AFSCME, state strike agreement

by Andrew Larrson

After months of negotiation and months of renewed proposals by AFSCME on how to settle the contract, an agreement was finally reached.

The agreement was reached in mid-March, and the union announced that it would hold a series of meetings to discuss the contract.

The agreement includes a three-year contract with raises of 2.5% per year.

The agreement also includes a clause that allows for a strike in the event of a failure to negotiate.

The contract is set to expire in 1988.

Freedman approves rights amendment

by James D. Freedman

Freedman has been working to obtain the rights amendment for the past three years.

The amendment would allow for a strike in the event of a failure to negotiate.

Freedman believes that the amendment is necessary to protect the rights of the workers.

The amendment is set to go into effect in 1986.
Manslaughter sentence suspended

Christopher Frederik Cronet, 23, of Keokuk, faces a potential second degree murder conviction if a judge suspends his probation.

Cronet was charged in involuntary manslaughter of 26-year-old Sarah Sue Hill, of Burlington. Hill was killed in the early morning hours of Feb. 9, 1984.

Cronet was not convicted of his vehicle's after it struck Hill on South Burlington Avenue, court records state.

An attorney representing a Des Moines County man said a suit filed in Iowa District Court in Burlington is not the same case.

A public hearing was held in Des Moines on Aug. 19 to determine if the case should be set for trial.

A preliminary hearing on the charges was held last week and Cronet's case was continued until March 1.

David Leon Green, 37, of Burlington, was sentenced to 3 years in the Iowa Department of Corrections in a plea bargain.

He was charged with failure to yield from a private roadway and causing an injury accident on July 11.

A preliminary hearing on the charges has been set for March 6.

Democrats talk taxes, farm aid

By Sue Shigo

Democratic leaders are to vote Tuesday on a resolution that would require Iowa's farmers to pay a tax on their crops. The resolution was introduced by Sen. Tom Vilsack, D-Dubuque, who said it would be a way to raise money for education and other state needs.

Vilsack said the tax would be based on the value of each farmer's crop and would be collected by the state Department of Revenue. He said the tax would be levied on all crops, including corn, soybeans, and oats.

"I believe it is time to take a hard look at the tax system we have in Iowa," Vilsack said. "Our agricultural sector is our lifeblood, and it is time we looked at ways to help support it."

The resolution is scheduled to be debated Tuesday afternoon in the Senate. It is expected to pass by a wide margin.

"This is a very important issue," Vilsack said. "We need to find ways to support our farmers and our rural communities."

Other Democratic lawmakers said they supported the tax, but they also acknowledged that it would be a difficult issue to pass in the current political climate.

"We need to look at this issue seriously," said Sen. Bob Holsclaw, D-Kiron. "But we also need to be careful not to raise taxes so high that it hurts our farmers and our rural economy."

The resolution also includes a provision that would allow Iowa farmers to deduct their state taxes from their federal tax bills.

"This is a very important issue," Holsclaw said. "We need to find ways to support our farmers and our rural communities."

Iowa state says the Plasma Diagnostic Instrument (PDI) that the US should have been tracking in space is now back home. The PDI, a satellite developed at the University of Iowa, will be re-launched in space to continue its scientific mission.

The PDI was lost in orbit in 1985, but the university has been working to bring it back to Earth. "We are excited to have our satellite back on Earth," said Mary Boone, a professor in the University of Iowa's Department of Physics and Astronomy.

The PDI was a small satellite that was launched in 1985 as part of a joint project between the University of Iowa and NASA. It was equipped with a plasma diagnostic instrument and was used to study the behavior of charged particles in space.

When the PDI was lost, its data was lost as well. However, Boone said that some data was still recovered from the satellite.

"We were able to recover some of the scientific data from the PDI," Boone said. "This is a very exciting time for us."
Rabin: Rampant terrorism may spur Lebanon invasion

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and Tuesday the Israeli army would invade Lebanon in a large-scale military operation to eliminate Palestinian guerrillas operating within its borders.

Rabin made his declaration in the World Council of Churches on Friday after the Israeli Cabinet voted to escalate the military operation.

In Lebanon, the Israeli military said it had destroyed several of the guerrilla bases in the area.

After the dawn crossing into Lebanon, the Israeli military reportedly failed to advance further in the north near the Lebanese town of Nabatiyeh.

"The military operation will proceed until it achieves its objectives," an Israeli military source said.

In Beirut, the Israeli military said it had killed and wounded scores of guerrillas in the northern and eastern parts of the city.

The operation, which began Monday, is aimed at eliminating Palestinian guerrillas who have been operating in Lebanon for several weeks.

According to the Israeli military, 100 guerrillas have been killed so far, with more than 200 wounded.

The operation is expected to continue for several days, with the Israeli military saying it has the capability to attack guerrillas in other parts of Lebanon.

The operation has been widely criticized by Arab governments and the international community, who fear it could escalate tensions in the region.

In Iowa, Senate Education Committee passes $1 million work-study bill

By Sue Sorg

Iowa to help students finance their education, the Iowa Senate Committee on Education and Human Resources unanimously passes a $1 million work-study bill.

Joe Branston, Des Moines, said the bill, which is sponsored by Sen. Charles Butterworth of Des Moines, states that the state should provide an opportunity for students to receive money for work-study programs. He said it could help students to prepare for jobs in industry or to study in graduate programs.

"This is a very important bill," Branston said. "It will also help students who need extra money to continue their education.

Butterworth said the bill will allow students to work part-time and still attend school. He said the bill will also help to reduce the number of people who drop out of school because they cannot afford to continue.

"This bill will help to provide a way for students to support themselves while they are in school," Butterworth said.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Charles Butterworth of Des Moines, who said it is important for students to have the opportunity to work while they are in school.

"I am very pleased with the support that this bill has received," Butterworth said. "This bill will help to provide a way for students to support themselves while they are in school."
new solidarity

Took a topic like any UI students will bit class. News: some of the covering deciding might just be beyond the boundary of Iowa City as.

That news is the financial devastation of Iowa's family farms. Their income is growing, but the land is also growing the academic community. The UI Student Senate denies credit, for breaking away from tradition that says "farm life is part of the other university" and sponsoring tonight's forum on agriculture.

Iowa City has a more cosmopolitan image than the rest of the state. The urban focus turns to issues such as UI's intervention in Central America and sportscars' hidden South Africa - while ignoring the plight of neighbor close to home.

Government policies have taken their toll on black and Iowa farmers. Solidarity with the latter is low.

The tragedy of rural families forced off their land by huge de-lenders represents more to the UI than the loss of a distinct cultural heritage. The two cut off state revenues, and therefore into UI funding.

An estimated one percent of Iowa farmers will go out of business this year, and according to Iowa Farm Unity League figures, this represents about 10,000 individuals likely to lose Iowa for better financial conditions. For them and their children and grandchildren, life would just could not be compared to an exodus of the city of Iowa City.

The bond of farm purchase, the single, the horse share. This drain on state revenue must be offset by the UI's need for funding for the UI.

The farmers would benefit from becoming informed about the ramifications of the crisis in the countryside. And maybe with an additional educational outreach program the agricultural movements can ens the loses of family farms.

No hero's welcome

The prevailing belief among the UI is that the poor farm, the not talkin' too high they built. These have a happy ring. But the farm is in the future. It is not, gone, and in a recent event should UI know the truth behind these excessive cliches.

St. John's still No. 1; Hawks fall to 16th

NEW YORK CITY - Carrying the title of No. 1, the program encountered its first roadblock in a sensational upset last week. The Hawks, however, emerged unscathed from their first loss and will enter next week's action as the nation's No. 1 team.

The Hawks, who entered the rankings at the season's top-rated college basketball teams for the first time last week, will meet an even stronger foe when they return to action next week. The Hawks, who are undefeated in the NCAA tournament, will face the University of Kansas, which defeated the Hawks in the regional final last year.

The Hawks are scheduled to play Kansas on Sunday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sprint Center in Kansas City. The game will be broadcast on ESPN.

The Hawks, who are currently ranked No. 1 in the country, will be looking to extend their winning streak to 34 games when they face the Jayhawks. The Hawks have won 33 consecutive games, including their 32-0 regular season record.

The Hawks' next two games are crucial in determining their chances of winning the NCAA championship. The Hawks will play the University of Kentucky on Friday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sprint Center in Kansas City. The game will be broadcast on ESPN.

If the Hawks win both games, they will move closer to their goal of reaching the NCAA championship game. The Hawks will then play either the University of Arizona or the University of Arkansas in the championship game.

The Hawks, who are the defending NCAA champions, are the favorites to win the NCAA tournament. The Hawks have won the NCAA tournament in each of the past three seasons and have reached the final four in each of the past four seasons.

The Hawks, who are coached by John Thompson, Jr., have a record of 33-1 this season. They have won 33 consecutive games, including their 32-0 regular season record.

The Hawks are the only team in the country to have won 33 consecutive games. They have also won 30 straight games in a row, which is the longest winning streak in the country.

The Hawks are led by guard John Thompson III, who is averaging 21.5 points per game. He is the only player in the country to have scored at least 20 points in all 33 games.

The Hawks have also received strong contributions from guard John Thompson IV, forward Sam Dekker, and center Jahlil Okafor. The Hawks have won 33 consecutive games, including their 32-0 regular season record.

Twin Acquire Smalley from White Sox

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) - The Minnesota Twins Tuesday acquired two-time American League batting champion Gary Smalley from the Chicago White Sox, who agreed to a new contract that is expected to keep Smalley in Minnesota for four years.

The Twins and White Sox agreed to share the news of Smalley's four-year, $2.2 million per year contract with the Chicago team handling the final details of the agreement late Tuesday night.

'If the price is right, they will keep him in a San Diego uniform through the 1985 season, the team announced Tuesday. Three regular seasons, and 30 in the playoffs and World Series.

The Twins and White Sox agreed to give Smalley the option of a five-year contract in 1985. The extension of his current contract, but Hennepin County District Judge Phillip Resnick, asked for dismissal of the criminal sexual contact charge, but Hennepin County District Judge Phillip Resnick, asked for dismissal of the trial.

Lee's left shoulder Sunday, and Dr. Frank Schell, the team's orthopedic surgeon, said Lee probably will be out of the Twins' lineup for at least two days.

GREEK WEEK
University of Iowa Greek Council

Iowa will be back in action Saturday at the Big Ten Network for a 3 p.m.
with Northwestern. The game can be seen on PTBS (Cable-32). The USF is back for its third and final game against Iowa on Sunday at Bohler Field. The Orange are playing the University of Davenport Tiger.

Beginning runners need a program to assure development of stamina.

to concentrate on is the portion for the beginner. Aerobic is running at a pace that can be maintained indefinitely with a regular amount of training. For a given pace, the faster pace than the oxygen can be supplied aerobic capacity and may be too much for those of you who just like to run for the fun of it.

THE LSD PHASE begins with large runs that establish aerobic endurance.
You have to work up to and hold up a steady pace of running for a period of time. This program begins runners stays in the aerobic phase.

The part of the program that we are going to focus on is the portion for the beginner. Aerobic is running at a pace that

Do any of this sound a little confusing to you? The whole concept of training is that you want to work your way up to higher level of running fitness and you learn to enjoy it along the way.

The best NBA game of the season can be seen
Friday night at the Iowa City's morning newspaper is also Iowa City's largest newspaper, with an editorial staff of more than 150 professionals, an editorial budget of $200,000 and a circulation of 20,000. The Board of Student Publications has recommended the creation of the position of editor for the Daily Iowan, for the position to begin Thursday, June 1, and ending May 31, 1986. Salary for the year will be $9,500 to $10,000 depending on experience.

"The editor of the DI must have strong journalistic abilities and dedication, as well as skills in management and a clear sense of editorial responsibility. The board will weigh heavily such factors as scholarship, previous newspaper and editing experience (including work at the Daily Iowan or another daily newspaper) and proven ability to lead, organize and inspire a staff engaged in creative and innovative work."

Applicants must be enrolled in a graduate or undergraduate degree program at the University of Iowa for the fall semester or have completed an application by 4 p.m. Thursday, February 22, 1990.

Critical giberish forks tongues of art aficionados

IT'S BEEN SAID that the most helpful method for emerging ambitiously unmasking from the balloon atmosphere that is the art world is to attend various activities of people who do not, at least in the act of understanding, participate in the activity of art. As such, a visit to the salon art critic's egocentric world, perhaps at the American Institute of Arts, can be a useful experience. In fact, one is impressed, in these times, at the interminable cartwheels of the art world, and so on and so on and so on.

This kind of thing is a bit more than a roller coaster ride as one who leaves the checkout line in the midst of it, feeling that at some point, somewhere, something with the title 'art' has been sold to the audience.

The art world is a fascinating place for those who possess its vocabulary and interest in discussing it. For the rest of us, it's confusing, intimidating, and usually a bit too much.

John Voland

over the hat of the experience, what say we forget

There's all the more reason to art, she who has to introduce art at the 21st century, is usefully to make it an 'art' for us, and to introduce the role of the art critic. It's an art critic, of the arts/entertainment industry who has a usefully to present the art world in a coherent, understandable manner.

Whether or not the current art critic is a popular figure, it's clear that the art world is a fascinating place for those who possess its vocabulary and interest in discussing it. For the rest of us, it's confusing, intimidating, and usually a bit too much.
