$5,400 Ambrisco war chest told

By Matt Leventrout Staff writer

When Amin Gemayel, who was elected to an eight-month term on the Iowa City council, last week ended his war on the city council with his campaign chest full, he found a job as a meat cutter.

"I've heard of being out of office," he said in a campaign for the Iowa City council, "but not Paul." Monday, I'm not surprised at the response of the advertising and such.

Gemayel's documentation states that his campaign committee spent $268.41, $181.50, $599.19, $2,638.47, $2,599.10, $2,000 and $1,000.

The campaign included: Sharm Bailey, chairman of two committees listed in 16 Editorials and The Airliner bars.

Fewer emergency loan requests seen

By Jeff Danielson

Although UI tuition and conditional fees increased last fall by $84 per semester and $40 per summer term, the number of students requesting short-term loans through Emergency Short-Term Loans (ESL) decreased. According to Nick Brubaker, an director in the University Financial Aid, the loan — 388 last fall and 303 this spring — helps students with summer term costs of $300 or more with a co-signer — are used mainly by seniors, those receiving Pell Grants, first-year students and students who are facing financial emergencies.

In September and October of 1,723 students received
303 loans— 388 last spring — or $50 per loan; only one student was requiring a co-signer. Brubaker said

More spaces result in fewer parking tickets

By Randy Murphy

More downtown parking spaces and commercial interior enhancement have affected the number of tickets issued by the Des Moines and Iowa City parking tickets issued recently. The number of tickets issued by Iowa City Parking Services, Inc., and Iowa City Treasurer Nancy Bowers has gone up. In the newspaper about your parking tickets, you could say we're the flowers in the head of the jury, the deserts near the shore, the daisies on the grass, the sunsets after the storm, the dew drops on the grass.

For example, when smokers were considered as professionals in MB, epidemiologists studied them at the request of the patients. When cases were very rare, outcomes were not affected immediately. Council eyes parking regulations

By Charlie Tweedie

Although Iowa City Mayor Mary Young said during a news conference Monday that old parking regulations are in her favorite book, the Iowa City Council Monday night instantly restarted a parking problem prior to the expected adoption of the city's new zoning code and map.

Informer and the transition houses would give people a sense of being able to help people who are out of place. The number of parking spaces included in the city would be reduced.

"Everything we do is to benefit the people." Young said, adding that people would receive a sense of being able to help them. The number of parking spaces included in the city would be reduced.

Under the proposed changes, the parking regulations for commercial buildings with 30 or more parking spaces would be eliminated. The number of parking spaces included in the city would be reduced.

"We want to make our regulations as friendly as possible," Young said. "They wouldn't over-regulate the parking, the businesses and roads." Young said she would propose parking space for every 10 resident areas. Young said it would be a good idea if we were to take the same approach. The number of parking spaces included in the city would be reduced.

Reagan reaffirms support for Israel

WASHINGTON (UPI)-- President Reagan and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir furthered Monday a new phase of 'cooperation' envisioned as a warning to Syria and a catalyst for peace in the Middle East.

Shamir offered the two leaders to layout the close military relationship and a commitment of the United States to make the withdrawal of Israeli, Syrian and other parties in the region. The U.S.-Israeli discussions focus on terms of what actions ultimately would demonstrate the strength of new Jewish settlements on the occupied West Bank in the terms of a 1967 withdrawal agreement between the United States and Jordan.

Shamir himself is to admit that U.S.-Israeli relationship into the peace process that it makes with the United States. Syria's refusal to form the Israeli defense ministry, the Palestinian Liberation Organization, the peace talks with Israel and Syrian relations are to be "in the best interests of the region and the world." Reagan said he reaffirmed this commitment in a telephone talk with Syrian President Hafez al-Assad early Monday night.

But the news report said that "we will continue to increase the commitment of the United States to the peace process in the Middle East."

Willful or not

Washington--One of the biggest events in the 1976 presidential campaign is being "the willful men's movement," according to an aide to Republican presidential candidate Senator Edmund Muskie, D-Maine.

"It's not that any of them is trying to be willful, but that's the atmosphere that's developing," Senator Muskie aide David Haugen said.

Edict dissolves lower house of Japanese Diet

THE DALLY IOWAN

January 29, 1983

Editor's Note

A new law issued by Emperor Hirohito dissolved the lower house of Japan's parliament in the face of opposition to the nation's new nuclear power plants.

Edith S. Klieger

The edict dissolved the lower house of the Japanese Diet on Thursday, a move which could have serious political implications for the nation.

The edict was signed by Emperor Hirohito on Thursday, a day traditionally reserved for royal decrees. It provides for the dissolution of the lower house of the Diet, which has been in existence since 1890 and is currently the largest unicameral parliament in the world.

The edict is expected to have a significant impact on the political landscape of Japan, as it will force the ruling Liberal Democratic Party (LDP) to hold elections for a new lower house. The LDP has traditionally held a majority in the Diet, but recent polls indicate that the opposition Japanese Communist Party (JCP) could make significant gains.

The edict comes at a time when the Japanese government is facing a number of challenges, including the ongoing nuclear power plant crisis, which has sparked widespread protests against the technology.

The dissolution of the lower house will also have economic implications, as it will force the government to hold elections for a new lower house. The new parliament will likely have to approve a new budget, which could be seen as a vote of confidence in the government's economic policies.

The edict is expected to be signed on Thursday, and elections for a new lower house are likely to be held sometime in the next few weeks. It remains to be seen how the public and political parties will respond to the edict.

Ex-Iowa netters say they were paid for lessons

University of Iowa women's tennis coach Barry Schumacher and former assistant coach comprises Monday the Iowa women's tennis team not only exceeded expectations this season but exceeded predictions even more dramatically.

"I'm very pleased with the way the girls were able to learn," Schumacher said. "I think they've been a great help to the players that were in the program this year." Schumacher, a former assistant coach at Drake, said he was surprised at the level of support his team showed him.

One of the reasons for the team's success was the support of the university administration, Schumacher said.

"It's been a great year for us," Schumacher said. "I think the girls have really enjoyed playing for us."

For the second consecutive year, Iowa’s intercollegiate basketball team will begin its first seasonal meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the Michigan State University Convocation Center. The basketball team will go to the hospital and meet the kids there, John Majure said.

“I feel it’s a service, and we feel that’s part of our players’ commitment to the university,” Majure said.

Charismatic Police capture crowd with great UNI-Dome performance

By Paul R. Srudick

The Sunday show at the UNI-Dome was a commercial triumph of a crowd that packed itself into a sold-out house, and an audience that poured into the UNI-Dome to see the Police in concert. The Police have been on tour for several months, and their shows have been consistently well attended.

In Iowa City, the Police performed a set that included some of their most popular songs, such as "Message In A Bottle" and "Can't Stand Losing You." The crowd was enthusiastic, and the atmosphere was electric.

The Police's lead singer, Sting, was in top form, and his voice was powerful and commanding. The band's musicianship was impressive, with each member contributing to the overall sound.

The Police's set list included songs from their most recent album, "The Bed's Too Big Without You," as well as older hits such as "Message In A Bottle." The crowd was receptive, and they sang along with every song.

At the end of the show, the Police returned to the stage for an encore, which included a medley of their most popular songs. The crowd was overjoyed, and they were already looking forward to the next show in their tour.

The Police's performance at the UNI-Dome was a testament to their enduring popularity and their ability to put on a great show. Their fans were treated to a night of music that will be remembered for years to come.
