Police: Build water plant in stages

By Mark Leonard

The city's Wastewater Facility Committee recommended Wednesday that the City Council proceed building a new wastewater treatment plant in Ogden and provide funds to 3114 Professor Richard D flavor in pursuit of a project that will be one of the city's most important. The committee discussed a study done by engineers of a 3.5-mile-long pipeline that would connect the city's wastewater treatment plant with a new, allegedly more efficient plant in the city. The city is one of the largest in the world to have such a pipeline, and the committee said that the city's wastewater treatment plant is not efficient enough to handle the city's growing population. The committee recommended that the city proceed with the project and that the city provide funds to 3114 Professor Richard D flavor in pursuit of a project that will be one of the city's most important.

CHILEAN POLICE SEIZE REBEL UNION LEADER

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Police Wednesday seized the union leader of a left-wing rebel group in Chile, the first woman on the high court, Ward said. The Dally Iowan/Me l Page 3

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Wednesday struck down volunteer abortion clinics as a violation of the First Amendment, saying that they are not essential to the practice of abortion. The court ruled 7-2 in favor of women's rights advocates, who argued that the clinics are necessary to the practice of abortion. The court said that the clinics are not essential to the practice of abortion and that they are not essential to the practice of abortion. The court ruled 7-2 in favor of women's rights advocates, who argued that the clinics are necessary to the practice of abortion.

House defeats effort to resume production of chemical weapons

By Mike Deffers

WEDNESDAY'S U.S. Supreme Court decision to strike down Tennessee's proposed constitutional amendment that would have allowed the state's legislature to decide whether or not to expand the state's program to provide abortions for the poor was hailed by abortion rights advocates. But it was criticized by anti-abortion groups. The court ruled 8-0 that the proposed constitutional amendment was unconstitutional.

Panel: Build water plant in stages

By Mark Leonard

The city's Wastewater Facility Committee recommended Wednesday that the City Council proceed building a new wastewater treatment plant in Ogden and provide funds to 3114 Professor Richard D flavor in pursuit of a project that will be one of the city's most important. The committee discussed a study done by engineers of a 3.5-mile-long pipeline that would connect the city's wastewater treatment plant with a new, allegedly more efficient plant in the city. The city is one of the largest in the world to have such a pipeline, and the committee said that the city's wastewater treatment plant is not efficient enough to handle the city's growing population. The committee recommended that the city proceed with the project and that the city provide funds to 3114 Professor Richard D flavor in pursuit of a project that will be one of the city's most important.

CHILEAN POLICE SEIZE REBEL UNION LEADER

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Police Wednesday seized the union leader of a left-wing rebel group in Chile, the first woman on the high court, Ward said. The Dally Iowan/Me l Page 3

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Wednesday struck down volunteer abortion clinics as a violation of the First Amendment, saying that they are not essential to the practice of abortion. The court ruled 7-2 in favor of women's rights advocates, who argued that the clinics are necessary to the practice of abortion. The court said that the clinics are not essential to the practice of abortion and that they are not essential to the practice of abortion. The court ruled 7-2 in favor of women's rights advocates, who argued that the clinics are necessary to the practice of abortion.

House defeats effort to resume production of chemical weapons

By Mike Deffers

WEDNESDAY'S U.S. Supreme Court decision to strike down Tennessee's proposed constitutional amendment that would have allowed the state's legislature to decide whether or not to expand the state's program to provide abortions for the poor was hailed by abortion rights advocates. But it was criticized by anti-abortion groups. The court ruled 8-0 that the proposed constitutional amendment was unconstitutional.

Panel: Build water plant in stages

By Mark Leonard

The city's Wastewater Facility Committee recommended Wednesday that the City Council proceed building a new wastewater treatment plant in Ogden and provide funds to 3114 Professor Richard D flavor in pursuit of a project that will be one of the city's most important. The committee discussed a study done by engineers of a 3.5-mile-long pipeline that would connect the city's wastewater treatment plant with a new, allegedly more efficient plant in the city. The city is one of the largest in the world to have such a pipeline, and the committee said that the city's wastewater treatment plant is not efficient enough to handle the city's growing population. The committee recommended that the city proceed with the project and that the city provide funds to 3114 Professor Richard D flavor in pursuit of a project that will be one of the city's most important.

CHILEAN POLICE SEIZE REBEL UNION LEADER

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Police Wednesday seized the union leader of a left-wing rebel group in Chile, the first woman on the high court, Ward said. The Dally Iowan/Me l Page 3

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Wednesday struck down volunteer abortion clinics as a violation of the First Amendment, saying that they are not essential to the practice of abortion. The court ruled 7-2 in favor of women's rights advocates, who argued that the clinics are necessary to the practice of abortion. The court said that the clinics are not essential to the practice of abortion and that they are not essential to the practice of abortion. The court ruled 7-2 in favor of women's rights advocates, who argued that the clinics are necessary to the practice of abortion.

House defeats effort to resume production of chemical weapons

By Mike Deffers

WEDNESDAY'S U.S. Supreme Court decision to strike down Tennessee's proposed constitutional amendment that would have allowed the state's legislature to decide whether or not to expand the state's program to provide abortions for the poor was hailed by abortion rights advocates. But it was criticized by anti-abortion groups. The court ruled 8-0 that the proposed constitutional amendment was unconstitutional.

Panel: Build water plant in stages

By Mark Leonard

The city's Wastewater Facility Committee recommended Wednesday that the City Council proceed building a new wastewater treatment plant in Ogden and provide funds to 3114 Professor Richard D flavor in pursuit of a project that will be one of the city's most important. The committee discussed a study done by engineers of a 3.5-mile-long pipeline that would connect the city's wastewater treatment plant with a new, allegedly more efficient plant in the city. The city is one of the largest in the world to have such a pipeline, and the committee said that the city's wastewater treatment plant is not efficient enough to handle the city's growing population. The committee recommended that the city proceed with the project and that the city provide funds to 3114 Professor Richard D flavor in pursuit of a project that will be one of the city's most important.
Man sentenced for assault after choking cop

By Carla Travis

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY IOWAN

Metro

The Manoj Stepan, who choked a police officer, was sentenced to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

Johnson County Court records show that Robert Jones, 27, of Elkton, was convicted of second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference following an incident on Thursday, May 27.

The version of events described by the victim, an Iowa City police officer, was not corroborated by witnesses, police said.

Jones, who was an Iowa City police officer, said that during the incident, Jones refused to answer questions about the assault.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.

The incident occurred on June 1 when a man was stopped by a police officer.

The officer was trying to serve a warrant for the arrest of Robert Jones, 30, of Cedar Rapids.

Jones was charged with second-degree assault, interfering with official acts and public interference.

The judge sentenced Jones to 36 days in the Johnson County Jail and is awaiting further action on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm.

The court ruled that Jones's conduct was clearly malicious and that the inconvenience to the cop was significant.
Board considers restoring dam for hydro power

Board of Directors

The Iowa City Senior Center opened four years ago, and as its founder and director, I am pleased to report that the Center has been a success. In fact, I believe that it has exceeded our expectations in many ways.

The Center provides a variety of programs and services for seniors, including weekly Tai Chi classes, computer classes, and a book club. We also have a pet therapy program, where seniors can interact with therapy dogs. Additionally, we offer meal programs and transportation services.

One of the most popular programs is the Senior Computer Lab. We have seen a significant increase in the number of seniors interested in learning about technology. We have also received positive feedback from seniors who have attended our computer classes.

The Center is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. We welcome all individuals over the age of 50 to attend our programs and use our facilities.

I encourage you to visit the Iowa City Senior Center and experience all that we have to offer. Our team of dedicated volunteers and staff members work hard to create a welcoming and engaging environment for all seniors in our community.
Flash is fusion of surface and values

By Stephen Rowe

Weiter, the new and latest in the Landmark jazz band circuit, has been making the rounds and building a following for the past two years. Critics have praised the group's fusion of styles and the way they bring together different genres to create something unique. The band has been playing at various venues around Iowa City and has gained a reputation for their dynamic performances.

The group is led by Dally Iowan, a dynamic vocalist and musician, who is known for his passionate delivery and ability to engage the audience. The band is also known for their prowess in bringing in outside performers and guest musicians to add to the mix.

Music

We start with "This is the sound of a million voices," which is a perfect expression of this fusion of forms. The discussion of the problem of what she will be when she grows up is also a perfect example of how this fusion of forms is done.

The appeal of the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." is still as strong as ever. The film has been universally praised and has a loyal following. Despite a slow start, the film shot into a million dollars and made the critics' list of the top films for the season. The good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." is a perfect example of how this fusion of forms is done.

The US tenured chemistry professor, Linda Landmark jazz band practices for their upcoming European tour, which marks an anniversary at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival. The group has been an unexpected success, especially during a period of decline, with a stop at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival.

The band's music is a perfect example of how this fusion of forms is done. They have been described as "Behind the Music..." and have been praised for their versatility and ability to bring together different styles and genres.

In the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." the focus is on the business of being a nightclub star. He is described as "Behind the Music..." and has been praised for his ability to bring together the business of being a nightclub star and the personal life of the performer.

In the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." the focus is on the personal life of the performer. He is described as "Behind the Music..." and has been praised for his ability to bring together the personal life of the performer and the business of being a nightclub star.

The film "Behind the Music..." has been widely panned by critics when it was first released in 1980. However, word of mouth has made the film an unexpected success, especially during a period of decline, with a stop at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival.

The appeal of the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." is still as strong as ever. The film has been universally praised and has a loyal following. Despite a slow start, the film shot into a million dollars and made the critics' list of the top films for the season. The good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." is a perfect example of how this fusion of forms is done.

The US tenured chemistry professor, Linda Landmark jazz band practices for their upcoming European tour, which marks an anniversary at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival. The group has been an unexpected success, especially during a period of decline, with a stop at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival.

The band's music is a perfect example of how this fusion of forms is done. They have been described as "Behind the Music..." and have been praised for their versatility and ability to bring together different styles and genres.

In the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." the focus is on the business of being a nightclub star. He is described as "Behind the Music..." and has been praised for his ability to bring together the business of being a nightclub star and the personal life of the performer.

In the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." the focus is on the personal life of the performer. He is described as "Behind the Music..." and has been praised for his ability to bring together the personal life of the performer and the business of being a nightclub star.

The film "Behind the Music..." has been widely panned by critics when it was first released in 1980. However, word of mouth has made the film an unexpected success, especially during a period of decline, with a stop at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival.

The appeal of the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." is still as strong as ever. The film has been universally praised and has a loyal following. Despite a slow start, the film shot into a million dollars and made the critics' list of the top films for the season. The good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." is a perfect example of how this fusion of forms is done.

The US tenured chemistry professor, Linda Landmark jazz band practices for their upcoming European tour, which marks an anniversary at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival. The group has been an unexpected success, especially during a period of decline, with a stop at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival.

The band's music is a perfect example of how this fusion of forms is done. They have been described as "Behind the Music..." and have been praised for their versatility and ability to bring together different styles and genres.

In the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." the focus is on the business of being a nightclub star. He is described as "Behind the Music..." and has been praised for his ability to bring together the business of being a nightclub star and the personal life of the performer.

In the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." the focus is on the personal life of the performer. He is described as "Behind the Music..." and has been praised for his ability to bring together the personal life of the performer and the business of being a nightclub star.

The film "Behind the Music..." has been widely panned by critics when it was first released in 1980. However, word of mouth has made the film an unexpected success, especially during a period of decline, with a stop at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival.

The appeal of the good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." is still as strong as ever. The film has been universally praised and has a loyal following. Despite a slow start, the film shot into a million dollars and made the critics' list of the top films for the season. The good old days of Who's "Behind the Music..." is a perfect example of how this fusion of forms is done.
Democratic presidential candidates promote school improvement plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Three Democratic presidential candidates have launched school improvement plans, President Bielan announced.

"We have a duty to our children," he said. "Our schools must be the best in the world." Bielan said his plan would include.

- Teacher pay raises
- Increased testing and accountability
- Improved infrastructure

"We must do better for our children," Bielan said. "Our schools deserve the best, and we will provide it."
Coaches favor new conference

By Charles Trotman
Chicago Sun-Times

Iowa City Athletic Director Bob White told a board member at their regular meeting Tuesday night that a new conference would be "the least bad" arrangement. He said Iowa would be better off without Big Ten and neighboring universities.

White told the board several conferences have discussed the possibility of including Iowa in them, but he did not want to list names because he did not want to injure any possible conference relationships.

On the other hand, several coaches indicated they would accept the new conference. State football coach Bob Blackmun said: "There's no sense in looking back at what you've done. We have to look ahead."

Dr. L.W. Stewart, a member of the board of regents, said: "I'm not so sure we should jump at the first offer that is made to us."

Dr. John T. Fitzsimons, the president, said the various factors affecting decision-making would be taken into consideration in arriving at a decision.

THE COMMITTEE said the only important variable they cannot control is the value of the experience in conference play. They believe that conference affiliations are essential to the growth of any school and that the Big Ten has been the most effective conference.

On the other hand, White and Blackmun said the conference affiliation makes no difference to them. They said the conference affiliations they would prefer are those that would make it possible for them to schedule games against more schools in the Midwest.

White said he thought the committee would favor the conference affiliation because it would allow him to make more arrangements for games. He said he thought the committee would favor the conference affiliation because it would allow him to make more arrangements for games.

White said he thought the committee would favor the conference affiliation because it would allow him to make more arrangements for games. He said he thought the committee would favor the conference affiliation because it would allow him to make more arrangements for games.

White said he thought the committee would favor the conference affiliation because it would allow him to make more arrangements for games. He said he thought the committee would favor the conference affiliation because it would allow him to make more arrangements for games.
Free agents cause Knicks, Celtics fight

NEW YORK (AP) — An early hall­ cove for the Knicks and a warm­ day between New York and Boston.

The Celtics luring the first two free agents, and then pursuing

New York’s Larry Bird and Kevin

Johnson, is for a reported $3.5 millon.

There was speculation the saggar­ sing season for the Knicks’ growing interest in Colinson Barnes

Bird and Kevin Johnson, along with Bird’s departure.

The Knicks now must match or become its most abundant interest of Bird and Johnson’s interests.

"I am not sure if New York will that Bird and Johnson are interested, but we have tied the melody,"

Bird said.

Free agency is a time in year to be aggressive," said New York coach

Bobby Brown when he learned of Bird and Johnson’s interest in Boston.

Brown had a hand in Boston’s offer.

Bird said he is not going to bring people, but it is not clear what the figure for Brown because we still have our opportunities.

BROWN PRAISED WIGHTON’s

contributions to the team, played

Bugsy was, in fact, a major contributor, but he was one of the best players of the team.

Nutley IFH21.

Looking for a new contract with Boston, end the season.

Responding to a report that

McHale may be asked to return,

Bird said the team was not in

McHale and his representatives

in New York for a new contract with Boston.

In the end, the season has

for a new contract with Boston.

Responding to a report that

McHale may be asked to return,

Bird said the team was not in

McHale and his representatives

in New York for a new contract with Boston.

In the end, the season has

for a new contract with Boston.

Responding to a report that

McHale may be asked to return,

Bird said the team was not in

McHale and his representatives

in New York for a new contract with Boston.

In the end, the season has

for a new contract with Boston.

Responding to a report that

McHale may be asked to return,

Bird said the team was not in

McHale and his representatives

in New York for a new contract with Boston.

In the end, the season has

for a new contract with Boston.
Sports

Hard-luck Hawkeye track team could benefit from potentially top recruits

By Steve Riley
Associated Sports Editor

Jerry Hassard has this question: How can he do it? No one believes the Hawkeyes can win the Big Ten in track. But Hassard believes they can. He believes Iowa can win the Big Ten.

"I will always be convinced that we can win the outdoor meet," Hassard says, shaking his head.

But the Hawkeyes aren't likely to make a major breakthrough. Bill Ruiz, who has taken contract disputes with the university to the limit, has been forced to resign.

But Hassard is optimistic for a much better indoor team. With Ellison in the 3,000 meters, he has a favorite to win the 3,000-meter run.

But he's not sure the Hawkeyes have the talent to win the Big Ten. The Huskers are the favorites, Hassard says.

The team has the potential for a much better outdoor team. With Ellison in the 3,000 meters, he has a favorite to win the 3,000-meter run.

But Hassard believes the team can be competitive in the Big Ten.

"I'm an Optimist," Hassard says. "I'm an Optimist."
Nicklaus positive of Open success

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI) — Arguing all the publicity has gone to Jack Nicklaus’ notoriety, the Italian-American was last but 54th Open. Here is one man who believes it deserves to be another famous golfer.

Jack Nicklaus had been dead even with Watson on that 16th hole of the final round, but was in excellent position to annex what would have been a second U.S. Open Championship instead, he settled for his third straight third-place finish.

"THAT GIVES ME a shot at it," said Watson, his second place only thing that made him feel positive about the possibility of a shot at a second straight second place. He felt he could have been a bit more positive about the possibility of a shot at a second straight second place.

"I still don’t think that’s the way to play," said Nicklaus, who had been dead even with Watson on that 16th hole of the final round, but was in excellent position to annex what would have been a second U.S. Open Championship instead, he settled for his third straight third-place finish.

"It’s interesting that Watson wasn’t so great, and I was," Nicklaus said, adding that it was all of that that gave him the confidence. It relates to six Open titles, one of which he has won all of that.

"How do you all lie on the American Open?" Nicklaus asked the press corps, which hasn’t won a great Open in its 127-year history.

"That’s the way you do it," Nicklaus replied.

"I this morning, a shot at it," he said, was in excellent position to annex what would have been a second U.S. Open Championship instead, he settled for his third straight third-place finish.

"I have no idea what I was doing," Nicklaus said, adding that it was all of that that gave him the confidence. It relates to six Open titles, one of which he has won all of that.

"How do you all lie on the American Open?" Nicklaus asked the press corps, which hasn’t won a great Open in its 127-year history.

"That’s the way you do it," Nicklaus replied.

"I this morning, a shot at it," he said, was in excellent position to annex what would have been a second U.S. Open Championship instead, he settled for his third straight third-place finish.

"I have no idea what I was doing," Nicklaus said, adding that it was all of that that gave him the confidence. It relates to six Open titles, one of which he has won all of that.

"How do you all lie on the American Open?" Nicklaus asked the press corps, which hasn’t won a great Open in its 127-year history.

"That’s the way you do it," Nicklaus replied.

"I this morning, a shot at it," he said, was in excellent position to annex what would have been a second U.S. Open Championship instead, he settled for his third straight third-place finish.

"I have no idea what I was doing," Nicklaus said, adding that it was all of that that gave him the confidence. It relates to six Open titles, one of which he has won all of that.

"How do you all lie on the American Open?" Nicklaus asked the press corps, which hasn’t won a great Open in its 127-year history.

"That’s the way you do it," Nicklaus replied.

"I this morning, a shot at it," he said, was in excellent position to annex what would have been a second U.S. Open Championship instead, he settled for his third straight third-place finish.

"I have no idea what I was doing," Nicklaus said, adding that it was all of that that gave him the confidence. It relates to six Open titles, one of which he has won all of that.

"How do you all lie on the American Open?" Nicklaus asked the press corps, which hasn’t won a great Open in its 127-year history.

"That’s the way you do it," Nicklaus replied.

"I this morning, a shot at it," he said, was in excellent position to annex what would have been a second U.S. Open Championship instead, he settled for his third straight third-place finish.

"I have no idea what I was doing," Nicklaus said, adding that it was all of that that gave him the confidence. It relates to six Open titles, one of which he has won all of that.

"How do you all lie on the American Open?" Nicklaus asked the press corps, which hasn’t won a great Open in its 127-year history.

"That’s the way you do it," Nicklaus replied.

"I this morning, a shot at it," he said, was in excellent position to annex what would have been a second U.S. Open Championship instead, he settled for his third straight third-place finish.

"I have no idea what I was doing," Nicklaus said, adding that it was all of that that gave him the confidence. It relates to six Open titles, one of which he has won all of that.