Reagan vows Nicaraguan trade embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Ronald Reagan, rebuffed in his effort to persuade several Latin American countries to cut off trade with Mos-san, said Tuesday he was prepared to impose trade sanctions on those countries.

"Don't know that they'll ever be able to stop," Reagan said during a news conference.

Reagan本人 mechanisms are available and can be obtained in no time.

Reagan vows Nicaraguan trade embargo

U.S. campuses flooded with protest activities

Reagan reiterated that economic sanctions against Nicaragua would "not be a country" imposing trade sanctions.

"The dilemma of this policy," he said, "is that we want to be fair to Nicaragua, and we don't want to reward the Sandinista government."

A rural Iowa City man who allegedly attacked his wife with an ax and a baseball
bat has been indicted on charges of murder with wilful neglect.

Robert Frese, 30, was charged with the event which occurred at 1:30 a.m.
Friday, Feb. 9, in the Kitty Hawk tavern.

A woman, who was at the tavern, reported that Frese struck his wife, with a man and a woman, who were also at the tavern, who also said they had been attacked.

The victim, who was taken to the hospital in serious condition, was later released.

The couple, who have been married for five years, have two children, ages 2 and 3.

Iowa

President Bush has declared a major disaster for the state of Iowa.

Bush's declaration, made as a result of winter storms and flooding, will allow the federal government to provide federal aid to individuals and households in the affected areas.

The declaration covers 97 counties in Iowa, and includes 32 additional counties in Illinois.

Bush's announcement comes amidst reports of widespread damage and losses across the state.

Pentacrest rally to present 'Writers on Reagan' today

By Dawn Shriver

Writers on Reagan, a group of students and faculty at the University of Iowa, will read prose and poetry from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. today in the Pentacrest lot, according to a release from the university.

More than 15 writers, including several prominent members of the university’s creative writing faculty, will gather to present a variety of works. The event is open to everyone.

"Writers don’t have to be a nationalized, qualified group," said Marvin DeNardis, a student and faculty member of the organization. "We’re going to have a variety of works to present, ranging from poetry to fiction to drama."

"People prefer the downtown area, near churches, hospitals, stores and doctors’ offices," said Woodrow Morris, president of Ecumenical Housing Corp. "We think we should respond to what elderly people are telling us — and they’re telling us they want to be downtown."

"Like other housing projects, we’re providing the community with more housing options," said Morris. "The new downtown apartment complex for the elderly is part of our plan to address the need for housing in the downtown area."

According to the release, the new apartment complex will provide 38 units for the elderly, with 25 percent of the units being efficiencies. The complex will be located along Gilbert Street, near churches, hospitals, stores and doctors’ offices.

"People who need these services are looking for more housing options," said Morris. "The new complex will provide additional housing for the elderly in the downtown area."

Despite some concerns raised by residents at a public meeting on the proposed location, Morris said the council will announce by Sept. 1 which community will receive the complex.

"We’re very happy with the location," said Morris. "We’re confident that the complex will be successful in providing housing for the elderly in the downtown area."

The council has no objection to us providing the complex, Morris said. "We’re happy to work with the community to ensure the success of the complex."

The Ecumenical Tower Development to build a new downtown apartment complex, but the complex will require the razing of the building in order for a parking lot to be constructed.

Student groups face budget cuts in latest CAC funding allotments

By Karen Burns

The student group New Wave should not be unfunded or allowed to lose its status in the Students' Administrative Board (SAB). I believe student groups are an integral part of the political and social fabric of the university. New Wave was placed in the political group definition. The SAB members who placed New Wave as a political group were not motivated by the desire to reduce funding, but were motivated by the desire to reclassify the group from a student group to a political group.

The Student Activities Board (SAB) is the student government body that finances student groups at the University of Iowa. The SAB allocates funds to student groups based on a set of criteria, including the group's size, membership, and the number of events they plan to sponsor.

New Wave is a student-run radio station at the University of Iowa. The group was placed in the political group definition, which is one of the criteria used by the SAB to allocate funds. The SAB decided that New Wave should be classified as a political group because the group's programming is geared towards political issues. This classification means that New Wave would not be eligible to receive funding from the SAB.

I believe the SAB's decision to classify New Wave as a political group is unjustified. The group is not only a part of the political landscape, but also contributes to the cultural and artistic life of the university. By denying New Wave funding, the SAB is denying the group the ability to continue its valuable work.

I urge the SAB to reconsider its decision and allocate funding to New Wave. The group is an important part of the university community and deserves support from the SAB.
Shiite Moslem fighters consolidate control over southern port of Tyre

The United States (US) - Fighting continued in the south-eastern city of Majnoun tải könnte worden. It was reported that the withdrawal of Israeli troops was the result of a joint agreement between the two sides. Resident said that the US had been negotiating with the Israeli government for the past two weeks to try to reach a cease-fire agreement.

The Israeli military had been using tanks and artillery to shell the city, and reports said that at least 12 people had been killed and 20 injured by the shelling.

Meanwhile, in the northern part of the city, fighting continued between the two sides. Reports said that the US forces had taken control of the port area, while the Israeli forces were still holding parts of the city. The fighting had been going on for several days, and it was causing widespread damage to the infrastructure of the city.

In the south, reports said that the US forces had also taken control of the town of Majnoun tải. The town had been under siege for several weeks, and it was becoming increasingly clear that the US forces were going to stay in the area for some time to come.

The US military said that they were still waiting for a formal cease-fire agreement to be signed, and that they were prepared to continue operations if necessary.

UI officials set a $40K a day effort to upgrade the UI boiler plant could save the state up to $30,000 in the next decade if the Iowa legislature passed a bill stimulating power plant renovation.

UI Physical Plant Assistant Director John Houck said Iowa has invested in firms in South Africa that have divested.

Houck said the UI plant currently burns western coal, and although boilers could be retrofitted to comply with the law, costs are astronomical. Houck said the 1986 Sullivan Principles require that coal divests.

Houck said benefits of the new boiler plant would not only upgrade the system, and we'll be in line with the rest of the country. He said the new boiler plant would capture sulfur emitted from the facility.

He said the Sullivan Principles pass, which costs approximately $38M, taxpayer.

Agricultural workers suffer more fatal and disabling accidents than any other group. According to a study by the National Safety Council, 421 out of 10,000 agricultural workers died in 1980, compared to 2.95 out of 10,000 in all other industries. It would be easy to write an adequate news story about the hazards these workers face. But is it possible to write an informative article that would help alert the public to tractor accidents and farmers' long trial in making safety a top priority?

The answer is “yes!” and the author, Richard Panek, has done it! Panek’s article is informative and honest. It is a true report on the hazards these workers face. It is a true reflection of the realities of farm work.

You are all no exception to the rule that the Night airer for May Appengruber is important to many middle-aged women against its women. It has been published day after day during recent years. It is nothing but a simple, straightforward story of a man and a woman who work together at night. But because these stories continue to be published day after day, men often read them without giving them another thought. I have never heard of one man who has read these stories and said, “I can’t believe that!”

Excitement is building for Derby

Spend A Buck, Eternal Prince early favorites

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — By now everyone knows that Spend A Buck is the clear favorite in the nation’s biggest horse race, the Kentucky Derby, while Eternal Prince is a close second.

But there are still seven other “believe” horses that will probably run in the race - Fighting Beauty, Reluctant Racer, the 10-1 shot Belle Torment, the 9-1 shot Bongo, the 5-1 shot Sunny’s Halo, the 10-1 shot Gato Del Sol and the 10-1 shot Skywalker.

No one is quite sure what to expect from any of them.

SKYWALKER’S TRAINER Monmouth, N.J. — With his last race in a race, Skywalker’s trainer said yesterday he would probably use a new strategy.

"He wasn’t trained right," he said. "He’s been a little bit of a disappointment."

"I think he’s just going to come out of it and run his best and just get a couple of jumps."

But he said the trainer had a change of heart.

"That’s why we’ve got to get used to what he’s in," the trainer said. "If we can get him used to it, we’ll have a good horse."}

Delahoussaye looking to win for third time

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — When A. P. Indy set a new Kentucky Derby record last year, it was going to be in his body. And this year Derby winning jockey Todd P. Delahoussaye can’t wait to get another crack at the Pack.

"Well that field’s out with the other horse (Stablemate) I had," he said. "I’ve been out there and then put those boys down about the same."

"I’ll feel like I’m thinking about this one, but I’m not really thinking about it," he said.

"But I’ll be there and ready."

Delahoussaye is the first of the horse’s to be entered in the race. He’ll be look to win his third straight win.

LOSS another setback for Page

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Greg Page, 1981 Kentucky Derby winner, has another injury that could cost him his career.

"It seems like ever since the race, he hasn’t been with us," Page’s trainer said.

"He’s been with us all the way, but he’s never been right."}

Buss has tax problem properties

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorney A. Lowell Buss has reportedly refused an offer by the IRS to settle his tax problems.

IRS officials said yesterday that tax officials were not offering Buss an immediate settlement.

"We’re not making any deals with Buss," an IRS official said.

"We’re not sure if there’s any possibility of settling with Buss," the official said.

David Letterman remains the top-rated late-night show host, leading the CBS network, but as the network’s capitalistic zeal has made him a multi-billionaire, he continues to increase his share of the broadcast business acumen has helped him turn a failing advertising machine into a successful one. The network, which once struggled to survive, has recently enjoyed a resurgence in ratings, partly due to the popular success of _The Late Show with David Letterman_.

The long-time leader of Roomful of Blues, Duke Robillard has turned his attention to another of his bands, the Legendary Blues Band. The group released its third album, titled "Shadow on the Wall," on Blue Note Records last fall, and the release of a second Blue LP, "The Best of Duke Robillard," is imminent.

Robillard, a 34-year-old native of Chicago, formed Roomful of Blues in 1966, recording the group's debut album, "I Remember You," on Blue Note Records that same year. The original group soon split apart, but Robillard continued Roomful of Blues in 1969, turning it into a big band playing jazz, swing and even blues covers. The group's current line-up includes bassist Thomas "Hog" Enright and drummer Tom "Big Boy" DeQuattraro, who are perhaps Robillard's best-known contributions to the group's successful run.

The group's first album, containing all original material, was quite a critical success. "Charged Copper Dollar" tonight.
