Clerical election results disputed

By Bob Krocak

The Iowa Public Employment Relations Board蕨

On October 8, 1984, the results of the 1984 UI clerical election were released, with the outcome of the election being 50-49 in favor of the union, AFSCME.

The controversy over the election arose from allegations of fraud, including the possibility of voters being coerced to vote for the union. The IUPESU union claimed that the UI administration had interfered with the election process.

In the end, the IPERB determined that the election was free and fair, and the results were upheld.

UI Homecoming termed a success

By Dave Rice

The 1984 UI Homecoming was deemed a success by many, with events such as the parade, football game, and Homecoming dance all drawing large crowds.

Municipal Stadium, which had previously been used for football games, was filled to capacity.

The Homecoming week was marked by the traditional Homecoming Parade, which featured floats, bands, and cheerleaders.

Turnout at the football game was high, with the UI Hawkeyes winning against their rival, the Iowa State Cyclones.

UI room option banning alcohol proves unpopular

By Mary Brown

A new UI residence hall offering students the option of a non-alcohol floor has been unpopular with many students.

The policy, which allows students to request non-alcohol floors, was introduced in the fall of 1984. Approximately 8,000 students were offered the option to choose between non-alcohol and alcohol floors.

However, only 50 students chose the non-alcohol option, with the majority of students preferring the traditional floor option.

It is believed that the low turnout was due to the lack of interest in the non-alcohol option, as well as the overwhelming desire for traditional floor options.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Washington will run out of money at midnight Thursday. The Senate failed Tuesday to work out a deal of a depleting procedural halt but met in the House on expected Monday for a temporary measure Monday or early Tuesday. This will give the Senate time to act on this matter and return to work on a year-long, colossal spending bill.

The lack of money will run the government into a second fiscal year in Washington. Several times in past Congresses has failed to pass adequate funding bills, and a government shutdown has been threatened at any time, and steps have been taken to avoid all but emergency operations.

Mondale: Reagan is not in charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Mondale charged Tuesday that President Reagan is not in charge of the U.S. government and that we are not. He said we are in a situation where the President cannot even make up his mind.

It seems to me that Washington, to Washington, to us, to the public, to the American people what we are to make of this?'

Mondale said Reagan should hold a news conference today and talk to the American people what we can trust of the American people and let him know that leadership.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Much of the National Security Council has met in a unusual way to discuss the latest developments. The Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the White House staff have been meeting for several hours.

The meeting is expected to last through the night and into the morning. It appears to be a turning point after the tough attack on Mondale's leadership.

Harkin's hopes

DES MOINES (UPI) - Polling to win the upcoming U.S. Senate race, Rep. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, warned supporters Sunday to expect a barrage of money and negative campaign ads by his Republican opponent, Sen. Robert James.

Harkin, a senior Democrat at Drake University and at a $40 per person fundraiser at a Des Moines diner Sunday, said Harkin was to have been accompanied by Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., but Hart's flight to Iowa was canceled because of mechanical problems.

Harkin accused his opponent that he still holds the lead in the Iowa race despite a recent poll showing Jepson ahead.

The poll, conducted by the Des Moines Register Sunday, showed Harkin leading at 38 percent, to Jepson's 33 percent.

"And if you look behind the guys you'll know that there's not going to be a loss," Harkin said.

Harkin told some 200 people at the fundraiser that his campaign will become more aggressive during the final five weeks before the election, and that he plans to expose Jepson's voting record as being out of step with Iowa's.

He said Jepson was the only member of Iowa's congressional delegation to vote against the welfare reform bill in last spring, and that he feels Jepson is being deceptive.

He also attacked in complete Jepson's call for passage of a school prayer amendment, charging that Jepson never prayed in public schools or the national prayer in the nation's educational challenges.

"It's a way for him to avoid the issues as long as children have to take chemistry tests," Harkin said.

1984 Homecoming Parade was held Friday night for the parade to pass by. Unseasonably cool temperatures brought out blankets, gloves and heavier clothing.

Jepsen's money, ads don't pierce Harkin's hopes

"It's like trying to make a 3-cent out of a basket," said Joel Minter, treasurer of the UI student union.

"In the past, the information in Harkin's proposals, student leaders have supported the proposals because both candidates have made statements similar to only a percent. The 200-500.

HUBBARD ALSO warned if increases in the UI administrative, financial aid, and fees are to be effective, they will need to be accompanied by corresponding increases to state and federal aid programs.

Although he said he has heard "negative legislation" being discussed, he said he was not thinking that legislation would go into effect. If Congress does take up the issue until early next year, Hubbard said he will believe the financial aid situation for UI students has worsened in the past few years.

"One obvious way this situation could be clearly improved would be if tuition did not increase by so much as Mr. Hubbard has proposed," said Hubbard.

Harmon, Hick, Roll and Illinois

By J.B. Grant

Like the now Kansas football team which swept through the West, Hawkeye junior Ronnie Harmon, and Oven Gill rolled over the Illini.

While the Iowa offense performed well, the Hawkeye defense had another strong outing, forcing four turnovers which helped Chicago to its first league game. Harmon scored three touchdowns and rushed for a career-high 197 yards.

THAT WAS a beautiful story on national TV. I'm not sure what the 'ifs' and 'buts' are, but I know that I can't play a no-hitter today. He's doing the same stuff, but he's just not playing enough these days.'

"Ronnie's mom said to me, 'We need a football player,' and I told her, 'I'm not sure.'"

"ONE AND DONE: 'Hawks in town again for a good old-fashioned backyard battle."

"It was a good game, but we still have a lot to work on. We need to improve our defense and our special teams."

Braves' Torre thinks he'll get friend

ATLANTA (UPI) - Atlanta Braves manager Tom Torre said Friday he believes his club’s pitching coach, Bob Shaw, may return to the team in 1984.

"He’s been with us three years," Torre said. "There’s no reason for me to say he won’t return."

Shaw left the club to join the Cleveland Indians in January, saying he had no interest in returning to the Braves. He had been the pitching coach for three seasons.

Rose breaks career doubles mark

CHICAGO (UPI) - Chicago White Sox manager Bill Virdon broke the National League record for career doubles Sunday by collecting his 484th two-bagger. "It’s a great feeling," Virdon said. "I’m happy to be a part of baseball history." Rose and former 3B Leo Cardillo are the only men in the NL to have the same number of career doubles.

Rose's record-breaking double was slightly tainted. His hit off reliever Mike Kean was his 20th career double and now has an asterisk behind it, meaning he made the catch and the ball hit a leg, preventing two base runners to score.

Motivating edges Winfield for batting title

NEW YORK (UPI) - The season has just ended and American League batting champ Wade Boggs is already thinking about next year. The Yankee first baseman went for four, hitting two doubles, home run and two RBIs. But he will be going to another team next year.

"I don't think that I am going to stay," Boggs said. "I know I am going to stay if we win the championship."

The batting title is really up for grabs.

For 10 days, the ".400-club" has been alive.

Claiming laurels LaFay crown

Iowa State's third baseman was already part of a group of players and had been a member of the championship team. The 31-year-old Iowa State player had won the Big Ten Tour in two straight rounds.

"I didn't play well enough," said LaFay. "The weather was a problem."

Motivating thought that will go to Winfield to win the batting title.

Hawks eye upset in conference race

Paul Jones International

If Iowa State were to wind up as a contender in the Big Eight conference and run away with a division crown, it would never have happened. Because the Cyclones have to go through the Big Eight before they can achieve anything of significance on the national level. The Big Eight season begins in October and it's a long, hard stretch for Iowa State.

The Cyclones have to face some tough conference opponents. They play at the University of Missouri on Oct. 12, then come home to face the University of Kansas on Oct. 19. Both games are at home, and both teams are expected to be strong.

Then there's the matter of the University of Oklahoma, which is always a formidable opponent. The Sooners have a strong defense and a talented quarterback in Lee Roy Selmon. But Iowa State has a strong running game and a solid defense. If the Cyclones can shut down Selmon, they may be able to pull off an upset.

The Big Eight season is a tough one for Iowa State, but they have the talent and the experience to make a run at a division crown. They just need to find a way to close out some of those close games.

Bronco defense slows Raiders

By Ric Wernecke

The Denver Broncos defense was rewarded for a hard-fought week of practice with a dominating performance on the football field against the San Diego Chargers on Monday night.

Broncos head coach Dan Reeves, who praised his team's preparation throughout the week, said, "Our defense was outstanding tonight. They held the Chargers to just 131 total yards and forced them to punt on five of their six possessions.

"We were also able to put pressure on the quarterback throughout the game, which forced them into two interceptions and kept them from completing any passes of more than 20 yards. This was a great win for us and should give us a lot of confidence going into our game against the Los Angeles Raiders on Sunday."

After working for four years as a choreographer and performer with the national modern dance company, he says, "We just can't get along, and we don't try." He has left the company and is looking for a new dance group to join. "I've been in New York for quite a long time," he says, "and I think it's time for a change." He plans to form his own dance group and continue his career as a choreographer and dancer.

Choreographer Jem Sex, 30, left his job as a freelance choreographer in New York City to return to Iowa City to run his own ballet company. "I've been in New York for quite a long time," he says, "and I think it's time for a change." He plans to form his own dance group and continue his career as a choreographer and dancer.

Handel to headline UI Orchestra's bill

The UI Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of conductor James Dixon, will present a full-length performance at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Iowa Memorial Union. The program, which is open to the public and free of charge, will include "Royal Fireworks Music," Handel's chorus for the orchestra in a celebratory event. The performance will feature a spectacular production of "Royal Fireworks," choreographed by the master of ballet music at the grand display of fireworks on the Fourth of July in London.
