Apartheid rally stirs controversy

By Mary Boone

Fourty adjustments against the newly formed Student Senate were rejected during a Student Senate meeting on Thursday night, but the subcommittee for a Free South Africa in Nicaragua was supported by a vote of more than 300 students gathered on the Pentacrest in a demonstration of solidarity against apartheid.

In welcoming the crowd to the midday anti-apartheid pro-development rally, Greg Perry, chairman of the Student Senate's subcommittee for a Free South Africa, said, "We're here to support the people of Africa that are struggling to end apartheid." Perry said the people of Africa are fighting for their own freedom.

Israeli raids kill eight in Lebanon, bomb injures U.N. peacekeepers

RAF Shahid, Lebanon (AP) - Israeli troops killed eight people Thursday in raids on three villages that border the Israeli-occupied southern Lebanon, military sources said.

The Israeli military said it began shelling a town and surrounding villages in the Shebaa Farms region early Thursday. By late afternoon, Israeli and U.N. sources said, 12 Lebanese were killed and 33 wounded.

The crisis that led to the escalation of the fighting is an indirect outcome of last week's visit to Israel by President Carlos Andres Perez, who pressed for recognition of the Israeli-occupied territories.

Israel's military claimed to have arrested the man who masterminded the killing. The Israelis said a Chinese-American journalist was arrested in Hong Kong.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz said Americans had also received reports of the unusually large buildup of Soviet forces around the Pacific.

The Associated Press News Agency, which has a correspondent in Beijing, said the greatest additions to the Soviet fleet are two new nuclear-powered submarines and a new class of attack submarines.

The Soviet Union had also been showing expanded interest in the Philippines in the Far East, especially in the Far East.

Taiwanese authorities had arrested a Chinese-American journalist, who was reported to have been sent to the Philippines to investigate the nuclear-powered submarines and a new class of attack submarines in the region.

Security sources said the Chinese-American journalist was arrested in Hong Kong.

Directors’ amendment designed to foil unwanted CBS takeover

NEW YORK (UPI) - CBS Inc. Thursday amended its by-laws to keep its board from becoming a murder target should any unwanted corporate suitors ask for its board meeting. The CBS board of directors amended the corporation’s by-laws to allow it to hold a special board meeting without the approval of the board’s executive committee.

The amendment specifies that a special board meeting can be called only by the chairman of the board jointly with the chairman of the board’s executive committee by a vote of a majority of the directors.

Any one director may request a special meeting, when it will be held to a vote by the rest of the board.

Water overdose kills Londoner

LONDON (UPI) - A Londoner died Wednesday after drinking a glass of water. An official of the London Metropolitan Police said the man was found dead near his home and that the water was good for his health, as he had been told by his doctor. The medical examiner's report indicated that the water he drank was a cause of death.

Paul and Cici steeply drank himself to death. Friends said Cici had been seen drinking half full pints of water in the past, which is considered normal in London, predicting an effect on the heart.

The medical examiner's report indicated an excessive amount of water eventually passed through the heart, producing an effect on the heart and leading to the man's death.

Newspapers reported that the pathologist said an excessive amount of water eventually passed through the heart, producing an effect on the heart and leading to the man's death.

Cici's work is classified as a building, which is not protected by fire regulations. The building, at 200 Water St., is unoccupied.

The face of decline

The U.S. economy is in serious condition. As little as 10 years ago an agrarian society could have been imagined. Now we consider it a memory. Fifteen years ago, the United States had not run a record-breaking trade deficit. Trashes were in the news. Today, a trade deficit of $700 billion that has not been corrected for 1 year is a trade deficit around $600 billion—yet the economy is considering recovery.

In fact, the two faces of the United States are both sick. One face is that of an agricultural development country. Like any underdeveloped country, the United States is exporting raw materials (corn, wheat, timber) and importing finished goods (video tape recorders, cars, cameras).

The other face is that of a consumer society. The truth of what America produces and exports is in the form of Manifestations, often helped by U.S. government subsidies to the export market. They are too expensive to sell completely, yet the government wishes to sell them.

Therefore, a supply region in a dangerous way to lose. A low economic developed country has begun to hand large amounts of money to its former colonies.

The United States also relies more and more on its military successes. The United States now has many more military bases in the world, in India and the Middle East, which produced the same raw materials, began expanding markets in the world. The United States is the only country in which its empire is no longer to pay for its imports or for its welfare benefits. The United States, civil war, and finally a financial military dictatorship.

Trade protectionism and competition are not the only dangers. An agrarian society requires foreign prices for petroleum and food, and the food exporting countries (Japan, Australia, Canada) are not very price sensitive; eventually they will run out of oil and all have nothing to spend. Technology can always supply raw materials for the new, and the technology in the world is so simple that the United States can still manufacture what it needs.

The United States also relies more and more on its military successes. The United States has not yet reached a market for new raw materials, but it now has the market for the new ones to wear. The United States now has many more military bases in the world, in India and the Middle East, which produced the same raw materials, began expanding markets in the world. The United States is the only country in which its empire is no longer to pay for its imports or for its welfare benefits. The United States, civil war, and finally a financial military dictatorship.

And the answer is...

To the editor:

While I greatly admire the university's emphasis on the need for a diverse student body, I am a little concerned about the implications of the administration's new policy of accepting a greater percentage of students from other countries. The new policy is intended to increase diversity on campus and promote international understanding, but I worry that it may result in a homogenization of the student body, as students from different cultures may struggle to adapt to the American way of life.

Furthermore, I am concerned that the administration's decision to increase the percentage of international students on campus may not adequately address the needs and concerns of American students. While it is undoubtedly important to increase diversity on campus, it is equally important to ensure that American students have equal opportunities to learn from and interact with students from different backgrounds.

I urge the administration to carefully consider the potential implications of its new policy and to ensure that all students, regardless of their country of origin, have equal opportunities to participate in the activities and programs offered on campus.

Sincerely,

Hawks to entertain Michigan, Spartans

By Dan Minne

The Iowa men’s tennis team will try to get back on track this Sunday when it faces Michigan State at 10 a.m. and Michigan on Monday afternoon. Both matches will take place at McLeod Tennis Center.

The Hawks fell to Indiana 7-0 on Sunday in Bloomington and have dropped the last two matches of the season. A win over Michigan State would give the Hawkeyes a 3-3 overall record in Big Ten play.

"The team needs to bounce back," Iowa head coach Greg Johnson said. "We need to take care of business on our home court and get a win over Michigan State. We have some opportunities to get a win over Michigan on Monday as well." Johnson said the team needs to keep fighting and competing and putting consistent efforts on the court.

Despite defeating both teams last season, Michigan State and Michigan have been playing well recently. The Spartans are currently ranked No. 11 in the nation and have won three of their last four matches. Michigan is ranked No. 18 and has won six of its last seven matches.

"Michigan State is a tough team," Johnson said. "They have a good team and have been playing well recently. We need to focus on our game and make sure we're playing well on our home court." Johnson added that the team needs to keep working hard and staying focused on their goals.

Wheeler sends three to tough Texas Relays

By Dan Minne

Despite the unprecedented success of Robert Smith earlier this week that took him to the title at the Drake Relays, former Iowa track star Dave Wheeler is back on the track for the Texas Relays this weekend.

Wheeler, a native of Dallas, Texas, in the season has traveled to the Texas meet the last two years to support Smith, but also to support other athletes. This year, Wheeler has been in attendance for the last two weeks.

Last season, the Iowa relay team took the top spot in the event, and this year he has been chosen to be the anchor for the team. Wheeler has been competing in the 4x100 relay at the University of Texas for the last few years.

"I was going to compete in the 4x100 underclassmen," Wheeler said. "I was going to compete in the 4x100 as an underclassman." Wheeler added that he had competed in the 4x100 the last two years.

Spangler motivates by example

By John Standly

Jenny Spangler is one of a few athletes at Iowa State who, despite her injuries and atrophies of the腕, has a heart that is fiercely focused on her goals. What's left woman's track coach Jerry Fenners' footing is in no distance runners who turned in her best career marks. With the optional Marathon half-"I'm going to finish that race," Spangler declared after the Marathon half-

"I didn't think much about what was going to happen in 1985," Spangler said about her injury. "I just went to the doctor and told him what was going on, and he said I had a stress fracture."

"The only thing I was worried about was being able to run the rest of the season," Spangler said. "I thought I was going to be able to run, but I wasn't sure."

"I think my head was in the right place," Spangler said. "I knew I had to focus on getting better, and I was able to do that."

"I'm just glad I was able to get through it," Spangler said. "I'm happy with the way everything turned out."
