EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR of a group that oversees construction of a house for the Iowa City Community School District says the group plans to launch a campaign to build the house through the sale of its students.

The Iowa City Community School District is in charge of building the house for the district's students. The group plans to sell the house to a team of students who will work on it.

The group plans to use the money raised from the sale of the house to fund future projects. The group is hoping to raise $200,000 through the sale of the house.

The group is working with the Iowa City Community School District to launch the campaign.

According to Bob Small, executive director of the Iowa City Community School District, the group plans to use the money raised from the sale of the house to fund future projects.

National News

General's testimony contradicted

NEW YORK, N.Y. (UPI) - The trial of military intelligence agents in Vietnam was adjourned Wednesday night as they awaited word on a key witness who failed to show up in court.

The adjournment was ordered by Judge William H. Webster after the government could not produce the witness who was a former aide to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Webster adjourned the trial until Thursday afternoon.

The government's key witness was a former aide to Kennedy who was scheduled to testify about Kennedy's role in the firing of the late Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The trial has been delayed several times due to the absence of the key witness who was supposed to testify about the Kennedy administration's policy-making process in the Vietnam War.

Test can detect semen twos days following rape

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) - A test that can detect semen two or more days after intercourse has been developed by researchers at the University of California at Riverside.

The test uses a new technique that identifies the presence of seminal fluid, even if it has been diluted or mixed with other substances.

The test involves the use of a special enzyme that reacts with sperm proteins, allowing the researchers to detect semen even if it has been present for several days.

Capital Development, Inc., a study conducted by the Joint Economic Development Council of the U.S., shows how the area's industrial base has contributed to the area's growth. The study identified the area's strengths and weaknesses, and recommended steps to foster further development.

Availability of labor, land and tax incentives are major determinants in whether businesses choose to locate in the area, according to the study. While there is no guarantee that a business will locate in the area, the study found that the area's proximity to Interstate 80, and the potential for tax abatements, are significant factors that could influence a business's decision to locate in the area.

Jackson

"Jackson hopes his book will generate strong enthusiasm to form a new chapter under the Rainbow Coalition."

An arm of the Rainbow Coalition in Iowa will be formed, according to the study. The Rainbow Coalition has been successful in other states, and the group hopes to replicate its success in Iowa.

Jackson is also supporting the "Joint Action Plan," a give-away program, to attract businesses to the area. The plan includes tax abatements, which are important to businesses looking at Iowa City as a location for their operations.

LOU BANACH

LOU BANACH's new book, "Living Iowa Wrestling," will be released soon. The book is a collection of stories about the wrestling business, the success of the "Great Remote Switchover," and the history of the "New England Parasites." The book is available at The IMU Bookstore, located at 222 West Third Street, Iowa City, Iowa. The book costs $10 and can be purchased at the store.
New diet for farmers

Some southwest Iowa farmers are getting a surprising and very fitting present from the government this week. They were told that they are now on free food stamps. In a joint program organized by the local farm and farm groups to illustrate the financial strain of many farm families, 75 farmers applied to the food stamp program. Only 32 percent of the families reported to be eligible, but half proved eligible, surprising both welfare officials and the farmers themselves.

That farmers, people who have worked so hard to feed this nation, are now faced with getting food stamps in order to feed their own families is an appropriate illustration of the irresponsibility of the federal government's farm policy.

Farmers increasingly are becoming this nation's welfare recipients. Illustrations of this are official from Office of Management and Budget Director David Stockman to Agriculture Secretary John Block who charged the farmers with living a life of leisure and that the welfare writers, were bent on killing farmers for their own gain. A review for the farmer, a preventable status quo emasculated only fitting. That reward is food stamps.

Farm and farm group's approach to problem, solving, the victim is becoming the criminal. Just as poor people and farmers are responsible for an economy that pushed them into poverty, the victims are becoming the criminals. Just as poor people and farmers are responsible for an economy that pushed them into poverty, the problem is being solved by the victim becoming the criminal. That reward is food stamps.

South African farmers' relief

Letters

Sacrificing their own

I would like to respond to the letter from the Prime Minister, Jan van Riebeck, who asked whether there are enough food stamps for all the people and that it is not a simple matter to determine who qualifies for food stamps. In a recent news article, the Prime Minister said that the government is already providing food stamps to about 75 percent of the farmers in the country.

In order to qualify for food stamps, farmers must meet certain criteria such as being a legal resident of South Africa, having a reasonable income, and not being in receipt of any other form of government assistance. The Prime Minister also stated that the government is providing food stamps to all farmers regardless of their income level.

I would like to ask the Prime Minister if there are any plans to increase the number of farmers receiving food stamps. It would be helpful to know if there are any efforts being made to provide additional support to farmers who are struggling to make ends meet.

Swimming

Sunday, November 22, 1987

The Hawkeyes, now 1-2 on the season after last Saturday's victory over Ohio State, will again be swimming and diving for the meet of the day. The University of Iowa Swim Meet will be held at the University of Iowa Swimming Pool. The meet will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The Hawkeyes are coming off a loss at Wisconsin, a team Iowa easily defeated earlier this season. That loss was the only loss for the Hawkeyes in the Big Ten.

"We're really looking forward to seeing how we stack up against the No. 17 Hawkeyes at the Big Ten meet," said Don Freeman. "We know they are a good team and we're looking forward to the challenge."

Fast times and good competition defined the name of the game this weekend at in the number of the events were held featuring the best runners in the country to compete in the Husker Invitational in Lincoln, Neb.

"This is an incredibly fast field," said Taylor, "and the runners are going to be running their best."

But Wiese has been doing much better. The 1,000-meter race the past two weekends in Lincoln, Neb. on Feb. 13.

Wiese is hoping to make the NCAA team for the indoor track season. He would have to perform at a certain level to be considered for the team, but he's not sure if he will make it.

Wiese's injury has made it difficult to practice and run, and he's had to work harder to stay in shape. But he's determined to make the team and hopes to be able to compete in the NCAA meet.

"It's frustrating," Wiese said. "But I'm not giving up. I want to be on the team, and I know I can do it."

"The essence of running track is not just running," Wiese said. "It's about being a good teammate and supporting your fellow runners."

Wiese's goal is to make the NCAA team and run in the NCAA meet. But he knows that it will take hard work and dedication to achieve that goal.

"I'm not going to give up," Wiese said. "I'm going to keep working hard and try to make the team."

Big Momma's is the favorite at $200,000 Sarasota Classic

LAURITA, Fla. (UPI) - The result of the LPGA field is beginning to mean what it takes to "bag Big Momma." Alino Carner, determined to become the first female golfer to surpass the $1 million plateau in earnings, entered this week's Sarasota Classic with injuries and tension.

Carner, Seeking a pulled shoulder muscle and sore elbow, has restricted her play well until now. She has pulled out of the tournament because she has not yet played well enough in a tournament since she injured her elbow last Dec.

"I think I'll probably have my best year ever," she said.

"The win meant a lot to me for two reasons," says JoAnn Carner. "First, I want to be the first to win $2 million and No. 2, don't want to have my earnings go under the $1 million mark.

Carner, who finished just one stroke off the pace in the Sarasota Classic in 1982, suffered a pulled left shoulder in the 1983 title. She suffered from a pulled left shoulder in the 1983 title. She finished just one stroke off the pace in the Sarasota Classic in 1982, suffered a pulled left shoulder in the 1983 title.

"If you relax, the third round," she said, thanking God for another tournament.

Her main concern was the weather, which was expected to be cool and rain.
Thursday, 11 a.m.

We believe the heightened awareness that preceded her broadcast, which many considered a personal triumph, was the result of her determination and hard work. Despite the challenges she faced, she, like Thelma, never let her setbacks define her. Whether it was her battle against her husband, her battle against her own fears, or her battle against the world, she never gave up. This is a testament to the resilience and strength of women who face adversity but continue to persevere. The story of Thelma and her daughter Laura is a powerful reminder of the importance of not giving up even in the face of adversity.

Television

On the issue of mothers and daughters, Guarino allows for another viewpoint on the theme. Although it seems the last push of Thelma's need for justice at the beginning of the film, the film continues to explore the character's struggles and vulnerabilities as she goes forward. When she and her daughter Laura are told that Thelma will never be the same due to her experiences, she reacts with anger and defiance. "What do you mean I am not the same?" Thelma shouts, hitting the air with her fist.

Reading

"One woman, one woman," she says, "the same woman, the same woman, the same woman." Director Thomas has always been fascinated by the idea of a woman who is both victim and survivor. In "Mother," she explores the complexity of a woman who has been the subject of domestic abuse and is now struggling to rebuild her life. The film is a powerful exploration of the human capacity for resilience and the ability to overcome adversity.

Milestones in Black History

For more than a decade, an extraordinary event forged a bond between the 13 men pictured above. In March 1944, when they were commissioned U.S. Navy ensigns, they stepped into the pages of history as the "Golden 13"—the nation's first Black Navy Officers.
