Michael Hanratty of Audubon, N.J., whose week ends now mean a trip to an airport to catch a flight across the country or to Europe, has not ruled out a future in the state service.

"The work is interesting, and I enjoy the varied duties and the many responsibilities that come with it," Hanratty said.

"I believe that the state government needs more people like me who are able to handle multiple tasks and work under pressure." Hanratty added.

71,000 W. Germans protest all uses of nuclear energy

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) - Some 71,000 anti-nuclear demonstrators fought with police before Sunday's march was broken up in a demonstration that was attended by some 12,000 people.

The march, which coincided with the opening of a new nuclear power plant in Brokdorf, was marked by violence and arrests.

The demonstration was organized by the anti-nuclear group "No New Nuclear Power Plants in Germany" and aimed to block the construction of new nuclear power plants in the country.

The demonstrators gathered in Hamburg and marched to Brokdorf, where they were met by police who used water cannons, tear gas, and rubber bullets to disperse the crowd.

Several people were injured during the clashes, and some 500 were arrested.

The demonstration was one of many that have taken place in Germany in recent years as part of a growing movement against nuclear energy.

The anti-nuclear groups claim that nuclear power is dangerous and thatalternative sources of energy are available.

In recent years, many countries have stopped building new nuclear power plants due to concerns about safety and the disposal of nuclear waste.

However, the United States and Russia are still planning to build new nuclear power plants.

In September 2019, the United States announced that it would build a new nuclear power plant in the state of South Carolina.

The plant is expected to cost $16 billion and will be the first new nuclear power plant built in the United States in decades.

The plant will be built by the Southern Co. and is expected to be operational by 2023.

"Building new nuclear power plants is a dangerous and expensive mistake," said John Taylor, executive director of the anti-nuclear group "No New Nuclear Power Plants in Germany." "We need to find alternative sources of energy that are safe and environmentally friendly."

In the beginning

Today marks the start of a new era for The Daily Iowan staff as we begin our 118th year of publication. The newspaper has changed in many ways since its creation, becoming The Daily Iowan in 1938. The 16-page weekly lasted only until the 1970s when it merged with the Valley News, becoming the Valley-Iowan Reporter. A 16-page daily was published in 1976. Then, in 2001, the Valley-Iowan Reporter merged with the UI Student, and became The Daily Iowan. The UI was the only university in the United States with a campus river and one of only 12 campus dailies in the nation. Right here and now, we are embarking on a journey that will shape the future of this newspaper, the university, and the nation.

Right to work

For a number of years, the Right to Work movement has been gaining strength. The movement advocates for workers to have the right to choose whether or not to join a union. In recent years, the movement has made significant gains, with several states enacting Right to Work laws. These laws have been controversial, with critics arguing that they infringe on the rights of workers to negotiate for better wages and benefits. The movement is expected to continue gaining momentum in the coming years.

In the end

The reality of conservatism

Conservatism is a political and social philosophy that emphasizes the importance of tradition and stability. Conservative beliefs often focus on the importance of family, community, and national unity. Conservatives believe that government should play a limited role in society, and that individuals should be free to pursue their own goals and aspirations. Conservative ideas have been influential in shaping political discourse for many years.

Proud of Perry

To the Editor:

After reading an article in the May issue of Sports Illustrated, "The Indian Summer," I was struck by the writer's description of the Perry, Iowa, police station. He described it as a small, cozy, and welcoming place where the officers are always ready to help. I am proud to be a resident of Perry, and to have such dedicated police officers. Your coverage of this important aspect of American life was well done.

Blood sport

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the recent article in The Daily Iowan, "Greyhound Racing: A Blood Sport." The author argues that greyhound racing is cruel to the animals involved. As someone who has visited greyhound tracks around the country, I have seen firsthand the conditions in which these dogs are kept. It is clear that greyhound racing is a cruel and inhumane practice.

Nine City High students contract measles

By Carol Mangum

The nine City High students expected to contract measles by June 9, were identified as the first cases involving the school in many years.

The first affected students were two seniors who contracted the virus at least 12 months after the last cases, according to Flora Supple, director of the Iowa State Department of Health.

The cases were identified when school officials administered a state-mandated blood test to all high school students, according to Flora Supple, director of the Iowa State Department of Health.

The test results showed that students younger than 15 years old had received the measles vaccine, while those older than 15 years old had not. The test results were confirmed by the state's Health Care Commission.

The students' symptoms included fever, coughing, and fatigue. They were advised to stay home for at least 1 week and were instructed to avoid close contact with other people until they were no longer contagious.

The students were advised to contact their health care providers for further information and to ensure they were up-to-date on their vaccinations.

By the end of the week, local health officials had reported that at least 10 other cases were under investigation.

Cubs bomb Cardinals, 14-2
ET. LOUIS (UPI) - Keith Moreland's three-run homer in the fourth inning, one of eight hits by the Indianapolis-bound bretheren that sparked the Chicago Cubs to a 1-2 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals on Saturday, May 28.

The Cubs got off to a fast start and kept rolling all game long. The team finished with a winning record of 14-2, helping them secure a place in the playoffs.

White Sox complete four game sweep
CHICAGO (UPI) — Greg Walker drove in three runs with a double and a single Sunday, enabling the Chicago White Sox to complete a four-game sweep of the Oakland A's with a 9-1 victory.

Walker delivered a leadoff double in the first and a run-scoring single in the third. Aiming for the sweep, he followed with a two-run double in the fifth.

The win was the 35th of the season for Chicago, the most in the American League.

Portugal leads Twins to 5-2 win
KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Portugal led 4-0 for most of the game before a second-half comeback by the Twins.

The game was held at the historic Estadiu do Olival in Porto, Portugal, and ended with a 5-2 victory for the visiting team.

The Twins were up by two goals at halftime, but Portugal came back strongly in the second half to secure the win.

Scotland nears elimination

Thus, the team that took the longest of the Scots to qualify for the World Cup will be among the first to go. In the World Cups of 1978, 1982 and 1986 the Scots were last to reach the last round.

The team that was a speedy qualifier in 1978 and 1982, when they qualified for the World Cup, will be among the last to qualify in 1986 and 1990.
The Hot Rod faces trial — again

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Lindsey Williams, Tulane's 6-foot-10 center, was the second-leading scorer in Tulane history, was a second-round draft pick of the Cleveland Cavaliers in 1985 and recently signed a contract with the Minnesota Timberwolves. But Williams is also a defendant in a lawsuit that has been stalled in court for more than a year.

Williams, who played basketball and track at Tulane, has been charged with negligent homicide in a 1986 auto accident that killed 10 people and seriously injured 14 others, including two former Tulane track and field athletes.

The lawsuit, filed by the family of one of the victims, alleges that Williams was speeding down a road when he collided with a car carrying two Tulane track coach Dave Ormsby and his wife, Mary Ann Ormsby.

Both the Ormsbys, who were killed in the accident, were also Tulane track coaches.

The case was delayed in court when Williams, now a professional athlete, refused to appear in court to testify. The delay has caused the family of the victims to file a motion to dismiss the case.

The suit was filed in Jefferson Parish District Court and is set for trial in early 1987.

Williams, who now plays for the Minnesota Timberwolves in the NBA, was not available for comment on the case.

The family of the victims, who were both coaches at Tulane, said they were disappointed with the progress of the case.

The family's attorney, David F. Dwyer, said, "We feel that the case should be brought to a conclusion as soon as possible."
