Site rejected for Melrose complex construction

By Dave Universal

In a move aimed at relieving the city's housing crunch, a Monday meeting of the City Council rejected the Melrose complex construction proposal.

The city's Planning Board had recommended approval of the complex, which would have included 120 apartments and 30 one-bedroom units.

The councilors cited environmental concerns as the primary reason for rejecting the project.

Pinochet tightens his hold on Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) - President Augusto Pinochet is ratcheting up the pressure on political opponents with a new campaign to discredit the democratically elected government established in Santiago.

The Bolivarian Alliance, the political wing of the Workers' Party, has been designated the main target of the government's campaign.

Alleged U.S. spy jet panics Nicaraguan citizens

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) - An alleged U.S. spy jet broke cover Friday over Managua, sending panic-stricken citizens running to the streets amid fears of a conflict.

The jet, identified as a SR-71 Blackbird, caused a stir in the streets as it flew over Managua, the capital of the pro-Sandinista government.

Orthega victorious in Sandinista election

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) - Under the slogan "Progress and Solidarity," the Sandinista government has won a decisive victory in the country's presidential election.

The Sandinista Party, led by Daniel Ortega, has swept to power in the election, which was held on Sunday.

The victory is a major setback for the U.S.-backed Contras, who have been fighting the Sandinista government since 1979.

The Contras, supported by the United States, have been trying to overthrow the Sandinista government and establish a pro-American regime in Nicaragua.

The Sandinista government has been accused of human rights abuses and corruption, but it has also been praised for its efforts to improve the economy and reduce poverty.

The election results are seen as a victory for the Sandinista government and a defeat for the Contras and their backers in the United States.

The United States has been a major supporter of the Contras, providing them with military and financial aid.

The election results are a blow to the United States, which has been trying to oust the Sandinista government and establish a pro-American regime in Nicaragua.

Police raid opposition offices

Johannesburg, South Africa — South Africa’s police have raided the homes of a number of black and white opposition party leaders and members of parliament, following charges that they threatened the stability of the nation after the death of a black leader, The Herald reported.

The police said they were acting on a warrant that was issued by a magistrate in Johannesburg after the death of the leader, who had been a member of the opposition party.

The police said they had found evidence of the alleged threats and had arrested the leaders and members of parliament.

The raid was the latest in a series of police crackdowns on opposition parties and individuals in recent weeks.

Sikhra returns to holy temples

New York — Sikh community leaders from across the country gathered at the Sikh Temple of New York to mark the first time since the assassination of the temple’s president that the community returned to its holy place.

Appropriately, that was today, the 23rd anniversary of the temple attack.

Israel, Lebanon begin talks

Naples, Italy — Israeli and Lebanese officials began a round of talks today in an attempt to ease the tension in the region.

The meeting is expected to focus on issues such as the Israeli occupation of southern Lebanon and the ongoing conflict in the region.

The talks are seen as a positive step towards a peaceful resolution of the conflict.

Booksellers doubt that students read

By Andrew Lowen

"I don't think they read at all," said rival manager of Prodigy Lights Bookstore. "I don't think they have time to read anything outside of their coursework.

Most students read on their own and won't even buy a paperback book," according to Joe Ziegler, manager of Buddy Book and Supply. Books about computer games and pop culture as well as comic strip books, self-help books and science fiction books. "Science classics," he said, "are the only books that are really popular.

"I would buy a book for a class," professor said. "But I don't like reading the textbooks.

"Duties of a president are the only duties I have," Ziegler said. "I'm always on call. I can't even relax during the weekend."

"When students do read on their own," professor said, "they're usually reading for their own interests."

"I think it's hard for them to find the time to read anything outside of their coursework," said Nilsen, who has been a teacher for 10 years.

"Reading is important," he said, "because it's a great way to relax and escape.

"I find it very difficult to find the time to read anything outside of my work," professor said. "I'm always busy with administrative tasks.

"The only time I have to read is during the summer," said Ziegler. "But I don't like reading during the summer."

"I try to read as much as possible," professor said. "But I don't have the time.

Students to hit books for bucks

The Associated Student House Students will hit the books in a page-to-stage reading during the Fifth Annual Book Fair, Saturday, Nov. 1 6-7 p.m. at the IMU Michigan Room.

The fund-raising event in support of the Library study session is to raise funds for the IMU City Center Project, the Illinois Foster day Program, the Illinois Student Government Association and the Illinois Education and Domestic Violence Study. The event will feature readings from the students who have received their degrees in the above areas.

The event will feature five teams of up to five students each, selected by the abbreviated Student Senate. Each team will be assigned a specific book, and the team members will read from the book to the audience.

The proceeds from the Book Fair will be donated to the above programs. The students are encouraged to participate in the Book Fair and make a donation.

For more information, please contact the IMU City Center Office at 335-4111.

Freeman said he was interested in reading a long list of KRUI's requests, but he didn't want to be praised for it. "I've listened on "Hobo Daily," which is a special feature on KRUI radio stations, and it's a great way to listen to the radio and enjoy the music. Freeman played a Robbins' composition for the "Hobo Daily," and it was a nice way to start the day.

Freeman said he usually listens to the students' requests and includes them in his

Depressed citizen

To the editor:

I am a member of the Johnson County Republican Party. I wish to express my disapproval of the recent statement made by Senator Robert F. Kerry, Jr., on the floor of the Senate in which he called for the resignation of county Treasurer Henry Johnson. I believe that Mr. Johnson should not be removed from office for reasons that were mentioned in the article appearing in The Daily Iowan.

It is my opinion that Mr. Johnson's record of service, kindness and integrity is unimpeachable. Therefore, I urge you, the editor, to publish this letter in your newspaper in order to bring attention to the facts of the case.

I believe that Mr. Johnson should be allowed to serve out his term of office and I hope that you will publish this letter in your newspaper.

Respectfully,

Speaker feedback

To the editor:

I recently attended a meeting of the Johnson County Democratic Central Committee and was disappointed to hear the representation of Israel on Campus was brought up by a speaker at the meeting. I believe that the representation of Israel on Campus is not appropriate and should not be discussed at this meeting.

I believe that the Johnson County Democratic Central Committee should focus on local issues and not on issues that are national in scope.

I urge you, the editor, to publish this letter in your newspaper in order to bring attention to the facts of the case.

Respectfully,

"This has been a difficult situation for us in Washington," said Ambassador Harry Bergdahl, who is also the U.S. envoy to Nicaragua. "We are working hard to resolve the situation." Bergdahl acknowledged that the U.S. government had been providing assistance to the Contras, but he said that the situation was complex and that there were multiple factors at play.

"The U.S. government has been providing assistance to the Contras for many years," said Bergdahl. "We are doing so in order to support the Nicaraguan people in their struggle for freedom." Bergdahl added that the U.S. government had been providing economic and military assistance to the Contras, but that the assistance had not been sufficient to defeat the Sandinistas.

"We are committed to supporting the Nicaraguan people," said Bergdahl. "We will continue to provide assistance as long as the Sandinistas remain a threat to the Nicaraguan people." Bergdahl added that the U.S. government was working with the Sandinistas to try to find a peaceful solution to the conflict.

Iowa Hawkeyes vs. Michigan St. Spartans

By Steve Buttwell

If Iowa defeats Michigan State on Saturday, it will be the team's third straight victory over the Spartans, ending a six-game losing streak to Michigan State.

The Hawkeyes are coming off a 74-65 win over Northwestern, which was the final game of the season for Northwestern.

The Hawkeyes are currently in fourth place in the Big Ten, one game behind Michigan State.

The Spartans are currently in third place in the Big Ten, one game behind Iowa.

Long dresses for Thursday practice
Iowa Coach Hayden Fry will be able to shop for longer halves. Coach Long dressed the Hawkeyes in black and white uniforms for the last practice before the game.

Fry said he hasn't yet received a clearance for Long to play in Thursday's game. The senior quarterback is still listed as questionable for the weekend.

"I feel much better today than I have in weeks," Fry said. "I think I'll have an answer for Long before the end of practice today."

Michigan State fans were guaranteed the world around the world were gathered for the meeting of National Olympic Committees Association (NOCA) in Mexico City.

Committee nations became host as delegates suggested measures to assure full participation at the 1988 Games. The Soviet bloc, which does not recognize the South Korean government, has hinted it might again support its own athletes in Seoul.

"If the South Koreans don't change their minds, we may have a lot to work on and a lot to work out," Fry said about the crowded practice.

Purdue will have no troubles with this team in today’s meet, but he hopes his swimmers will give Iowa some good races.

"We WILL HAVE no problems with Iowa because we don’t have the energy to put into dual meet situations," he said. "We hope to give some good races, particularly against their record holders.

"They have been their best for the entire season and we hope to produce a good race."

Swimmers will be in the pool today at 2 p.m., the fourth day of the season.

Iowa seniors reminisce on careers prior to last Kinnick Stadium game

By Jack Hindsman

The Michigan State game will have a special meaning for 21 Iowa senior players who will be wearing black and gold jerseys for the last time in Kinnick Stadium.

Lance Coacher from New York, Ohio, will be the center of attention. Without year, he will be without years.

The last home game will hold a special meaning for many of the Iowa seniors who will be leaving the football field for the last time. The seniors will be honored, and the team will play its last game of the season.

Running back Gil Gregory will be the star of the day. Gregory is expected to make a big impact on the game.

SPLITTER said yesterday the team will have a special feeling about the game, but the seniors expect they won't realize it until game time on game day.

I was born in the 1950s, and I've been around for a long time. I've been a part of the Iowa football program for more than 50 years. I've seen the good, the bad, and the ugly. I've seen Iowa win games and lose games. I've seen Iowa fans and opponents.

With "Blizzard of Ozz," Osbourne continues to prove that he is one of the greatest rock musicians of all time, captivating audiences with his unique sound and style. Osbourne’s music is a true representation of the spirit of rock and roll, and his ability to connect with his fans through his music is what truly sets him apart. As he continues to perform, Osbourne’s love for music and his dedication to his craft will no doubt continue to inspire and entertain audiences for years to come.
Woodwinds run dry in depth, musicality

By Kate Van Orden

T he Illinois Symphony Orchestra's annual Christmas Concert, held at the Iowa Memorial Union, was a resounding success. The program was led by conductor David Womac, and the orchestra was accompanied by the Iowa Charmers, a local group of woodwinds.

The concert featured a variety of traditional and modern pieces, including a performance of Bach's Brandenburg Concertos and a selection of contemporary works by John Adams and Philip Glass. The audience was treated to the stunning virtuosity of the woodwind soloists, who showcased their skills on oboe, clarinet, bassoon, and horn.

The highlight of the evening was the world premiere of a new concerto by local composer Elizabeth Morgan. The work was well-received by both critics and audience members, who praised its innovative composition and technical virtuosity.

In addition to the main performance, the concert included a special segment dedicated to children, with a performance of Handel's "Messiah" and a reading of "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens.

Overall, the Illinois Symphony Orchestra's Christmas Concert was a festive and memorable event, providing a musical feast for all who attended.
The play has a few flaws, but not a few more, and the evening moves swiftly.

My one reservation about Hacker's direction is his emphasis on the pathos of Mrs. Sullen's situation. Restorative comedy had much social content, and Hacker's play is noteworthy for making a strong case for divorce in England. But Farquhar's case for divorce is not in content, while Hacker insists on treating the issue seriously, changing Mr. Sullen from a comic lout to one only sullenly and truly devoted.

Ultimately, the production is a fine, well-produced, well-acted version of this delightful play, well-staged, well-dressed, and altogether very entertaining.
