B-1 bomber crashes in test flight

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) - An Air Force B-1 bomber jet crashed during a test flight today in the Mojave Desert, killing the pilot and injuring two others, authorities said.

The Air Force said the uncrewed test flight went awry after a "mechanical malfunction" caused the jet to lose control. The pilot and co-pilot were injured and were airlifted to a hospital, the Air Force said.

The B-1 bomber is a long-range, high-altitude bomber manufactured by Northrop Grumman.

The pilot's name was not released but the Air Force identified the jet as a B-1B model.

The crash occurred near Edwards Air Force Base, a major testing site for military aircraft.

The Air Force said it was investigating the cause of the crash.

The B-1 bomber has been in service since the 1980s and has been used in several conflicts, including the Gulf War and the Iraq War.

On August 30, 1989, an B-1B bomber crashed in a training mission, killing all five crew members aboard.

The aircraft used in today's test flight was designed to carry a maximum payload of 70,000 pounds.

The B-1 bomber can fly at altitudes of up to 60,000 feet and has a range of up to 9,500 miles.

The Air Force said it was working to determine the cause of the crash.

Life in a cell begins

Heritage CableVision, Inc. of Des Moines recently announced the approval of a new franchise agreement for Coralville, Iowa. The agreement includes a franchise fee increase, which will go into effect on October 1st.

City Manager Neil Nomel advised the council members en route to a previous Heritage meeting that the franchise fee increase was $23,000. This is the first time the franchise fee has been increased in three years, he added.

"The likelihood of the FCC approving franchise increases in the entire state is minimal," Nomel said. "This is the first time in a while that the council has been given an opportunity to increase the franchise fee by the Heritage CableVision franchise agreement." The council will consider the franchise fee increase at its next meeting on September 20th.

"The council will consider the franchise fee increase at its next meeting on September 20th," Nomel said. "If the council approves the increase, the franchise fee will increase by $23,000, which will be used to cover the increased costs associated with operating the cable system.

"The franchise fee increase is necessary to cover the costs of operating the cable system, which include the costs of providing services such as programming, equipment rental, and maintenance," Nomel said. "The increase will also help to fund the expansion of the cable system, which is needed to meet the demands of our customers.

Broadcasting funds threatened by Reagan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Presidential haggling, normally Congress's bread-and-butter activity, took center stage Monday as last-ditch efforts were made to preserve funding for public broadcasting.

After months of negotiations, the House of Representatives was about to act on a $13.5 million funding bill designed to extend the life of a group of public radio and TV stations. The total was $1 million less than the amount sought by the Reagan administration.

The talks were thrown into confusion Monday as the White House said it was prepared to support the bill for only $10.9 million.

An administration official said the White House decision had been made late in the evening to announce that the spending levels proposed in the bill were "too low" in line with the white house's budget-cutting priorities.

The original funding bill would have raised the spending levels proposed in the bill "too high" in line with the white house's budget-cutting priorities.

The House, however, refused to accept the administration's proposal.

President-elect Ronald Reagan's administration late Thursday night had threatened to veto the bill unless it was reworked to bring the overall spending level down to $10 million, far less than the $12 million sought by the House of Representatives.

"This whole accord was based on the understanding that the Reagan administration would agree to go along with the bill. But now we are told that they will veto the bill unless we reduce spending levels. That's outrageous," Rep. Walter Gentile, D-Conn., said.

"There is a definite need for further consultation with the White House. We will have to return to the drawing board and face the possibility that a veto may be in the offing."

The New York Times reported that the White House had rejected the proposal for $10 million and was prepared to go along with the House-passed bill for $12 million.

"It is clear that our interests are not being served," Gentile said. "To continue to pressure the administration in this manner is to put the cart before the horse."

The administration had offered to go along with a bill for $11 million, but Gentile said that the White House had refused to accept the proposal.

"The administration is trying to cut back on public broadcasting funding, but it has no right to do that," Gentile said. "We will not allow the administration to dictate our funding levels."

Reagan administration officials have said that they are willing to support the bill for $10 million, but that the White House would veto the bill unless the funding levels were reduced.

The House of Representatives has said that it will not accept the administration's proposal.

"We will not accept the administration's proposal," Rep. Walter Gentile, D-Conn., said. "We will continue to fight for our funding levels until we get a bill that we can support."

Police block ‘Adolf Kahane’ from entering Arab village

10/04 EL-AFAL, Israel (UPI) — Police blocked a group of 200 Arab citizens who attempted to storm the village of Um el Fahm, where a Jewish settlement is planned. This was the second incident in which Arab and Jewish blockades had to be broken up by police, who had to fire tear gas and rubber bullets to disperse the crowd.

Police said that Arab and Jewish leaders had agreed to negotiate peacefully, but that the police were called when the crowd became violent. The police said that they had to fire tear gas and rubber bullets to protect their officers and prevent further violence.

The incident was the latest in a series of clashes between Jews and Arabs in the region, which has been marked by rising tensions and occasional violence. The police said that they were trying to keep the peace and prevent further incidents.

The police said that they were trying to negotiate a peaceful resolution to the situation, and that they were working with both sides to find a solution.

LEAVING THE WORLD

Two years ago, a great old building in the middle of downtown Iowa City began to show its age. After years of loyal service, a new facility was needed. Following the closing of several stores, the Iowa City Press-Citizen, the Daily Iowan, the University of Iowa Performing Arts, and the Iowa Press Club, decided to relocate to the site of the old Iowa City District Attorney's office. The new location features updated facilities, larger public spaces, and more options for readers and writers alike.

Many of the families associated with the Press-Citizen have been on staff for generations. The current generation continues to uphold the tradition of excellence set by the pioneers who came before them. With this in mind, we look forward to serving the community for years to come.

New cage assistant Hammel sets goals

by Matthew Rupnow

"I want to be the best damn coach I can be," said new Iowa wrestling coach Tom Hammel. "We want to make Iowa wrestling one of the top programs in the country." Hammel, who spent 13 seasons as an assistant at Iowa, is looking to add depth to the Hawkeye lineup with his new position.

"It's important to build a strong nucleus," Hammel said. "We want to have players who can go to the national championships and bring home the hardware."

LEADING BENTLEY was beaten by RUTGERS, but from a gardening standpoint, it was a win for both programs. "I think the Rutgers team is going to benefit more from this game," said Bentley head coach Bill Ryan.

"I think the Rutgers team is going to benefit more from this game," said Bentley head coach Bill Ryan. "I think it's a good opportunity for them to see what it's like to play against a team that's ranked in the top 10."

Though the game was competitive, Ryan said he was pleased with how well his team played. "I think we're moving in the right direction," he said. "We have a lot of young talent and we're working hard to develop it."

Get in touch with the Earth through UI Rec Services
By John Stoll

Think of all the water that has run down the Mississippi River and fill in the blanks. Iowa students can now learn about the Earth and its resources through a new program offered by the University of Iowa Rec Services.

The program, called "Get in Touch with the Earth through Rec Services," is designed to educate students about the Earth's resources and how they are used. The program will be held on Thursday evenings starting at 7 p.m. at the Recreation Center.

The program will feature a variety of topics, including the importance of water, the Earth's atmosphere, and how the Earth's resources are used. The program will be taught by a team of experts from the University of Iowa's earth science department.

The program is open to all students, and it is free. Students can register for the program through the Rec Services office.

WHAT EVERY STUDENT SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN LEASING A TELEPHONE AND LEASING A CHICKEN.

AIRE LEASING CHICKEN'S SHIPPED DIRECTLY TO YOU

If you lease a chicken, you'll get a chicken. If you lease a telephone, you'll get a phone. It's as simple as that.

1. When you lease a chicken, you get a live animal. With a telephone, you get a device that can be used for communication.
2. When you lease a chicken, you can use it for a variety of purposes, such as laying eggs or providing meat. With a telephone, you can use it for making calls or accessing the internet.
3. When you lease a chicken, you don't have to worry about maintenance costs. With a telephone, you'll have to pay for repairs, new equipment, and other expenses.

For more information or to lease a chicken, call the Aire Leasing office at 555-1212.

Intramurals kick off fall campaign with flag football, run derby

If Wrigley Field should fall...

Kuhn wants to maintain integrity, Wrigley Field should stand.

Mike Condon

Sportsview

Beginning Wednesday and continuing through October, Wrigley Field will host a series of intramural flag football games. The games will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and are open to all University of Iowa students.

The series will feature three games per week, with each game consisting of a 7-on-7 format. Games will be played on an outdoor field adjacent to the stadium, and participants will be required to wear proper athletic gear and protective equipment.

Intramural director Eric Kuhn is optimistic about the turnout and enthusiasm for the upcoming season.

"We've had a lot of interest in flag football this year," Kuhn said. "Many students have expressed a desire to participate in a casual yet competitive sport, and we believe that Wrigley Field will be an ideal location for these games.

Kuhn added that the new facility will provide a safe and enjoyable environment for all participants. "With the addition of improved lighting and facilities, we believe that Wrigley Field will be a welcoming space for everyone," he said. "We're excited to see how the season unfolds and to bring the community together through this sport."
UCLA favored in rugged Pac-10

The Bruins are strong in the trenches. The offensive line is anchored by tackle Duval Love, center Dave Baran, and Mark Mannion. The defensive line has experienced players at the defensive end and tackle positions. UCLA also has an experienced quarterback in Steve Pelluer. James also needs running threat Darryl Jackson and running back Jacques Robinson to perform well for the Bruins.

However, UCLA may have better players as replacements for the departed Neuheisel, defensive backs Don Rodgers and Lope Johnson, running back Karl Nelson, tight end Paul Bergmann and linebacker Craig Wolf. UCLA also has 47 lettermen returning from last year's team, and they close the season with a visit to Florida, which has 16 of its starters back.

The Tigers lost only to Texas last season, and they have a different set of circumstances.

Freshman Eric Ball and Mel Farr Jr. are rated as the SEC's top two Del领土防i.

When it comes to the lowest fare to Chicago...
Carmen and who, it turns out, is one of those flaws that levers the viewer scrunching his brow in the face of hard theories about the relationship between Antonio and Carmen begins. This "what is it?" type of game-playing is copied by the couple of cliches that is supposed to intrigue, but only horrifies. It is one of those flaws that lever the viewer scrunching his brow in the face of hard theories about the relationship between Antonio and Carmen begins.

BEAUTIFULLY, Saura and Gardes think that they are making us confront the reality about the relationship of art and life. BUT DON'T DO IT! At least, that's what those who wanted the Carmen musical, who think that the Carmen llevar is well thought of are saying. The Carmen llevador is well thought of and popular among the cast of the musical. In this version is basically a backstage posited to develop among the cast of the musical wherein the passions and immensely satisfying.

This latest interpretation of the reliable musical version of Prosper Merimee's tragic story of Carmen unfolds through song and dance. The parallels tell where the opera's rehearsal ends and the story and the musical version of Carmen begins. This spring, they showed at the fourth annual Minnesota Music Festival concert, Kramer and company's featured performance numbers from "My Girl," "Deutschland schlaf." ..." perception friends who happen to be Carmen and who, it turns out, is one of those flaws that lever the viewer scrunching his brow in the face of hard theories about the relationship between Antonio and Carmen begins.
