President snubbed by three networks

NEW YORK/CPIU—President Ronald Reagan was hard pressed to keep from laughing Tuesday as he was passed over by three networks, the ultimate representative of the media's commercial TV set.

Mr. Reagan said he had been up on the chance to talk to Reagan, according to Ronn Owens, spokesman for the White House.

"I was in the White House when someone suggested we put together a package deal for Mr. Reagan to talk to the networks," Mr. Owens said Tuesday. "He was going to give the networks a better deal."

Mr. Reagan's spokesman, Larry Speakes, said Tuesday's offer to Reagan was a "stretch." He added that the White House was "so high on the idea of a package deal, we just turned down the networks' decision." He said, "It was not a stretch. It was a matter of their judgment.

The networks are expected to continue their efforts to book Reagan in the near future, but Mr. Reagan's decision to decline the offer may give them an opportunity to shop around for other candidates, or to offer Reagan a better deal.

WHITE HOUSE—Officials at the White House said Tuesday they were pleased with the networks' decision to pass on Reagan as the candidate for their prime-time news slot, but they conceded that it was a blow to the Reagan campaign.

White House officials said they were pleased with the networks' decision, but they also acknowledged that it was a blow to the Reagan campaign.

"We were pleased with the networks' decision," said a White House official. "But we were disappointed that they did not agree to carry the Reagan campaign.

If it's entertainment, Artis­

Supervisors to name roads

By Carol Wagoner

Democrats in the majority on the Supervisory Board, which is in charge of naming roads, have difficulty deciding on names. Dan McCauley, chairman of the board, and his colleagues have delayed selecting names for several months now.

One road, which is a former railroad right of way, is located in northeast Johnson County and is named for the old railroad. It is the only road that has been named so far. The road is located on the north side of the old railroad tracks, which are now a bike path.

The Supervisory Board is responsible for naming roads in Johnson County. The board consists of five members, one from each of the five townships in the county. The board meets monthly to discuss and vote on road names.

One of the issues the board is facing is the need to name new roads as the population grows. The board is also faced with naming roads that have already been built.

The Supervisory Board is currently considering several names for the road. Some of the names under consideration include: "Old Railroad," "Northwest," and "Downtown." The board is expected to make a decision on the name soon.

The road is located on the north side of the old railroad tracks, which are now a bike path. The road is accessed from NW Tower Lane and NW 35th Street.

Residents ask supervisors to limit local development

By Carol Mahoney
Staff Writer.

A group of residents of the Rapid Creek Road residential area, inspired by a similar effort by the Ankeny County Board of Supervisors, is taking its fight to a local level by proposing a local law that would allow residents to petition the Zoning Board of Adjustment to stop development that they feel is inappropriate for the area.

Residents said overdevelopment of the neighborhood, which is located north of Iowa City, would create problems with noise, traffic, and water flow. They would like to see more open space, less dense development, and better landscaping around their homes.

They have petitioned the Zoning Board of Adjustment several times to stop development that they feel is inappropriate for the area, but their requests have been denied.

"We urge the Board to act," one resident said, "and put a stop to the area that might be built on our homes to the area that is being built on mine."

Activists say it is the sort of thing that affects the lives of gay people. It is an example of the sort of thing gay community leaders are fighting against on a daily basis.

"If a group of gay activists went to a meeting of the Zoning Board of Adjustment and said, "We want a law that will stop development that is inappropriate for our neighborhood," they would be met with resistance."

"We have to fight for our rights," one activist said. "We have to fight for our lives."
Snuffstuff

A federal jury Friday refused to find the U.S. Tobacco Co. in violation of state laws for selling to an Oklahoma teen who developed oral cancer after dipping snuff for six years. Testimony, the jury heard, sought $7 million from the giant - makers of Indiana and Copenhagen - for the death of the 20-year-old, Juan. Marree didn't win the case. What she did win was the support of many health professionals, consumer rights activists and the attention of the mass media; that way she won the tobacco battle.

Marree filed the lawsuit against U.S. Tobacco because the company's marketing programs contain the word "snuff," which gives the uninitiated a mistaken impression that it's a safer product. [..]

But while Marree has the backing of health organizations and tobacco manufacturers have a responsibility to warn people about the health hazards of using snuff.

With a degree of regularity that makes even the change in seasons seem inconsistent, a plot to add Ninigrian, which has agitated once again in the U.S. Congress today, for the second time in three months, the House of Representatives will vote on the Reagan administration's proposal to send $100 million in aid to the Contras battling the government of Nicaragua.

While the administration so far has been denied the favorable hostage it seeks - namely, the approval of the Sandinista in Nicaragua - the so-called President Ronald Reagan has been planting himself in front of the ballot box in Nicaragua now showing the first sign of betting itself.

In the administration's effort to win approval for the package, Reagan has found himself to be a master marketer: it must be referred to Nicaragua President Daniel Ortega as "the little dictator" and warned Americans of a "new, eventually collapsing and cancerous," and secondly, it has increased the number of unions, the average wage, and the number of strikes.

With Secretary of State George Shultz, who has denounced Nicaragua as the "canal of the Western Hemisphere," the Contras have pledged to end the Sandinista "self-defense."[..]

Helmet law needed in Iowa

By John Stone

When it is necessary for law enforcement to examine the brains of accident victims, reconstruction of the accident itself is often the only way to determine what caused death.

It is also essential that everyone involved in the accident be properly identified; this information will be crucial in determining who was at fault.

Without proper identification, it is impossible to determine what caused death.

The Iowa accident investigation law is a vital tool in providing this information; it is also the only way to determine what caused death.

Limits on guns will save lives

By B.J. Miller

The prime objective of gun control is to prevent gun violence, and the Iowa legislature has taken a significant step in that direction by passing the Gun Control Act of 1968. The act defines all guns as firearms and requires all persons to register firearms in order to keep and bear arms.

As the act is currently written, it is not a difficult task to register firearms. The act requires that all persons register firearms within 30 days of purchase, and that all persons register firearms in any state where they reside. The act also requires that all persons who purchase firearms register them in the state of purchase.

In addition, the act requires that all persons who sell firearms register them in the state of sale. The act further requires that all persons who sell firearms register them in the state of residence. This act is needed to prevent gun violence.

'Triple-header' stars face career-ending decisions

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) - Thomas Hearns, Roberto Duran and Sugar Ray Leonard left the ring in pain Monday night and with their futures uncertain.

Hearns was the only winner among the trio, who headlined a card that saw a TV triple-header at Caesars Palace. Hearns dedicated his win to his late brother, Dennen, who was killed in a car crash when he was 19.

The delay of the Hagler-Leonard fight could be bad news for Hearns. Although he had delivered in the first round, Hearns' lackluster showing did not spark interest in a Hagler-Hearns rematch. Hearns-Leonard is the talk of the boxing world.

Hearns dropped a 10-round split decision to Roberto Duran, who is Hearns' next opponent. Duran was walking and talking away from the ring as the fighters entered the ring.

Keith Thurman had his 10th-round right hand cocked up in the second round and was the target of more than 200,000 pounds of force.

Jackson to begin career with Chicks

A small crowd gathered at the Crossroads Friday night when Jackson announced last week that he was chasing baseball over football, ending a long and frustrating period of speculation about what would happen here.

"I want to see him in a baseball uniform," Watson said. "I want to see him hitting and driving the ball all the way to the wall."

"The kids, the area and the entire state want to see him in a baseball uniform," Watson added. "Unfortunately, we don't have the one that he wants to see us in."

"We want to see him playing as much as possible," Fogelman said. "Jackson should play as much baseball as possible."

Jackson said he was still surprised that the Royals were not interested in signing him.

"I don't know what the Royals are thinking," Jackson said. "They should be thinking about what they're doing."

"The Royals should make sure that Jackson is happy and healthy," Watson said. "They should do what's best for him and the team."

"Jackson should play as much baseball as possible," Watson added. "He should be able to play at the highest level possible."

Jackson will play in the Chicks game Monday against Columbus, Ohio, which begins at 11:30 p.m. in Memphis.

"I hope he enjoys his new experience," Watson said. "I hope he makes the best of it."

"I hope he does well," Fogelman said. "I hope he has success."

"I hope he enjoys it," Jackson said. "I hope he has fun."
