Nepal to get TV next year
KATHMANDU, Nepal-Five television stations will begin operating here during 1985, the government of the Himalayan nation said Aug. 15.

The government has trained 20 men to run the new experimental stations, who will bring in radio and television equipment from India and China, government officials said.

Nepal will have a training academy for television and radio personnel at Kathmandu,
the capital.

Nepal's first station, which will be on Channel 2, will cover two hours each day.

Military cabinet named
BEIRUT, Lebanon - The Israeli government is expected to name a new military cabinet
Saturday, sources here said.

The source said that the cabinet would include about 15 new ministers, and that the new government would be formed under the leadership of Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

The sources said the cabinet would include four ministers for military affairs,
including Defense Minister Maj. Gen. Haim Sharon.

Begin, who has been out of the government for a year, is expected to be reappointed defense minister.

US trials begin

Acclaimed director stages ‘comeback’

By Carolyn Herndon

Iowa City reporter

Left as a trophy for UI alumnus Sydney Spayde to keep, a director’s medal signalled the first of many hats, decided to assume the role of chief director.

Spayde, who is legally blind, has taken charge of the theatre for the summer, a year after he received part of his degree through Corning’s Poet Spots and the University of Iowa
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

After earning a degree in speech and drama from Parsons College in Rockford, Ill.,
Spayde was hired as drama instructor at Iowa
State University in 1979.

While awaiting a full-time teaching career — currently director of the Performing Arts Center at the University of Iowa —
Spayde worked on a box set instead of the regularly scheduled week and it filled the air over
Dakota Acclaim, an abandoned sewage treatment

NBC keeps No. 1 spot for eight weeks in row

NEW YORK (UPI) — NBC was the clear leader in its eighth consecutive week and ANCHORMAN, its late-night talker, took the ratings title, in line telecasts of the last seven weeks, making NBC the only one of the four networks to win six of those seven weeks, according to preliminary figures made available Monday by the A.C. Nielsen Co.

Prime time averages for the week, running from July 10 to 14, showed NBC with a 13 rating and a 22 share, compared to ABC with a 12 and a 20 share, CBS and Fox with 11 and 18, respectively.

This NBC average was the week's most-watched show, as it was the season's No. 1 ratings show in the week ending July 14, according to Nielsen Media Research.

At the Bijou

Music in Maine (1931) — A prize of $5,000 will be awarded to the producer of the best musical or play, in any style or genre, presented in the state of Maine during the current season. The prize will be presented by a local non-profit organization, the Maine Performing Arts Council, which will also be responsible for all costs associated with the production. The deadline for entries is August 1, 2023, and applications can be submitted online at the council's website. The award will recognize artistic excellence and community engagement in the arts.

The Bijou Theatre in Portland, Maine, is hosting a month-long film festival in July focusing on Maine-made films, with screenings every Sunday at 7 p.m. featuring some of the state's most talented filmmakers.

The Festival of Maine Media (FMFM) is the lead sponsor of the event, in partnership with the Maine Film Association, the Maine Film Commission, and the Maine Film Office.

For more information, visit the Bijou's website or contact them directly.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House-Senate budget talks collapsed Wednesday in a "bewildered" atmosphere of heated charges and countercharges over the fiscal year's budget, lawmakers said in a telephone interview.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., said in a telephone interview.

Said Democratic Rep. Bal环节，government, "As we approach the end of the year."...

On Tuesday, both Senate and House leaders met separately with the president, saying they were "in a process of trying to find out if there is a way to make a deal."...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd and House Democratic leader Tip O'Neill announced Tuesday they will launch a filibuster Wednesday to keep the Senate from adopting a highway trust fund measure until it includes money in the form of loan guarantees for state highway projects.

"We will not vote on anything that goes on the highway until there is money in the highway traffic trust fund," The Senate majority leader, Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., and the House majority leader, Rep. Jim Wright, D-Texas, said in a telephone interview.

The appearance of the two leaders appeared to break a logjam in the Senate that has caused the Senate to hold up the Senate's version of the highway trust fund bill.

"We want to see the highway trust fund as a part of every bill that comes to the Senate," Dole said. "We want to see it as a condition for getting the Senate to vote on any bill that comes to the Senate."...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted 31-29 Tuesday to approve a bill that would give President Ronald Reagan power to veto individual items in money bills.

The bill, which was passed by the House last week, would give the president the power to veto individual items in money bills, even if the overall bill is approved.

Reagan, in a message to Congress, said he would veto the bill if it is approved.

"I do not believe that the president should have the power to veto individual items in money bills," Reagan said.

"I believe that the president should have the power to veto the whole bill if it is approved," he said.

The Senate vote was 31-29, with 14 Republicans voting for the measure and 14 Democrats voting against it. The measure now goes back to the House for a final vote.

UI's TV station offers alternative programming

"The Kid's in rare form tonight," Lisa Mondanaro said to her 12-year-old son, Walker, as they changed the networks for the first time. "That's because he's only Wednesdays through Saturdays," Mondanaro said.

As a member of the UI Television Station's production crew, Lisa is astounded by how helpful and accessible the station is. "I have never worked on a project like this before," she said. "It's not only members of the station that are helpful and accessible, but also the station's regular volunteers."

"WITHOUT AN ACTUAL radio station, the station's only radio station is its internet presence. Without the production volunteers, particularly Lisa Mondanaro, we wouldn't be able to put them on the internet," said the station's manager, Rick Beeson. "If we had a radio station, we could lumped together with the rest of the community. A university access program can increase the university's visibility and help represent the university."

"It's not broadcasting," said the station's student-run radio station. "It's not about getting people's attention, but it's about providing information to the community."

"THE FORMER" is a one-on-one program that includes segments created by students who have gone through the university's communications program. "It's a great way to get involved," said the station's manager, Rick Beeson. "It's a great way to get people involved."

Hoyt earns MVP as Andujar sits home

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — White Sox starter Jose Andujar worshipfully stared at two Lavauet signs that kinblished the American League's honor Monday night.

Hoyt started two hits over three innings to lift the National League to a 5-0 victory over the American League, 20 hits to 17, in the 82nd All-Star Game.

"I was happy for (Hernandez) to get his first win because he made a realization that you have to fight for everything in this game," Hoyt said. "I was nervous before the first pitch, but after that I felt great."

Hernandez is a 31-year-old right-hander from Andujar's hometown of Lares, Puerto Rico. He was the starting pitcher for the White Sox in 1982, losing to Texas 3-1.

"I was thrilled to get a great pitch to George Brett for our first strikeout," Hoyt said. "We had a lot of fun out there."

Hoyt, the 1983 American League Cy Young winner with a 2.31 ERA, retired Andujar in the 7th inning, holding the National League to a 2-0 lead over the American League.

"I wish Andujar had started with the hatless. They wanted me to go as far as was going to start," Hoyt said. "I felt bad for him, myself out of the squad."

Andujar's refusal gave Hoyt a chance to pitch against his former team, as Hoyt played with the Chicago White Sox before being traded to the San Diego Padres.

"I only pitched against the White Sox once," Hoyt said. "I'm glad I was able to do it.

Kathy Fox leads an aerobics class in an activity room at the Field House Wednesday afternoon. The UNI Recreation Services offer 21 aerobics classes a week. There are a variety of classes offered in the Iowa City area offering aerobics instruction.

Caution advised in aerobics

By Steve Santes
Staff Writer

Last Tuesday Kathy teaches aerobics classes twice a week at a local health club while earning a degree in education. She often has hundreds of students in her classes.

Because she has become the center of the 1980s, exercise and new approaches to fitness, flexibility, and the development of cardiovascular fitness, and the development of cardiovascular fitness, she was a guest speaker at the University of Iowa February 1.

THE CONTINUOUS PADING on the legs during a workout has caused many injuries to participants, and people who are beginning, other than the experienced runner, are instructed to be careful.

Nature in training include improper footwear, hard floor surfaces, and improper posture, other deficiencies.

Iowa City is a home for aerobic enthusiasts. See next story page for more.

Two aerobics classes have the same number of students, and one provides instruction to the participants who may not understand the proper way to exercise.

Dr. Harley Feldick, director of the Iowa City Public Health, said he did not know the number of people suffering Student Health with aerobic injuries, but added that they were instituted improperly and injuries resulting from constant straining.

Rat test of a student from the University of Iowa, who tested a number of young people, was almost 34 percent.

Caution advised to be taken in the exercise and new approaches to fitness, flexibility, and the development of cardiovascular fitness, she was a guest speaker at the University of Iowa February 1.
