know anything about the new rules," Ryan said. "I just know that TV is not on your side."

Iowa head coach Herky Hart said his team lost to Wisconsin because "it's not fair to play against a team that has a TV contract."

"It's too bad," Hart said. "We played well and lost because of TV."
Demonstration's purpose is to distinguish art of judo

By Jill Rosenbaum

T he U. I. Judo Club held Tuesday evening a demonstration of the art of judo and defense in the Varsity Gym.

Judo, a non-contact sport, is an excellent way of combining exercise with self-defense. It is a popular sport among both men and women.

Pirimemon, precise importance in the art of judo is not a mandatory rule. However, judo fighters can receive instruction in different jujutsu styles and techniques based on the club's training practices. Tuesday and Thursday evenings are scheduled for practice. If you're interested, contact Mike Moeller at 534-0771 or Bob Lohaus at 534-0210.

AN ANNUAL ALL-SHODOKAN demontration was held at the University of Iowa on the first day of the school year. The demonstration was designed to introduce students to the various techniques of judo, including demonstrations by black belt, world champion, and national champion.

Hiring college grads is something the Army has always done. And lately, we've been doing a lot more of it.

In fact, last year alone nearly 7,000 college grads chose to begin their future as Army officers. Why? Some wanted the opportunity to develop valuable leadership and management skills early in their career. Others were impressed with the amount of responsibility we give our officers starting out. And still more liked the idea of serving their country around the world.

Interested? Then you can start preparing for the job right now, with Army ROTC. ROTC is a college program that trains you to become an Army officer. By helping you develop your leadership and management ability.

Enrolling can benefit your immediate future, too. Through scholarships and other financial aid. So the next time you're thinking about job possibilities, think about the one more recent college grads chose last year than any other.

For more information, contact the Army ROTC Professor of Military Science on your campus. Or write: Army ROTC, Dept. GH, P.O. Box 9000, Clifton, N.J. 07015.

In the 6rst installment, we all expected a good story, and that's what we got. After watching the first movie, I thought the sequel would be just as good. But it exceeded my expectations. The action was intense, the characters were well-developed, and the plot was gripping. I highly recommend this movie to anyone who loves action and adventure.
