CHICAGO (AP) — Richard M. Daley, son of the late Mayor Richard J. Daley, noted for his energetic style in politics, has been elected as the fourth black Chicago mayor by a margin of 137,000 votes over challenger Eugene Sawyer.

Daley, 44, is a former police officer, lawyer and guidance counselor. He has served as an alderman since 1985.

The election was held to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of Mayor Harold Washington, who had been elected in 1983.

The results were announced by the Chicago Board of Elections in the early morning hours.

With 95% of the precincts reporting, Daley led with 54% of the vote, compared to Sawyer's 46%.

Daley's victory was seen as a rebuff to the political machine that dominated Chicago politics under his father, who served as mayor for 22 years.

Daley's campaign focused on issues such as crime, education and immigration, while Sawyer's campaign centered on economic development and job creation.

Daley's victory is expected to bring about changes in the city's political landscape, with a new mayor expected to have more influence over city policies.

Daley will be the first black mayor to serve the city since Washington, who served from 1983 to 1995.

The election results come amid a national debate over race and politics, with many observers noting the importance of Daley's victory in the context of the ongoing debate over the role of black politicians in American politics.

Daley's victory is also expected to have implications for the upcoming presidential election, with many speculating that Daley could be a candidate for the Democratic nomination in 2024.

Judge to decide professor's suit

By Susan Johnson

Final argument in the contempt trial of UI professor against the former dean of the UI College of Nursing was heard Friday in Iowa City District Court.

The trial, which has focused on whether the professor could be held in contempt for his comments to the press critical of the dean's handling of the case, is expected to last 10 days.

GUATEMALA CITY: About 30 people billed as United States citizens were expelled from Guatemala on Saturday after a 48-hour detention in the nation's capital.

The deportees were among the 1,200 people who have fled the country since November 1981.

Marines and blizzard rescue

WASHINGTON, D.C.: More than 100 Marines cleared up blizzard-buried roads yesterday before leaving for the Mississippi River Valley.

The Marines, who rescued more than 200 people stranded in blizzard-locked areas in the Midwest, were among the first groups to arrive in the region after the storm.

Stress — part of alcoholism's volatile mix

By Todd Buckingham

Despite efforts by researchers to clarify its causes, alcoholism remains a highly enigmatic disease that is thought to be primarily familial, conditioned, and stress-related.

"Almost everyone knows someone who has struggled with alcoholism, and almost everyone knows how difficult it is to quit," said Dr. John McDonald, professor of psychology at the University of Iowa.

Dr. McDonald, who has conducted extensive research on alcoholism, said the disease is characterized by a pattern of relapses and remissions.

"People may try to quit for a variety of reasons, including health concerns, legal problems, or simply a desire to have more control over their lives," he said. "However, it's important to understand that alcoholism is a chronic disease that requires ongoing treatment and support."
Reagan: Radio Marti won't air

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has told station managers of the Spanish-language network Radio Marti that the network will not be used to broadcast in Cuba.

Reagan sent legislation to Capitol Hill last year to create Radio Marti, a Spanish-language station that would broadcast critically censored news to Cuba on the 48-meter frequency.

Reagan has said his administration will keep Radio Marti on the air and that it will continue to broadcast to Cuba.

The Associated Press was able to reach the station manager of Radio Marti, but he would not comment on the issue.

Shultz: Falling oil prices help U.S., but could harm developing nations

WASHINGTON - Secretary of State George Shultz said Tuesday that the decline in oil prices was a plus for the U.S., but could harm developing nations. Although the drop was not a surprise, it will force the U.S. to adjust its petrochemical and military strategies.

"This is a negative for developing nations," Shultz said. "However, it's a positive for the U.S., because we have less dependence on the oil market and our economy is more diversified.

Shultz said that the U.S. would be able to buy oil at lower prices, which would help the economy. However, he acknowledged that the oil market was volatile and could change at any time.

"We are not immune to the oil market," Shultz said. "But we are less dependent on it than other countries."

Knight issued warning by Duke

CHICAGO (UPI) — Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, who has questioned officiating at an Iowa-Purdue game, was given a public reprimand by Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke Tuesday.

Duke, in a statement released in the conference office, said Knight's comments were "tarnishing the image of college basketball." He added that Knight's public criticism could result in suspension and that he was asked to stop making public comments about games.

Knight has faced criticism for giving a public reprimand to an official in a recent game, saying that he was "tarnishing the image of college basketball." He was also asked to stop making public comments about games.

Iowa hurting, Olson looks for potential

By Halilin Hanson

The Iowa basketball team has the makings of a new spark — a college basketball star. In the past several years, the Hawkeyes have had five players chosen in the NBA draft, including two in the last two years.

Coach Lou Henson - "The loss to Ohio State was a tough one to take. But we are looking forward to the upcoming game against Michigan."
Champaign, Ill. - Purdue Coach Terri้อย Donnelly hopes her team can make it two straight Big Ten basketball games.

"It's the best team we've played in years," Donnelly said. "They have size and quality, but they also have quickness to go with it."

The Boilermakers' only loss of the season came against Iowa last season, but Donnelly is confident her team can avenge the loss.

"We know they can play, and we know they can shoot," she said. "They have a lot of experience and depth, and they're a very good team."
KCRG's Denny Frary:
'always look outside before I go on the air'

By Jim Johnson

DENNY FRARY, newscaster of KCRG-TV, the Iowa City television station, says he always looks outside first before going on the air. It is a practice he has adopted from his friend, Tom Cross, who was the first newsman at WOC-TV, in Cedar Rapids. Frary has inherited the practice from Cross, who also worked at WOC four years ago when Frary was a student at the University of Iowa.

Profile
Live each weekday at 9 a.m., the Iowa City-based KCRG-TV News "breaks" 10 minutes before the television curtain rises.

The newsman takes an opportunity to "talk to the people," he explains, sitting on the set of the show, making impressions where his neck/work into his shirt collar. "If I appear to be bored, then I probably am,"
he said.

Frary has been a newscaster since his first year at the University of Iowa. His first year was spent as a student announcer, weatherman, quiz-show machine and disc jockey for WOC-10, the station's local radio affiliate.

Frary feels that his experiences at WOC have made him a more effective newscaster. "I have learned to be consistent, to be more reliable. I have also learned to be more patient. I have learned to take more time to prepare,
"Frary said.

Frary's father, an insurance manager for the Iowa City Mutual Insurance Company, was once a newscaster himself.

"I used to watch my father's newscasts and learn the craft," Frary said. "I am lucky to have his support."

Frary's mother, who was also a newscaster, died in 1974. Since then, Frary has been trying to keep the family tradition alive.

Frary is the son of Jack and Mary Frary. He has two younger brothers,
Mike and John.

Frary was born in Cedar Rapids, in 1950, and attended the University of Iowa from 1968 to 1972.

Frary's interests include reading, writing, and traveling. He plans to complete his doctorate degree in communications at the University of Iowa next year.

Frary says he enjoys his job because he has the opportunity to meet people from all walks of life.

Frary is married to Barbara Heim Frary, and they have two children, heiro and John.

Frary's hobbies include playing basketball and tennis. He also enjoys traveling and spending time with his family.

Frary has received several awards for his work as a newscaster, including the 1972 Associated Press award for best newscaster in the Midwest.

Frary says he is proud of his work at KCRG-TV, and he plans to continue his efforts to bring the community news that is both informative and entertaining.

Frary says he is grateful to his father and mother for their support, and he hopes to continue their tradition of excellence in news broadcasting.

Frary's story is one of determination and hard work. He is a shining example of the talent and potential that can be found among young people. Frary's future looks bright, and he is sure to continue his success in the field of broadcasting.

Frary is a true professional who never forgets his roots. He is a model for all newscasters to follow.

Frary's story is an inspiration to everyone who has ever dreamed of becoming a newscaster. He is a testament to the fact that anything is possible with hard work and dedication.

History of labor uniondepicted

By John Marcus

Vesting, London doesn't have the spirit of Paris or Rome. His wife, Frances, wants to take a trip to France or Italy. He has no interest. He just wants to watch football. He's not about to change his mind just because she wants to go somewhere fun and different. But if you ask him about the history of labor unions, he'll be happy to talk about it. He's an expert.

I SUPPOSE IT was merely a case of superfluous glass over graphics subordinated to the music and visuals, the tactics and visualizations (Marxian montage, for the rap fans) that Barbara's piano conjured. She's got the theory. In his Beatles Notebook: "...the best way to present a theme is with visual images, with the right music to go with it..."

But what made it even worse was that all this went on while I was enjoying the work of a brilliant political and economic analyst. I'm talking about John Bowl, a leading expert on American unions. He's a man who knows his stuff. I can see John Bowl in my mind's eye. In the midst of a labor dispute, he's at his desk, writing away, his pen flying over the paper. He's a man who knows his craft, and he's not afraid to use it.

And what's more, he's not afraid to use it for good. He's a man who believes in the power of the strike, the power of the union. He's a man who knows that the strike is the last resort, but it's the only way to force change.

For those of you who are interested in the history of labor unions, I recommend you check out John Bowl's work. He's a man who knows his stuff, and he's not afraid to use it for good.
