Lottery not the ticket for regents funding

By Lewis Wayne Greene
University Editor

The state Board of Regents explored a new way of funding higher education through lottery revenues Wednesday but one regent wasn't hog wild about gambling with the future of the state's public universities.

Regent John Greig produced a long roll of Iowa Lottery "Hog Wild" game tickets at the meeting and began distributing them to regents and others at the meeting.

Greig promised to split the profits from the experiment with the winning ticket holder's favorite institution, but Greig's plan produced a dismal return of $2.

Iowa State University President W. Robert Parks held the only money-making ticket, netting his school $1.

While Regents President John McDonald was amused by Greig's show, not all board members seemed to approve.

When Greig handed a ticket to Regent Jacklyn Van Ekeren she frowned and said "This goes against my principals."

DESPITE GREIG'S attempt at increasing the contribution of the lottery to state higher education funding, it appears major cuts will be made in regents programs next year.

While the UI and other regents institutions will probably be able to increase average faculty salaries by about 6 percent, regent and university reports indicate other areas will see large cuts.

ISU has already begun severe reductions in its extension program, which provides agricultural and family development services to Iowans.

Because of state and federal funding cuts, ISU will cut the program's staff by 13 percent.

"The tragedy of it is that this set of cutbacks in extension comes at exactly the time when the services of extension are more needed than they've ever been and when extension is being utilized more overall than they've ever been," Parks said.

ISU officials anticipate at least a $384,000 reduction in federal funding as a result of the Gramm-Rudman Balanced Budget Act and a $770,000 shortfall in state funding next year.

ADDITIONAL Gramm-

Rudman cuts that take effect Oct. 1 could cut extension funding at ISU by as much as $2.1 million more.

To help make up for budget shortfalls, ISU will ask the regents today for permission to reduce the number of extension offices in the state from 12 to seven.

The constitutionality of Gramm-Rudman is being considered by the U.S. Supreme Court, but ISU Director of Information Dave Lendt said the cutbacks will be carried through regardless of how the high court rules.

The UI also faces budget reductions next year.

Board Executive Secretary R. Wayne Richey reported that UI Hospitals will have about $1.6 million cut from its budget due to the decentralization of the state indigent obstetrics program passed by the Iowa Legislature this year.

While the regents total preliminary 1987 budget of $629.5 million is $28 million more than last year's revised budget, the hospital and extension cuts could represent losses of as much as $4.85 million in regents services to the state next year.

Liberals disturbed by court choices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal groups acknowledged Wednesday there is little chance of blocking President Ronald Reagan's two conservative nominees to the Supreme Court but said it is important for the Senate to thoroughly scrutinize them.

While Reagan's shuffle at the high court caught the legal community and lawmakers by surprise, many said the move — precipitated by the retirement of Chief Justice Warren Burger — to appoint two men with established track records as conservative legal scholars was a "safe decision."

"It could have been worse," one American Civil Liberties Union official said.

The president announced Tuesday he would nominate Justice William Rehnquist to replace Burger as chief justice, and Antonin Scalia, a federal appeals court judge, to fill Rehnquist's associate justice seat.

They must be confirmed by the Senate after being reviewed by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is not expected to hold hearings until late July.

MOST SUPREME COURT nominations sail smoothly through the confirmation process, with usually less than two months from submission of the nomination to final Senate vote. A notable exception was the rejection of two of President Nixon's nominees in 1969.

The Senate, where Republicans hold a 53-47 majority, usually takes no more than two days of debate on all but the most controversial nominations.

Burger's resignation was unexpected, and observers speculated a shift in power in the Senate that would result from Democratic victories in November's elections could have encouraged action at this time.

Both Scalia, 50, and Rehnquist, 61, are known as "strict constructionists," meaning they subscribe to the philosophy of leaving policy decisions to elected leaders.

Close call
Firefighters carry Maria Rosales, 40, from her home after a fire Wednesday. Four residents were rescued from the home in the Mattapan section of Boston; all were hospitalized.

Scam attempts to bilk locals

Iowa City police have warned residents to be leery of people who pose as police officers or bank examiners and request that they withdraw money from local banks.

Detective Sgt. Craig Lihs, commander of the police department's detective bureau, said one such incident has occurred in Iowa City this week.

On Tuesday, a man apparently approached a local woman, told her she should withdraw a large amount of money and turn the money over to him.

Police were notified by bank officials after the woman appeared at the bank.

"She had gone to the bank to inquire about withdrawing a large amount of money," Lihs said. The woman planned to meet the suspect at a specific time and place, but police said no one showed up.

POLICE DID NOT say what reason the suspect gave the woman for turning the money over to him.

Attempted swindles have been reported to police in the past. Lihs said attempts are made about once each year and certain segments of the population are targeted.

"They usually prey on older people or people who are recently widowed," Lihs said. "It's just unreal that this keeps cropping up."

Police say they are following several leads but that no arrests have yet been made.

Anyone who is approached about withdrawing money is advised to contact the Iowa City Police Department immediately.

House OKs S. African divestment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Wednesday to end all U.S. business operations in strife-torn South Africa, a sweeping sanction that Republicans unexpectedly supported in a political maneuver to doom their passage in the Senate.

"This was a political exercise from the word go," Rep. Robert Walker, R-Pa., said after his tactical decision to back a divestment measure so severe as to be unacceptable to the Senate. "This is a fairly radical position," said Walker. "Even if it passed it would be vetoed."

President Ronald Reagan has opposed further sanctions against South Africa on grounds they will deny the United States any leverage on Pretoria to negotiate a peaceful transition to black majority rule.

THE DEMOCRATIC leadership had originally proposed sanctions that would bar new U.S. investments and loans in South Africa and bar the import of its coal, uranium and steel.

The Senate Republican leadership is doubtful of even these sanctions and opposes the total divestment proposed by Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif. Republicans said the Senate leadership won't even consider the Dellums proposal.

Dellums called limited sanctions supported by the House Democratic leadership "an inadequate response. It is an incremental, measured step. It allows the government of South Africa to adjust instead of ending the human suffering and loss of life."

The Democratic leadership, seeking to pass a measure with the best possible chance of approval in the Senate, opposed the radical move. But Republicans piled on in support, swiftly passing the bill on a voice vote and sending it to the GOP-majority Senate.

Ronald Dellums

"WE VOTED to take the most extreme position," Walker said. "By winning, the Democrats have more problems carrying it to conference (with the Senate) and to victory."

Democrats appeared surprised, including Dellums. He jumped up in joy, vigorously pumping hands with his supporters.

"The Democrats brought this to the floor as a political exercise," Walker said. "It was aimed at embarrassing Republicans."

"At least Ron Dellums was being honest about what he thought should be done. The rest of the people were being wishy-washy."

"I have worked for months for a sincere change in the policies of South Africa. This was political gameship by the Democrats. The bottom line is to effect a policy change."

Rep. Mark Siljander, R-Mich., said the Republican strategy was to "lose the battle but win the war" in the Senate.

"Sanctions are dead for this year," Siljander said. "The Dellums bill is a lemon. It's the kiss of death (for sanctions). The Senate's not taking up any measure."

Senate axes major tax amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, in a determined drive to pass its historic tax reform bill, easily killed the last major challenge Wednesday — a Democratic effort to take more away from the wealthy and give a better break to the middle class.

On a 71-29 vote that saw some liberal Democrats align themselves with the Republican leadership, the Senate rejected an amendment from Sen. George Mitchell, D-Maine, that would have restructured the bill's tax rates to ensure that middle-income Americans received more tax relief.

The proposal was viewed as the last serious attempt to change the massive bill crafted by the Finance Committee. Sponsors have boasted the plan is the most comprehensive overhaul of the nation's tax system since World War II.

SEN. ROBERT DOLE, R-Kansas, who had wanted to complete action on the bill Wednesday, said the Senate would return to the measure Thursday and may have to go into the weekend to finish.

In the most forceful presentation in nine days of Senate debate, Mitchell displayed a mountain of statistics he said proved "beyond any doubt that this bill does a lot for the poor and a lot for the rich but not much for the middle class."

The average tax cut for those making over $200,000 per year, Mitchell said, would be about $53,000 under the bill, while the average reduction for those in the $30,000 to $40,000 category would be $129.

Citing those figures, Sen. James Sasser, D-Tenn., sighed, "Well, so much for tax reform."

Mitchell is a Finance Committee member who voted for the overall bill in committee and said he still supported the thrust of the legislation.

The radical tax reform bill would curtail numerous popular deductions and eliminate the current 14-bracket tax system — replacing it with two lower individual tax rates of 15 percent and 27 percent.

Before it can become law, however, the bill must go through a conference with a measure approved last year by the House.

Senate rejects Reagan OSHA nominee

WASHINGTON — A Senate committee Wednesday rejected President Reagan's controversial nomination of Texas lawyer Robert Rader Jr. to the federal agency in charge of workplace safety.

Rader's nomination to the board overseeing the Occupational Safety and Health Administration was killed by the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee on an 8-8 vote.

It was a defeat for Reagan and the committee's chairman, Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, who strongly lobbied for Rader.

During hearings, Rader, 41, argued that his record had been distorted by critics who focused on a relatively few cases in which he advised clients to resist and delay OSHA inspections even though warrants were issued by federal judges. He said he spent most of his time advising clients how to comply with OSHA laws.

Citrus canker may hurt orange crop

ORLANDO, Fla. — Agriculture officials said Wednesday Florida's $4 billion citrus industry may face a renewed threat from deadly citrus canker with the discovery of a suspected new outbreak at 47 sites on the state's west coast.

Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner said the outbreak for the first time involved mature trees and fruit in residential areas.

The suspected canker was discovered at Holmes Beach on Anna Maria Island and nearby on the mainland at St. Petersburg.

There had not been a report of canker since December, leading agriculture officials to believe the eradication program was proceeding satisfactorily, Conner said.

Confirmation of the new infection is not expected until tests are completed Friday or Saturday.

Palestinian and Shiite leaders meet

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Palestinian and Shiite Moslem military commanders met Wednesday for talks aimed at curbing battles that have raged between the factions for 25 days around three Palestinian refugee camps.

Palestinian field commanders walked out of Burj al Barajneh — the largest of the three besieged refugee camps — shook hands with Shiite Amal commanders and held "friendly talks" at a damaged villa outside the camp, according to Beirut radio and Amal sources.

It was the first time Palestinian field commanders were involved in direct talks with the Shiite movement since the fighting around the camps began 25 days ago.

Reagan removes last AWACS hurdle

WASHINGTON — President Ronald Reagan, promising enhanced Persian Gulf security and Middle East stability, told Congress Wednesday that Saudi Arabia has met conditions for receipt of sophisticated AWACS radar planes purchased in 1981.

In a letter to the House and Senate, Reagan said the Pentagon and State Department had negotiated "agreements and other actions" with the Saudis to fulfill requirements dictated by Congress for the sale.

Barring unexpected opposition from lawmakers, Reagan has removed the last obstacle to delivery of five Airborne Warning and Control System aircraft over a span of nine months.

The executive committee of the American Israel Public Affairs Committee, an influential pro-Israel lobby that fought the AWACS sale in 1981, met Wednesday to discuss the move but congressional sources reported no move under way to block delivery of the planes.

FDA warns against Excedrin capsules

AUBURN, Wash. — Federal scientists investigating the fatal poisoning of a bank manager found a second bottle of cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Excedrin that belonged to a man who died two weeks ago, authorities said late Wednesday.

The Food and Drug Administration immediately warned consumers around the nation not to take Extra-Strength Excedrin in capsule form.

The unidentified man died June 5 at Seattle's Harbor View Hospital of what was then believed to be natural causes, FDA Commissioner Dr. Frank E. Young said in a statement issued in Washington, D.C. Young did not say whether the cause of death was being re-examined.

Mingo state subpoena OK'd

DES MOINES (UPI) — A legislative panel Wednesday cleared the way for the House Ethics Committee to issue a subpoena to obtain investigators' reports on an April 17 stag party in Mingo that included nude dancing and a sex act.

The Legislative Council voted unanimously to allow the ethics panel to decide if it wants to subpoena a report from the state's Division of Criminal Investigation. DCI officials earlier refused the Ethics Committee's request to turn over their case files voluntarily.

The council, which is made up of the Legislature's bipartisan leadership, said the committee could subpoena the documents if it takes steps to ensure the DCI reports would remain confidential. Lawmakers added they preferred the committee not subpoena the document until other criminal proceedings concerning the incident were completed.

ETHICS COMMITTEE Chairman Jack Holveck, D-Des Moines, said his seven-member panel may want the DCI report for its investigation whether activities of lawmakers or lobbyists at the stag party violated the Legislature's Code of Ethics.

The party included nude dancing and an oral sex act between a dancer and one of the 26 legislators in attendance.

House Speaker Don Avenson, D-Oelwein, said the council voted to give the Ethics Committee the authority to issue a subpoena because it did not want to interfere in the panel's investigation.

"I'm going to depend on the intelligence of the committee to use proper discretion and judgment with this power," Avenson said. "In no way do I want to stand in the way of what they want to accomplish to ensure the integrity of House members."

HOLVECK SAID he prefers the committee wait until a Jasper County grand jury completes its investigation of possible criminal violations at the party before the Ethics Panel decides to use its new subpoena power. He added the panel probably would not meet again until July. "My feeling has been it would be better to wait until this incident is resolved," Holveck said. "People are going to be more cooperative after the criminal process is over and I think we can get more information at that time that we couldn't get today."

The grand jury has heard testimony from more than 15 witnesses who attended the party and plans to call more witnesses when it resumes July 7.

Avenson Wednesday also called on the Holveck's committee to consider rewriting the Code of Ethics, especially portions dealing with the size and types of gifts lobbyists are allowed to give lawmakers. Current law requires lobbyists to report any gifts to lawmakers or their families valued at more than $15.

Court affirms Klindt verdict

DES MOINES (UPI) — The Iowa Supreme Court Wednesday upheld the conviction of a Davenport chiropractor who was accused of dismembering his wife with a chain saw and dumping her body parts in the Mississippi River.

The justices, ruling in one of the most highly publicized cases in Iowa history, rejected arguments from James Klindt that serology and anthropology tests conducted on a human torso found near the river in were not reliable enough to prove the torso was that of Joyce Klindt.

Klindt was convicted in Sioux City of second-degree murder for the March 1984 death of Joyce Klindt. His first trial in May 1984 ended in a hung jury. He currently is serving a mandatory 50-year prison term at the Iowa Men's Reformatory at Anamosa, Iowa.

The justices said the scientific tests, which often are used to identify the remains of burn victims, have long been recognized by physicians and the legal profession.

THE COURT ALSO ruled the trial court properly allowed prosecutors to play a tape of a conversation between Klindt and his wife in which he admitted he tried to kill her.

Klindt argued the conversation was privileged interspousal communication and should not have been introduced as evidence.

The court, in an opinion by Justice Jerry Larson, ruled there is no privileged communication in cases involving the prosecution of a crime committed against a spouse.

There also was other substantial evidence to support the verdict, Larson wrote, adding Klindt was locked in a bitter divorce dispute with his wife and had given conflicting evidence to police after her uncharacteristic disappearance.

"A witness testified she had seen Klindt putting plastic bags in his boat, then transporting them out into the river. One of the bags was said to be so heavy that it required him to use both hands to carry it," Larson wrote. "We merely conclude the evidence was sufficient."

IN ANOTHER ACTION Wednesday, the Court threw out a $11.3 million damage award to one of the founders of the Wolfe Eye Clinic in Marshalltown, Iowa, who was forced to retire from the institution in 1982.

The justices, in a 5-0 decision, ruled a Marshall County district judge erred when he ruled evidence in the case showed Henry Wolfe had a lifetime contract to work at the clinic and receive a substantial salary.

Wolfe sued the clinic and John Graether, one of its directors, for breach of contract in 1982 alleging he was assured a life-long job as an optometrist at the clinic when his father, Otis Wolfe, retired in the mid-1950s. He said that contract was violated when Graether and other directors of the clinic forced him to retire in 1979 at the age of 65.

Police/Courts

By Mark McDermott
Special to The Daily Iowan

The nationwide search is under way for a local man charged with the April 22 armed robbery of an area bank, Iowa City police said this week.

Danny Gerbasi, 32, who lived at 1830 I St., eluded police officers after he allegedly held up the Sycamore Mall branch of the Hawkeye State Bank. Gerbasi escaped with $8,000 cash.

Gerbasi was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury on April 24. He left the robbery scene in a car, abandoned it nearby and fled the area in another vehicle.

Detective Sgt. Craig Lihs, commander of the police department's detective bureau, also said this week that charges may be pending against two men in connection with the March 4 armed robbery of the James and Hermine McLeran residence.

Two men who were arrested in Chicago earlier this year were found with items from the McLeran home, 6 Glendale Terrace.

Gunmen forced their way into the home, held the couple at gunpoint and bound them with electrical cord. The two then ransacked the home and stole jewelry, money and other items. James McLeran is Dean of the UI College of Dentistry.

Theft report: Steve Steine, 218 N. Lucas St., told Iowa City police that about $800 worth of golf equipment was stolen from his residence Wednesday.

Theft report: Tom Peterson, 1819 Gleason Ave., reported to Iowa City police that an outboard motor worth $400 was stolen from his boat overnight Tuesday. The boat was parked in the driveway of his residence.

Theft report: Lon Davis, 323 N. Van Buren, told Iowa City police that the entire grill assembly of his car, worth $200, was stolen overnight Sunday while the vehicle was parked at Advanced Auto Service Inc., 423 Highland Ave.

A Coralville man made an initial appearance in Johnson County District Court Wednesday on charges of second offense drunken driving and driving while license revoked.

Bradley D. Dellinger also appeared on a charge of failure to file proof of financial responsibility.

Dellinger was stopped by Iowa City police about 1:15 a.m. Wednesday near the intersection of Gilbert and Church streets and failed to pass sobriety tests, court documents state.

The other charges stem from a March 22 arrest near the intersection of Johnson and Burlington streets. That arrest was also made by Iowa City police.

At that time, Dellinger told officers he did not have an Iowa driver's license, reports state. Following arrest, police discovered Dellinger had been issued a state driver's license but that it was revoked for a drunken driving charge.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for July 7.

Impact of Supreme Court change debated

Michael O'Connor
Staff Writer

If the Senate confirms President Ronald Reagan's intended Supreme Court nominations, there will not necessarily be a shift in the court's ideological balance, UI Professor of Law Peter Shane said Wednesday.

Shane said approval of the expected nominations of Justice William H. Rehnquist as chief justice and Judge Antonin Scalia as associate justice will have marginal impact on Supreme Court decisions.

"On the constitutional issues that people pay most attention to (abortion, civil rights), the appointments will not make much of a difference," Shane said.

But Rehnquist has not been known for his support of women's issues and the past president of the Iowa City Johnson County National Organization for Women said this may have an impact.

MARY WYCOFF said

Rehnquist is an abortion opponent. Most recently Rehnquist cast a dissenting vote in an opinion that regulates access to abortions in Pennsylvania, she said.

If his appointment is confirmed, Rehnquist will replace Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who resigned Tuesday after serving 17 years on the court.

UI Professor of Political Science Greg Caldeira said that while Burger and Rehnquist are both conservative, Rehnquist is aligned more with the political right.

"The only major change is that with Rehnquist, the Supreme Court will have a chief justice that is slightly more to the right," he said.

However, some Democratic lawmakers, including Iowa Sen. Tom Harkin, have expressed concern over Rehnquist's nomination.

Harkin's press secretary Pam McKinney said the senator "is somewhat concerned about Rehnquist being chief justyce."

"HE DOESN'T THINK Rehnquist is in the mainstream of American thought," McKinney said.

Scalia, who has served on the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, is also known as a conservative. But Phil Roeder, spokesman for the Iowa Democratic Party, said Scalia may be a surprise.

"There are mixed views about Scalia," Roeder said. "He has been known as a conservative, but when he was appointed to the federal bench some of his liberal colleagues indicated that he was somewhat of a moderate."

In a statement issued Tuesday, Sen. Joe Biden, D-Del., ranking member of the Senate Judiciary Committee said: "We all have a responsibility under the advise and consent regulations of the Constitution to look carefully at these nominees."

Regents OK early retirement

By Lewis Wayne Greene
University Editor

CEDAR FALLS — The state Board of Regents approved early retirement incentives designed to cut the number of employees at the UI and other regents institutions Wednesday.

But one regent questioned the plan, saying it could lead to faculty discontent.

The plan offers regents employees between the ages of 57 and 63 the option of retiring early and receiving health, dental and group life benefits as well as partial payment of contributions to the employee's retirement fund to age 65.

Under the plan, employees can take advantage of the

"I think a ton of our best (faculty and staff) will step up to the window and go to another job," says regent Charles Duchon of the state Board of Regents early retirement incentive plan.

program only if the institution they work for approves their requests.

An early retirement incentive program for regents institutions was mandated by the Iowa Legislature this year in an effort to cut the number of state employees and to save money.

But Regent Charles Duchon expressed concerns about the premise of the plan, which the regents passed by a voice vote.

THE PROGRAM could potentially be used to drive out older faculty members, which might lead to faculty unionization at the UI and Iowa State University, he said.

"Are we trying to make a profit?" Duchon asked the board rhetorically, leading Regents Executive Secretary R. Wayne Richey to remark, "In fact, yes."

Duchon also said the most talented faculty members could be lured away from the universities by the program.

"I think a ton of our best ones will step up to the window and go to another job," he said. "Have we really done our homework?"

UI and ISU officials indicated they had researched the matter and felt it could be a potential boon to the schools and the employees.

UI Associate Vice President for Finance Mary Jo Small pointed out that the program was designed in part by UI faculty and staff members on the Funded Retirement and Insurance Committee.

"It's not as if the university has cooked up some plan to get rid of people," Small said.

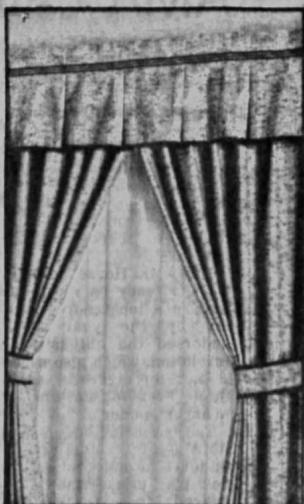

ISU VICE PRESIDENT for Business and Finance Warren Madden said because the plan would only be approved for employees the universities can do without, there would be a certain number of older workers weeded out of the institutions.

He added the plan was never designed to be used as a way to force people out of their jobs.

ISU President W. Robert Parks, who will retire June 30, said he didn't think the program would cause a particularly large number of employees to leave the regents universities because the incentives were not comparatively lucrative.

"It's not going to cause a mass exodus," Parks said. "It's not terribly attractive financially" especially when compared to plans used in private industry.

Contra leaders deny misspending U.S. aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nicaraguan rebel leaders, angrily denying misuse of U.S. aid, warned Wednesday that a refusal by Congress to arm their troops could result in sending "U.S. money as well as U.S. blood" to Central America.

"We need badly a response from the U.S. Congress and we need it soon," declared Alfonso Robelo, looking toward a House vote next week on $100 million in arms and other aid requested by President Ronald Reagan.

Robelo, Arturo Cruz and Adolfo Colero, leaders of the United Nicaraguan Opposition, met with Reagan at the White House to add momentum to an administration "hard sell" approach that still appeared short of its goal.

ROBELO PAINTED the military situation of the rebel Contras as desperate, just as he did before a similar pair of pivotal votes on the aid package in March.

Without U.S. aid in the next 30 to 60 days, he said, "We are going to suffer very high losses and the morale of our people."

He added that the Contras are prepared to battle the Marxist-led Sandinista regime on their own, but without U.S. money. "In the future, we may face that what is going to be spent in Nicaragua is U.S. money as well as U.S. blood."

who for weeks have spoken optimistically of a turning tide in Congress on the issue, conceded Reagan has not changed enough minds or twisted enough arms to win in the House next week.

Rebuffed time and again since Congress cut off a flow of secret military aid to the Contras in 1984, the president has employed a blend of confrontation and conciliation — as well as selective leaks intended to underscore the danger of Soviet influence in the region — to sway lawmakers and help those who would overthrow the Sandinistas.

The rebel trio sought to remove obstacles to the aid by underscoring desire for a political settlement in Nicaragua, boasting consolidated control over rebel military factions and assuring Congress that $27 million in humanitarian aid appropriated last year went for its intended purposes.

Office said in a recent report that large sums of aid bound for the Contras were diverted, stashed away in bank accounts and, in one instance, allowed into the hands of a top-ranking Honduran military officer.

COLERO ASSERTED categorically that "no Central American official or government employee" received money earmarked for the Contras. Cruz said the rebels welcome a congressional inquiry and have taken steps to strengthen internal mechanisms for disbursing U.S. aid.

State Department spokesman Bernard Kalb said Wednesday U.S. embassies in Central America are investigating the GAO allegations. The department declined an invitation from a House subcommittee to send a top official to testify Thursday on the findings, Kalb said, adding there was not enough time to develop "meaningful testimony."

Secretary of State George Shultz charged last week that the GAO findings were "concocted" as a "political surprise" in an attempt to prevent congressional approval of President Reagan's request for another $100 million in aid to the rebels seeking to overthrow the Marxist-led Sandinista regime in Nicaragua.

Kalb, reading a written statement, told reporters the State Department was told the GAO has completed an analysis of eight of 14 bank accounts subpoenaed for its probe. Kalb said GAO and State Department officials met Monday to discuss GAO summaries of seven of the eight accounts.

"The department considers these summaries to be only part of the information," Kalb said. "We have requested U.S. embassies in the region to investigate some of the transactions about which questions have been raised."

Midair collision above canyon kills 25

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (UPI) — A sightseeing plane with 20 people aboard and a helicopter carrying five others collided over the Grand Canyon Wednesday and plunged in flames into the mile-deep gorge, killing all aboard the two aircraft.

The twin-engine Otter operated by Grand Canyon Airlines and a Bell 206 helicopter, operated by Helitech, had taken off for scenic flights from Tusayan, just south of the canyon. The crash occurred a short time later, about 9:40 a.m., said Blanca Alvarez, a spokeswoman in the superintendent's office at Grand Canyon National Park.

A National Forest Service fire spotter said the two craft may have been flying beneath the canyon's rim at the time of the collision.

The Otter carried 18 passengers, a pilot and a co-pilot, and the helicopter had five people aboard, said Gary Mucho, head of the National Transportation Safety Board's Los Angeles field office.

THE PASSENGERS on the plane included four Americans, 11 Dutch nationals, two from Switzerland and one South African, Grand Canyon National Park Deputy Superintendent John Guthrie said. Three West Germans, an American and the U.S. pilot were aboard the helicopter, he said. Their names had not been released.

"The two aircraft plunged to the floor of the canyon in a fiery crash," a spokesman for the NTSB said in Washington.

"To our knowledge, the actual midair collision was not witnessed," Lt. Jim Driscoll of the Coconino County Sheriff's Office said. "Some other aircraft in the area saw the smoke and flew over the wreckage at that time."

Rescue crews were flown to the scene by helicopter, and a temporary morgue was set up in Flagstaff, 80 miles away.

ALL GRAND CANYON Airlines flights were canceled indefinitely after Wednesday's crash, but other companies maintained normal operations.

James Mahoney, at a forest service fire lookout 10 miles from the crash site, said he did not witness the collision but saw smoke billowing into the sky seconds later.

Mahoney said he could tell that the aircraft were flying below the rim "because of the position of the smoke. They are not supposed to be flying in there, and they know it." In 1984 an estimated 250,000 people flew over the canyon on such flights. The canyon has become such a popular attraction for tour planes that the National Park Service is considering regulations to reduce the number of planes allowed over the canyon.

AMA calls for new anti-smoking laws

CHICAGO (UPI) — The American Medical Association Wednesday proposed a complete overhaul of the Medicare system and called for a smoking ban on all domestic commercial airline flights, in schools and in hospitals.

The AMA House of Delegates, already on record as seeking a tobacco-free society by the year 2000, endorsed the anti-smoking resolution, which also urged a ban on cigarette sales through vending machines or to anyone under 21.

The governing body of the AMA voted earlier to endorse a comprehensive new plan to save the beleaguered Medicare program from financial ruin, including a voucher system and increased age eligibility requirements.

The delegates also chose William S. Hotchkiss, a thoracic surgeon from Chesapeake, Va., as president-elect. Hotchkiss will take office at the 1987 annual meeting.

IN OTHER action, the delegates accepted a report calling for children with acquired immune deficiency syndrome to be allowed in school unless they showed behavior that would increase their chances of spreading the disease. They also endorsed the efforts of authorities to close down or control brothels, gay bathhouses, sex clubs, adult book stores or any other "public reservoirs of the spread of sexually transmitted diseases."

The Medicare overhaul was based in large part on a board report to the delegates. The board, noting the system will be $1 trillion in debt by 2010, sought to design a plan that would "correct those deficiencies by basing the new program on a set of actuarially and fiscally sound principles."

U.S. appeals Marcos ruling

Ferdinand Marcos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The government, responding to a federal judge's refusal in Hawaii to stop the release of $8.4 million in currency and jewelry to Ferdinand Marcos, asked an appeals court for an emergency stay Wednesday while it appeals the ruling.

The Justice Department action, announced in Washington, was in response to Judge Harold Fong's ruling late Tuesday in Honolulu. Fong rejected the request by the Justice and State departments, which claimed the release of the goods to the deposed Philippine president would harm U.S. relations with the government of Corazon Aquino.

Marcos sued the Customs Service after the cash, jewelry and bonds were impounded on his arrival in the United States, and Fong ruled earlier he was entitled to get the assets back.

Justice Department lawyers, on behalf of the Customs Service, Wednesday asked the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for an emergency stay during their appeal of Fong's original decision.

"This detention of property was undertaken pursuant to a specific request from the highest officials in the Philippine government that the property be detained until ownership was determined," the government argued.

Peru reports prison mutinies

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—Left-wing rebel inmates took over parts of three metropolitan Lima prisons in a coordinated mutiny Wednesday, injuring nine police officers and guards and taking nine hostages, authorities said.

Leftist rebels also planted bombs and assassinated several police officers in the streets, government reports said.

Rebels of the Shining Path guerrilla group carried out the simultaneous uprisings at San Pedro, El Fronton and Santa Barbara prisons, a statement from the state Andina news agency said.

Suspected leftist rebels exploded a small bomb in Peru's Education Ministry, injuring one person, while police deactivated a second bomb in Lima's Jorge Chavez International Airport, authorities said.

Rebel inmates at the isolated El Fronton prison on a rocky island off Lima injured three police officers and six guards and took four guards hostage, the statement said.

"THE TERRORISTS (at El Fronton) have taken possession of three automatic rifles and various firearms," it said.

In the San Pedro prison in the northeastern district of San Juan de Lurigancho, rebel inmates took two guards hostage, it said.

Accused rebels also rioted in the Santa Barbara women's prison in the port of Callao northwest of Lima, taking a warden and two prison guards hostage, it said.

It added that the prison takeovers were aimed at upstaging a worldwide conference of the Socialist International June 20-23 that will bring a variety of prominent international political figures to Lima, including Italian Prime Minister Bettino Craxi and former West German Chancellor Willy Brandt.

Besides the jail takeovers, "various members of the police forces have been assassinated in the streets," the statement said, providing no further details. It added that bombs were found in "a few churches."

Said Student Senate to conduct treasurer hunt this summer

By Dana Cohen
Staff Writer

The UI Student Senate will begin a treasurer hunt in August to replace former Senate Treasurer Genelle Rucker who was deposed by the senate in May.

Rucker was dismissed on charges of negligence as senate treasurer and failure to attend committee meetings, Sen. Mike Gainer said at the time of the incident.

The new treasurer will be chosen by a search committee including Senate President Joe Hansen, Senate Vice President Stacy Rhine, Senate Executive Associate Rudy Garza and two senators who have not yet been selected, Hansen said Wednesday.

The senate selected Sen. Joel Gray as the acting treasurer for this summer, but Gray said while no major problems have arisen in the position so far, he has not decided if he will reapply this fall.

"THE STUDENT HEALTH issue is causing problems with budgeting," but that is the only problem that has come up, he said, adding he is enjoying the office.

UI Vice President for Finance

Dorsey Ellis has asked the student government to reorganize their mandatory student fee budget to include UI Student Health Services this fall but no final decision has been made on the issue so far.

GRAY SAID WHEN the search committee announces application deadlines, he will decide if he wants to apply.

The search committee will begin accepting applications two weeks after the first senate meeting in August, and will make a recommendation to the senate shortly after, Hansen said, adding that the new treasurer will be selected by Sept. 2.

Hansen said he has no indication who will be selected yet, and while Gray will have the advantage of hands-on experience, if he applies his application will be judged by the same criteria as other applicants.

"We'll appoint the person that gives the best impression to the search committee," Hansen said. "Everything is relative."

Phase I of Union project to begin

By Dan McClain
Special to The Daily Iowan

After nearly four years of preparation, the first phase of the $8.5 million Union renovation project is scheduled to begin in about two weeks.

Union Director Jean Kendall said the contractors in charge of the Union project will hold their second official meeting today and will soon begin setting up equipment on the Union Field.

"Most of the necessary demolition and construction work will be done in Phase I. Phase II is essentially cosmetic," Kendall said.

Kendall said the first phase of the renovation, scheduled to take about 18 months, will involve the construction of a 24-foot-long link on the Terrace Patio that will connect all three floors of the north and south sections of the building. The area formerly occupied by the Student Activities Center will be turned into a theater, and the ground floor will be almost entirely renovated.

THE SECOND PHASE of the project will include the remodeling of the Terrace Lounge, Triangle Club Ballroom and some meeting rooms.

A wheelchair elevator will also be constructed at the Iowa House entrance on the Union's south side at some point in the project, she said. The only wheelchair access currently found on the south end of the Union is through the loading dock in the back of the building.

Kendall said construction will begin with the south end of the ground floor and move north. This strategy will minimize the inconvenience to students because only one section of the ground floor will be closed at a time, she said.

Enclosed inner walkways will allow students to pass between the south and north ends of the building throughout the construction period, she said.

"WE TRIED TO WORK it out so that the students aren't inconvenienced," Kendall said. "What we're trying to do is to keep as many student services open as possible."

The Student Activities Center, like many student services in the Union, has temporarily been relocated by the project. Mike Skinner, student representative to the Union renovation project, said 20 people spent last week moving the Student Activities Center to the Triangle Club Ballroom until its permanent location on the ground floor is ready.

"We had to make some major adjustments as far as where some of the student groups went, but overall things went pretty smoothly," Skinner said.

Black Flag waves hard punk banner

By Beth Lucht
Staff Writer

THE CONTROVERSIAL hard-core band Black Flag is coming to Iowa at last. After a canceled Des Moines show last summer and several near misses at being booked, the group will play at the Beach House in Cedar Falls. Appearing with the group will be fellow SST recording artists Gone and Painted Willie.

Black Flag was formed in 1978 by guitarist Greg Ginn, who is the only original member still with the band. Early members started playing hard core at a time when none existed; "punk" consisted of bands like the Ramones and the Sex Pistols. What Black Flag began producing was often inspired by early punk bands, but eventually lead to completely a different form of music.

The sound was raw, rough and very fast. Its early sessions were all produced by Spot, who later produced other influential hard-core bands like Hüsker Dü. He described the first Black Flag practice he saw on the back of Everything Went Black: "BANG!! the drummer started smashing out a fast trashy four pattern and the wiry little singer started bellowing and jumping around wildly and Greg's body lurched forward as he underwent a remarkable transformation from Jekyll to Hyde. His head shook, eyes flashed and teeth bared maniacally as he began to grind thick chords out of a guitar..."

Music

AFTER NUMEROUS changes in vocalists (including Dez Cadena, who made several recordings as lead singer), the band settled down with Henry Rollins and began releasing what were, in the world of punk, super-hits. Damaged, released in 1981, is probably the best-known Black Flag record. It has been labeled "anti-parent" and held up as an example of "hard core brutality."

Many of the songs on the album have become anthems of disaffected young people. The titles say it all — "Life of Pain," "Padded Cell" and "Depression" are all good examples. As self-indulgent as the ideas may seem to some listeners, Black Flag was important to many people, and had a reputation of starting riots during its live concerts.

Black Flag is still known as a controversial live band, but for different reasons. The band has branched off musically, releasing a "poetry album" (Family Man) and a group of long experimental instrumental tracks called The Process of Weeding Out.

BOTH OF THESE records probably should have been weeded out. Rollins' poetry pretentiously aims at brutality and is ultimately just plain dumb, and the instrumentals are little more than King Crimson rip-offs. ("See?" says Greg Ginn. "I can play the guitar after all!")

The group's latest release, Who's Got the 10 1-27, is a live album which features Ginn on guitar, Rollins on vocals, Kira on bass and Anthony Martinez on drums. The recordings on the LP are not particularly inspiring or energetic, though some older songs are included.

After the long wait, I hope that Black Flag is better live than on the live record, but I have my doubts.

See Dick, see Jane, they are grown-up

By Mary Boone

LOOK, DICK, LOOK. It is a book about you. You are old and balding. Oh, Dick, you are funny. Oh, oh, oh. You and Jane make us laugh. Ha! Ha! Ha!

More Fun with Dick and Jane is a new primer for the millions of people who grew up reading about this dynamic duo and their baby sister, Sally. In this book, softbound just like its predecessor, the principal characters have also matured.

There's Dick, a 40-year-old systems engineer, who grew up to look remarkably like former President Gerald Ford. He married Susan — you may remember her from the original series. The two have three children and drive a car with vanity plates that read "DICK".

Life, it seems, has not been as kind to Jane.

The 38-year-old divorcee lives with her impish daughters,

Robin and Jessica, outside Dayton, Ohio. A true workaholic, Jane works as a loan officer in a downtown bank and moonlights as an Amway distributor.

Sally, known to those who read the pre-primers as "Baby," is 36. She's been married and divorced twice. Sally currently works as a public relations director for a large California winery. She wears Esprit clothes, eats wild mushroom salad with radicchio and radish sprouts. And she goes into near hysteria when she runs out of business cards just before a big cocktail party.

"Oh, phooey!" said Sally. "I am out of business cards. And I must have cards for my party. What will I do?" Thank heavens for Quick-Print.

The book places Dick, Jane and the gang in situations which are sometimes hard to imagine — that's what makes it all so marvelously refreshing. Dick carrying a poop-scooper, Jane using a food processor and all the kids piling in the K-car make them "real" people in our minds.

Oh, I doubt we'll ever read a primer where Dick and Jane are suffering from hangovers or contemplating a move into a commune — that would be too much fun.

But, for now, More Fun with Dick and Jane provides us with a modern, fast-paced up-beat look at life. And it affirms the belief that there is life after pre-primers.

NBC ranks No. 1 again while CBS places last

NEW YORK (UPI)—The audiences that made NBC the No. 1 network in the 1985-86 television season are repeating their act in reruns.

With series repeats ruling the airwaves last week, NBC remained on top with "The Cosby Show" and "Family Ties" leading the ratings list. What made last week markedly different from the regular season was that ABC was second and CBS a distinct third.

The ratings for the week ending June 15, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., put NBC in first place with a 12.8 rating and a 25 percent share of the audience. ABC had a 10.4 rating and a 20 percent share, while CBS had a 9.9 rating and a 19 percent share.

Even CBS's champion magazine show, "60 Minutes," was beaten by ABC's "20/20." The ABC show came in seventh in the ratings, airing on Thursday night opposite "Hill Street Blues" (NBC) and "Knots Landing" (CBS), which came in third in the time period and proved again that soap operas fizzle in reruns. "60 Minutes" ranked 12th on Sunday, easily outscoring the Disney movie on ABC and "Silver Spoons" and "Punky Brewster" on NBC.

NBC HAD GOOD news as its new "1986" magazine show came in a very respectable 28th — maybe NBC finally has broken its jinx after more than a dozen flops in the magazine show field. CBS's "West 57th" was 46th.

Winner of the week: "All Is

Daniel J. Travanti

Forgiven," which has been cancelled but was the fourth most popular show of the week and one of the few which offered an original episode. Loser: The TV audience, which will be fed a steady diet of reruns from now until mid-September.

The top prime-time shows for the week ending June 15, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., were:

1. "The Cosby Show" (NBC)
2. "Family Ties" (NBC)
3. "Cheers" (NBC)
4. "All is Forgiven" (NBC)
5. "Golden Girls" (NBC)
6. "Growing Pains" (ABC)
7. "20/20" (ABC)
8. "Who's the Boss?" (ABC)
9. (tie) "Murder, She Wrote" (CBS)
10. "Hardcastle & McCormick" (ABC)

The Awful Truth (1937). Cary Grant and Irene Dunne star as a socialite couple who decide to abandon the charade of their marriage — only to find that it's not that easy. Leo McCarey won a Best Director Oscar for this classic comedy. At 9:15 p.m.

Television

On the networks: "Ripley's Believe It or Not!" (ABC at 9 p.m.) reveals the secrets of Hitler's "degenerate art." Oh boy. On other networks, Trapper (Pernell Roberts) reads for his first heart transplant in "Trapper John, M.D." (CBS at 8 p.m.) while Summer (William Devane) tries to buy the land he feels is rightfully his on "Knot's Landing" (CBS at 9 p.m.). And those interested in going where no man has gone before will be baffled by Mr. Spock's (Leonard Nimoy) strange behavior, as he kidnaps the star ship Enterprise and faces the consequential court-martial on "Star Trek" (ABC at 10:35 p.m.).

On cable: Despite the rather silly title, Captain Horatio Hornblower (TBS-15 at approximately 7:20 p.m.) is a fairly fun film starring Gregory Peck as a brave ship's captain. More epic romance continues with "Draw!" (HBO-4 at 8 p.m.), a made-for-cable movie highlighting Kirk Douglas as a legendary Western outlaw and James Coburn as a semi-alcoholic sheriff. Chevy Chase, Rodney Dangerfield and a gopher all have leading roles in Caddyshack (Cinemax-13 at 10 p.m.).

Filmmaker reports change in British

By George Yatchisin
Staff Writer

AT THE AGE of 7, Suzi confidently toys with her hair while discussing boys. At 14 she can barely look into the camera while discussing anything. At 21 she's dropped out of the university, been to Paris and back, offers cynical comments, smokes furiously. At 28 she's been married for five years, ensconced in a gorgeous country home in Bath, England.

Suzi's evolution is just one of the many charted in Michael Apted's funny, moving documentary 28 Up. Apted had the luck to be an assistant on Granada Television's (BBC) 1963 show 7 Up, which interviewed children from various social backgrounds to see if the rigid English class structure was weakening.

APTED BECAME so interested in the project that he has returned to interview the 10 men and four women at seven-year intervals. 28 Up mixes and matches the best footage from each interview, resulting in a serious-minded set of revealing home movies.

And although the subjects generally say they have had numerous choices to do what they wanted with their lives, many seem disappointed or resigned. Paul, who has immigrated to Australia, at 7 said he didn't want to get married because, "I don't like greens and my wife might make me eat them."

Paul, at 28, smiles meekly when his wife says, "He loves greens." She also admits she married him because of "his helplessness." Paul admits to some helplessness himself when he says that his brick-laying job will be his job for life, but he would prefer something else.

WHAT'S MOST STRIKING about the film is how the trio of uppercrust boys who all correctly predict "Ox-bridge" educations when they're 7, so easily fulfill the roles of villains in the film.

John, who refused to be interviewed at 28, displayed at 21 an affinity for Reaganesque ideas on poverty, saying, "Someone working on a factory line can send his child to a good private school, but he'd rather spend his savings on a smart car."

Apted follows these interviews with the portrait of Neil, who went from 7-year-old dreams of being an astronaut and 14-year-old hopes for an Oxford education to becoming a homeless 28-year-old, distraught with the "total lack of thought" in the world.

Jackie Bassett, Lynn Johnson and Susan Davis, all at 28.

THE FILM IS MOST touching in this segment, as the clearly intelligent Neil tries to make a story out of his life, bobbing his head and shoulders as he talks as if he were keening. It's frightening to think what might become of Neil at 35, frightening to see the bubbly child of 7 so sure his dreaming days are over at 28.

Some interviews do offer hope. Bruce, at 21 a comically serious Oxford student, teaches immigrant children in London's East End at 28. He admits, "There is a class society," and condemns private schools for fostering it. At 7, he wanted to be a missionary "trying to teach people who are not civilized to be more or less good."

Bruce did accomplish his wish in a way, because 28 Up says over and over that our only teachers are ourselves. 28 Up can be seen at the Bijou Friday at 6:30 p.m. and Saturday at 8:45 p.m.

Summer film fans pick fun over fights

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian and beer huckster Rodney Dangerfield finally got all the respect he could handle last week when his new movie, Back to School, topped all other films at the nation's box offices.

School grossed $8.8 million in its opening week in 1,605 theaters.

Starring as a millionaire businessman who goes to college to set an example for his son, Dangerfield turns the campus topsy-turvy in the course of falling for one of the professors, played by Sally Kellerman.

Another new release, Ferris Bueller's Day Off, enjoyed a big opening week with a take of $6.2 million in 1,330 theaters. It stars young Matthew Broderick who ditches high school classes along with his girlfriend and a pal to enjoy a comic celebration of freedom from the establishment.

Both newcomers jumped ahead of Top Gun, the Tom Cruise naval flying adventure that had held the top spot in the movie box-office rankings for the two previous weeks.

With earnings of $6.2 million, Top Gun has amassed $53.8 million in five weeks to make it the biggest hit currently showing in theaters.

SYLVESTER STALLONE'S fast-starting Cobra, the story of a tough Los Angeles cop cleaning up a virulent gang, continued to plummet at an alarming rate, dropping off another 44 percent last week.

Cobra fell from No. 3 the previous week to No. 4 last week with a gross of $2.7 million and a four-week total of $39.2 million.

Arnold Schwarzenegger as an

avenging ex-FBI man in Raw Deal also took a header, plunging 49 percent in grosses last week. The action-adventure thriller — No. 5 — took in $2.7 million in 1,733 theaters for a two-week tally of $10.2 million.

A third newcomer, The Manhattan Project, dealing with a high school kid who builds an atomic device, opened to disappointing grosses. It earned only $1.5 million from 827 screens to gain No. 9 in the standings.

The slump of the violent Cobra and Raw Deal and the success of Back to School and Ferris Bueller's Day Off seemed to indicate that summer movie audiences would rather laugh than watch bloodshed.

making their debuts, all movies in release fell dramatically last week with Invaders from Mars (No. 10) dropping an eye-popping 55 percent in its second week.

THE MOVIE BUSINESS, which counts heavily on summer revenue, is in trouble. Last week's overall grosses were $72.2 million as compared to $87.9 million for the same period last year and $112.4 million in 1984.

Daily Variety projected this week that the domestic box-office gross for the summer season will be down 6 percent from last year, suggesting it will be the lowest summer take in five years.

So far in 1986 all movies have grossed $1.3 billion as compared to $1.5 billion in 1985.

The top 10, last week's gross, total gross, weeks in release:

1. Back to School, $8.8 million, 1 week.
2. Ferris Bueller's Day Off, $6.2 million, 1 week.
3. Top Gun, $6.2 million, $53.8 million, 5 weeks.
4. Cobra, $2.7 million, $39.2 million, 4 weeks.
5. Raw Deal, $2.7 million, $10.2 million, 2 weeks.
6. Poltergeist II, $2.2 million $30.8 million, 4 weeks.
7. Short Circuit, $2.1 million, $29.8 million, 6 weeks.
8. SpaceCamp, $1.5 million, $5.7 million, 2 weeks.
9. The Manhattan Project, $1.5 million, 1 week.
10. Invaders from Mars, $926,000, $3.7 million, 2 weeks.

Cubs' manager survives win

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gene Michael, who found managing the New York Yankees nerve-racking, is getting that same uneasy feeling in his stomach managing the Chicago Cubs.

Michael, the new manager of the Cubs, watched nervously as his club beat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 in 10 innings Wednesday on a bases-loaded wild pitch. All five of his games as Cub manager have been cliffhangers, with two of them going extra innings and three of them ending up as Cubs' victories.

"Isn't this something?" Michael said. "Every game is a doggone thriller. When I first became a manager (with the New York Yankees) Dick Howser told me I needed a good contract and a strong stomach."

PHILLIES RELIEVER Don Carman, who gave up an intentional walk to Leon Durham and an unintentional walk to Jerry Humphrey to load the bases, threw a pitch to pinch hitter Thad Bosley that went into the dirt. It went high into the air off catcher Darren Daulton and back toward the Cubs dugout, allowing Ron Cey to score from third. "I don't think he (Daulton) knew where the ball was," said Philadelphia manager John Felske. "He had a tough time finding it."

Cey came close to being the hero of the contest during his at-bat in the 10th. Jody Davis started the inning with a walk from loser Steve Bedrosian, 2-3. Rookie Dave Martinez ran for Davis and stole second, then was off to steal third when Cey singled to left.

PHILLIES LEFT fielder Von Hayes picked up the ball, whirled and threw Martinez out easily at the plate. "That was a Roberto Clemente play," said Michael. "He made a Roberto Clemente turn and throw. That throw could have ended up in a water cooler somewhere."

The Cubs came back from a 4-1 deficit, scoring two runs in the eighth and getting a solo home run from shortstop Shawon Dunston to start the ninth.

"I was just up there to get a base hit and get on," said Dunston, who has eight home runs this season. "I'm not one of those hitters who says 'I'm looking for a certain pitch.' I just had a good feeling when I went up there."

Philadelphia Phillies' rightfielder Glenn Wilson climbs the rightfield wall, displaying his skill in catching a ball hit by Chicago Cubs' Shawon Dunston in the first inning Wednesday. The Cubs won in extra innings, 5-4.

Reds' Schott clears air with partners

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Marge Schott, the Cincinnati Reds' general managing partner, said she and limited partners who expressed dissatisfaction over her business policies settled their differences Wednesday during a five-hour meeting.

"I'm still running the Reds," Schott said at the conclusion of a meeting with all eight limited partners at her Cincinnati home. "We think we got our problems resolved."

SCHOTT SAID the meeting was not confined to ending the squabbles plaguing the front office in recent weeks.

"We have certain problems facing us like (finding a new) spring training (site), the Stadium Club, (the) scoreboard. We're not going to do anything different."

Also attending the meeting was National League staff attorney Lou Hoynes, who was dispatched to Cincinnati by Commissioner Peter Ueberroth.

Several limited partners had expressed anger over Schott's financial deals and the fact six key front office personnel have left the club since Schott bought controlling interest in December 1984.

ner from Chicago, had called for the removal of Schott from her positions as president and chief executive officer of the Reds.

Schott owns five and a half units of the 14-unit partnership. Schott cashed in one of her units for $1.6 million and paid herself a $133,000 "attendance" bonus, prompting limited partners George Strike and Carl Lindner to hire an accounting firm to monitor the Reds' financial records.

Arby's and Baseball: America's Favorite Pastimes

A new tradition begins this season as Arby's, an official sponsor of Major League Baseball, recognizes the RBI leaders in both the American and National leagues with the all new Arby's RBI award. This marks the first time Major League Baseball's RBI leaders will be officially recognized with their own award. Arby's will present the award each year at the World Series to both league leaders.

GOING TO BAT FOR KIDS
At Arby's, we also want to make a better life for children everywhere. So, we are giving the Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization $1,000 for every RBI generated each season by the National and American league RBI leaders. Based on past RBI performance, this will add up to at least $250,000 each year for Big Brothers/Big Sisters. On our team, every kid's a winner!

NFL attacks 'expert' testimony

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Football League's expert on antitrust damages testified Wednesday she projected the fledgling league would lose between $301 million and $565 million over a 10-year span as a result of the NFL's monopoly of the sport.

Nina Cornell, head of a Washington consulting firm hired by the USFL, said her estimates of the league's losses were for the period from 1983 to 1992, and assumed the league would operate in the 18 cities in which it had franchises in 1984.

Her testimony came in the sixth week of the USFL's antitrust suit against the NFL in U.S. District Court in Manhattan.

"You cannot instantly unscramble eggs," Cornell said, adding she calculated the damages from the league's inception to six years in the future to allow time for the damage — allegedly inflicted by the NFL — to be reversed.

CORNELL PRESENTED two methods of estimating the USFL's lost profits. Her high estimate, $565 million, was based on projections from the American Football League's experience in the 1960s, when it was competing with the NFL. Her low estimate, $301 million, was calculated from a study conducted by CBS in 1984, when the network considered televising USFL games in the fall.

After the USFL's presentation of a 33-page summary of her work in charts and notes, NFL attorney Robert Fiske questioned Cornell closely about many of the assumptions underlying her calculations.

HE NOTED THAT Cornell assumed a national network would have broadcast two USFL games on Sundays, even in its first year.

Fiske also pointed out Cornell's projections from the AFL were based on its seventh through ninth years, but had been applied to the USFL's startup years, generating an estimate that the league could have earned $60 million by selling its broadcast rights fees in its very first year.

Cavs to hire Embry, Reed

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — Wayne Embry will be named the general manager of the Cleveland Cavaliers on Thursday, and the former NBA player and executive will then hire Willis Reed as his head coach, UPI learned Wednesday.

A source close to the Cavaliers said that the 49-year-old Embry, a consultant with the Indiana Pacers, has stipulated a desire to hire Reed, an assistant coach with Atlanta.

A Cavaliers spokesman would not comment, but said the team is planning a news conference for Thursday afternoon at a downtown hotel.

RICHFIELD COLISEUM president Thaxter Trafton, placed in charge of the Cavaliers' search committee for a general manager by team co-owner Gordon Gund following the dismissal of Harry Weltman, said during Tuesday's NBA draft that he "had identified the man and was in the process of getting him."

North Carolina center Brad Daugherty, tabbed by Cleveland as the top overall pick in the draft, let slip that he had talked to Embry "and found him a very nice man."

"I don't have anything to add right now," Trafton said Wednesday, "but I will say this: I expect matters to culminate very soon and very successfully."

EMBRY, A 6-FOOT-8 forward, starred at Miami (Ohio) University from 1955-58 and was named all-Mid American Conference in 1957-58.

He was a five-time NBA All-Star during his playing days with Cincinnati, Boston and Milwaukee and retired after the 1968-69 season.

In 1972, Embry became Milwaukee's vice president and general manager. He remained associated with the Bucks until joining Indiana last year as a vice president and consultant.

Reed, who turns 44 on June 25, is best known as the center who led New York to NBA titles in 1970 and 1973.

Leafs' coach quits squad

TORONTO (UPI) — Dan Maloney resigned Wednesday as head coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs after failing to win a long-term contract from owner Harold Ballard.

Maloney, 35, who coached the Leafs for two seasons, sought a multi-year contract but was offered a one-year deal by Ballard, who said he would begin his search for a new head coach at the NHL meetings Friday in Montreal.

"He said he wouldn't accept that and I said, well I'm not hiring anybody for over a year on that job," Ballard said, adding that Maloney told general manager Gerry McNamara he would not be satisfied with a one-year deal.

"He made the decision," Ballard said. "I told him to go see McNamara. If a guy wants to quit, let him go."

LAST SEASON, Maloney took the Maple Leafs to the playoffs for the first time in three years. The Leafs defeated the Chicago Blackhawks in the opening round of the playoffs and forced the St. Louis Blues to seven games before being eliminated in the Norris Division semifinal.

Ballard said he would search for a replacement with NHL coaching experience who would accept a one-year deal paying roughly $75,000. That would be less than what was offered to Maloney.

Maloney's resignation came one day after Ballard told reporters he would consider extending the contract, but not past one year. Ballard said he was in no rush to sign either Maloney or McNamara.

"Suppose I signed them today and someone better came along tomorrow," he said. Maloney was named head coach after the 1983-84 season following two years as assistant to Mike Nykoluk.

Anemia keeps Spangler out of national meet

By Dan Millea
Assistant Sports Editor

Seven Iowa athletes have qualified for, and will compete in, The Athletic Congress (TAC) 1986 Track and Field Championships this weekend in Eugene, Ore., but an eighth Hawkeye qualifier will be absent because of a recent medical diagnosis.

Jenny Spangler is scheduled to compete in the women's 10,000-meter run, but because she was recently diagnosed as anemic, a condition involving a deficiency in the oxygen-carrying material of the blood, Spangler has decided not to compete.

Track

THE THREE-TIME all-American found out about the disease just prior to the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships June 4-7, but did choose to run at that competition in Indianapolis, Ind., finishing 15th in the 10,000.

Iowa women's track Coach Jerry Hassard said Spangler's anemia, combined with the fact that she has not been running well recently, resulted in her decision not to compete.

"That type of thing (anemia) does not inspire confidence" in a runner, Hassard said. "There are some psychological feelings that you go through when you're not running well and I think that has added to the anemia as a reason for not running."

"My own feeling is that the confidence and momentum you develop by competing in meets is what helps develop you. Right now that confidence is not there and I don't think she is going to develop that confidence with this condition."

Five of Spangler's teammates will attend the TAC meet. Vivian McKenzie is scheduled to run the 100 dash, and the 4x800 relay team of Sheri Suppelsa, Kristin Watters, Janet Wodek and Sherri Hull will also compete.

IOWA MEN'S TRACK Coach Ted Wheeler is sending two athletes to Eugene. Gary Kostrubala will be throwing the discus and Patrick McGhee will run in the 400 intermediate hurdles, a race that Wheeler said will feature Olympian Edwin Moses.

"Moses is a three time Olympic champion, and Andre Phillips, who has the best (400 intermediate) time in the last three years, is going to be there as well," Wheeler said. "So it's a tough field."

Both Kostrubala and McGhee qualified for the NCAA Championships, but neither was able to place. Considering the TAC meet includes collegiate as well as non-collegiate amateur competitors, the pair's chances of placing are probably less than in the NCAA meet.

"EVERY MEET WE go into we expect them to place," Wheeler said. "We wouldn't take them if we didn't think they could place. An idiot would expect to place or he wouldn't even bother competing."

"But if you didn't place at the NCAA's and then at this meet you have all those people plus a lot of others, you have to wonder."

Top stars of tennis struck by sickness

EASTBOURNE, England (UPI) — Both Martina Navratilova and Chris Evert Lloyd were suffering from the flu Wednesday, five days before the start of Wimbledon.

The sniffles failed to prevent Navratilova from winning her third-round match from Dianne Balestrat, 6-4, 6-2, at Eastbourne, and she was in a cheerful mood despite her inability to shake the flu after two weeks.

Evert Lloyd, following her victory over Navratilova in the final of the French Open June 7, planned to take two weeks off to prepare for the grass of Wimbledon. However, she has been unable to practice for the last three days and she had a fever of 102 degrees Tuesday.

She reported Wednesday from her home in Kingston-on-Thames that she was feeling better.

"I've had the flu for two weeks and I can't shake it," said Navratilova, the No. 1 seed for Wimbledon. "I can't work as hard as I'd like. I'm on cruise control, trying to maintain my strength, but I can't do anything extra."

Many of the women players are also suffering from colds or the flu, including Helena Sukova. Steffi Graf already has withdrawn from Wimbledon because of the flu.

Despite the lingering problem, Navratilova is comfortable with the progress of her grass court play and is confident of winning Wimbledon for a seventh time.

"The older you get, the more it means because you know you don't have that many chances left," she said.

Islanders fill vacancy with Canadian Junior's coach

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York Islanders Wednesday named Canadian National Junior Team Coach Terry Simpson to replace Al Arbour as head coach, club president Bill Torrey announced.

Simpson, 42, will take over for Arbour, who retired last month to take an office job after 13 seasons with the Islanders. Simpson received a multi-year pact and is expected to name his staff at a later date.

"He is a good man," said Arbour. "He will be his own man and I will very definitely not be looking over his shoulder. I think he is an excellent choice."

Simpson coached Canada's National Junior Team the past three years. He won a gold medal in 1984-85 in the World Junior Tournament and this year guided Canada to the silver medal.

"HE'S BEEN A winner at every level," Torrey said. "His coaching record to date speaks for itself. He knows what he wants and will go after it."

Simpson also coached the Prince Albert Raiders of the Western Hockey League, one of the major suppliers of players to the NHL. The WHL is one of the three circuits in Canadian major junior hockey.

From 1972-1982, Simpson coached the Raiders in Tier II competition (Junior B) in the Saskatchewan Amateur Junior Hockey League. The Raiders captured the league title in eight of those years and four times won the Centennial Cup as the Tier II champion of Canada. Simpson was named Coach of the Year three times.

In 1982, Prince Albert moved into the Junior A Western Hockey League. By 1984-85 Simpson produced one of Canada's greatest junior teams. The Raiders rolled to a 58-11-3 regular-season record and a 12-1 playoff mark to take Canada's Memorial Cup as Junior Champions.

"I was offered a job coaching at Hershey in the American Hockey League last year by Philadelphia, but I passed on that because I couldn't see any opening at the top," said Simpson, a native of Brantford, Ontario. The Islanders won four consecutive Stanley Cups from 1980-1983 under Arbour.

Yanks slap Griffey with hefty fine

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees Wednesday fined outfielder Ken Griffey $10,000 for missing Tuesday night's game against the Boston Red Sox.

"My reasons for leaving were personal," Griffey said in a written statement. "Anything more than that would have to come from my agent, Tom Reich."

"I have talked to Lou (Yankees manager Piniella), and apologized. I've told him I'm ready to play."

Yankees principal owner George Steinbrenner spoke to reporters at 3:15 p.m., shortly after Griffey reported to Yankee Stadium. Steinbrenner announced the fine, saying: "This is the largest fine for anything of this nature I know of. He can apologize to his teammates, who he let down."

YANKEES OUTFIELDER Rickey Henderson missed a double-header the first playing date after the All-Star break last season, and reportedly was fined 2-172nd of his base pay, which would have exceeded Griffey's fine. However it was not confirmed the fine was collected from Henderson, who protested.

"He's a good young man," Steinbrenner said of Griffey, who makes $1 million a year and is in the fifth year of a six-year contract. "He's not a troublemaker. But we really needed him. We didn't know if he was dead or what."

"There were no extenuating circumstances. I'd just as soon close it. We'll donate the money to charity — something with kids. He'd better not challenge it. He'd better know me better than that."

GRIFFEY ARRIVED at Yankee Stadium Wednesday about four hours before his club's scheduled game against Boston. He was scheduled to start in left field Tuesday night against the Red Sox, in the Yankees' 7-6 loss. New York manager Lou Piniella was left with only pitchers on the bench by game's end.

"He certainly didn't help our chances of winning the ballgame, but he said his mind wasn't in any state to help. He didn't show up, he was depressed," Piniella said. "I was concerned for Kenny's well-being, but at least he should have called. It's being handled by George and the front office. He is ready to play the best he can."

The 36-year-old left-handed hitter had appeared in 50 games for the Yankees this season, with a .266 batting average, seven home runs and 21 RBI.

"He came in and gave me his reasons for not being here yesterday," Piniella said. "He said he was ready to play now and he will pay the consequences."

Iowa stars seek spots at U.S. gym

Four Iowa gymnasts and one former Hawkeye gymnast will attempt to qualify for the U.S. national team at the United States Gymnastics Federation National Gymnastics Championships which begin today at Market Square Arena in Indianapolis.

"It's real hard to say if they will qualify. It's a very competitive meet," Iowa Coach Tom Dunn said. "Dan Bachman, Ron Nasti and Joe Thome appear to have real good chances of making the national team."

BACHMAN, WHO just finished his last season with the Hawkeyes by placing fifth in the all-around competition at the NCAA meet last April, also has a chance to qualify for the U.S. World Championship team.

Bachman would need to place in the top seven in the all-around competition this weekend. If Bachman accomplishes this feat he will be part of the USA team which will compete at the Commonwealth Games that will be held in the Soviet Union later this summer.

"OUR PAST COUPLE weeks of practice have been going really good and I'm coming in with confidence," Bachman said. "Making the U.S. World Championship team would be my ultimate goal."

The U.S. World Championship team is the national representative squad. In 1988 the U.S. World Championship team will have another distinction as it will be the U.S. Olympic team.

Bachman's toughest competition will come from last year's U.S. World Championship team members which include Tim Daggett, a former UCLA star, Scott Johnson and Dan Hayden, who helped lead his Arizona State team to the NCAA title two months ago.

BACHMAN SAID if he does not make the World Championship squad this year he will not be too disappointed. He said his main goal is just to qualify in the top 18 in the all-around competition which will still place him on the U.S. squad.

"I'm thinking mainly not to be an alternate again," Bachman said after spending one year of sitting on the fence as U.S. team first alternate. "I'm going in trying to hit all 12 events and we'll see where I will place after that."

Iowa has one returning U.S. team member in Nasti. At last year's USGF Championships held in Jacksonville, Fla., Nasti finished tied for 19th overall. Bachman finished 24th overall.

Nasti, a junior from Elmhurst, Ill., still has a good chance to again qualify for this year's team but has not stayed with Bachman in his improvement over the past season. Nasti finished 21st in the all-around at this year's NCAA Championships.

Thome has an outside chance of making this year's U.S. team. Thome last year finished 28th at the USGF meet.

"It's going to be really close and I think I'm going to be near the borderline, around 18th," Thome, a junior electrical engineering major, said. "If I have a good meet I think I can do it."

Also competing for a chance at the U.S. team will be Hawkeyes Tom Auer and Lenny Lucarello. Former Iowa gymnast Stu Breitenstine also qualified for the USGF meet but will be unable to compete because of a leg injury.

Even if all the Iowa gymnasts do not qualify for the U.S. team Thome believes it can only positively reflect on the Iowa men's gymnastics program.
