Insurance firm to drop regents auto policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The University of Iowa regents have announced that their insurance plan for students taking part in the university's summer session will be canceled.

The regents have determined that the insurance plan is not financially feasible and that it is not in the best interests of the students.

The insurance plan, which was offered to all students, provided coverage for medical and accidental injuries while on campus.

The regents have also decided to look for alternative ways to provide insurance coverage for students.

The decision was made after a review of the insurance plan's financial viability and a consideration of the needs of the students.

The regents have stated that they will continue to work with insurance companies to find a solution to provide insurance coverage for students.

UI Student Health budget could be slashed

By Dave Cohen

The initial draft of the student government's budget for the Student Health Services has been covered by a $7,000 deficit.

Despite the $1,100,000 in revenue available to the clinic, which makes up about 80% of the total budget, the student government must cut other areas to make up the difference.

"We'll have to see fewer people and those we do see will have to wait longer," predicts Acting Student Health Director Mary Kowalskawh as the clinic's funding is cut.

The department has been faced with a shortfall, "We'll have to see fewer people and those we do see will have to wait longer," predicted Acting Student Health Director Mary Kowalskawh as the clinic's funding is cut.

P.E. crisis causes registration woes

By Suzanne Carter

The UI Physical Education Department and UI students trying to fulfill P.E. requirements are currently juggling a series of new rules and regulations.

"When we offer seminars, we've been restricted by how many students can attend," said Bob Kubitz, Physical Education Department chairman.

According to Dr. Robert, the department will require that seminars be offered only to those who can attend the scheduled time.

Students are also encouraged to attend seminars outside of the regular schedule, as the department is only able to offer seminars to those who have completed the required coursework.

WASHINGcTON (UPI)-The Senate Appropriations Committee on Thursday approved a $318 million federal-state waste cleanup program to again begii for a second time for the 1987 fiscal year.

Sen. Thomas J. Eagleton, D-Mo., and Rep. James Oberstar, D-Minn., who introduced the bill, said the funds will be used to clean up hazardous waste sites that have been contaminated by industrial activities.

The bill, which was approved by a 92-2 vote, provides for $100 million to be spent on research and development, $95 million for cleanup activities, and $33 million for matching grants to states for cleanup projects.

The funds will be used to address the most serious and urgent hazardous waste problems, according to the sponsors.

"This is a critical step in addressing the growing crisis of hazardous waste in our communities," said Sen. Eagleton. "We must act now to prevent further contamination and to ensure that our children and grandchildren will be able to live in a clean environment.

During the debate on the bill, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said the funds are needed to address the growing crisis of hazardous waste in the country.

"We cannot afford to delay any longer," Byrd said. "The Senate must act now to ensure that our children and grandchildren will be able to live in a clean environment.

The bill was approved by a vote of 92-2, with Sen. Jon Kyl, R-Ariz., and Rep. John E. Sununu, R-N.H., voting against it.
Boaters revel, tans delayed as Reservoir refuses to fall

By Robert R. Wright Special to The Daily Iowan

Although high water levels may be deforming the spring of outdoor enthusiasts who frequent the Coralville Reservoir, officials say the dam is just doing its job. The dam is set to release water from the Coralville Reservoir, leaving boaters with the kind of water they can expect for the rest of the summer.

"Ideally, we like to have the reservoir full, but that doesn't mean the current is dangerous," said Slavik. "It's just that the water is a bit higher than usual."

According to Slavik, there are no new water restrictions or safety concerns. The only concern is that the water level is not expected to return to normal for a month or two.

"We're just monitoring the situation," said Slavik. "We don't expect any problems."

Earlier this week, officials from the Army Corps of Engineers predicted that the Coralville Reservoir would be at a level where water levels would be reduced, but that doesn't mean the current is dangerous. The dam is currently operating at maximum capacity, and the water levels are expected to be normal by the end of the month.

"We've been monitoring the situation for a while," said Slavik. "We expect the water levels to return to normal in a month or two."

Ray Alemano drives into Coralville Lake from a partially submerged July 15th incident. Water levels in the reservoir have caused beaches, boat docks and the camping areas to be closed.

By Hoyt Chea

ABOUT two months ago, Arnold Schwarzenegger was in New York where he was trying to sell real pearls and quickly was led several federal agents, 12,000 "the deal," but all anyone ever says is presumably Schwanegger wanted romance, but Arnold Schwarzenegger's way to get into the law enforcement business is the same as the ads he keeps seeing in the tabloids, as the ads he keeps seeing in the tabloids.

And that's why he's been escorted Schwarzenegger is making some improvements as an actor, but not in a dramatic sense, but in how he feels about his country. The statue of Liberty was just a hobby, but it did make sense when he thought about it.

Liberty's new face on display
NEW YORK CITY—Entering the new millennium, the Statue of Liberty will come face to face with the Fourth of July two days ahead of the nation's birthday. The statue's 133rd birthday cake has been lit, and Liberty's new face is on display.

The statue's new face is a result of a $1 million restoration project that began in 1998. The project included a new face for Liberty, which was created using computer-generated imagery and 3-D modeling. The new face was then cast in bronze and mounted on the statue's head.

The statue's new face is a symbol of the nation's commitment to freedom and democracy. The statue is a symbol of hope and inspiration to people around the world.

The statue's new face is a result of the efforts of many people, including the statue's custodians, who have worked tirelessly to ensure that the statue remains a symbol of the nation's promise.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Third baseman Pete Rose, owner describing a proposed govern- ment-financed merger with the NFL were presented to the joint legislation. The USFL's strategy was to force a merger with the NFL, or at least give the league an opportunity to be considered as a viable alternative to the NFL. The USFL, however, does not have the financial resources to make a merger with the NFL feasible. "We have too many at-home audiences geographically excluded or in other instances excluded in the USFL," Bob Ruppert, USFL owner, said in a telephone interview. "We have no way to create a merger on an accommodation with the NFL. They have the financial resources to make a merger a reality." Each USFL owner has a vote in the championship of the USFL. It is too early to say what the outcome of the merger talks will be. However, the USFL has expressed a positive attitude towards the merger. "We have no plans to pursue a merger with the NFL at this time," Pete Rose, USFL owner, said. "We have already started discussions with other leagues about the possibility of a merger." In a short term, the USFL will continue to focus on its own financial success. However, the USFL is considering various strategies to improve its financial position. "We are looking at various options to improve our financial position," Pete Rose, USFL owner, said. "We are exploring the possibility of a merger with the NFL, but we are also considering other options." In the long term, the USFL is committed to establishing itself as a viable alternative to the NFL. Game safe in satisfactory condition

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — University of Minnesota safety Edward Small, who accidentally hit the main artery in his right thigh and lost a significant amount of blood, was reported in satisfactory condition Wednesday.

Small, who lost his right leg during an attempted field goal in a game between Minnesota and Ohio State, was moved out of the intensive care unit Wednesday.

Coach Jerry Killen said Small was hit by the ball Monday when he dived a kick he was trying to block, then fell. He remained on the field and was considered to be in critical condition.

It was a scary situation,” Killen said. “He can move his leg, but it’s in a cast. We are told by the doctors that Dennis is going to be all right.

He’s able to do all the sitting or exercise for a month, but he should be able to jog after that and should be ready. We just want to make sure that he is 100 percent before we can go back to normal activities.”

Former players testify against Williams

A number of former players who have given testimony to the local media have testified to the influence that coach Frank Williams has had on their lives. Williams has admitted to several instances of violence, including beating a former player who had participated in a protest at the hospital earlier this year. Williams has also been cited for sexual harassment.

Williams, who has played for the University of Illinois on various occasions, has been accused of violence against former players. Williams has denied the accusations, saying that he was only trying to protect his team.

In an interview with the local media, Williams said, “I’ve never been a violent person. I just want to make sure that my team is protected. I’m not going to let anyone get away with anything.”

Mexico advances despite lost star

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexico Figueroa had four goals and two assists and Peter Zacharias, who had taken a shot on goal, scored in Oyama and Mexico's second goal in a 3-0 win over Iceland.

The win was the 11th for Mexico in 12 games, and it moved the team into the top four in the standings.

"It was a great result," said Figueroa. "We played well and we were able to win.

"I'm happy with the result, but we need to continue to improve our play."
