Local response to final presidential debate is split

By Dawn Unver

The Federal Aviation Administration announced Tuesday that it would offer a series of public meetings next month to discuss the construction of a new FAA headquarters in downtown Des Moines. The meetings will begin on October 26 and continue through November 6. The FAA said the project is expected to cost between $400 million and $500 million, and is scheduled to be completed by 2023.

Rest stop

Melrose Lake area residents protest development

By Tim Marks

The proposed development of Brinkman Lake Apartments in Melrose, IA, has sparked a protest among residents of the area. The development is planned for the former Monticello High School site and would include 200 apartments, a community center, and retail space. Residents are concerned about the impact on traffic and the environment, as well as the potential for increased crime.

Lassiter reports disappearance of 500 voter cards from CAM office

By Dennis Pape

About 500 voter registration cards collected by the Collegian Association for the county auditor, according to President Larry Lassiter.

Lassiter said the registration cards were the only in the office that went to the CAM.

"I have no idea how to get the cards to the CAM," Lassiter said. "It's not on their list. I know that no office has lost its registration cards."

Lassiter said that no one had reported the cards missing until yesterday when he received a call from the CAM.

"I told them that I had the list of registration cards and they said they were missing," Lassiter said. "I told them that I would check with the CAM and that I would get back to them."

Lassiter said that he would contact the CAM and find out if the cards were still missing.

"I don't know if the cards are still missing," Lassiter said. "I haven't heard back from the CAM."

"The CAM has not responded to my call," Lassiter said. "I will call them again today."

Students quiz Bush on pay equity

Students at the University of Iowa, led by UI Students for Social and Economic Justice, worked with Bush in a small group that included several of his students.

The students asked Bush about the pay equity gap and how it affects women's wages. Bush was asked about the need for policies to address the gender pay gap and the importance of transparency in the workplace.

Students also questioned Bush about the implications of the gender pay gap for career advancement and the need for policies to support women in the workplace.

The students expressed concern about the lack of progress in closing the gender pay gap and the need for continued activism to achieve gender equality in the workplace.

Bush agreed to work with students on a range of issues related to pay equity and gender equality. He committed to supporting policies that promote equal pay for equal work and to engaging with students on these issues in the future.

The event was organized by the UI Students for Social and Economic Justice and was part of a series of events aimed at promoting social justice on campus.

The students were pleased with Bush's commitment to working with them on pay equity and gender equality. They expressed gratitude for his time and for his willingness to engage with them on these important issues.
Here we go again...

- It is a political truism that presidential elections serve as referendums on incumbent politicians, and that presidencies have a special life span.

The Reagan administration has passed to several accomplishes with pride. Reagan has presided over a decline in the inflation rate (from 12% to 4%) and has been able to hold it at that rate. This has been a major accomplishment for the economy, particularly for those who have been jobless for some time. The rate of unemployment is now below 6%, a level that has not been seen in many years. The government has also been able to maintain a strong dollar, which has helped to reduce the trade deficit.

However, the administration has been criticized for its handling of certain issues. The so-called "war on drugs" has been controversial, with many Americans feeling that it has not been effective. The administration has also been criticized for its foreign policy, particularly its handling of the situation in Iran.

The administration has also been criticized for its handling of the economy. Many economists feel that the economy is in a recession, and that the administration has not done enough to help those who are struggling. The administration has been accused of being too focused on big business and not enough on the needs of the average American.

The administration has also been criticized for its handling of the environment. Many environmental groups feel that the administration has not done enough to protect the environment, and that it has been too focused on economic growth.

The administration has also been criticized for its handling of the social issues. Many groups feel that the administration has not done enough to help those in need, and that it has been too focused on big business and not enough on the needs of the average American.
CAC denounces apartheid system; urges divestment of UI’s holdings

By Karen Burn

The U’s investments in South Africa received another round of criticism by an Iowa City student organization. CAC, or Concerned Alumni and Students, endorsed a resolution denouncing the apartheid system and urging divestment of University of Iowa holdings in South Africa.

The resolution states, “The option of divesting Iowa’s holdings in South Africa is a direct investment of the economic system we support, and corporative profits have little impact on the system.”

CAC also passed a resolution condemning the University of Iowa student protesting the apartheid system of South Africa.

According to CAC president, Tom Wise, “Iowa students should do what they can to support the boycott campaign against South Africa.”

CAC MEMBER DAVID WALLACO said the University of Iowa has a responsibility to divestment, and “we support the boycott call by the student.”

The resolution was passed by a “three to one” vote, and the students are planning to demonstrate again at the end of the week when the entire UI administration is expected to show up to vote on the proposal.

Lake

The students of lake city are urged to boycott the 1986-87 school year until the UI administration responds to the Students’ Opinions of the Lake City Community (SOLCC) resolution.

SOLCC, the student association for Lake City, Iowa, has just passed a resolution condemning the apartheid system and urging the University of Iowa to divest its holdings in South Africa.

SOLCC is a group of lake city students who have been working on this issue for the past year. They have been protesting at UI administration meetings, writing letters to the editor, and holding rallies. Their efforts have paid off, and now they are able to pass a resolution that is being supported by the student body.

Lake City is a small town in east-central Iowa, and it is the home of the University of Iowa. The University of Iowa is one of the biggest employers in Lake City, and it is an important part of the economy. This resolution is a step towards making sure that the University of Iowa is not funding the apartheid system.

When asked why they decided to pass this resolution, the students of Lake City said, “We are tired of having our taxes go to support a system that oppresses people. We believe that UI should divest its holdings in South Africa.”

Their efforts have been met with some resistance from the University of Iowa administration, but the students of Lake City are determined to see this through.

Reaction

The University of Iowa administration is in turmoil over the decision to divest from South Africa. They are under pressure from their students, who are demanding that they divest their holdings in South Africa.

Hawkeyes have 'low-key' practice Monday

The Iowa football team came down from an emotional victory Saturday over Michigan with a "low-key" practice Monday night.

The Buckeyes worked out in minus-10 degree temperatures Friday, but Saturday's win against Michigan was Saturday's high-water mark for the Hawkeyes.

The Iowa coach will be handling several key players out of practice this week either by his own recognition: "I don't really expect to see anybody play Saturday (against Indiana)," Fry said.

Despite the low-weather, Fry said his team worked very hard Monday in preparation for the Big Ten opener.

"The regulars had their game plan out of which they are really beaten. They know exactly how the Michigan offense will go. They have part played that, and I imagine they'll be high again on us. They always play hard for us," Fry said.

The IWU Rugby Club dominated the competition and secured their victory. "We are thrilled with the result," said the coach. "This victory is a testament to our team's hard work and determination."

INTRAMURALS

Earlier in the fall, the team had several intramural games. The team played well and secured their position in the competition.

During the competition, the team faced several challenges. However, they remained focused and worked together to overcome these challenges.

On the next play, the team scored a try, and the coach said, "This is a testament to our team's hard work and dedication." The team continues to work hard and looks forward to future competitions.
Cubs' next challenge to sign free agents

ChicAGO (AP) - The buzz is now for the Chicago Cubs after their surprising World Series run. Thanks to some nifty maneuvering by General Manager Jim Hendry, the Cubs acquired the best starting pitching infield in the National League.

Their challenge now is to keep it intact. The club will not be able to hold onto all of the free agents it signed to one-year deals. Many key members of the staff, including starters Ted Lilly, Kerry Wood, Mark Prior and Damion Easley, are eligible for free agency.

"We are going to be proactive but I know we have the resources to sign the right kind of players," Hendry said. "But we have accomplished and we want to keep our payroll under the luxury tax.

Green's 1-0 lead held until the sixth when the Cubs sent 10 batters to the plate and scored five runs. After walking to start the inning, Carl Everett hit a two-run double and Mark Prior hit a two-run homer.

The Cubs have been hot, with a 9-1 mark in their last 10 games.

Jones is no stranger to the World Series. In 1993, the Cubs lost to the Atlanta Braves. In 1997, the team lost to the Florida Marlins.

"I feel we have a chance to win it," Jones said. "We've got a good group of free agents who could help us.

The Cubs are hoping to sign free agents Curt Schilling and Mike Hampton.

"Thief of Hearts" squanders potential of a fine premise

By Kathy N. Kye

"Thief of Hearts" squanders potential of a fine premise — "Thief of Hearts," directed by Douglas Sirk and starring Redgrave, is a film that takes on a few interesting themes, but ultimately fails to flesh them out.

The film is about a woman who is conning others for their money, and the man who is trying to stop her. However, the film fails to explore the psychological motives behind the woman's actions, and instead focuses on the physical chase as the main plot point.

The acting is average, with Redgrave's character coming across as shallow and one-dimensional. Sirk's direction is also lacking, with the film feeling somewhat flat and unengaging.

Overall, "Thief of Hearts" is a disappointment, failing to live up to its potential as a psychological thriller. It's a shame, as the film has some interesting themes that could have been explored further.

In conclusion, while "Thief of Hearts" has some potential as a film, it ultimately falls flat in its execution. It's a missed opportunity for both Redgrave and Sirk, and a disappointment for anyone looking for a well-crafted psychological thriller.

Now picture this.

It's a very remarkable computer.
Not just for its advanced features, which are many, but for the simplicity of the cost.
This PC is IBM's new entry - a do-it-all unit that accepts IBM's current and past peripherals with equal ease.
It's built in a design that doubles as a desk, allowing you to work from your desk, without losing the flexibility of a portable.

It's easy to use and easy to operate. IBM has always worked to get the power of computing up and out of the price of computing them.

"If you're buying an IBM, you're buying the

"It's a very remarkable computer."

Of course, none of this should come as a surprise. IBM has always worked to get the power of computing up and out of the price of computing them.

IBM also offers a wide range of options to suit your needs.
