UI studies two-year language requirement

By Scott Hauser
Staff Writer

All UI students will have to take two years of college-level work in a foreign language to graduate from the UI, if the latest recommendations of the UI Foreign Language Council are adopted by the UI colleges.

Associate Dean of the College of Medicine Richard Caplan, chairman of the council, said the council proposed an entrance standard of at least two years of high school work in a foreign language for incoming students and a graduation requirement of two years of college-level work in order to receive a bachelor's degree from the UI.

He said the proposals were given to Vice President for Academic Affairs Richard Remington and the deans of the UI's colleges last week and will be studied by each college separately.

CURRENTLY, only the College of Liberal Arts has a foreign language requirement for its graduates, according to UI College of Liberal Arts Associate Dean James Lindberg.

Caplan said each college will decide on its own whether to accept the proposals and what part they want to implement. He said the UI central administration doesn't make blanket curriculum requirements for all the colleges.

UI College of Engineering Dean Robert Hering said the faculty of the college would probably not have time to decide whether to adopt the proposals or not until next semester.

He said some colleges, like engineering, will have difficulty adopting the proposals because of their current curriculum requirements, but said the college will consider the proposals.

Lindberg said the College of Liberal Arts is also considering the proposals, but said since the proposals are still at the beginning of the adoption process, it's difficult to comment on them.

HE SAID THERE is a renewed interest in foreign language education in the United States, but also said one of the first concerns is whether the UI has the resources for the extra classes the measures would require.

Caplan said the proposals, if accepted, would not be implemented for several years because high schools would need time to prepare their students for the requirements.

He said the graduation requirement could be met by four years of foreign language study in high school.

The entrance standard would be "quite a lot like what is required of a student in mathematics." Students would be allowed to enroll, but would not receive graduation credit for elementary foreign language classes until they have satisfied the standard.

U.S. pulls out from Sudan, Lebanon

United Press International

Two Americans and 32 Britons were evacuated from west Beirut to the eastern sector of the city Sunday to escape pro-Libyan terrorists who murdered two Britons and an American in revenge the U.S. bombing of Libya.

The exodus from the mainly Moslem sector of the war-ravaged capital of Lebanon coincided with the evacuation of nearly 100 Americans from the Sudan to the Kenyan city of Nairobi Sunday after the wounding of a U.S. Embassy communications officer.

A shadowy pro-Libyan group claiming responsibility for the killing of American hostage Peter Kilburn and two British hostages in Beirut last week, cited the U.S. attack on Libya and Britain's decision to allow British-based U.S. bombers to participate in the air raids.

OFFICIALS AT the British Embassy said Sunday's evacuation was the last of the remaining Westerners living in West Beirut.

Most of the evacuees were scheduled to leave east Beirut today by boat for Cyprus, but a few were to travel out of Lebanon later this week after deciding on their destinations.

"We are waiting for the boat to arrive from Cyprus. Although east Beirut is safer for us than the western sector, it still is like living in exile," said a British journalist who refused to be identified.

A British Embassy spokesman in east Beirut said Sunday, "We cannot determine whether the 32 British citizens would stay in Christian east Beirut or Cyprus."

U.S. plane, crew found by Libyans

United Press International

The American F-111 fighter-bomber downed in the U.S. air raid on Libya was pulled from the sea and shipped to the Soviet Union for technical inspection, an Abu Dhabi newspaper reported Sunday.

The newspaper Al-Ittihad, published in the United Arab Emirates, quoted Libyan sources as saying the bodies of the plane's two crewmen, Capt. Fernando L. Ribas-Dominici, 33, of Puerto Rico, and Capt. Paul F. Lorence, 31, of San Francisco, also were recovered from the sea and are being kept in the Libyan capital Tripoli.

The F-111, found off the coast of Libya, was the only one unaccounted for after the U.S. warplanes hit Tripoli and the port of Benghazi Monday night in retaliation for alleged Libyan support for terrorism.

THE LIBYAN NEWS agency Jana, monitored in London, said Sunday that Libyans were cabling Col. Moammar Khadafy volunteering to serve on suicide squads "to destroy everything American" in revenge for the raid.

Libyan officials put the death toll from the U.S. attack at 37, including Khadafy's adopted 15-month-old daughter, but Western diplomats believe as many as 100 people may have been killed.

Jana said local Libyan Peoples Congresses met across the nation this weekend to discuss the "failed, treacherous American aggression against Libya."

"The masses confirmed their complete readiness to confront the American aggression," Jana said. "In cables sent to the leader of the revolution they confirmed their readiness to become suicide squads in order to destroy everything American."

THE WEST GERMAN newspaper, Bild, said Libya also had begun recruiting suicide commandos from its prisons and was advertising overseas for mercenaries for its army.

"The Libyan intelligence service is recruiting terrorists in Libyan prisons," Bild said, attributing the report to Israeli, British and Lebanese intelligence sources. "People who committed serious crimes are released on the condition they are willing to take part in suicide missions outside Libya."

In Tripoli, six representatives of the Non-Aligned Movement arrived in the Libyan capital to offer Khadafy their support.

Award allows UI professor to research

By Scott Hauser
Staff Writer

UI Professor Melvin Novick has received one of the scholarly world's most prestigious awards, a John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation Fellowship, the College of Education announced last week.

Novick, a professor of measurement and statistics in the UI College of Education's Psychological and Quantitative Foundations of Education department, is one of 272 scholars nationwide to receive the award.

"I'm very pleased to get it," Novick said. "I can't think of any award that would please me more. I'm delighted."

Novick said his proposal for the award was an idea for a book, "Commentaries on Psychological Testing," which will explore public policy questions of implementing tests for educational, psychological and industrial purposes.

THE AWARD is given to scholars to free them from their teaching duties so they can focus on their research interests. The award is "tailored" financially for each proposal.

"It allows me, so to speak, to buy myself out of some teaching," Novick said of the $20,000 award for the 1986-87 academic year.

UI College of Education Dean Charles Case said the award is usually given to career scholars with a record of outstanding scholarly work.

NOVICK, WHO has been a member of the UI faculty since 1970, speculated that his past work in both the technical and policy questions of testing research, particularly the publication last year by the American Psychological Association of a standard-setting document for the construction and use of tests, were main factors in his winning the award.

Novick described himself as something of a leader in the field of testing research and said his winning a Guggenheim Fellowship is an "enormously positive sign."

"I consider myself to be something of a consumer advocate who works within the system," he said of his research into the policy questions involved in the decisions to implement tests.

Novick is the first winner of the award from the UI College of Education and that he may be only the third or fourth in the history of the UI, Case said.

"We're absolutely thrilled and delighted to have him receive this honor," Case said, adding the award reflects favorably on both Novick's work and on the college.

Marcos admits to holding U.S. property

SAN FRANCISCO — For the first time since he was deposed, former Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos has admitted owning property in the United States, according to a newspaper interview published Sunday.

In an exclusive interview with the San Francisco Examiner, Marcos said he owns two pieces of property in New Jersey — one an estate worth $3 million and another worth $130,000.

He told the newspaper they were purchased by his family with "money borrowed from friends and some of our own," for the Marcos' two children.

The new government of Corazon Aquino has accused the Marcos family of making off with an estimated $5 billion accumulated during the 20 years they ruled the Philippines.

Broken dam in Sri Lanka kills 25

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka — A dam burst in northeast Sri Lanka and a 40-foot wall of water flooded 35 villages, killing 25 people and leaving 50,000 homeless, authorities said Sunday.

Some victims climbed trees to escape the raging waters when the 42-foot dam, holding back a vast reservoir fed by the nation's longest river, the Mahaweli Ganga, burst Saturday, sending water into 21,500 acres of paddies and 35 villages.

Officials said the death toll was at least 25 and six more were feared dead.

The cause of the flood was not immediately known but authorities said the dam, 140 miles northeast of Colombo, had been leaking.

Horowitz packs house in Moscow

MOSCOW — World famous pianist Vladimir Horowitz, who left Russia in 1925 vowing never to return, was hailed by a rapt audience that jammed the aisles and cried "Bravo" at his first concert in the Soviet Union in 61 years.

Hundreds of music-lovers braved a cold rain outside the prestigious Conservatory of Music in the hope of getting a spare ticket or even a glimpse of the 82-year-old Russian-born pianist.

Most of the 2,000 people in the audience were Westerners and Soviet officials, including the family of Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze. But some 300 people crashed the concert with fake tickets, bribes or the help of friends.

Mount St. Helens' activity continues

VANCOUVER, Wash. — Mount St. Helens belched a small amount of gas and fine ash Sunday in the latest episode of what geologists consider to be normal activity for the volcano.

There was no measurement of the size of the early morning plume, but it was described as being somewhat smaller than a plume that went to 16,000 feet Saturday night.

The plume was so light it failed to show on National Weather Service radar in Portland.

But Myers warned that the volcano also is belching rocks and other volcanic debris as high as several hundred feet into the air, resulting in a potentially dangerous situation for small planes flying near the crater.

NASA investigates booster rockets

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Rocket engineers Sunday worked to disassemble a shuttle solid-fuel booster to look for anything unusual that might provide insights into whether assembly problems played a role in the Challenger disaster.

Two boosters that had been scheduled for use in May with the shuttle Atlantis are the target of the investigation.

Documents indicate engineers had problems putting Atlantis' left-side rocket together that were similar to those experienced when Challenger's faulty right-hand booster was assembled.

NASA spokesman James Ball said engineers expected to have the upper fuel segment of Atlantis' left-side booster pulled off by Sunday night.

Philadelphia recalls suffering of Jews

PHILADELPHIA — In the city's annual memorial to the six million Jews who perished at the hands of the Nazis, some 1,000 people Sunday heard former Congresswoman Elizabeth Holtzman say "the world has not yet learned the lesson of the Holocaust."

Holtzman cited the murder of Leon Klinghoffer, a Jewish passenger aboard the hijacked Achille Lauro cruise ship, as an example of the continuing persecution of Jews and the world's indifference to it.

Klinghoffer's two daughters, Ilse and Lisa, attended the memorial and lit one of six candles honoring the Holocaust victims. Police estimated 1,000 people attended the annual outdoor memorial.

House limits regents money

By Kirk Brown
Legislative Writer

DES MOINES — Several lawmakers said Friday they were surprised to learn an amendment they approved without actually seeing during a marathon committee meeting last week would trim $300,000 from the budget of the state Board of Regents office.

According to Rep. Rich Varn, D-Solon, the amendment he sponsored that was approved by the Iowa House of Representatives Appropriations Committee would reduce the board office's budget from about $700,000 to approximately $400,000 next year.

Varn said these funds are earmarked to help pay for providing indigent women with obstetrical health care in their hometowns. Currently these women must travel to UI Hospitals for this care.

VARN ALSO said this cut is justified because there are too many management-level executives on the regents payroll.

"I would rather cut away from unneeded bureaucracy than prevent pregnant women from getting the care they need and deserve," he said.

Board officials were tied up putting together the agenda for next week's regents meeting and were unavailable for comment Friday.

Several members of the Iowa Senate took time out from debating legislation Friday to complain about the frequent malfunctioning of the State Capitol's two elevators.

"We have an elevator system that is very undependable," said Sen. Edgar Holden, R-Davenport. "It is constantly giving us trouble."

"I suspect that there are quite a few hours in the day that are wasted waiting for that thing," Sen. Bill Dielman, D-Pella, said.

Earlier last week, one of the high school students serving as a page in the House was stranded for 45 minutes between floors on a capitol elevator.

In addition to delays caused by malfunctions, Holden said he is tired of employees in the capitol using the elevators to "bring garbage boxes up" while lawmakers are trying to use them.

"They ought to do that at some other time of the day," Holden said, suggesting 6:00 a.m. might be an appropriate time.

Iowa City police responded to several calls at local fraternity houses during the weekend, but no arrests were made.

Early Saturday, a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, 702 N. Dubuque St., told police that members of Sigma Nu Fraternity, 630 N. Dubuque St., were "shooting golf balls across the street." Police are investigating the incident.

About one half hour later, a Ronalds Street resident who asked Sigma Nu members to quiet down during a basketball game was allegedly told his house would be "trashed" if he summoned officers, according to police reports.

At about 4:30 a.m., police received a report that "a large fist fight is about to ensue" between members of Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternities. The men involved were warned of possible charges by police.

At 3:30 a.m. Sunday, police responded to a "large fight in progress" in the 800 block of North Dubuque Street, but no suspects were located. Police were contacted by a UI Campus Security officer more than an hour later about "subjects fighting in the street" in the same area. The suspects were gone when police arrived.

Arrest report: Kevin Henry, 21, 620 S. Gilbert St., was charged by Iowa City police Sunday with repeat offense public intoxication and fourth-degree theft after he was apprehended near Iowa State Bank, 102 S. Clinton St.

According to police reports, two wallets belonging to other men were found in Henry's possession when he was arrested. The men were contacted by police and verified that their wallets were stolen.

Report: Iowa City police received a report Friday of a man who was driving a car with a gun pointed to his head.

A local woman told officers she witnessed the incident on Kirkwood Avenue near Dodge Street. She told police that four men were in the car and that a passenger in the back seat was "holding a gun to the driver's head."

Police were unable to locate any suspects.

Assault report: A local man was allegedly assaulted Friday at The Kitty Hawk bar, 800 Dubuque St., according to Iowa City police reports. The man reportedly struck his head after he was pushed against a pool table. The injury required stitches, according to police reports.

Assault report: An Iowa City man reported to police that he was assaulted in a residence in the 400 block of South Dubuque Street Saturday.

The man told officers he was struck by a party guest after he asked the guest to leave.

Theft reports: Five people reported thefts to Iowa City police Friday and Saturday.

Jerry Gerard, of Gerard Electric Inc., 1807 Stevens Drive, told police Friday that items worth $2,500 were taken from the business. A boat motor, two fuel tanks and two batteries were stolen.

Dan Doyle, 609 S. Lucas St., reported Saturday to police that items worth $380 were stolen from his car. A cassette player and two speakers were taken.

Tom Moninger, 325 Ronalds St., told police that $185 worth of stereo and air conditioning equipment were stolen from his car Saturday. The car was parked outside Hill Top DX Service Center, 1123 N. Dodge St.

Patrick Johanns, 322 N. Van Buren St., reported to police that a radar detector, six cassette tapes and a tape case were stolen from his car Friday outside 303 Ellis Ave., when he was delivering a pizza. The items are valued at $159, according to reports.

An employee of Dale Lee Distributing, of Cedar Rapids, reported to police Friday that six cases of Michelob Lite beer were stolen from a delivery truck while it was parked outside The Vine Tavern, 330 E. Prentiss St. The beer is valued at more than $70.

Two local investment firms are seeking a court-appointed agent to supervise the business and assets of the Old Capitol Center to benefit all of the center's investors.

According to the suit filed in Johnson County District Court Friday by Old Capitol Business Center Company Limited Partnership and Old Capitol Limited Partnership, the two firms have been denied cash flows from Center Investors.

Center Investors is a firm made up of local residents Kenneth Albrecht, Robert Barker, Frank Boyd and Wayne Kempf. Also listed as general partners in Center

Investors are Metro Pavers Inc., Iowa City Ready Mix Inc. and Barker Development Co.

According to the suit, none of the investors involved in suing Center Investors has received an annual distribution of cash flows as required by an agreement signed in 1982. The agreement allowed Center Investors to assume control of operating the shopping center.

CENTER INVESTORS has refused to distribute the cash flow in the past and does not intend to in the future, the suit states.

"Defendant Center Investors is depriving the individuals who originally invested in Old Capitol Center of the annual cash flow distributions which, as defendant Center Investors and its original general partners knew, had been the clearly understood expectation upon which these individuals originally made their investments in Old Capitol Center," the suit states.

According to the suit, the plaintiffs believed the investment venture into the shopping center would be successful and it would eventually provide a substantial return on their money.

The court-appointed supervisor would "assure that the business and assets will be managed in a matter that is in the best interests of all the investors in the venture," records state.

Students celebrate spring with Riverfest food, levity

By Kent S. Huelke
Staff Writer

With the sun shining high overhead and nary a cloud in the sky, the eighth-annual Riverfest celebration blasted off this weekend.

The annual celebration of spring inspired hundreds of UI students to dance, sample cuisine from local eateries and bask in the vernal sunshine.

A Taste of Iowa City, held on the Union Field Saturday, showcased the culinary specialties of 10 Iowa City restaurants.

"Most people here are just standing around eating in the sun," said George Mihalopoulos, owner of George's Best Gyros, as he examined the crowd. "The only problem is there is no beer out here."

While none of the 10 restaurants were selling beer, many students brought their own intoxicants to the party.

"I THINK PEOPLE are here for the beer and the weather — people want to get out and have a good time in the sun," said UI freshman Pete Deininger as he lounged on the green grass and sipped from a can of Busch. "People want to get away from it all and have a good time."

While many students just stretched out on the ground and lazily enjoyed the sunny afternoon, other students participated in pick-up games of Hacky-Sac and Frisbee.

"Spring is in the air," UI freshman Mike Judge said as he kicked the sack to a friend standing nearby. "It's a nice day. Everyone wants to come out and have a good time."

"It's like the first big celebration of the spring — a little sun, a little music, a little food," said Craig McCaw, manager of Bruegger's Bagel Bakery.

He added that thirsty Riverfesters slurped about 40 gallons of Bruegger's lemonade during the afternoon festivity.

THE CELEBRATION also included several bands from Iowa City high schools and the local rock band Happenstance.

The Battle of the Bands preliminaries were held on Friday and Saturday night in the Union Wheelroom. Eight bands competed and four bands were selected by the audience to continue to the finals April 25.

The Pulse, Orange Ghost, Happenstance and Stan Hazzrd were selected by the audience to advance to the finals. Montage, Striker, Four Million and Sign of the Ju Ju Man also competed.

Hundreds of UI students drank beer as they rocked at the competition.

STEVE HUGHES, lead singer for Orange Ghost, said there is a wide variety of bands involved in the competition.

"There is more variety this year than last year. You've got everything from punk bands to cover bands," Hughes said.

Dave Kounig, 17, said the competition allows many students an opportunity to see live music.

"Half of the people wouldn't get to see anything like this if it wasn't for this," said Kounig, who sported a leather jacket and a mohawk hair cut.

Other UI students saw the competition as an alternative to listening to music at Iowa City bars where dance records are the norm.

"It's an alternative," said UI freshman Chris Warling. "Live music beats record music any day."

Freedman praises UI students

By Scott Hauser
Staff Writer

Top UI administrators had words of praise and advice for the UI's top students Saturday.

UI President James O. Freedman told about 200 people at the UI Parents Day luncheon it's not true that "this generation" of college students is only interested in career advancement.

He said students are dedicated to their studies, but are also "deeply engaged" in the world around them and are interested in learning how they can contribute to making the world a better place.

Two examples of such students are the winner of the Susan B. Hancher award, UI senior Elizabeth Matt, and the daughter of the Mother of the Year award, UI senior Margaret Donkers, he said.

THE HANCHER AWARD and the Mother of the Year, awarded by the UI chapter of Mortar Board, were presented at the luncheon. The Hancher award is given to an outstanding senior woman and the mother of the year award is given to the mother of a UI student for work in her community and state.

"This kind of seriousness begins in the home," Freedman said to the parents in the audience. "I'm grateful to all of you for giving us a student body that's a pleasure to be with."

Earlier Saturday, UI Vice President for Finance Dorsey Ellis told about 45 UI collegiate scholars that their commitment to a career and to themselves will inevitably conflict with the concerns of others.

Speaking at the UI Honors Convocation in Clapp Recital Hall, Ellis told the seniors they cannot avoid "the tragic choices" of deciding when to overrule private concerns to advance public welfare.

USING EXAMPLES from medical technology, he said students will have to answer questions of public policy such as how to regulate heart transplants and possibly administer AIDS vaccines.

He urged the students to be wary of letting their self-interest get in the way of making tough decisions.

"When we find ourselves solving moral questions in terms of our own self-interest, we must remind ourselves of our capacity for self-delusion," he said.

The collegiate scholars represent less than 1 percent of the senior class, UI Philosophy Professor and Acting Director of Honors in the College of Liberal Arts Richard Fumeron said.

Towns clean up after Texas twister

SWEETWATER, Texas (UPI) — Standing among debris that once was a housing project for the elderly, Gov. Mark White Sunday promised state loans and a plea for federal disaster aid for the estimated 1,500 residents of this West Texas town left homeless by a killer tornado.

"I don't see how anybody could have lived through this," White said. "It's as bad as I've seen."

Two twisters converged just before touching down about 7 a.m. Saturday, cutting a path two miles long and a half-mile wide through the West Texas town of 12,000. No warning was issued of the twister, which the National Weather Service said did not show up on radar.

An 87-year-old man was killed and 92 people were injured, three critically. The five people who were reported missing Saturday had all been accounted for Sunday.

TWISTERS THAT struck Hill, McLennan and Limestone counties Saturday night, about 100 miles east of Sweetwater, injured at least nine people. Two remained hospitalized in fair condition Sunday.

Herman Jeffrey surveys the rubble that used to be his home before a tornado whipped through his Sweetwater neighborhood Saturday.

day in Waco. White sent 115 Texas National Guard troops to keep order in Sweetwater, about 215 miles west of Dallas, Saturday night and flew in Sunday morning to assess the damage.

The governor toured the wreckage for an hour and a half, talking to survivors who were picking through the rubble.

The governor promised to seek federal disaster aid for the area and said the county had already been approved for state housing loans, the process of which would be accelerated.

He made a stop at Sun Village, the housing project for the elderly, where Henry Earl Tatom was killed and 124 residents, ranging in age from 65 to 96, had lived.

"WE EASILY could have seen 100 to 150 lives lost," White said.

Kathleen Lewis, director of the housing project, said few of the elderly had returned to their apartments Sunday.

"Most are with their families today," she said. "They aren't out here because the shock has been pretty hard on them."

About 600 homes were damaged by the twister, more than half of those demolished, said Mayor Rick Rhodes. None of the units in the housing project was livable.

While most of the streets had been cleared by Sunday and scattered debris picked up, there were still cars protruding from homes and a trash dumpster in the middle of one house that had lost its roof.

ON ONE ROOFLESS home someone had painted in large red letters, "House for Sale Cheap!"

Rhodes gave a rough damage estimate of $15 million to $20 million and said the tornado had damaged about one-sixth of the city, with lower to lower-middle class residential areas being hardest hit.

Stockman puts blame on flawed economics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — David Stockman, adding to revelations in his new book, said Sunday President Ronald Reagan's economic policy was based on a "fundamentally flawed plan" and promoted by a treasury secretary "who couldn't add."

The former budget director also charged in an interview on PBS's "Frontline" program to be aired Sunday that Congress balked at the anti-spending pledges Reagan and his administration had brought to Washington.

Stockman's book, "The Triumph of Politics: How the Reagan Revolution Failed," has been long awaited in Washington circles for its rumored tell-all nature.

The "Frontline" interview was conducted by William Grieder, whose November 1981 interview with Stockman in The Atlantic Monthly got the budget director in trouble with top White House officials.

STOCKMAN SAID in the PBS interview that when he tried to explain to the president and the Cabinet the need for $75 billion a year in budget cuts to achieve a balanced budget, he was "somewhat chagrined at the level of knowledge and the understanding was pretty thin."

The president, Stockman said, was an optimist when looking at the budget.

"I think in the back of his mind he never believed these large deficit projections because he thought as the economy picked up and more people start working and more revenue would come in and these numbers would disappear."

But Stockman would not blame the huge deficit — now about $180 billion — on Reagan.

DONALD REGAN, who had been treasury secretary and now is White House chief of staff, was "a profoundly destructive influence," Stockman said, because the president needed "a unified voice from his advisers" to tell him the budget plan would not work.

"And yet invariably Don Regan came in and told the president, 'Stand pat. These deficits are going away. These numbers are exaggerated. They're not real. Don't raise taxes,'" Stockman said.

Corpse of American returned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The body of American Peter Kilburn, held hostage in Lebanon more than a year and killed in apparent retaliation for the U.S. raid on Libya, was returned Sunday to the United States without fanfare.

A spokesman at Andrews Air Force Base said a C-141 Starlifter bearing Kilburn's body landed at the installation outside Washington at 11:40 a.m.

There was no ceremony for the return and reporters were not permitted on the base to watch the plane land.

State Department spokesman Bruce Ammerman said the silence and security around the body's return was imposed at the request of Kilburn's family.

AMMERMAN SAID late Sunday the body had been positively identified as Kilburn's and was being prepared to be shipped to California where the family was arranging a funeral.

The plane left Rhein-Main Air Base outside Frankfurt, West Germany, early Sunday. Before his body left Lebanon, U.S. officials used photos to identify Kilburn, 62, chief librarian of the American University of Beirut, who was kidnapped in Moslem west Beirut 17 months ago.

The body of Kilburn was found along with those of two British schoolteachers Thursday in mountains east of Beirut.

A pro-Libyan group called the Arab Fedayeen Cells claimed responsibility, saying the hostages were killed in retaliation for last Monday's U.S. bombing raid on Libya.

Defending the Chief

Being president of the United States involves making some complex and difficult decisions. In no area is this more so than as commander in chief of the armed forces where decisions can affect not only lives of military personnel but the rest of the earth's population, which is daily threatened with the spectre of nuclear conflict.

During his presidency, Jimmy Carter was harshly criticized by conservatives for making tough decisions such as supporting the SALT II negotiations and canceling the B-1 bomber program. Carter, who graduated high in his class at the U.S. Naval Academy, served seven years active duty in the Navy. As a top engineer, Carter supervised construction of the world's first nuclear submarine.

Now the conservatives have their choice in the White House.

President Ronald Reagan is also coming under intense scrutiny for decisions to greatly increase defense budgets, including the construction of 17,000 new nuclear weapons, and for failure to advance arms control efforts such as the Comprehensive Test Ban.

Reagan, who was a lackluster scholar at Eureka College at Secor, Ill., spent World War II in Hollywood making army training films.

Iowa Rep. Berkley Bedell, D-6th District recently accused Reagan of being out of touch with reality saying: "President Reagan must think he's still at the movies where he can watch a nuclear holocaust blow up the planet on the screen and then walk out into the sunlight as though nothing happened."

While Bedell and others should be encouraged to constructively criticize Reagan's policy it would be wiser to concentrate on specific issues rather than on personal qualifications.

Conservative attacks simply did not hold up in the face of Carter's personal expertise in the field of nuclear weapons.

And it should be remembered that while Reagan lacked ability as a student, many people have been successful in countless fields with little or no education at all.

Also, although Reagan spent World War II in Hollywood, he did so because of poor eyesight. Medical disqualifications have long been considered legitimate reason for not serving active combat duty.

Each citizen has individual talents and so can contribute to their country in many ways. Direct military service is certainly not the best way for everyone to serve.

Hearing criticisms in stereo

By B. Gordon

I HAVE NOTICED a pattern. Most of my friends have been artists or intellectuals on the political left. Most of them, like me, have participated in large demonstrations on general issues such as nuclear war and the U.S. policy in Central America. We all abhor the creeping militarism and racism of the Reagan Era, both here and abroad in Margaret Thatcher's England or Menachem Begin's Israel. We all vote, argue and write the odd Letter to the Editor or Guest Opinion.

Of all my friends, two have been real political activists. Both have close blood relatives, who are said by their families to resemble them strongly, who spent their lives at the Pentagon.

Both, when they admitted the sourness of their biological history to me, shook their heads in stupefaction. How could one set of genes produce two such diametrically opposed people: One for human rights, one against; one with a vision for how things should be and one who only wants to destroy all visions but his own; one so consistent and one so hypocritical; one so clear-headed and one so deluded?

BEING A MEMBER of a heavily persecuted minority — middle-class liberals — I realize as my friends' heads shake that it is easy enough for them to regard me with scorn. I talk of freedom and equality, but what am I doing about it?

As I consider further, I see their doppelgangers sitting in the Pentagon, probably feeling the same scorn and putting it into the same words.

"Sheep," say my friends from their marches in the streets, looking into my apartment window where I sit reading Emily Dickinson. "Sheep," say the generals from their offices in the Pentagon as I admire the cherry trees. "Don't you realize what's going on? How can you stand there while your rights are stripped from you and trampled on? If you want to protect your way of life, the freedom you say you cherish, you'd better be willing to join the fight."

The Daily Iowan/Joseph Sharpnack

Guest Opinion

I hear these words in stereo, from the left and right.

When I assert that I'm proud to live in a country where the press is so free, I get jumped on by left-wingers. "A free press?" they say, looking a little ashamed of me. "The press in this country is controlled by multinational corporations."

WHEN I COMPLAIN about how President Ronald Reagan lied about the CIA/Contra terrorist primer, I get jumped on by right-wingers. "If you don't like it here," they sneer, "move to Russia."

The left tolerates my praise of this country as little as the right tolerates my criticism. No wonder they're at each other's throats when I'm not around to agree and disagree with both.

But the strangest moment of all this came last week, in the aftermath of the Libya bombing. A group of people I never expected to be grateful to, self-righteous, love-her-or-leave-her fraternity types, defended vociferously the Jewish people's right to a homeland in Israel against a group of leftists who insisted that Israel was an illegal terrorist state.

IS THE RIGHT of the Jews to fight for their homeland less important than the same right of the Palestinians? Is Israel a terrorist state because it will not deal with a group which refuses to acknowledge its right to exist? Who's being clear-headed here, and who hypocritical?

My fillers are not among those who advocate the dismantling of a Jewish homeland, but these are their friends. List the "terrorist" countries of the world and you're in uniform, either pinko or Navy blue. Talk about "freedom fighters" and they're either in Palestine or Nicaragua, depending on your insignia.

If human life is sacred but the federal government should fund abortion clinics, I know who you are; if terrorism must be eliminated except where it hurts the Russians, I recognize you, too.

I admit, in the nebulousness of my political involvement, to a belief that the cherry-tree gazers of this world are probably better off in the hands of those who fight for the rights of others without citing self-interest. I trust them more because they don't seem to live as well. A fat person has a right to eat, and a right to defend that right, but I wouldn't want to be a dinner guest.

Letters

Public domain

To the Editor:

Once again we hear the cry for the protection of rights. In a letter to the editor, Mia Clevenger ("Indecent intrusion," DI, April 15) makes a plea for the protection of an individual's sexual practices, saying they're a private matter. What a weak excuse to practice perversion. It is obvious that sexuality is absolutely not a private matter between those engaged in sexual promiscuity (homosexuality and fornication) — AIDS, which plagues our nation today, and venereal disease, which is prevalent today and in years past, is undeniable proof of that.

How selfish can one human being be to go ahead and do "whatever feels good" without one thought about the harm and destruction he or she is bringing upon society? I wonder if Clevenger realizes the free practice of sexual perversion has left families devastated as they lost innocent loved ones to the sting of that repulsive disease AIDS. The dead have no further chance to practice their rights. Everybody is entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in this nation, including the innocent victims of AIDS.

"Hurrah!" to Georgia's law which prohibits a form of sexual perversion.

Take a stand

To the Editor:

When our government breaks the law or selectively applies it, it is time for all people to stand up and point this out. I believe that Gov. Toney Anaya of New Mexico, by declaring that state a sanctuary for Salvadoran and Guatemalan refugees, has pointed out that we Americans are disregarding the United Nations Refugee Act in regard to these refugees. We are selectively disregarding the circumstances of these people. We are sending them back to face torture and death because they may tell Americans what is really happening in El Salvador and Guatemala. And if more Americans knew what our policies are doing to those people, we wouldn't stand for it.

I wish we had more politicians willing to stand up and question the actions and policies of this country. Frankly, if we had more politicians like Anaya we would not be in situations like this in the first place.

Concert comments

To the Editor:

What's the matter? Did Allen Hogg get up on the wrong side of the bed April 15? Or does he simply enjoy being glum? Of course, I'm referring to his review "Half-Hearted" try lulls arena crowd" (DI, April 14).

He was well within his element by stating that Heart played Carver-Hawkeye Arena and it was sponsored by the Student Commission on Programming and Entertainment. But that was where his perception of the evening began to diminish. He must have been sitting outside or in the john if all he heard was "hollow sounds" and "little excitement." The din of the crowd was so great that many times the band was forced to pause after Ann Wilson introduced the song to be played.

I, as well as dozens around me, only used our chairs as dance platforms. The only thing "lame" about the concert was the floor seating. The arena seemed better suited for a Sunday school revival than a rock concert.

So next time there's a "half-hearted" concert coming to this area let me know. Because if Hogg says it's weak, I want to see it.

Glen Gassman

To the Editor:

The article "Students face off on Libyan bombing" (DI, April 16) contained a report of two of my blue-blooded fellow Americans publicly harassing a Palestinian student during the April 15 Pentacrest rally. Apparently this student looked Middle Eastern enough for the two Americans to vent their frustrations upon without reprimand from the crowd. They told the Palestinian, "Go home, fucker."

Those words have been an inspiration to me... And, like my fellow blue-blooded Americans, I believe in action and have decided to form an organization of American Students Seeking to Harass Obvious-Looking (Middle Eastern Students (ASSHOLES).

The threat of terrorism is everywhere. As with the Japanese Americans in World War II, we cannot allow anyone who looks like the enemy to exist in our country unchecked. Now is the time for all good men to rob these people of their dignity. For those who wish to become one of the ASSHOLES, we prefer previous experience but are perfectly willing to train those who show dedication. No entry fee is required, but trainees may find it necessary to leave behind some of the values and morals that make them proud to be Americans in the first place.

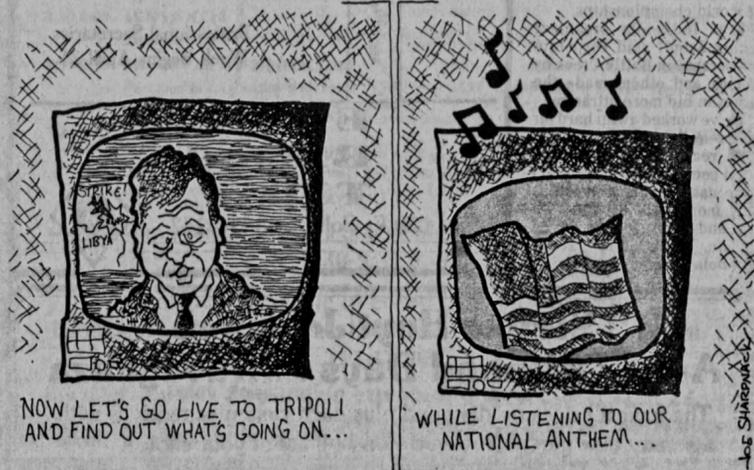

Christopher Bennett

To the Editor:

The military action taken by the United States against Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy is enormously popular with the American people as is the man who ordered the attack, Ronald Reagan. In Iowa City, though, Reagan is called a terrorist and the American government is called fascist by UI students.

Perhaps we should consider how these foolish Pentacrest rallies appear to the patriotic people of Iowa — whose taxes finance the UI — before we ask them to dig deeper into their pockets for continued support.

Mike Leone

To the Editor:

After hearing the April 15 protest I thought I'd exercise my right to free speech in support of the United States.

Why is it when innocent Americans are killed by terrorists a lot of people don't care but if just one foreign civilian gets killed by the United States during a military strike all hell breaks loose? Students protest, nations condemn us and our military is looked upon as murderers...

If you hate the United States for such action against foreign countries then move to that country and support them... I'm glad we have a president in office that isn't afraid to show our military force. Thank God we have men and women who are willing to serve in our armed forces and put their lives on the line for our country also.

Jordan Clouse

To the Editor:

I've got to comment on Mike Mulligan's statement at the April 15 Pentacrest demonstration. "I've already been in an argument with one of those Arab fuckers," the UI junior was reported to have said ("Students face off on Libyan bombing," DI, April 16). He continued with, "I wish they'd just go home."

Besides being a myopic thing to say, this is also a fallacious argument. Ad Hominem literally means "to man." What it means in plain talk is that you ignore the issue in favor of attacking the character (in this case, the nationality) of your opponent...

To "argue" is to give reasons for or against an issue. Here is a sample: Almost everyone in this country came from, or had ancestors who came from, another place. To criticize those who come to America later than our own ancestors did, simply because they come from another place, is blind masochism; we are, in effect, criticizing ourselves.

When Mulligan criticizes people just because of their nationality, maybe he is forgetting that his own ancestors probably came from Ireland, probably in the second half of the 19th century, and probably suffered gross prejudice themselves.

Maybe if he didn't spend so much time digging himself into the basements of building with steam shovels Mulligan would have the time to reflect on these ethical ideas.

Thomas Clayton

To the Editor:

Why is it difficult for campus radicals like Noel Heller to understand that the vast majority of UI students do not agree with her warped perception of reality?

Unlike the efforts that were necessary to organize the radicals to assemble April 15 on the Pentacrest, the rest of us who support our administration's decision to attack Libya were not organized by either Jeff Renander or Liz Dueland. Merely passers-by between classes, many of us shouted "U.S.A." a few times and moved on.

Those of us who like the "system" and work hard to live within it also support its defense. If your views differ, fine. But don't go on a witch-hunt against visible members of the right when your own rallies turn against you. It isn't Dueland or Renander, it's public opinion.

School board to broadcast meetings to boost interest

By Matthew Kelley
Special to The Daily Iowan

In an effort to boost interest in the school system, the Iowa City Community School District will begin broadcasting its school board meetings on Public Access Channel 27 later this month.

"We hope to make the board meetings more accessible to the public," said school board president Ellen Widiss. "There's been a large attendance at the meetings in the past. Through this means, we aim to get more people involved."

Beginning April 29, the meetings will be shown from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. on scheduled nights — the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The meetings will be taped and rerun one week after the live broadcast in the same time slot.

The "very low budget production" will be filmed using one fixed camera in the board room at 509 S. Dubuque St., Widiss said. Since the airtime is free on Channel 27, the only costs for the school board are the camera, taping unit and salaries of the two technicians responsible for the production work.

According to School Board Communications Coordinator Phyllis Yager, exact dollar amounts will not be available for a few weeks.

"We've spent a minimum amount of money on the equipment," Yager said. "We don't want to invest a lot of money in it until we see how well it's taken by the public."

The board plans to televise the meetings for one year then assess the possibility of another season, Widiss added.

A pilot tape of a board meeting was filmed in January, and the tape was analyzed by several UI faculty members who pointed out "just a few areas where we had room for improvement," Widiss said.

Board member Kathy Hiratzka said she found it easy to adjust to the extra attention during the filming session.

"We treated it just like we were live," Hiratzka said. "After I got used to the lights, it was easy to forget that we were on TV."

In addition, other school boards in the state have been televising their meetings for a few years, Yager said. She pointed out that both Cedar Rapids and Waterloo have similar systems.

"During the three hours, there will be at least one open discussion where people in the audience can comment on what's been said or present their own issues," Yager said. "It's kind of like the old town meetings."

Balloonists abandon Indianola

INDIANOLA, Iowa (UPI) — The Balloon Federation of America decided over the weekend that the colorful hot air balloons that have been floating over central Iowa every August should fly in Battle Creek, Mich., starting next year.

Corporate sponsorship from the Kellogg Co. apparently swayed the federation to move the National Hot Air Balloon Championships from its first and only home in Indianola, Iowa, for at least five years, said Rod Bartholomew, a Carlisle, Iowa, farmer.

In February, the nine-member board rejected bids from Indianola and Battle Creek to host the event and decided to open up competition for the site and award the championships to the highest bidder.

SATURDAY'S 5-4 VOTE to move the event is a bitter setback for Indianola, Iowa, which has hosted the colorful event since its inception in 1970 when a half dozen hardy balloon pilots lifted off over the Iowa cornfields.

The event has since grown to more than a hundred competitors who fly to win the right to represent the United States in the world championships.

Local Indianola organizer Dennis Schull said corporate sponsorship in Battle Creek by Kellogg and others made the Michigan bid more attractive.

"We've worked awful hard for this event the last 16 years and we're really disappointed we didn't get it," Schull said.

The national championships drew more than 200,000 visitors and pumped nearly $6 million into the local Indianola economy.

UI liberals were accused of mounting a hoax after a "conservative" demonstration in support of President Ronald Reagan's decision to bomb Libya failed to materialize Sunday night.

"It was clearly evident to me that the liberals set this up," said UI junior Liz Dueland. She claimed this was "in order to say that they took over the conservatives' rally" and get media attention.

Dueland admitted she had "no factual evidence" to support her belief.

UI Senior Amy Smith, a leading member of a coalition of groups actively opposed to Reagan's Libyan policy, rejected these accusations.

"I THINK IT'S absurd. I only found out about this from reading it in the (Iowa City) Press-Citizen," she said. "If a rally had not been called, I doubt that Liz Dueland would be walking through the Pentacrest making statements."

"We came here to listen to what they have to say. Apparently they have nothing to say because they are not here," she said.

Dueland said she had not come to support the rally, but only to see what was happening. "I know every conservative leader on this campus and no one knows anything about it," she said.

Smith read a statement claiming that in demonstrations against the Libyan bombings last week, protesters "were verbally assaulted, harassed with racist comments and physically intimidated."

NO ONE CLAIMED to know more about the sponsorship of the rally than a report in the Press-Citizen Saturday announcing the rally "supporting President Reagan's decision to attack terrorism by bombing Libya."

Efforts to discover who organized the rally by contacting UI administrators were unsuccessful.

Earlier this weekend, opponents of the bombing took another opportunity to discuss the matter by examining the U.S.-Libyan conflict in the context of Middle Eastern geopolitics.

At the Saturday meeting Jeff Sarles of the November 29th Committee for Palestine claimed that the United States has been preparing for war with Libya for years and the Gulf of Sidra was a convenient pretext.

Since the early Reagan years, when rumors of Libyan hit squads roaming the United States spread, the administration had been psychologically preparing Americans for war, he said.

THREE TIMES in the last eight months the United States has proposed to Egypt a joint war against Libya, according to an Egyptian newspaper, and U.S. troops were trained and briefed weeks in advance of the Gulf of Sidra incident, he claimed.

"It's clear the excuses that were used were pretexts, but the plans had been made for some time," he said.

The roots of the conflict lay in the fact that Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy had prevented the United States exploiting Libya through the oil industry, Sarles said. After seizing power in 1969, Khadafy nationalized the oil industry. "Oil revenues were used to provide for the people's needs, not as in most countries, to buy arms from the United States," he said.

SPEAKING AT THE same panel discussion Bashir Nisim, a geography professor at the University of Northern Iowa, accused Reagan of hypocrisy in claiming concern for freedom of navigation after the United States had mined Nicaraguan ports.

The conflict with Libya should be seen as part of a continuing U.S. policy aimed at obtaining dominance in the Middle East, said Nisim, an expert in geopolitics in the region.

Israel works together with the United States in this, he claimed, linking the U.S. attack on Libya with the Israeli invasion of Lebanon and Israeli attacks on the Arab capital cities of Baghdad and Tunis.

He suggested these attempts to dominate the region were the cause of the violence. "Freedom is not given, freedom is taken," he said, adding that the United States had itself had to fight for its freedom from Britain.

UI graduate student Eiman Jafar of Jordan said the U.S. media have fostered the impression that "Khadafy is killing people because he likes it" and diverted attention from the Palestinian problem which is "the root of terrorism."

"Terrorism will never stop until the Palestinian people are allowed to go home to their homelands," she said.

Bomber

and said they would go to the United Nations to seek a resolution condemning the U.S. raid.

The foreign ministers of India, Yugoslavia and Cuba and delegates from Senegal, Ghana and the Congo said they had come to Libya to express "firm solidarity and support for the people of Libya in the hour of their trial in the face of the unprovoked and blatant violations by the United States."

LIBYAN RADIO broadcasts, monitored in London, called for attacks on Britain which allowed the U.S. to use English bases as staging areas for the air attack.

Calling Britain "a principal party in the recent U.S. aggression against Libya," the radio said: "It is the duty of the Arab nation to punish it many times over, so that it realizes that the age of imperialist empires is gone forever and the age of the peoples has arrived."

British Foreign Secretary Sir Geoffrey Howe, speaking Sunday in a London television interview, indicated Britain would not rule out the possibility of allowing U.S. jet fighters to use its bases in any future strikes against Libya.

Asked if Britain would prevent the U.S. from using the bases for another strike, Howe said: "That cannot be absolutely excluded in the nature of the world in which we live."

BUT HE INDICATED the possibility of the U.S. requesting a second strike would be less likely if foreign ministers of the European Community meeting Monday in Luxembourg endorse powerful measures to contain Libyan terrorism.

Beirut or leave Lebanon altogether."

SUNDAY'S EVACUEES, including an Irishman and a New Zealander along with the Americans and Britons, were driven into east Beirut in a two-bus convoy escorted part of the way by the Druze Moslem militias of Tourism Minister Walid Jumblatt.

Jumblatt was the only Moslem leader who condemned the killing of the two British teachers — John Leigh Douglas and Philip Padfield — whose bodies were found Thursday with that of Kilburn, chief librarian at the American University of Beirut.

Jumblatt also charged unnamed Arab countries were behind the slaying of the three men and said "they provide facilities and protection for foreigners in their countries and revenge against the peaceful ones who decided to stay in Lebanon."

MOST OF THE evacuees were teachers, doctors and journalists who were in the western part of the Lebanese capital despite civil war which erupted in 1975.

A 52-year-old American woman who has worked in Lebanon for five years, said, "I don't want to leave but whenever I look to the pictures of the three executed men, I think it is stupid to stay."

The more than 100 people, mostly Americans, who were flown from Khartoum to Nairobi Sunday completed the evacuation of U.S. personnel from Sudan because of fears of retaliation for the U.S. strike against Libya.

The 130 evacuees arrived aboard a charter airliner and were met by U.S. Embassy officials.

They were driven to a luxury hotel in Nairobi, where they were to stay until they could be flown during the next few days to the United States and other destinations.

Iowa State study discloses options for saving farmers

AMES (UPI) — Without assistance from the federal government, 25 percent of the nation's commercial farmers will be forced from the fields, an Iowa State University study has revealed.

The university research also has concluded America's farm lenders stand to lose $11 billion if federal officials fail to alleviate the farm debt crisis.

But the study prescribes to the nation's ailing farming economy an interest-rate subsidy program, which two ISU researchers say could cut the casualty rate in half.

THE STUDY states that by reducing interest rates 2.1 percent for 220,000 commercial farmers, the government could limit its casualties to fewer than 100,000. But, they explain, the government would have to pick up the tab at a cost of $1.3 billion annually, and even then, lenders would have to forgive another $2 billion a year. What federal policymakers do not realize is that if the United States is going to have an effective agricultural program, it is going to cost money, said Dr. Robert Jolly, an ISU agriculture economist who conducted the study with graduate assistant Damona Doyle.

"I guess there are a couple of things that policymakers sort of get hung up on," Jolly said Saturday afternoon. "There's the conservative belief that the farmers and lenders and other people caught in this crisis have the capability to come out of it... the free market approach, if you will."

AND JOLLY said lawmakers also tend to think the costs of farm intervention are too high. The problem with current agriculture programs is they are so narrowly focused, scarcely anyone qualifies, Jolly said. "And from our estimates, if you want an effective interest rate subsidy program, it could cost on the order of about $1 billion a year," he said. "The question remains though, is there the political will to make that kind of priority?"

Jolly said he and Doyle's favorite idea — called the holding tank proposal — consists of the government purchasing 18 percent of all farming assets and then leasing them back to distressed farmers.

That would prop up farmland prices, Jolly said. But, he added, its $70 billion cost makes it politically unacceptable.

For the past three years, Jolly and Doyle have collected farm data. And by studying the predicament of the nation's 636,000 commercial farmers — those who have annual sales of $40,000 or more — the researchers now are providing the U.S. General Accounting Office with potential solutions.

Alleged murder plot fails

MOUNT AYR, Iowa (UPI) — Joe Jackson expected his wife would die April 10 because he and his wife's hired killer had contrived a backup plan in case initial schemings fell through, court records have revealed.

But what the 54-year-old Mount Ayr man did not expect was the man he had hired to kill his wife, Carmetta, was a police informant.

Authorities said Jackson had been meeting with Bobby Kibbe Jr., a former Mount Ayr resident, for several weeks plotting Carmetta's death. Kibbe was supposed to kill Jackson's wife by forcing her car off the road and into a bridge on U.S. Highway 169. If Carmetta survived the accident, Kibbe was instructed to beat her to death.

BUT THROUGHOUT their clandestine conversations at the Shamrock Cafe in Mount Ayr, Kibbe wore a hidden microphone and law officers recorded those conversations.

Now Jackson faces attempted murder charges.

Shortly before 8 p.m. on April 10, Jackson had met Kibbe outside the Mount Ayr cafe and paid him an undisclosed amount of money after Kibbe informed Jackson all went as planned, and his wife was dead.

Owner of a Mount Ayr insurance agency, Jackson has been a resident of the small, southern Iowa town all his life. He had served on the board of directors of the Tingley State Savings Bank that failed last year. He also was a Missouri state legislator in the 1960s.

Carmetta Jackson is a court clerk in Worth County, Mo.

A REQUEST to reduce Jackson's $250,000 bond was denied by Magistrate Jack Campbell Friday. During the hearing, defense attorney David Neas said Jackson would live with a sister outside Mount Ayr if released. Neas had argued business and family ties would keep his defendant from fleeing the state.

But Campbell denied the request, citing the seriousness of the charge as the reason.

The magistrate did, however, grant Jackson permission to visit, under guard, a cardiologist in St. Joseph, Mo., for his heart condition. Jackson was taken to a hospital April 20 when he complained of heart pain.

He is being held in Ringgold County jail.

Harkin: Democrats on the rise

DES MOINES (UPI) — Iowa Democrats have been bearing the brunt of Republicans' politics far too long, and this November may mark the beginning of "quiet strides" leading to more elected state Democratic officials, U.S. Senator Tom Harkin said Sunday.

Harkin said Iowa's Democrats, especially its Democratic farmers, are tired of Republicans who dictate policies that do not work.

"The mood of the state reflects its agriculture situation, which, as everyone knows, is pretty dismal," Harkin said. "We need new, dynamic leaders."

UI student measles case confirmed

By Dana Cohen
Staff Writer

UI Student Health Services officials confirmed Friday that a UI student has measles, the first such case in Iowa in six years.

Student health officials made a preliminary diagnosis of measles last week based on clinical findings but the diagnosis was not confirmed until the results of a blood test were released Friday.

No other cases of measles have been reported to student health since the diagnosis was made and if there are no additional suspected cases of measles by next Friday "we will feel pretty secure that there was no exposure" Paul Etre, student health administrative associate, said Sunday.

Since last week at least 300 students have received measles inoculations from student health and another 300 have provided the UI with immunization records, said Forrest Meyer, a spokesman for the UI Office of Public Information.

BUT WHILE THE measles case has encouraged many to comply with the UI's immunization requirements, there are still approximately 3,000 students who have either not received the vaccine or given proof of having done so already, Etre said.

People who were exposed to the disease and have not been immunized may reduce the severity of the disease by getting vaccinated as soon as possible, Etre said.

"However, once a person has been exposed to measles, there are no guarantees that the vaccine will prevent the development of the disease," said acting director of Student Health Services Mary Khowsah in a report released by Student Health Friday.

UI administrators have said that UI students who do not provide proof of immunization will not be allowed to register for classes. Early registration begins today.

SYMPTOMS OF MEASLES include a fever, headache, sore red eyes, a cough and a rash.

Complications from the disease can lead to ear infections, pneumonia and possibly encephalitis, a condition marked by inflammation of the brain, according to the report.

But Etre said the student is currently doing well and is in no danger of infecting anyone else.

"We feel that with this case there is a two-week incubation period, so if any person got in contact with the patient they have two weeks" to develop symptoms.

If no other cases are diagnosed Etre said it would mean the immunization program at the UI was effective in preventing the spread of this contagious disease.

"That would be a remarkable accomplishment" for the UI, he said.

UI Hospitals predict doubled Air-Care use

By Rob Kincaid
Special to The Daily Iowan

UI Hospitals will soon be able to double the number of air ambulance service flights when a second Air-Care emergency helicopter becomes available June 1.

Air-Care, a flight ambulance service to assist seriously ill or injured patients, is currently forced to turn down some of its emergency flight requests because UI Hospitals have access to only one helicopter based in Iowa City.

But Ken Stults, Emergency Services Director for UI Hospitals, said a second French-made A-Star 350B jet helicopter to be based at the UI Hospitals starting in June will allow Air-Care to respond to additional emergency calls.

The hospitals were "limited by a single helicopter. With the additional helicopter, we project as many as 50 percent more flights," Stults said.

ACCESS TO THE second, back-up Air-Care helicopter will also increase the radius of the service's coverage from 125 miles to 175 miles of the Iowa City area.

"We can reach half of Iowa's population within 45 minutes," said Dean Borg, director of public information for UI Hospitals. Having two Air-Care helicopters "means from this hospital we can have a specialist at an accident or bedside to a patient that needs critical care."

Borg said Air-Care responds to about 650 emergency calls annually. He said demand for service has been fairly stable since UI Hospitals introduced the program in 1978.

Eighty percent of the patients served by Air-Care are transferred from a less-advanced medical facility to the UI Hospitals. The remainder of the calls are on-location flights which include farm injuries and automobile accidents.

COSTS TO PATIENTS for the Air-Care service include a $190 lift-off fee and $6.50 per mile round-trip.

Stults said the helicopters are capable of flying further than the 175 mile radius, but it is not a practice because it "takes too long" and the helicopter could be tied up and unable to respond to other emergency calls.

Air-Care's staff consists of three pilots, a mechanic and a dispatcher who mans the headquarters located in UI Hospitals. Pilots, who are on duty for 24-hour periods, are assisted by a dispatcher who screens all emergency calls to ensure no unnecessary flights occur.

MADD organizing high school project

The Johnson County Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving will hold its second organizational meeting tonight at the Iowa City Recreation Center, 200 S. Gilbert St., at 7:30 p.m.

The MADD chapter, the first one to be established in Johnson County, has been organized by the friends and relatives of Michael Panther, a local restaurant owner who was killed in an accident involving a drunken driver last fall.

More than 30 people attended the chapter's first meeting on April 2.

The group is working on establishing a program with local high schools during the prom/graduation season in which students who pledge not to drink during this time period would receive special discounts from participating businesses.

touchdowns in three quarters of play.

Harmon ran for 112 yards on 15 carries and three touchdowns in his debut as Iowa's tailback.

While Iowa Coach Hayden Fry was pleased with the play of his No. 1 offense and defense, he wondered following the game about the quality of the team's depth.

"THIS WAS A GOOD confidence builder for our offense and defense," Fry said. "We either have a fine number one unit or a tremendous dropoff to our number twos. It's probably a combination of both. Our biggest problem seems to be to shore up our depth."

The Hawkeyes suffered three injuries in the contest. Defensive tackle Joe Schuster, defensive back Anthony Wright and wide receiver Peter Marciano each suffered serious injuries.

Fry said Schuster suffered a lower back injury, possibly to his disc. Wright was injured with 20 seconds to play in the contest, and couldn't move his neck, according to Fry. Marciano may have fractured his ankle.

Both Wright and Schuster were removed from the field on stretchers.

FRY WAS MORE than happy with the play of his new quarterback, Vlasic, who threw touchdown passes of 36 yards and 10 yards to Quinn Early. "He's like Chuck Long in that he always has a good day," Fry said. "He's a winner. He executed well enough. Mark just needs to do that in a regular game next fall."

The new Iowa quarterback was pleased with his performance. "I wanted to come out and establish myself as the quarterback to everyone on the team," Vlasic said. "I feel I accomplished that today."

Vlasic's 36-yard touchdown pass to Early opened the scoring in the game with nine minutes, 39 seconds to play in the first quarter.

Harmon then scored on a four-yard run 62 seconds later before Early caught his second touchdown pass from Vlasic to open the scoring in the second quarter at the 9:13 mark.

"We wanted to show we could do the things that were expected of us," Early said.

Harmon then scored on consecutive nine-yard runs to close the scoring in the first half at 35-0.

Fry said he was pleased to see Harmon enjoy success at the No. 1 position. "Kevin had some beautiful runs. He got it in the end zone when he had the chance. He has a nose for the goal line. Kevin has some real confidence going right now."

The game marked the end of Iowa's spring practice. "It's extremely difficult to evaluate when you play against yourself but based on our improvement in attitude and improvement at the skill positions, we've made a lot of progress," Fry said.

The captains for the 1986 team were announced Saturday. The new captains are cornerback Ken Sims, defensive tackle Jeff Drost, linebacker George Davis, quarterback Mark Vlasic and offensive tackle Dave Croston. All five are fifth year seniors.

Jordan's 63 not enough for Chicago

BOSTON (UPI)—The double-overtime playoff victory went to the Boston Celtics yet all the praise was for Michael Jordan's 63-point record-setting performance.

Despite Jordan's effort, the best in NBA playoff history, the Celtics beat the Chicago Bulls 135-131 Sunday to take a 2-0 lead in their Eastern Conference playoff series.

Jerry Sichting hit a 15-foot jumper with 51 seconds left to break the final tie score of the game and Robert Parish added an 8-foot jumper with 9 seconds remaining to clinch the victory.

The Celtics can end the best-of-five series Tuesday night with a victory in Chicago.

"He is the most exciting, most awesome player in the game," said Boston's Larry Bird. "I didn't think anyone was capable of doing what Michael has done against us the past two games."

JORDAN, WHO scored 49 points in Thursday's Game 1, Sunday eclipsed the old NBA playoff scoring mark of 61 set in Boston by Los Angeles Laker Elgin Baylor in 1962. The explosive Bulls guard hit 22 of 41 shots from the floor and 19 of 21 free throws.

"Jordan just puts his foot out and if you don't move, he's gone by you," said Celtic Coach K.C. Jones. "He's a tornado."

Jordan, frustrated by the loss, said, "I'm not worried about the points. I'd give back all the points if we could win."

Jordan, fouled by McHale on the last shot of regulation, hit a pair of foul shots with no time remaining to tie the game at 116-116 and caused the first overtime.

Danny Ainge hit a driving layup with 12 seconds left in the first extra period to tie the game at 125-125 and force the second overtime.

BOSTON LED 131-127 after Ainge hit a 16-foot jumper with 2:01 left in the second overtime, but a pair of jumpers by Jordan tied the game and set the stage for Sichting's winning shot and Parish's insurance basket.

Bird scored 36 points, McHale had 27 and Ainge, who did not score in the first half, contributed 24 for the Celtics.

Orlando Woolridge backed Jordan's offense with 24 points. Charles Oakley was the only other Bull in double figures with 10 points.

At different times, each of Boston's starters attempted to defend the 6-foot-5 Jordan, but could not contain him as he continued to draw fouls. Two Celtics fouled out and three others finished with five fouls.

Boston never led in the first three quarters but the lead changed hands 11 times in the fourth quarter. Dennis Johnson's three-point play and McHale's layup provided the Celtics with a 116-114 lead with 45 seconds left.

Jordan attempted a three-point shot at the end of regulation and the shot bounced off.

Holmes disturbed with Spinks' win

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Larry Holmes said the only fight left for him is one to make sure boxers get a square deal from the sport's promoters and ruling bodies.

Holmes figures there is no reason to continue his ring career after losing his second 15-round decision to Michael Spinks Saturday night. The loss cost Holmes a chance to regain the title he lost to Spinks last September.

Holmes blames the split decision loss on the judges' reaction to statements he made knocking them for giving the first fight to Spinks.

"THESE JUDGES have lying eyes," Holmes said, choking back tears at a press conference Saturday night in his hotel suite. "They said I said they got drunk before a fight; well, somebody must be drunk."

"(Promoter) Don King came up to me yesterday and said 'If you lose the fight, don't talk about the judges. Be nice,'" Holmes said. "That should tell you something right there. The statements I had been making came true. I had to knock him out."

Judges Joe Cortez scored the fight 144-141 and Jerry Roth had it 144-142 for Spinks. Judge Frank Brunette had it 144-141 for Holmes. UPI favored Spinks, 143-142.

Holmes dominated the first seven rounds, then faded before rallying to nearly knock down Spinks in the final two rounds. Even if he had won, it was obvious Holmes, at 36, no longer is the great fighter he once was.

"THIS IS IT. I don't need it no more," Holmes said. "There's See Fight, Page 4B

Raveling bids final farewell

"I thank you from the depths of my heart for being so nice to me. All I ever wanted to do was give my employer an honest day's work... I never wanted to hurt anyone. I'll miss you often and I'll pray for your success... Goodbye and I love you."

Those were the departing words of former Iowa basketball Coach George Raveling as he addressed the audience at the 10th annual Johnson County "I" Club basketball banquet Friday night at the Union.

IT WAS AN EMOTIONAL evening as Raveling talked of the best of times and the worst of times, comparing them to Charles Dickens' book A Tale of Two Cities.

"These are the best of times, yes," Raveling began. "We're here to pay tribute to a great bunch of guys. I want to clearly state that I harbor a deep love for you as human beings. The team success went above individual success. This team will be the bench mark to judge every team I coach."

"I pray that God will let our hearts be as one until the day we die. This is the worst of times because I'm departing and leaving a host of friends... and a great state, Iowa...

"WHEN I WAS LITTLE I wanted my mom and dad to be proud of me and I want my son (Mark) to be proud of me. Tonight I want you to be proud of me. I came to this state with positive feelings and I left with positive feelings about Iowa."

With tears in his eyes, Raveling returned to his chair, seated next to Iowa's newly-hired coach, Tom Davis.

Earlier in the evening Davis had told the players that "the greatest tribute to George is to have a diploma in your back pocket, under your arm or anywhere you want to put it, along with more NCAA jewelry or an NCAA championship," Davis said.

Iowa's only graduating senior is Andre Banks, who credited much of his success to Raveling.

Chicago, Pirates tied in 13th

CHICAGO (UPI)—Keith Moreland's two-run homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth tied the score 8-8 and Sunday's game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs was suspended after 13 innings at Wrigley Field because of darkness. The game will be resumed, in the top of the 14th inning with the score 8-8, Aug. 11 prior to the regularly scheduled game between the Pirates and Cubs. Wrigley Field is the only major-league stadium without lights.

Chicago tied the score 8-8 by scoring three runs in the ninth. Pinch hitter Thad Bosley tripled and scored on Davey Lopes' double to knock out Bob Walk. Jim Winn relieved and threw a wild pitch, sending Lopes to third. Winn struck out Shawn Dunston and Ryne Sanberg before Keith Moreland launched a two-run homer on a 2-0 pitch into the left-center field bleachers.

The Pirates took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a double to center by Orsulak and a single by Ray. Ray then mistakenly ran home on a one-out fly ball to center by Bream and the Cubs got an easy double play.

The Cubs took a 3-1 lead in the second inning.

ROTC I Team takes fourth at meet

The UI Army ROTC "I Team" finished fourth in the eighty-team Ranger Challenge competition held Sunday at the Fort Lewis Army Base in Seattle, Wash.

The I Team scored 51 points, finishing a narrow fourth to Washington State and Washington, who scored 51.5 and 53 points respectively. Utah won Sunday's competition with 70 overall points to easily outdistance the field.

Northern Iowa and Iowa State also slipped into the top ten, scoring over 40 points each to end up in the eighth and ninth place spots.

Greg Walters highlighted his day with a third place finish in the hand-grenade assault contest, scoring 85 out of 100 possible points on the half-mile course.

Cummings paces Milwaukee past Nets

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Terry Cummings scored 13 of his 28 points in the third quarter and Milwaukee scored 20 of its 26 fourth-quarter points from the free throw line Sunday to post a 111-97 victory and a 2-0 lead over the New Jersey Nets in their best-of-five playoff series.

The series resumes Tuesday night in New Jersey. Cummings' 13 third-quarter points helped the Bucks pull away from a 49-46 halftime advantage to an 85-71 lead heading into the final period.

The Nets scored the first 5 points of the fourth quarter to pull within 85-76, but 4 free throws by Ricky Pierce and a jumper by Cummings pushed the lead to 91-76 with 9:29 left in the game.

New Jersey cut the lead to 95-88 with 6:13 remaining on a tip-in by Mike Gminski, but could get no closer.

Gminski led the Nets with 28 points and Otis Birdsong added 17. Sidney Moncrief added 20 for Milwaukee.

Darryl Dawkins, whom the Nets had said would not play in the series, came off the bench to score 10 points. Dawkins was declared out for the season on March 27 with a bad back and had played in only one game since Feb. 4.

Vandeweghe shoots down Nuggets

DENVER (UPI) — KiKi Vandeweghe scored 36 points Sunday, including 7 consecutive points down the stretch, rallying the Portland Trail Blazers over the Denver Nuggets 108-106 and evening the Western Conference quarterfinal series at one game apiece.

Game 3 of the series is at Portland Tuesday night.

With the score 99-99, Vandeweghe hit a pair of free throws with 2:43 to play. The former Nugget star then sank a jumper and a 3-point play with 1:18 left for a 106-102 Blazer lead.

With a 107-104 lead, Portland held off a frantic Denver rally in the last 10 seconds. T.R. Dunn, who had a season-high 21 points for the Nuggets, put in a rebound with five seconds left cutting the Portland lead to 1 point.

Caldwell Jones was fouled immediately and made 1-of-2 free throws with two seconds to go putting Portland ahead 108-106. Dunn then stole Portland's inbound pass and fed Mike Evans whose off-balance 3-point attempt at the buzzer went in and out.

Clyde Drexler had 22 points for Portland. Alex English scored 24 points for Denver and Calvin Natt 17. Natt scored 40 in Friday's game.

Denver played without starting center Wayne Cooper, who had a sprained ankle, and sixth man Bill Hanzlik, who is hospitalized with a congenital back problem.

Team Canada tops United States

MOSCOW (UPI) — Brent Sutter scored two goals and set up another Sunday to help Team Canada to a 4-2 victory over the United States in the World Hockey Championships.

The triumph, coupled with a 4-2 victory by the Soviet Union over Czechoslovakia, clinched a berth for Canada among the top four teams in the medal round. The United States, with its fourth defeat in six outings, was demoted to the relegation playoffs between the bottom four teams.

All results of the top four teams will be wiped out in the medal round, while the bottom four carry their points over into the relegation playoffs.

With one round robin game remaining, the Soviets are leading the standings with 12 points from six games, followed by Sweden with 10, Finland with 9, Canada with 6, the United States with 4, title defender Czechoslovakia with 3, and West Germany and Poland with 2 each.

White Sox ready to vacate Comiskey

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox have moved much closer to an agreement with developers on how to build a stadium south of the Loop, the Chicago Tribune reported.

The White Sox have agreed to let the stadium serve as a multi-purpose facility as long as a majority of the seats overlook the infield playing area, Tribune sources said.

Originally White Sox owners Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn demanded the stadium be built for baseball only. They wanted a 50,000-seat stadium but are now willing to play in a 65,000-seat stadium also built for football, presumably to attract the Chicago Bears, the sources said.

Hawks defeat Wildcats, 7-2

By Julie Deardorff
Staff Writer

The Iowa men's tennis team captured its second Big Ten win with an easy 7-2 win over Northwestern in the team's first home meet of the season.

"It's good to be home and awful good to be outdoors," said Iowa's Bill Seitz, who hasn't lost a match outdoors yet this season.

"Playing outdoors really helped a lot," No. 5 singles player Jim Burkeholder said. "A lot of people came to watch after the football game too, which was nice."

No. 1 SINGLES player Mats Malmberg avenged an earlier season loss to the Wildcats Marco Wen by scores of 4-6, 6-1 and 6-3.

Rudy Foo lost to Matt Akman 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, and Jim Nelson also dropped his match at third singles to John Sullivan 6-4, 6-2.

"I didn't concentrate that well in singles," Nelson said. "We played a lot better in doubles."

stad crushed Scott Bindley 6-2, 6-0, Jim Burkeholder edged Ross Benner 7-5, 7-5 and Seitz easily downed Dan Christian 6-1, 6-0.

After Nelson and Stokstad defeated Wen and Akman 6-4, 6-2 in doubles the meet had been decided in Iowa's favor. The No. 2 team of Foo and Burkeholder then went on to beat Bindley and Christian 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, and Malmberg and Shafer defeated Sullivan and Benner 6-3, 5-7, 6-4 padding the score.

"It was one of the best matches we've played all year," Iowa Coach Steve Houghton said. "I thought it would be something like 5-4. Playing outdoors really helped a lot."

Foo and Nelson lost in singles but won in doubles. Seitz won his singles match and Shafer helped win in doubles. Everyone really contributed. This should give the team confidence for the remaining Big Ten matches.

Houghton was especially pleased with the performance of Seitz, Malmberg and Stokstad.

For Northwestern, the meet was the last one on the road, and they will now begin to compete at home. "We're capable of playing anyone in the Big Ten," said Wildcat Coach Paul Torricelli. "We lost three top players, but I have no excuses. Iowa played well."

Both teams are now 2-3 in Big Ten play. Iowa's overall record stands at 12-9.

Although the Iowa women's tennis team challenged their opponents it fell short, losing to Minnesota and Wisconsin this weekend, 6-3 and 8-1 respectively.

The Hawkeyes hosted the Badgers Sunday and left the courts with one victor, Madeleine Willard, who defeated Cheri Berger, 7-5, 4-6, 7-6, (7-2).

"I don't think we're that far away from Wisconsin and Minnesota but because Wisconsin has had some good wins and they have the ability to keep in strong for the point. Their win over Indiana boosted their confidence," Iowa assistant Coach Su Oertel said.

"WE JUST NEED to keep our head in the match better. We had three three-set matches and our No. 1 doubles played three sets. We haven't surmounted the final step."

Iowa's No. 1 doubles team of Michele Conlon and Pennie Wohlford played an intense match against Wisconsin's Lisa Fortman and Wendy Gilles before losing in the third set, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Wisconsin won every match with the exception of the Willard and Berger match. In singles play, scores were: Conlon lost to Chris Gilles, 6-2, 6-1, Wohlford fell to Fortman, 6-3, 6-3, Robin Gerstein lost to Cathy Van Pelt, 1-6, 6-2, 6-4, Pat Leary fell to Kris Yahr, 6-4, 6-1 and Kelly Fackel lost to Charlene Kaya, 6-7 (8-10), 6-2, 6-1.

In doubles play, besides the No. 1 matchup, Leary and Fackel lost to Chris Gilles and Van Pelt, 6-2, 7-5, and Willard and Gerstein lost to Kaya and Yahr, 6-3, 6-4.

On Saturday, the Hawkeyes lost to Minnesota, 6-3, in a match which could have gone either way.

In singles action Iowa's winners were, Willard over Darcy Jones, 6-1, 6-0, Kelly Fackel over Lisa Dick, 6-4, 6-3, and in an exhibition match, Kristi Fackel defeated Foon Hui, 6-4, 6-4.

Other singles results were: Conlon lost to Nancy Rost, 6-4, 6-1, Wohlford lost to Anne Gorde 6-4, 6-1, Robin Gerstein and Karin Eneberg 1-6, 6-2, 7-6 (7-4), and Leary lost to Maura Bjerken, 7-5, 7-6 (7-5).

Hawkeyes win eleven event titles

By Robert Mann

The Iowa men's track team won 11 of 17 events against Minnesota and Northern Iowa Saturday in a non-scoring meet at the Iowa Track Complex.

Curtis Chung led the way for the Hawkeyes by winning two individual titles and competing on the winning 4 x 100-meter relay team for Iowa. Chung won the 100-meter dash with a time of 10.76 seconds and the 200-meter dash with a time of 22.25.

Paul Steele also ran strong for the Hawkeyes, running on the winning 4 x 100 and 4 x 400 relays, finishing second in the 400-meter dash with a time of 49.07 and taking third in the 200-meter dash with a time of 23.00.

"I WAS REALLY satisfied with what I did indoors," Steele said, comparing the indoor and outdoor seasons this year. "I'm now getting back there."

Steele said he was most satisfied with his performance in the 4 x 400, the same event he said he would probably run at the Drake Relays this weekend.

Chung, Patrick McGhee, Harold Leonard and Steele won the 4 x 100-meter relay by running 41.63. The 4 x 400-relay team of Steele, Rob Cameron, Louis English, Barry Holmes won the event in 3:22.53.

English also ran the 800-meter run, finishing a close second behind teammate Bill Thiesen. English said the two have given each other a lot of positive competition throughout the spring.

"Recently it's been really close," English said. "Yesterday it was a photo finish."

A close second which did not result in a bruised ego. "You don't get discouraged when a teammate beats you like that, especially when it's a close race," he said.

English said he has been pleased with his times in the outdoor season, and he counts on topping his personal best of 1:53.4 in the 800-meter run sometime before the current season ends.

Iowa ends 'rough' trip in 12th

By Dan Millea
Staff Writer

The Iowa men's golf team had a dismal weekend at the Kepler Invitational in Columbus, Ohio, finishing 12th in a 20-team field and seventh out of eight Big Ten teams.

Two Hawkeyes, Guy Boros and Bob Kollsmith, finished in the top ten individually but Coach Chuck Zwiener's next three men finished 21, 23 and 30 over par in 36-holes of golf.

The meet, played on the Ohio State Scarlet golf course, was originally scheduled for 27 holes each day, but because of rain only nine holes were played Sunday.

OHIO STATE ran away with the team win, shooting a 602, 20 strokes ahead of Miami (Ohio) with 622. Ball State was third with 627, followed by Northern Illinois and North-western, each with 628 strokes.

Ohio finished with 629 strokes, good for sixth place.

The Big Ten held down the seven through ten spots as Minnesota (631), Michigan (632), Michigan State (634) and Purdue (635) all finished well ahead of Iowa (643).

The Hawkeyes topped only Wisconsin (647) of the Big Ten, which finished 18th.

Buckeye Chad Willis won medalist honors with a one-over-par 147. Boros shot a seven-over-par 153 which left him in a four way tie for fourth. Kollsmith was one shot back of Boros with a 154.

But the Hawkeyes fell apart after that. Rob Higgins shot a 167, Steve Reilly a 169 and Tim Joselyn, whose performance was not scored, finished with a 176.

Eastern Kentucky (639) finished just ahead of Iowa in 11th place, followed by the Hawkeyes, Bowling Green (644), Western Kentucky (644), Notre Dame (645), Western Michigan (647), Wisconsin (647), Kentucky (647), Kent State (652) and Eastern Michigan (655).

Mets close in on the Cards

United Press International

Sid Fernandez and Roger McDowell combined on a two-hitter and Danny Heep cracked a three-run homer Sunday to lead the New York Mets to an 8-0 romp over the Philadelphia Phillies and a sweep of the three-game series.

Fernandez, 1-0, allowed only a leadoff single to Gary Redus in the first inning and a fifth-inning single to Mike Schmidt before yielding to McDowell to start the ninth. Fernandez struck out six and walked three.

The Mets staked Fernandez to a 4-0 lead in the first inning, sending eight men to the plate against Philadelphia starter and loser Kevin Gross, 0-2.

NEW YORK picked up three unearned runs in the sixth to go ahead 8-0.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles downed Atlanta 7-3, Houston beat Cincinnati 6-4, Montreal blanked St. Louis 2-0 and San Francisco shut out San Diego 4-0. The game between Pittsburgh and Chicago was suspended because of darkness after 13 innings with the score 8-8.

At Atlanta, Ken Landreaux went 4-for-4 with two RBI and Bob Welch scattered nine hits to pace the Dodgers. Welch, 2-0, struck out eight and walked one for his second complete game. Greg Brooks's two-run homer helped Los Angeles snap a five-game losing streak. Rick Mahler slipped to 1-3.

At Cincinnati, Alan Ashby slammed a two-run homer and four Houston pitchers combined on 6 1-3 innings of one-run relief to lead the Astros. Houston swept their three-game series with the Reds and has won five straight. Mike Madden, 1-0, in relief of Jim Deshaies, gave up two hits and one run over three innings to get the win.

Red Sox win fourth straight

United Press International

Right-hander Mike Brown, making his first start since April 29, 1985, tossed a five-hitter over seven innings to earn his first victory in nearly two seasons and the host Boston Red Sox completed a three-game sweep over Chicago by downing the White Sox 6-2 Sunday for their fourth straight victory.

Brown, 1-0, was recalled April 16 from Pawtucket of the International League. He walked one and struck out three to earn his first major-league win since May 2, 1984. Bob Stanley pitched the final two innings.

American League

IN OTHER GAMES Sunday, Baltimore ripped Texas 6-1, New York nipped Milwaukee 5-4 in 10 innings, California topped Minnesota 8-5, Kansas City defeated Toronto 6-4 and Oakland pounded Seattle 9-3. Cleveland at Detroit was postponed by rain.

At Baltimore, Eddie Murray hit his third home run in the last four games and Jim Dwyer added a solo shot to power the Orioles. Storm Davis, 1-0, four-hit the Rangers while striking out five and walking none in his first complete game of the season. Jose Guzman, 1-2, took the loss.

At Milwaukee, Dave Winfield scored from second base on first baseman Robin Yount error in the 10th inning to lift the Yankees. Dave Righetti, 2-0, hurled the ninth and 10th for the victory. Mark Clear, 0-1, was the loser. New York's Willie Randolph had three singles to stretch his hitting streak to 11 games.

At Anaheim, Calif., Brian Downing's three-run homer capped a four-run ninth inning and powered the Angels to their third straight victory. Terry Forster, 1-0, worked one inning in relief of starter Don Sutton to earn the victory. Ron Davis, 1-1, took the loss.

At Toronto, Frank White blasted a three-run homer to cap a four-run seventh inning to lead the Royals.

Fight

no sense in chasing ghosts. For the first time in my life, I cried tonight.

"Can Larry Holmes get a fair shake? I got a big mouth."

Holmes plans to join the fight to establish a federal commission to regulate boxing.

Holmes said the promoters of Saturday night's fight, King and Butch Lewis, told Holmes he had to forfeit $250,000 owed him from the first fight in order to get the rematch.

"Tonight I gave 200 percent, I broke my (right thumb in the third round), and all I got was my hand slapped again," he said.

Holmes thinks part of his problems with boxing officials began when he left King briefly four years ago to promote his own fights.

"I don't want to do Don King, the IBF, WBC or WBA any harm. They just have to clean up their act," he said. "I'm not bitter. I just think a fighter should get a fair shake."

Holmes, who held either the WBC or IBF heavyweight titles for over seven years, fell to 48-2 with 34 knockouts Saturday night.

Spinks, 29-0 and seven years younger than Holmes, was the fresher fighter down the stretch although Holmes was the harder hitter.

"He didn't go for broke like I would have," Spinks said of Holmes. "From the 10th to the 15th round, I outthrust him."

"He should retire. Larry was a great champion. I think people respect Larry. He's not perfect, but none of us are."

Recent show redeems Nicks' Iowa City concert reputation

By Allen Hogg
Staff Writer

PEOPLE TALK about how Stevie Nicks forgot some words the last time she played at the Carver-Hawkeye Arena. That was, however, hardly the major problem when the Fleetwood Mac songs were performed in Iowa City in 1983.

Artists often forget a few words; if the last Stevie Nicks show had been professional in other respects, no one would have noticed. But it wasn't — it was slow-paced, rather self-indulgent and included a few too many of Nicks' infamous trips to fairyland.

Well, Saturday night at the arena, Nicks didn't forget any words. More importantly, the concert, which drew an audience that wasn't much more than half the size of her last show's, was a lot better in other ways, too.

THIS TIME OUT it seems Nicks took a cue from the title of her latest album and decided to Rock a Little. "Sara" and "Gypsy," slower hits she had with Fleetwood Mac, weren't played at all, and she got others like "Gold Dust Woman" and "Dreams" out of the way early in the 100-minute show. "Beauty and the Beast," a treacherous off the Wild Heart, was thankfully her only trip to the bizarre world of her own imagination.

Nightlife

The core of the show was a string of pop hits that kicked off about halfway into the concert with a disco-fied version of "I Can't Wait." Keyboardist Bobby Martin next performed a clear-voiced duet with Nicks on "Leather and Lace." The crowd rushed the stage with the opening chords of "Stand Back" and then stayed there as Nicks and guitarist/bandleader Waddy Wachtel rocked out on the Tom Petty-penned "Stop Draggin' My Heart Around."

WITH HER NINE-PIECE band chugging away, Nicks twirled around, basking in the adoration of the small crowd as she performed an encore rendition of "Rhiannon." Flowers and stuffed animals were tossed on stage, and a suit-clad bodyguard inconspicuously ran around in the shadows behind Nicks to make sure none of the enthusiastic fans expressed their devotion a little too strongly.

This is not to say this show was without flaws. The most inexcusable problem was the mix, which had Wachtel's guitar at an ear-splitting volume and made Nicks' machine-gun vibrato often indecipherable.

Then there was Nicks' insistence on leaving the stage after each song and returning with some new clothing accessory attached to her black dress. This forced the audience to sit through a conga drum solo and an insufferable attempt on the part of Wachtel to do a Yngwie J. Malmsteen-like bit of jamming in the spotlight.

NICKS ALSO SPENT an inordinate amount of time on stage fluffing up her blond hair, and her patter with the audience could be described as banal at best. When she announced, "I don't really know what I'm trying to say," early in the evening, it was probably her most revealing comment of the night.

But Nicks always seemed sincere, and the crowd was eager to forgive her mindlessness. All in all, it was a surprisingly charming show.

Opening the concert, which was presented by Contemporary Productions and the Student Commission on Programming and Entertainment, was the Austrian band Opus, which played a 40-minute set of vapid pop-rock. At first, the young five-piece band had a naive foreignness about it that gave the music a friendly feel. But when lead singer Herwig Rüdiger started trying too hard to get the crowd to sing along on the band's number one European hit, "Live is Life," the group simply became annoying.

San Francisco-based Dynatones will be playing at Kitty's Rock Show Place in Cedar Rapids.

Dynatones offer entertaining rock

By Allen Hogg
Staff Writer

IN THE MIND of Dynatones' manager and co-founder Rico Tee, it just makes sense for a band to put on a show like his does when it hits the stage.

"If people just want to listen to music, they can go home and play a record," he said recently. "If they come out, they want to listen to music, but they also want to be entertained."

And the San Francisco band does entertain. A Dynatone performance at the Copper Dollar last spring stands as one of the most rocking shows an Iowa City bar has seen in years. Tonight, the sextet will return to the area when it performs at Kitty's Rock Show Place in Cedar Rapids' Longbranch Supper Club.

Driving to Cedar Rapids may seem like a lot of effort to see a band, but a show by the Dynatones is worth it. The group combines James Brown-style chug combats with R&B-flavored originals and impeccably chosen covers of such tunes as the Contours' "Do You Love Me?" and Archie Bell and the Drells' "Tighten Up."

BY THE END of the night, frontman Chip "C.C." Miller will be running through the audience with saxophonist Tony Perez-Banuet on his shoulders, and the rest of the band will be on stage, crashing into each other and knocking over mike stands.

"We work real hard at having fun," Tee noted. "Why just stand there and not move? We want people to dance and have a ball, why shouldn't we?"

Tee resents, however, having his band classified as an "oldies act." "People look at us and say, 'Hey, you guys should be working in Vegas.' That just makes us crazy. We're not an oldies act; we just don't see any reason why we can't take the best of the old-time stuff and modernize it, which is pretty much what we've done."

Nightlife

Tee, who was one of the founders of the reissue label Solid Smoke, formed the group four years ago with bandleader "Big Walter" Salwitz, a drummer from Toledo, Ohio. The current line-up has been in place since the band's Copper Dollar show and includes Miller, a Miami native; Perez-Banuet, who hails from Detroit; "Rockin'" Randy McDonald, a bass guitarist from San Diego; Larry Dunn, a guitarist from Casper, Wyoming; and Bay Area keyboardist Parris Bertolucci.

TEE BELIEVES having personnel from such diverse backgrounds helps the Dynatones' sound. "It's a real advantage to us because we get different musical styles and accents from all over the country," he said.

Those styles and accents can be heard on Tough to Shake and Live It Up!, two albums the band has recorded for Rounder Records, an independent label known for helping George Thorogood and the Destroyers rise to fame.

According to Tee, the label has a similar relationship with the Dynatones. "They're kind of a farm club," he said. "They're trying to build us up to a point where one of the big ones will take us; then they'll kind of be our partners in that."

The Dynatones have also joined the Miller Music Rock Network for 1986. The network is a line-up of 16 bands put together by the Miller Brewing Company to promote its products. Some have criticized bands that accept such sponsorships, but Tee had nothing but good things to say about the arrangement.

"THE FACT WE ARE associated with a corporation like that gives the band more credibility," he said. "They've also been very supportive in promoting dates. They have full-time radio people who help coordinate promotion; plus, they have actual in-club promotions for every show."

Tee said the band also receives equipment as part of the deal. "They're always giving us something. They're real organized, too."

Tee did not believe the band was promoting alcoholism or drunk driving by being associated with a brewery. "I don't drink at all myself, but I don't see anything wrong with someone having a couple of beers," he said. "We don't encourage anyone to do more than that."

"In fact," he continued, "Miller asks us not to. They ask us to never encourage people to get drunk, never encourage them to drink too much and never, ever, encourage them to drink anything and drive. They seem to be a real responsible company."

Tee sees signing up with Miller as just one more step in the band's steady rise to the top. He said the band now plays all around the country in about 240 shows a year, but better venues, better equipment and better money make the road less grueling all the time.

"Every three or four months, I can look back and see we really have improved," he said. "As long as that happens, we'll go on forever."

Estes unable to sing at UI

By Maria Deligiorgis
Staff Writer

SIMON ESTES has been forced to withdraw from the UI Opera Theater production of Boris Godunov due to an acute throat ailment. The April 25, 26 and 27 performances will be held in Hancher Auditorium as planned, with understudy Kimm Julian performing the role of Boris Godunov.

In a statement to the UI, Estes said that on advice from his throat specialist in Switzerland, he will not be able to sing for three weeks.

Estes said, "This is the saddest moment of my professional career, because I looked forward to this project for more than two and a half years — not for my personal gain, but for the benefit of the School of Music, the Opera Theater, the UI and for all the people who worked so very hard."

ESTES SAID the Boris Godunov project "is much bigger than Simon Estes. I love my state and my university very much and I implore the people of Iowa to remain faithful. I will be even more sad and more disappointed if people don't come out and support the students.

Director of UI Opera Theater and close friend to Estes, Beaumont Glass said, "We regret the illness of Simon Estes because we were looking forward to working with him. This project was very close to his heart, he is deeply disappointed that he cannot be with us."

Glass said the Boris Godunov production is the UI Opera Theater's "biggest and most spectacular ever. We are pleased that we can put on a beautiful show even without a famous star."

Kimm Julian, a doctoral candidate in voice at the UI will perform the lead role. "I am happy to have the chance to sing the role of Boris Godunov, I only regret that it is under these circumstances," Julian said.

Legend: Tale best told and forgotten

By Merwyn Grote
Arts/entertainment Editor

LEGEND, directed by Ridley Scott (the director of Alien), is a puzzlement. Should one praise it because of its gorgeous look — its rich cinematography, magnificent sets and inventive and convincing make-up — or should one promptly brush it aside because it is such a silly mess and a ridiculous bore?

Legend joins the not-so-impressive ranks of Dune, Heaven's Gate, Revolution, Santa Claus, The Movie, One from the Heart, The Wiz and many, many others, as a film where so much time, money and expertise has been lavished on the details and the complications of making the film look good, that in the confusion no one noticed that the filmmakers were dressing up a lifeless and rapidly decaying corpse.

It is an example of a sadly pathetic genre of modern film, the duded up dinosaur which tries to impress by the sheer weight of its appearance, because it just doesn't have the energy or the intelligence to survive on its own.

SCOTT'S FILM is an attempt at rekindling legendary tales of fairies and elves and leprechauns and goblins and other such beasties. Tom Cruise, trading in his Fruit of the Looms from Risky Business for a loin cloth, plays Jack O'Green, a hermit and good friend of the denizens of the forest.

These include a leprechaun named Brown Tom (Cork Hubert), a pixy named Screwball (Billy Barty), a fairy named Oona (Annabelle Lanyon) and an elf named Keebler. I mean, named Gump (David Bennett).

To impress Princess Lili (Mia Sara), one of those pure-of-heart damsels who somehow always end up in distress, he takes her to a secret part of the enchanted forest to take a gander at a couple of magical unicorns.

BUT, NATURALLY, evil lurks — when Lili breaks the rules and pets one of the unicorns, it causes a sudden storm to blow through the forest.

A trio of skulking goblins named Blix, Pox and Blunder (Alice Playten, Peter O'Farrell and Kiran Shah) take the opportunity during the ensuing confusion to kill one of the unicorns and steal its magic horn. This causes a frightful blizzard to sweep through the land, blacking out the sun and pitching the world into a bleak and forboding nightmare of despair. It is not unlike February in Iowa City.

It seems that the goblins are underlings of Darkness (Tim Curry, unrecognizable in about thirty or forty pounds of make-up) who lives beneath the earth and wants to totally black out the world and make it his private domain. Not coincidentally, he also wants to put the squeeze on Princess Lili.

IF THIS ALL seems terribly juvenile, well it is — and it isn't. The story and the cutesy cast of characters are certainly kiddie fodder, but as for the storytelling itself, the Screwball (Billy Barty) and Brown Tom (Cork Hubert) in Legend.

At the Bijou

What Have I Done to Deserve This? (1985). Carmen Maura stars as a discontented housewife who enjoys sniffing cleaning products. Her husband forges Hitler's diaries, the kids are into drugs and prostitution, and grandma has a pet lizard. Family life isn't all it's cut out to be. In Spanish. At 7 p.m.

Targets (1968). Director Peter Bogdanovich's first notable film compares movie violence to the real thing when a retired horror film actor (Boris Karloff) crosses paths with a crazed drive-in sniper. A cult favorite. At 9 p.m.

Television

On the networks: "Something About Amelia" (ABC at 8 p.m.) stars Roxana Zal as a 13-year-old girl who has been sexually molested by her father (Ted Danson). Mary Tyler Moore, Jackie Gleason, Walt Disney and others are honored in "The Television Academy Hall of Fame" (NBC at 8 p.m.). And the detectives wager over who forged a $2 million lottery ticket on "Cagney & Lacey" (CBS at 9 p.m.)

On cable: James Stewart and Carole Lombard star as a struggling young couple bogged down with financial woes, a nosy mother-in-law, and a sick baby in the 1939 classic Made for Each Other (NIK-34 at 8 p.m.) 2010, the disappointing sequel to Stanley Kubrick's famed 2001: A Space Odyssey, focuses on the joint U.S.-Russian space mission searching for the lost spacecraft "Discovery" (Cinemax-13 at 7 p.m.) Mangled automobiles are the highlight of Moving Violations (HBO-4 at 7 p.m.), an undeniably poor teenage comedy about bad drivers.

Art

Alfred C. Titone's meta-porks will be on display through April at the Shambaugh House Honors Center.

Graduate student Roxanne Winship will display her work this week in the Eve Drewelowe Gallery. Undergraduate student Dawn Quin will display her work this week in the Checkered Space Gallery.

The 1986 UI Student Art Exhibition, sponsored by the UI Fine Arts Council, will be displayed in Old Brick through April 25.
